The southern party of the Stefansson expedition reached Nome, Alaska, on August 15, 1916. Detail surveys on the Arctic mainland coast of Canada, from Cape Parry to Bathurst Inlet, were completed in the Spring of 1916. One hundred and fifty islands were mapped in Bathurst Inlet where three were previously indicated. A large collection of birds, mammals and photographs was brought back. The studies of Diamond Jenness on Victoria Island resulted in important discoveries relative to Esquimau migrations, tribal distinctions, customs and language.

Although the relief ship Cluett was disabled at North Star Bay, Dr. E. O. Hovey, leader of the expedition that went to the relief of Donald Macmillan, succeeded in reaching the original party at Etah. He brought away four members and the most important records. The Crocker Land Committee is sending the steamer Danemark to pick up the members of both expeditions.

Knud Rasmussen left Copenhagen in April with plans to explore the region between Peary Land and Greenland. His start was made later than was originally contemplated, and it was doubtful that he would be able to reach the unknown country during the year. As an alternative, he was to devote the season to systematic exploration of the shores of Melville Bay, investigations in marine zoology in the waters of the bay, and study of the Esquimau migrations on the west coast.

The Endurance, carrying Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition to Antarctica, was crushed by ice in the middle of Weddell Sea in October, 1915. The entire party succeeded in landing on the ice with supplies and boats. After ineffectual attempts to land elsewhere, they finally were able to land on Elephant Island and find shelter in an ice cave. Thereafter, Sir Ernest Shackleton and a party of six succeeded in reaching South Georgia and crossing that island for the first time. Reaching civilization on May 31, he enlisted four different expeditions for the relief of the marooned men. After his unsuccessful attempt in the Emma, Sir Ernest Shackleton obtained the Chilean steam yacht Yelcho which, manned and equipped at the expense of the Chilean Government, left Punta Arenas for the south on August 4. Approaching Elephant Island from the northwest, the Yelcho pushed through innumerable stranded bergs and reached the men on August 30. All of the party being found alive and well, they were immediately taken on board and the steamer was homeward bound within an hour after her arrival. The day after Sir Ernest Shackleton had left Elephant Island for South Georgia, it was beset with dense pack ice, and they were forced to come out of the cave and make dwellings of the two boats set up as far back from the sea as possible on a narrow spit of land forty yards wide, where they were in constant danger of being conquered either by the ice laden waves or the terrific blizzards. Apart from the small supply of boveril and other provisions, the party depended for food on small penguins, seals being unable to land owing to the ice foot. Just before the arrival of the Yelcho the party had made preparations for an attempt to reach Deception Island, a Summer rendezvous of whalers in the remaining boat.

The Aurora, the auxiliary vessel of the Shackleton expedition, which was to establish a base at Ross Sea, was torn from her moorings during a blizzard in May and drifted in an ice pack for ten months before getting free and reaching New Zealand. Immediate steps were taken to rescue the ten men she left ashore at Cape Evans.

Mr. Stenhouse, chief officer of the Aurora, stated that in May two months' provisions for twelve men were put ashore; later in that month provisions were landed at another point for five men for two months. Mr. Stenhouse also reported that the provisions left by the Scott expedition at Cape Evans were ample for all the party's needs, and that there were large colonies of seals in the vicinity. On June 27 it was announced at Wellington, New Zealand, that Mr. Stenhouse would lead the party for the relief of Mr. Mackintosh and the nine others left on Cape Royds. As no news of them had been received in the middle of November, Sir Ernest Shackleton sailed from San Francisco for New Zealand to begin a final dash for Ross Sea. The explorer plans to enter the British army as soon as the marooned party is rescued.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF FAIRS AND EXPOSITIONS.

The American Association of Fairs and Expositions comprises fifty-five fairs and expositions of the United States and Canada which have reached the stability of permanent institutions. In most instances they are State, interstate or provincial organizations, and thus represent the North American Continent in the progress made in agriculture, horticulture, stock raising, manufacturing, domestic science, public welfare, education, transportation, good roads, art, etc., etc. Secretary—Charles Downing, Indianapolis, Ind.

SOCIALIST PARTY NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Adolph Germer, Executive Secretary, 803 West Madison Street, Chicago, Ill. This organization, known nationally as the Socialist Party, is officially known as the Public Ownership Party in Minnesota, to conform to the election laws in that State. The National Executive Committee is composed of five members, elected by the referendum of the membership. The Executive Secretary is elected in like manner. The term of office is two years. The following are the Executive Committee: Victor L. Berger, Milwaukee, Wis.; Morris Hillquit, New York, N. Y.; Anna A. Maley, New York, N. Y.; John Spargo, Old Bennington, Vt.; John M. Work, Chicago Ill.

The National Committee is composed of representatives from each organized State or Territory, of which there are 64. Representation is as follows: The National Committee consists of the State Secretaries of all organized States and Territories, or such other persons as the members of the party in the State elect by referendum vote, with one additional member from each State or Territory for every three thousand members in good standing in such State or Territory. For the purpose of determining the representation to which each State or Territory may be entitled, the National Secretary computes the beginning of each calendar year, the average dues-paying membership of such State or Territory for the preceding year. Three years' consecutive membership in the party is necessary to qualify for membership in the National Committee.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS IN 1916.

BY CHARLES H. HUGHES.

ARCHAEOLOGY.

The ruin of a building more than 1,000 years old was unearthed in Mesa Verde National Park, Colorado, by Dr. J. W. Fewkes, of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

A large amphitheatre was discovered at Pozzuoli, Italy. The building was first buried in its own debris, and later by a volcanic eruption. Fragments of gilded and colored stucco attest the former magnificence of the building.

There was found among the temple archives at Warka, the Biblical Erech, a small tablet which contains the interpretation of two dreams by a seer of the time of Belshazzar. The tablet is now in the Yale Babylon Collection.

The ruins of Zuni Valley, New Mexico, were examined, and the stratified shell-heaps studied, making it possible to determine the order in which these ruins were occupied and the shifting of the centre of poulation. Some of these ruins were those seen by the Spaniards with Coronado when New Mexico was first visited by them in 1540. This work is being carried on by the American Museum of Natural History, New York City.

Announcement was made of the publication of a five-volume work on the great Oseberg burial ship. This ship was found at Oseberg, near Tonsberg, in Southern Norway, in 1904, and contained not only the body of the Queen of Vastfold, but also complete outfits of personal and household effects.

Dr. Farabee, of the University Museum, Philadelphia, Pa., made excavations on the Island of Marajó, at the mouth of the Amazon River, and obtained quantities of Indian pottery which throw light on the culture of former inhabitants of that region.

An altar erected by Ptolemy, father of Cleopatra, was unearthed in the ruins of a temple at Koptos (now known as Kuft), Egypt. The sides of the altar were covered with illustrations and finely inscribed hieroglyphics.

A human skeleton, with the skull apparently petrified, was found near Gaylord, Kan.

A fortification declared to be more remarkable from an engineering standpoint than the pyramids of Egypt was discovered by a member of the Yale and Geographical Society Expedition in Peru.

The excavation of the palace of Memphis, in Egypt, was continued by Dr. Fisher of the University Museum, Philadelphia, Pa. He discovered the throne room and developed a general plan of the palace.

Viking relics of the ninth century were found at Valtos, on Lewis Island, one of the Hebrides Islands. Among them were large oval brooches, part of a bronze chain, and a disc-shaped ornament.

A paper, published in the Journal of the East Africa and Uganda Natural History Society, volume V., calls attention to the fact that between Kismayu and Port Durnford there are about 60 miles of coast full of ruins, and north of Port Durnford there are innumerable ruins of stone buildings. No record remains of the builders, but they are supposed to be early Persian settlers.

A new stage in the evolution of the horse is represented by a skeleton secured in the Pliocene of Nebraska, in the Summer of 1916, by the American Museum of Natural History, New York City. It is intermediate between the "three-toed horses" and the "one-toed" or modern type.

ASTRONOMY.

Observations on Mars, at the Lowell Observatory, showed that the canal development corroborates the theory of seasonal dependence on the melting of the polar cap.

A total solar eclipse on February 3, 1916, was observed through thin clouds by a party from the Argentine National Observatory, stationed at Tucacas, Venezuela.

The Mount Wilson Solar Observatory completed a catalogue of the magnitudes and colors of more than 1,000 stars in the globular cluster Messier 13.

According to a Harvard University circular an examination of photographic plates of the region near the South Pole has led to the discovery of 19 new variable stars.

The first cometary discovery of 1916 was made by Mr. Neujmin on February 24 at the Simeis Observatory, Crimea. From the character of the orbit it is believed that the comet (aNeujmin, 1916) will be one with a short period. Another comet was discovered by Mr. Wolf at Heidelberg, on April 27.

A meteorite weighing about 20 tons was reported to have fallen at Bezerros, Pernambuco, Brazil.

Measurements of the radiation of stars by Dr. Coblentz, of the United States Bureau of Standards, brought out the relationship between total radiation and optical brightness. It was found that, in general, red stars emit two or three times as much total radiation as blue stars of the same photometric magnitude.

Observations on Saturn at the Lowell Observatory showed a remarkable change in the color and brightness of the planet's ball.

A new method for the determination of latitude was published in Atti R. Accademia dei Lincei, volume III. The method is a modification of Struves, in which high altitude stars are observed in the prime vertical, but the improvement consists in the employment of pairs of stars, one east and the other west, chosen so that the observation of both can be made in a short interval of time.

The 72-inch reflector telescope, built for the Dominion Astronomical Observatory, Victoria, British Columbia, was completed at the works of the builder in Cleveland, Ohio.

A revision of the catalogue of stars found in Ptolemy's Almagest (138, A. D.), was published by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C.

The annual report of the Astronomer-Royal states that the magnetic declination is decreasing at the rate of nearly 10 minutes of arc per annum, the declination at Greenwich Observatory being now less than 15 degrees.

A unique use was made of the steel dome of the Chabot Observatory in the Oakland Hills, Cal., it being utilized to form part of a wireless system for transmitting time from the observatory to Oakland.

The Van Vleck Observatory of the Wesleyan University, Middletown, Ct., was completed.

Markings of a new kind were observed on Mars at the Lowell Observatory. A small dot was noted within some of the polygons, made by the intersections of certain canals, and from this dot delicate lines extended to a corner and to the sides of the polygon.

A machine for computing perturbation of the planets was described in a memoir by the Finnish mathematician, K. F. Sundmann, an abstract of which was published by Dr. H. D. Curtis, of the Lick Observatory.

The Naval Observatory at Washington, D. C., installed a Ross photographic reflex zenith tube for the determination of the variation of latitude.

After nearly seven years' work students completed, at the University of Nebraska, one of the largest telescopes in the Middle West of the United States. The telescope is 18 feet long and has a 12-inch lens.

CHEMISTRY.

A new method for determining barium carbonate in vulcanized rubber goods was described in United States Bureau of Standards Technologic Paper No. 64.

Zinc works were built at Drammen, Norway, for the extraction of zinc by an electric wet process. Special attention will be paid to ores containing 8 to 30 per cent. zinc.

Results on the effect of various amounts of carbon and manganese on the corrosive properties of iron and steel were described in a paper read at the annual meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute, in London.

A revised edition of a bulletin on Standard Density and Volumetric Tables was published by the United States Bureau of Standards.

Deposits of alunite were discovered on Vancouver Island, British Columbia. Raw alunite has been successfully used as a fertilizer, but, if roasted double, the yield of a crop is obtained.

An improved method of determining the chemical constituents of wood was brought out by the Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis.

A further proof of the difference between ordinary lead and that obtained from radio-active materials is afforded by the determinations of their respective densities (Journal American Chemist Society XXXVIII.). The density of ordinary lead with atomic weight 207.2 was found to be 11.337, while that of radio-active lead (atomic weight 206.3) was 11.28.

As a result of the great increase in the price of potassium-ferri-cyanide, or red prussiate of potash, which is used as a coating material for blue print paper, an economical method of preparing the substance was devised by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The Second National Exposition of Chemical Industries was held in New York City, from September 25 to 30.

The extraction of gasoline from natural gas by absorption was outlined in a paper read before the Natural Gas Association of America at a meeting in Pittsburgh in May.

That the amounts of nitric and nitrous acids in rain bears certain relations to the prevailing weather conditions was shown in a paper read before the Chemical Society of Melbourne, Australia. A result of this paper was the establishing of several observation stations in Australia.

The manufacture of gasoline and benzene-toluene from petroleum and other hydrocarbons was described in Bulletin No. 114, published by the United States Bureau of Mines.

Exploitation of an immense deposit of sulphur was begun in the foothills of At-Chagyl, alongside the salt lake of Kukurt-Ata, Russia.

That the vacuum treatment of commercial iron increases the maximum permeability from two to three times and decreases the hysteresis loss correspondingly was proved by Prof. Yensen, of Illinois University.

An improved process of tinning and preparing plates for tinning was tried out at Malingriffith Tinplate Works, South Wales. The process dispenses with the necessity of white pickling, and the white annealed plates after being separated are without any handling taken up by machinery and pickled, washed, turned, cleaned and piled.

A new method of treating brine to remove barium chloride was published by the United States Bureau of Chemistry.

GEOLOGY.

A geologic reconnaissance for phosphate in the Salt River range of Wyoming by the United States Geological Survey, resulted in the discovery of beds of phosphate, most of it of high grade, aggregating several billion tons.

Since the outbreak of the European war, the Geological Survey of Great Britain has been investigating the production of the important minerals in the British Isles. A late publication on the subject deals with the sources of supply of fluor-spar and the methods of working it.

A volcanic mountain presenting some novel features was described in the transactions of the Royal Society of South Africa. The particular mountain (Gotsi Cubib) is situated in what was formerly German Southwest Africa, near the Keetmanshoop Railway, and rises to a height of about 5,000 feet above the sea. The noticeable feature is the complete absence of fragments of lava of the ordinary kinds.

The whole of Queensland is a vast cemetery of fossilized species—on the surface, buried in drifts or hidden in clays. No human bones, flint flakes or any kind of native weapons have ever been discovered with the extinct mammalia (Geological Notes on Queensland—North Queensland Register).

A recessional moraine consisting of several segments disposed along a sinuous course lies near the Atlantic Coast and has been traced from Saco, Me., to Newbury, Mass. Further particulars will be published by the United States Geological Survey.

From another examination of the Tuxpan beds, it seems that these beds refer to the Oligocene, and it appears that along the western gulf shore there is no Miocene on the surface between Tuxpan, Mexico and Galveston, Tex.

It is estimated by the United States Geological Survey that the State of North Dakota contains the enormous amount of 697,000,000,000 short tons of lignite in beds over 3 feet thick and within 1,000 feet of the surface. If formed into one compact mass it would make a cube about 5 miles on a side.

An improved recording micrometer for geometrical rock analysis was described in the Journal of Geology for May.

In a paper on the geology of the district between Abereiddy and Abercastle, Pembrokeshire, is a description of a new mode of igneous brecciation (Quarterly Journal Geological Society, volume LXXI.).

A monograph on the Pleistocene of Indiana and Michigan and the History of the Great Lakes was published by the United States Geological Survey. The monograph contains the most recently gathered facts and latest opinions concerning the forming of the Great Lakes.

The Geological Survey of Great Britain issued a memoir on the thickness of strata in the counties of England and Wales, exclusive of rocks older than the Permian.

The Canadian Arctic Expedition in charge of V Stefansson studied the geological formation of Stapylton Bay and the Arctic coast line of Canada. A large area was mapped and investigated where native copper was widely distributed in large amounts.

An original and important paper on the origin of the diamond appeared in Mining Journal for May. Among the conclusions is the statement—that the economic diamond is to be regarded as essentially a secondary mineral grown in situ in the kemberlite matrix.

The United States Geological Survey reports the following: (1) The finding of tin deposits in Northern Nevada of an uncommon type; (2) the determination that the rich silver minerals of most of the ores now mined at Tonopah, Nev., were probably deposited by ascending solutions and that therefore the geologic conditions are favorable for the extent of the rich ores to depths considerably greater than those yet attained in mining, and (3) the total petroleum remaining in the developed and prospective oil territory in the United States is estimated at 7,629,000,000 barrels, and the amount obtainable by distillation of hydrocarbon shales is over 20,000,000,000 barrels.

ENGINEERING.

One of the largest developments ever undertaken by a municipality was started by the City of Los Angeles, Cal. The development consists of the reclamation of over 137 square miles by the building of an irrigation system of 350 miles of steel pipes and approximately 13 miles of concrete conduits.

The United States Bureau of Standards built a house of 56 panels, each about 12 feet by 14 feet of different mixtures of cement, for ascertaining which mixture would stand best the sun, wind rain and freezing temperatures of out of door and yet remain in good condition.

One of the largest double deck concrete viaducts in the United States was completed in Cleveland Ohio. It consists of 12 quadruple concrete arches with an average length of 140 feet each, and a steel arch over the Cuyahoga River with a span of 591 feet.

An aerial scenic tramway 1,800 feet long, built for taking passengers across the Whirlpool was completed at Niagara Falls, Ontario. There are six parallel cables, over which run sheaves, forming part of the frame that the passenger car is fastened to.

Work was started on a new water supply system for Winnipeg, Manitoba. The water will be brought by gravity from Shoal Lake, a distance of about 100 miles, through nearly 85 miles of concrete conduit.

The Rhone-Marseilles Canal was finished early in 1916. The total length of the canal is 60 miles and it can accommodate barges up to 600 tons dead weight.

Precast reinforced concrete piles 100 feet long (reported as the longest ever driven) were used in building wharves at Auckland, New Zealand.

The contract was awarded for a large low service reservoir at Cleveland, Ohio. When completed the reservoir will have a storage capacity of 130,000,000 gallons.

A large steel arch bridge was built over the St John River, at St. John, New Brunswick. The bridge has a span of 565 feet, and a clear height of 76 feet from the underside of the arch to the extreme high water level.

Rapid progress has been made on the new water tunnel for Chicago, Ill. The tunnel will be about 8 miles long, with cross sections 12 feet by 12 feet, and 13 feet by 13 feet with vertical sides, semicircular roof and invert floor. The flow capacity will be 350,000,000 gallons per day.

A new water supply system was planned for Aberdeen, Scotland. The population to be supplied will be about 170,000, and the average daily consumption per head is computed as 40 gallons.

The largest steel rolling crest dam in the United States was completed by the United States Reclamation Service across the Grand River, near Grand Junction, Col. On the weir is 420 feet of rolling crest, 10 feet 3 inches high, in six units of 70 feet each.

The Elephant Butte Dam in Sierra County, New Mexico, was completed in May, at an approximate cost of $5,000,000. It contains about 608,000 cubic yards of masonry, and is said to be one of the largest masonry structures in the world. The dam forms part of an extensive irrigation system whereby 200,000 acres of land in New Mexico and Texas will become productive.

Among the notable concrete structures completed was an ore dock 80 feet above water level and 1,132 feet long at Ashland, Wis., built by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie Railroad.

In August both cantilever arms of the Quebec Bridge over the St. Lawrence River were completed. Early in September, in attempting to place in position the suspended span of 640 feet in length by 88 feet in width, weighing about 5,000 tons, connecting the two cantilever arms, the span fell into the river, killing and injuring a number of workmen. Work, however, on the bridge will be continued.

REGENTS' EXAMINATIONS IN NEW YORK STATE IN 1917.

REGENTS' EXAMINATIONS under the control of the University of the State of New York (office, Albany, N. Y.) will be held in 1917 at the following times and places: January 22-26, inclusive, at New York, and about 900 academies and high schools; June 18-22, inclusive, at New York, and about 900 academies and high schools. Examinations for teachers' certificates are held on the same dates as the Regents', and August 6-10, September 10-12, inclusive, at New York, Albany, Syracuse, Buffalo; 33 subjects. September examinations are for professional and technical students only. Morning session begins 9.15 o'clock. Afternoon session begins 1.15 o'clock. For conditions governing examinations, see WORLD ALMANAC for 1913, page 161.

UNIVERSITY CREDENTIALS—Preliminary (preacademic) certificate—Reading, writing, spelling, elementary English, arithmetic, geography, and elementary United States history with civics. Students from countries where English is not the mother tongue must pass an examination in second year English for any one of the professional certificates.

LAW, MEDICINE, DENTISTRY, ETC.—Sixty counts qualifying certificate. All candidates taking Regents' examinations for qualifying certificates in law, dentistry, veterinary science, for admission to examination for certified public accountant, and for certified shorthand reporter, must earn counts upon examination as follows:

English, three years, 10 counts; elementary algebra, 5 counts; plane geometry, 5 counts; physics and chemistry, 10 counts; or physics and biology, 10 counts, or chemistry and biology, 10 counts (for a medical student certificate, physics, chemistry, and biology, 15 counts); any second year foreign language, 10 counts; American history with civics, 5 counts; electives, 15 counts (for a medical student certificate, 10 counts).

The electives shall be: English fourth year, 3 counts; Latin second year, or Greek second year, or French second year, or German second year, or Spanish second year, or Italian second year, or Hebrew second year, 10 counts; advanced algebra, 5 counts; advanced arithmetic, 2 counts; physical geography, 5 counts; ancient history, 5 counts; *history of Great Britain and Ireland, 5 counts; *modern history 1, 3 counts; *modern history 2, 3 counts; economics, 2 counts; elementary bookkeeping and business practice, 3 counts; advanced bookkeeping and office practice, 5 counts; shorthand 1, 5 counts; shorthand 2, 5 counts; †elementary representation, 2 counts; †advanced design, 2 counts; †advanced representation, 2 counts.

PROFESSIONAL CERTIFICATES WITHOUT EXAMINATION—Candidates having credentials which can be accepted in place of examinations should send them to the University of the State of New York.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS—Examinations for license to practice medicine in this State will be held as follows: January 30 to February 2, May 15-18, June 26-29, October 2-5, at New York, Albany, Syracuse, and Buffalo. (Each candidate is notified as to exact place.)

PHARMACY AND DRUGGIST EXAMINATIONS—January 31 to February 1, May 22-25, June 27-28, October 3-4.

CHIROPODY EXAMINATIONS—Dates and places of examinations same as Medical Examinations.

DENTAL EXAMINATIONS—Dates and places of examinations same as Medical Examinations shown above, except that no examination is given in May. The practical examination is held on the Saturday morning following the regular examinations.

VETERINARY EXAMINATIONS—Dates and places of examinations same as Medical Examinations shown above.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS—Dates of examinations: January 30 to February 1, June 26-28, at New York, Albany, Syracuse, and Buffalo.

CERTIFIED SHORTHAND REPORTERS—Examinations on the first two days of the other regular professional examinations, when there are applicants, in January and June of each year.

REGISTRATION OF NURSES—Two examinations will be held annually in January and June, respectively. Applications should be made at least ten days in advance to the University of the State of New York, Examination Division, Albany, N. Y. Dates: January 30 to February 1, June 26-28, at New York, Albany, Syracuse, and Buffalo. (Each candidate is notified as to exact place.)

OPTOMETRY EXAMINATIONS—Examinations January 30 to February 1, June 26-28, October 2-4. (Each candidate is notified as to exact place.) Application should be made at least one week in advance to the University of the State of New York, Examination Division, Albany, N. Y.

* Candidates who have credit in history of Great Britain and Ireland (3 or 5) may receive credit for modern history 2 but not for modern history 1. Candidates who have credit in European history may not have credit in modern history 1 or 2. † Candidates who have credit in elementary drawing based on the 1905 syllabus will receive no additional counts for passing elementary representation, but will receive two counts for passing advanced design and two counts for passing advanced representation. Candidates who have credit for advanced drawing general based on the 1905 syllabus can obtain no additional counts in drawing.

THE TORRENS SYSTEM OF REGISTRATION OF TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

(A statement prepared by the Registrar of the County of New York.)

The "Torrens System" or "Torrens Law" is a system of "registration of titles to real estate." Under this system an owner of land receives from the public officer, called the Registrar, an official certificate of title, which gives the name of the owner, a description of the land and a statement of all liens and incumbrances affecting the land. The certificate is issued in duplicate—the original remains on file in the Registrar's office and a duplicate is given to the owner as his evidence of title.

When the property is sold and it is desired to transfer title, the owner surrenders his certificate with an instrument in the form of a deed or similar writing authorizing the Registrar to transfer the title, whereupon the Registrar cancels the surrendered certificate and issues a new certificate in duplicate form to the new owner. The transfer is made in much the same way that bank stock is transferred on the books of the corporation. The fee of the Registrar for making the transfer is $2 or $3 and ordinarily the matter is attended to in a few minutes. No title searching is necessary because the certificate is like a ledger page and is kept posted to date. All open matters affecting the title are carried over upon the new certificate and all cancelled or expired matters are omitted.

The system was devised in its present general form by Robert R. Torrens and first promulgated in the form of law in South Australia in 1858. The "Registration of Titles to Land," however, was in use as early as 1811 in Austria and in 1855 in Hungary. Denmark registered such titles by judicial decree as early as 1550. The provisions of the later acts, however, differentiate the "Torrens" laws from these earlier forms. From South Australia the law spread to Queensland (1861), Tasmania (1862), New South Wales (1862), Victoria (1862), New Zealand (1870), Western Australia (1874), Fiji (1876), and New Guinea (1889). In all of these the registration of titles is compulsory on the alienation of crown lands, otherwise voluntary; only fee simple titles may be registered. The title obtained by registration is indefeasible.

Almost immediately after the launching of the system in Australia it was adopted in British Honduras (1858), followed by British Guiana (1880), the Leeward Islands (1886), Jamaica (1888). The system was also adopted in Central America, Tabago, Trinidad, Turks Island, Wales, Norway, Denmark, Germany and Austria. In England a similar law was passed (1862) and Ireland (1865). In these leaseholds for life or for twenty years were brought in. Absolute, qualified or possessory titles may be registered in England; only absolute titles in Ireland. In 1897 registration was made compulsory in the City of London.

In Canada the system was adopted in British Columbia (1871), Ontario (1885), Manitoba (1885), Nova Scotia (1904), Alberta (1906), and Saskatchewan (1906). Throughout Canada the act is compulsory on alienation of crown lands, except in British Columbia, and voluntary otherwise except in Ontario. It is wholly voluntary in Ontario and permissive only in parts of that province. An estate of any kind is entitled to registration except in Ontario, which is open only to fee simple and life or 21-year leaseholds, and Alberta and Saskatchewan, which excludes any estate for less than three years.

In the United States registration laws have been passed in 14 States, in the following order: Ohio (1896), Illinois (1897), California (1897), Massachusetts (1898), Minnesota (1901), Oregon (1901), Colorado (1903), Washington (1907), New York (1908), North Carolina (1913), Mississippi (1914), Nebraska (1915), South Carolina (1916), Virginia (1916).

The system was adopted by the United States Government for the Philippine Islands in 1902 and for Hawaii in 1903.

In all of these States the law is voluntary except in the Philippines (Government grants, compulsory); Hawaii (lands owned by corporations, compulsory) and Illinois (decedent's estates). The unit of registration is the county and generally the Register of Deeds or similar officer is the Recorder or Registrar. The operation of the act is confined to estates in fee simple absolute except in Hawaii, which, like the English law, includes qualified and possessory titles. In all there is a judicial proceeding which is heard, except in Massachusetts, the Philippines and Hawaii, in the local court having equity jurisdiction. The "suit" is analogous to one to quiet title. In Hawaii the law was changed in 1914 so as to admit of registration of the estate or interest of a person instead of the possessory title being registered. Massachusetts has a special "Land Court" and the Territories "Courts of Land Registration."

In 1912 Ohio amended its Constitution and conferred judicial powers upon the Registrar so as to permit the initial registration of titles to be made directly by the Registrar without making it a matter of court litigation. In 1915 Pennsylvania adopted a similar amendment. These constitutional amendments make these two States pioneers in the United States in the adoption of a pure Torrens system.

In the original Torrens law in Australia the Registrar had power to register uncontested titles, but contested titles were sent to the court for settlement. The first law of Illinois (1895, repealed in 1897) and that of Ohio (1896, repealed in 1898) followed the same principle, but were declared unconstitutional on the technical ground that the Registrar was not a judicial officer. Because of this decision it has been necessary under the laws of most States to go to court for the initial registration of all titles, even though uncontested. The constitutional change in Ohio and Pennsylvania obviates this unnecessary expense in those States. In 1913 (amended in 1914) Ohio passed a new law under the authority expressly conferred by its constitutional amendment.

The proceedings are declared to be "in rem" in New York and in most States. The judgment of registration binds the land and makes the title uncontestable.

The decree after a varying period becomes absolute and conclusive. The time is 30 days in Massachusetts and the Philippines, 90 days in Colorado and Washington, 6 months in Minnesota, 2 years in Illinois and Oregon, and 1 year (amendment, 1914) in California. The title so registered is, generally speaking, indefeasible, the exceptions being by private parties for fraud, for varying periods and under varying conditions becoming absolutely indefeasible for this cause in Massachusetts, the Philippines and Hawaii after one year. Proceedings to set aside a certificate for fraud will not lie against an innocent holder for value. It is indefeasible as to boundaries except in Illinois, Minnesota, Oregon, Colorado and Washington, and in those States where the adjacent property owners have been "brought in." It is also defeasible as to unrecorded leases not required by the law to be recorded. Such a title is defeasible in actions by the State or Federal Government, as for eminent domain, taxes, etc.

ASSURANCE FUND—By law the title of an owner as stated on the certificate is indefeasible—that is, it cannot be attacked or upset by the claim of any third party, no matter how meritorious such a claim might be in itself. Any claim not stated on the face of the certificate is cut off. The certificate holder, theoretically at least, does not need any assurance fund for his security, but the assurance fund provides equitable money compensation to any one whose rights have been cut off by mistake. Mistakes, however, are very rare and the amount paid in losses is negligible in every community where the system is in operation. The State as a rule (except in New York State) is back of the fund and each property registered contributes to the fund. The premium rate is usually $1 per thousand on the value of the land.

THE NEW YORK LAW—Although in operation since 1908, the New York law has been practically a dead letter. In 1916 important amendments were passed correcting some of the faults in the law. The New York law still differs from that of Massachusetts, Illinois and other States in that the State (county) is not back of the assurance fund; privately employed "official examiners of title" are permitted, and the court procedure is unnecessarily cumbersome and lengthy. By Chapter 52 of the Laws of 1909 the law was made a part of the Real Property Law contained in Chapter 50, the Consolidated Laws. The original law constituted Chapter 444 of the Laws of 1908 and was amended by Chapter 627 of the Laws of 1910 and by Chapter 547 of the Laws of 1916.

PROCEDURE IN NEW YORK FOR INITIAL REGISTRATION—Upon the first application for a certificate of registration the title must be examined in the same way as it is ordinarily examined upon a purchase transaction. This examination is done by an official examiner, who makes a complete examination of the title, including the Register's office, County Clerk's office, Surrogate's Court, Federal Courts, reading of the survey, inspection of the premises and all other matters pertaining to a title.

The results of this examination are placed in a report, which is signed by the official examiner. This report of title by the official examiner, accompanied by a survey, with the owner's application for registration, is presented to the Supreme Court at Special Term, and if the Court considers that the title is one that should be registered an order is made to issue a summons. The proceedings then go forward as in any other action. If title is established to the satisfaction of the Court a final judgment is rendered, which contains instructions to the Registrar as to the manner and the details of the registration of the title. This judgment is filed with the Registrar, who thereupon issues the first certificate of title.

EXPENSE OF INITIAL REGISTRATION IN NEW YORK.

For the first application the costs are as follows:

(1) OFFICIAL EXAMINATION—For the official examination, fees are fixed in the law at $10, plus $1 a thousand on the value of the property; that is, for a $3,000 valuation the examiner's fee would be $13. For a $10,000 valuation the examiner's fee would be $20, and so on. This fee is paid to the Registrar.

(2) SURVEY—According to the surveyor's charge—about $15 for each lot, paid to the surveyor.

(3) PUBLICATION—Once a week for four weeks—about $30, paid to the newspaper.

(4) FILING THE APPLICATION—$1, paid to the Registrar.

(5) REGISTRATION CERTIFICATE—Fee $5, paid to the Registrar.

(6) STATE ASSURANCE PREMIUM—$1 per thousand on the value of the property; that is, for a $3,000 property the assurance premium would be $3; on a $10,000 property it would be $10, and so on. The premium is paid to the Registrar.

(7) ATTORNEY'S CHARGES—Owing to the court proceeding, which in New York is more complicated than in other States, the employment of an attorney for the initial registration is necessary. The legal fees are a matter of arrangement between attorney and client.

All of the foregoing expenses are incidental to the initial registration only. The assurance premium is paid once only. It is not paid on subsequent transfers. That is, the assurance premium once paid assures the title for all time, and safeguards not only the holder of the certificate, but also all other persons dealing in the land, and covers not only the present transaction, but also all future dealings.

For subsequent transfers the only expense is $2, paid to the Registrar for transferring the title, cancelling the old certificate and issuing a new certificate to the new owner. For entering a mortgage or other incumbrance upon the property a charge of $1 is made, which is paid to the Registrar.

WHERE TO MAKE APPLICATION—The law has State-wide application. In the counties of New York, Kings, Bronx and Westchester the Register of the county is the Registrar. In all other counties the County Clerk acts as Registrar. In New York County the Register has designated an official examiner of titles to act in the County of New York, which is co-terminous with the Borough of Manhattan.

Any owner may apply or any person holding a contract of purchase from the owner may apply. The holder of the contract may have the certificate issued in his own name after the title is closed.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED—The New York law has not been successful because it contains features which are foreign to a true Torrens system. Under the advocacy of John J. Hopper, Registrar of New York County, amendments are being pressed that will make the New York law similar to that of Massachusetts and other States where the law has been successful. The chief features of the proposed amendments are (1) to make the examination of titles exclusively official; (2) to put the State (county) back of the assurance fund, and (3) to simplify the court procedure. The effect of these amendments will be to increase public confidence in the system and to make the initial proceeding short and economical.

INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY UNION.

An educational institution incorporated at Washington, D. C., to investigate the forces and laws involved in the "science of human relations" and to promulgate the truths and principles discovered Founded in 1876, it was incorporated as an institution of university rank and power in 1910 to prescribe university courses of study, to conduct university examinations and to confer university degrees. It has had over 10,000 students and members. Its representative has been around the world three times on these tours of visitation to the colleges and universities of the world in the interest of "Religious Education from the Scientific Viewpoint," for "religion is man's recognition of his relations and the performance of his duties growing out of those relations."

The International University Union is now engaged in establishing State chairs (or professorships) of the "science of human relations" or "the science of religion" in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, and Massachusetts. THE MODERN HISTORIC RECORDS ASSOCIATION.

President—Justice Victor J. Dowling. Secretary—Alfred Kreymborg, 20 Exchange Place, New York City. Founder—Alexander Konta.

The Modern Historic Records Association is a non-commercial body. Its purpose is to preserve, for future generations, the records of our contemporary history and achievement by the best methods known to modern science, and to be of vital service and inspiration to historians, students, educators, and others in the life of our own time. The varying mediums employed are: Moving pictures, phonograms, talking pictures, autographic records on parchment, special stories of great events printed on rag paper, permanent photographs on glass positives, clay tablets, lantern slides, and whatever other means the progress of science and the new triumphs of invention may provide. The organization was founded in 1911 by Alexander Konta, and among its incorporators are some of the most prominent individuals from every field of human activity all over the world.

The larger part of the records of our contemporary history, progress, life, and civilization, as given in our books, newspapers, periodicals, pamphlets, and reports, is printed on sulphite or on wood-pulp paper. Many of these records are doomed to dust in from fifty to seventy-five years. In a century comparatively little of the printed record of this great age will be in existence. To seek to offset this situation, so far as possible, by permanent records of the vital events in our history, and to remedy the evil itself, so far as its powers and influence permit, is the aim of the Modern Historic Records Association, the only organization of its kind in the world. The possibilities of the value of this work may be suggested in a single illustration from the past. Lincoln's immortal speech at Gettysburg is one of the treasures of English literature, yet there have been published over a hundred different versions of it. Congress has twice printed it incorrectly. Had it been possible to secure a phonogram record of the address when delivered there could be, at present no dispute as to the actual words spoken by Lincoln.

Pending the securing by the association of a building of its own, for which tentative designs have been made, the association has the privilege of preserving its records in the New York Public Library. Among the many names of famous men who have recorded themselves for all time are: Thomas Edison, ex-President Madero of Mexico, Captain Rostron of the Carpathia, Peary and Amundsen, ex-President Taft, Maurice Maeterlinck, Eugene Brieux, George Brandes, Paul Heyse, George Bernard Shaw, Prof. Paul Ehrlich, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Dr. Luther Burbank, Hon. James Bryce, Prof. Paul Dubois, Sir Hiram S. Maxim, Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Andrew Carnegie, Admiral George Dewey, Arthur Wing Pinero, John Muir, Richard Strauss, H. G. Wells, Tommaso Salvini, Sir William Ramsay, and Maximilian Harden

TREATY BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE REPUBLIC OF HAYTI.

FINANCES, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND TRANQUILLITY OF HAYTI.

PREAMBLE.

The United States and the Republic of Hayti desiring to confirm and strengthen the amity existing between them by the most cordial co-operation in measures for their common advantage:

And the Republic of Hayti desiring to remedy the present condition of its revenues and finances, to maintain the tranquillity of the republic, to carry out plans for the economic development and prosperity of the republic and its people:

And the United States being in full sympathy with all of these aims and objects and desiring to contribute in all proper ways to their accomplishment:

The United States and the Republic of Hayti have resolved to conclude a convention with these objects in view, and have appointed for that purpose, plenipotentiaries,

The President of the United States, Robert Beale Davis, Jr., Charge d'Affaires of the United States:

And the President of the Republic of Hayti, Louis Borno, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and Public Instruction, who, having exhibited to each other their respective powers, which are seen to be full in good and true form, have agreed as follows:

ARTICLE I.

The Government of the United States will, by its good offices, aid the Haytian Government in the proper and efficient development of its agricultural, mineral and commercial resources and in the establishment of the finances of Hayti on a firm and solid basis.

ARTICLE II.

The President of Hayti shall appoint, upon nomination by the President of the United States, a general receiver and such aids and employees as may be necessary, who shall collect, receive and apply all customs duties on imports and exports accruing at the several custom houses and ports of entry of the Republic of Hayti.

The President of Hayti shall appoint, upon nomination by the President of the United States, a financial adviser, who shall be an officer attached to the Ministry of Finance, to give effect to whose proposals and labors the Minister will lend efficient aid. The financial adviser shall devise an adequate system of public accounting, aid in increasing the revenues and adjusting them to the expenses, inquire into the validity of the debts of the republic, enlighten both Governments with reference to all eventual debts, recommend improved methods of collecting and applying the revenues, and make such other recommendations to the Minister of Finance as may be deemed necessary for the welfare and prosperity of Hayti.

ARTICLE III.

The Government of the Republic of Hayti will provide by law or appropriate decrees for the payment of all customs duties to the general receiver, and will extend to the receivership, and to the financial adviser, all needful aid and full protection in the execution of the powers conferred and duties imposed herein; and the United States on its part will extend like aid and protection.

ARTICLE IV.

Upon the appointment of the financial adviser, the Government of the Republic of Hayti, in co-operation with the financial adviser, shall collate, classify, arrange and make full statement of all the debts of the republic, the amounts, character, maturity and condition thereof, and the interest accruing and the sinking fund requisite to their final discharge.

ARTICLE V.

All sums collected and received by the general receiver shall be applied, first, to the payment of the salaries and allowances of the general receiver, his assistants and employees, and expenses of the receivership, including the salary and expenses of the financial adviser, which salaries will be determined by previous agreement; second, to the interest and sinking fund of the public debt of the Republic of Hayti; and, third, to the maintenance of the constabulary referred to in Article X, and then the remainder to the Haytian Government for purposes of current expenses.

In making these applications the general receiver will proceed to pay salaries and allowances monthly and expenses as they arise, and on the first of each calendar month, will set aside in a separate fund the quantum of the collection and receipts of the previous month.

ARTICLE VI.

The expenses of the receivership, including salaries and allowances of the general receiver, his assistants and employees, and the salary and expenses of the financial adviser, shall not exceed 5 per centum of the collections and receipts from customs duties, unless by agreement by the two Governments.

ARTICLE VII.

The general receiver shall make monthly reports of all collections, receipts and disbursements to the appropriate officer of the Republic of Hayti and to the Department of State of the United States, which reports shall be open to inspection and verification at all times by the appropriate authorities of each of the said Governments.

ARTICLE VIII.

The Republic of Hayti shall not increase its public debt except by previous agreement with the President of the United States, and shall not contract any debt or assume any financial obligation unless the ordinary revenues of the republic available for that purpose, after defraying the expenses of the Government, shall be adequate to pay the interest and provide a sinking fund for the final discharge of such debt.

ARTICLE IX.

The Republic of Hayti will not without a previous agreement with the President of the United States, modify the customs duties in a manner to reduce the revenues therefrom; and in order that the revenues of the republic may be adequate to meet the public debt and the expenses of the Government, to preserve tranquillity and to promote material prosperity, the Republic of Hayti will co-operate with the financial adviser in his recommendations for improvement in the methods of collecting and disbursing the revenues and for new sources of needed income.

ARTICLE X.

The Haytian Government obligates itself, for the preservation of domestic peace, the security of individual rights and full observance of the provisions of this treaty, to create without delay an efficient constabulary, urban and rural, composed of native Haytians. This constabulary shall be organized and officered by Americans, appointed by the President of Hayti, upon nomination by the President of the United States. The Haytian Government shall clothe these officers with the proper and necessary authority and uphold them in the performance of their functions. These officers will be replaced by Haytians as they, by examination, conducted under direction of a board to be selected by the senior American officer of this constabulary and in the presence of a representative of the Haytian Government, are found to be qualified to assume such duties. The constabulary herein provided for, shall, under the direction of the Haytian Government, have supervision and control of arms and ammunition, military supplies, and traffic therein, throughout the country. The high contracting parties agree that the stipulations in this article are necessary to prevent factional strife and disturbances.

ARTICLE XI.

The Government of Hayti agrees not to surrender any of the territory of the Republic of Hayti by sale, lease, or otherwise, or jurisdiction over such territory, to any foreign Government or power, nor to enter into any treaty or contract with any foreign power or powers that will impair or tend to impair the independence of Hayti.

ARTICLE XII.

The Haytian Government agrees to execute with the United States a protocol for the settlement, by arbitration or otherwise, of all pending pecuniary claims of foreign corporations, companies, citizens or subjects against Hayti.

ARTICLE XIII.

The Republic of Hayti, being desirous to further the development of its natural resources, agrees to undertake and execute such measures as in the opinion of the high contracting parties may be necessary for the sanitation and public improvement of the republic, under the supervision and direction of an engineer or engineers, to be appointed by the President of Hayti upon nomination by the President of the United States, and authorized for that purpose by the Government of Hayti.

ARTICLE XIV.

The high contracting parties shall have authority to take such steps as may be necessary to insure the complete attainment of any of the objects comprehended in this treaty; and, should the necessity occur the United States will lend an efficient aid for the preservation of Haytian independence and the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty.

ARTICLE XV.

The present treaty shall be approved and ratified by the high contracting parties in conformity with their respective laws, and the ratifications thereof shall be exchanged in the City of Washington as soon as may be possible.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present treaty shall remain in full force and virtue for the term of ten years, to be counted from the day of exchange of ratifications, and further for another term of ten years if, for specific reasons presented by either of the high contracting parties, the purpose of this treaty has not been fully accomplished.

In faith whereof, the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the present convention in duplicate, in the English and French languages, and have thereunto affixed their seals.

Done at Port-au-Prince, Hayti, the 16th day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

NICARAGUAN CANAL ROUTE CONVENTION.

A convention between the United States and Nicaragua, signed at Washington on August 5, 1914, granting to the United States, in return for a money payment, the exclusive proprietary rights for the construction and operaion of an interoceanic canal by a Nicaragua route, the lease of certain islands, and the right to establish a naval base on the Gulf of Fonseca.

The Government of the United States of America and the Government of Nicaragua being animated by the desire to strengthen their ancient and cordial friendship by the most sincere cooperation for all purposes of their mutual advantage and interest and to provide for the possible future construction of an interoceanic ship canal by way of the San Juan River and the great Lake of Nicaragua, or by any route over Nicaraguan territory, whenever the construction of such canal shall be deemed by the Government of the United States conducive to the interests of both countries, and the Government of Nicaragua wishing to facilitate in every way possible the successful maintenance and operation of the Panama Canal, the two Governments have resolved to conclude a Convention to these ends, and have accordingly appointed as their plenipotentiaries:

The President of the United States, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State; and

The President of Nicaragua, Senor General Don Emiliano Chamorro, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of Nicaragua to the United States:

Who, having exhibited to each other their respective full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:

ARTICLE I.—The Government of Nicaragua grants in perpetuity to the Government of the United States, forever free from all taxation or public charge, the exclusive proprietary rights necessary and convenient for the construction, operation and maintenance of an interoceanic canal by way of the San Juan River and the great Lake of Nicaragua or by way of any route over Nicaraguan territory, the details of the terms upon which such canal shall be constructed, operated and maintained to be agreed to by the two Governments whenever the Government of the United States shall notify the Government of Nicaragua of its desire or intention to construct such canal.

ARTICLE II.—To enable the Government of the United States to protect the Panama Canal and the proprietary rights granted to the Government of the United States by the foregoing article, and also to enable the Government of the United States to take any measure necessary to the ends contemplated herein, the Government of Nicaragua hereby leases for a term of ninety-nine years to the Government of the United States the islands in the Caribbean Sea known as Great Corn Island and Little Corn Island; and the Government of Nicaragua further grants to the Government of the United States for a like period of ninety-nine years the right to establish, operate and maintain a naval base at such place on the territory of Nicaragua bordering upon the Gulf of Fonseca as the Government of the United States may select. The Government of the United States shall have the option of renewing for a further term of ninety-nine years the above leases and grants upon the expiration of their respective terms, it being expressly agreed that the territory hereby leased and the naval base which may be maintained under the grant aforesaid shall be subject exclusively to the laws and sovereign authority of the United States during the terms of such lease and grant and of any renewal or renewals thereof.

ARTICLE III.—In consideration of the foregoing stipulations and for the purposes contemplated by this Convention and for the purpose of reducing the present indebtedness of Nicaragua, the Government of the United States shall, upon the date of the exchange of ratification of this Convention, pay for the benefit of the Republic of Nicaragua the sum of three million dollars United States gold coin, of the present weight and fineness, to be deposited to the order of the Government of Nicaragua in such bank or banks or with such banking corporation as the Government of the United States may determine, to be applied by Nicaragua upon its indebtedness or other public purposes for the advancement of the welfare of Nicaragua in a manner to be determined by the two high contracting parties, all such disbursements to be made by orders drawn by the Minister of Finance of the Republic of Nicaragua and approved by the Secretary of State of the United States or by such person as he may designate.

ARTICLE IV.—This Convention shall be ratified by the high contracting parties in accordance with their respective laws, and the ratifications thereof shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the present treaty and have affixed thereunto their seals.

Done at Washington, in duplicate, in the English and Spanish languages, on the 5th day of August, in the year nineteen hundred and fourteen.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, [SEAL.]
EMILIANO CHAMORRO. [SEAL.]

[February 18, 1916—Convention amended, ratified and injunction of secrecy removed.]

In the resolution of ratification by the United States Senate is the following:

Provided, that whereas Costa Rica, Salvador and Honduras have protested against the ratification of said Convention in the fear or belief that said Convention might in some respect impair existing rights of said States; therefore, it is declared by the Senate that in advising and consenting to the ratification of the said Convention as amended such advice and consent are given with the understanding, to be expressed as a part of the instrument of ratification, that nothing in said Convention is intended to affect any existing right of any of the said named States.

THE AMERICAN BONAPARTES.

PRINCE JEROME BONAPARTE (King of Westphalia), born Ajaccio, Corsica, November 15, 1784; died at Ville Genis, near Paris, June 24, 1860. Married, first, at Baltimore, Md., December 24, 1803, Elizabeth, daughter of William Patterson, Esq. She was born at Baltimore, February 6, 1785, and died in that city April 4, 1879. The issue of the marriage was:

Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, born at Camberwell, England, July 7, 1805; died at Baltimore, Md., June 17, 1870. Married, November 3, 1829, Susan May, daughter of Benjamin Williams, who was born in Roxbury, Mass., but spent his life in Baltimore, Md. She was born April 2, 1812, and died September 15, 1881. The issue of the marriage was:

(1) Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, born at Baltimore, Md., November 5, 1830; died at Beverly, Mass., September 3, 1893. He was educated at and graduated from West Point Military Academy, and served for two years in the American Army, entered the French Army in 1854, took part in the Crimean and Italian campaigns and resigned after seventeen years' service at the close of the Franco-German war, with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

He was married September 7, 1871, to Caroline Le Roy, daughter of Samuel Appleton, granddaughter of Daniel Webster, and widow of Newbold Edgar. She died November 19, 1911. The issue of the marriage was:

(1) Louise Eugenie Bonaparte, born February 7, 1873. Married December 29, 1896, Comte Adam de Moltke-Huitfeldt, of Denmark, and has issue; (1) Marie Louise Caroline, born November 7, 1897; (2) Leon Charles Joseph, born November 14, 1898; (3) Jerome Eugene Otto, born January 14, 1902; (4) Adam Nicolas, born May 17, 1908; (5) Eyler Helweg.

(2) Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, born Paris, France, February 26, 1878, Harvard B. A. and Georgetown University. Lives in Washington, D. C. Married April 8, 1914, to Blanche Pierce Strebeigh.

(2) Charles Joseph Bonaparte, born at Baltimore, Md., June 9, 1851. Married September 1, 1875, Ellen Channing, daughter of Thomas Mills Day, of Hartford, Ct. No issue. Mr. Bonaparte is a Harvard B. A., 1871; LL. B., 1875; a lawyer. Was Secretary of the Navy from July 1, 1905, to December 17, 1906, and Attorney-General of the United States from December 17, 1906, to March 5, 1909; is now President of Enoch Pratt Library of Baltimore and was for 12 years Overseer of Harvard; is now Trustee Catholic University.

WIDOW MOTHERS' PENSIONS.

RELIEF FOR THE CHILDREN OF WIDOWED MOTHERS.

Twenty-nine States now have so-called "Widow Mothers' Pension" acts. The word "pension" is a misnomer and therefore misleading. A law passed in 1915 by the New York Legislature shows the clear purpose of these acts. In a memorandum on that law, on signing it, Governor Whitman said: "The bill provides for the appointment of local boards of child welfare in the city of New York and in each county of the State outside of New York City. * * * Such boards are created for the sole purpose of granting 'allowances to widowed mothers with one or more children under the age of 16 years, in order that such children may be suitably cared for in their homes by such mothers.' Such allowances are to be granted in the discretion of the board when money has been appropriated therefor, in the county by the Board of Supervisors and in the city by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and Board of Aldermen. The powers of the board in affording the relief provided by the bill will therefore be limited by the money made available by the local authorities. * * * An allowance to a widowed mother may only be made under the bill where the board determines that the mother is a suitable person to bring up her own children and that aid is necessary to enable her to do so. It must further appear that if such is not granted the child or children must be cared for in an institutional home. The amount of allowance to the mother is limited to the amount which it would be necessary to pay to an institutional home for the care of such child or children. The allowance, when made, is to continue for a period of not longer than six months and may thereafter be continued for similar periods if renewed by the board, or it may be revoked at the pleasure of the board."

An investigation by a committee of the State Senate of New York, of which Senator William H. Hill is Chairman, disclosed "the fact that Missouri was the first State to attempt even in a limited form to have half-orphans cared for by their mothers in their home, said mothers to be compensated for such service from public funds." Senator Hill stated in a letter to Governor Whitman in 1915 that "the Missouri law was approved April 7, 1911, and went into effect in June, 1911. By a population limitation it only applied to Jackson County, in which Kansas City is situated. The law has by amendment since been extended to St. Louis and possibly by later amendments to a larger territory. Illinois, in the same year (1911) passed a similar but more comprehensive 'Funds to Parents act.' The third State was Colorado, which adopted by popular vote the 'Mothers' Compensation act,' submitted at the November election in 1912. The law followed in general the provision of the Illinois 'Funds to Parents act' and became operative upon proclamation of the Governor on January 22, 1913. At the present time twenty-nine States have either general or limited laws commonly known as 'widowed mothers' pension laws,'" as follows:

Florida—Legislature of 1915 authorized appointment of commission to study question of mothers' pensions. Commission of five persons has been appointed.

An account of the various widows' "pension" laws was given by the Hon. David F. Tilley, a member of the Massachusetts State Board of Charities, before the National Conference of Catholic Charities, held at Washington in September, 1914. He said: "The purpose underlying all these laws is that of preventing the breaking up of the home when, on account of death or disability, the support of the natural breadwinner of the family is removed. The methods adopted to secure this end vary widely in the different States, as will be seen from the following summary of the laws:

"Persons to Whom Aid May Be Given.—The law applies to any parent who, on account of poverty, is unable to care properly for a dependent or neglected child, but is otherwise a proper guardian, in Colorado and Nebraska; to any parent or grandparent in Nevada; to any parent or guardian in Wisconsin. In other States it applies only to mothers. In California, New Jersey, Oklahoma (and also in St. Louis), the mother must be a widow to receive the benefits of the act. In the remaining States not only widows but the following other classes of mothers with dependent children are included: In Idaho, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, and Washington, mothers whose husbands are in prison; in Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri Oregon and Washington, mothers whose husbands are in State insane asylums; in Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, and Washington, mothers whose husbands are totally incapacitated, physically and mentally; in Michigan, Ohio (if deserted three years), Pennsylvania and Washington (if deserted one year), deserted wives. In Michigan are included also unmarried and divorced mothers. The law in Massachusetts applies to all mothers with dependent children who shall have resided in the Commonwealth not less than three years. In Colorado, Oregon and Wisconsin, if the person having custody of the child is not regarded as capable of expending the aid wisely the court may order it to be paid to some other person for the benefit of the child.

"Conditions On Which Aid Is Given—(a) Degree of Poverty.—The condition of receiving aid under these laws is uniformly that of poverty, with certain definitions added in some of the laws. For instance, in Washington the mother must be destitute; in New Hampshire and Utah she must be dependent entirely on her own efforts for support; in Oregon, wholly or partly dependent; in Illinois she may not own real property or personal property other than household effects. In Idaho, Illinois, Missouri, New Hampshire, Ohio, South Dakota and Utah the aid must, in the judgment of the court, be necessary to save the child from neglect; in New Jersey, from becoming a public charge. In Massachusetts we have few restrictions other than that the mother must be fit to bring up her children and that public relief is necessary.

"(b) Home Conditions—In most of the laws the requirement is made that the mother is a fit person morally and physically to bring up her children and that it is for the welfare of the child to remain at home. In Idaho, Illinois, Missouri, New Hampshire, Ohio, South Dakota and Utah it is made conditional that the child or children be living with the mother and that the mother shall not work regularly away from home. In South Dakota she may not be absent from home more than one day in a week; in Illinois and Ohio the amount of time is left to the discretion of the court, while in Massachusetts the Overseers granting the relief determine how much work the mother may perform and give proper care to her family.

"(c) Residence—In Washington and Minnesota one year's residence in the county is required; in Idaho, Missouri, New Hampshire, Ohio and Utah, two years' residence; in Illinois, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, three years' residence. Some of the States require 'legal' residence in the State. Minnesota, two years' residence, and California, three years. California and Illinois require, in addition, that the applicant be a citizen of the United States.

"Age of Child—The maximum age of a child on whose account an allowance may be made is 14 years in California, Iowa, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, South Dakota and Wisconsin, also Illinois, although the limit may be extended to 16 years if child is ill or incapacitated for work; 15 years in Idaho, Utah and Washington; 16 in Colorado, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Oregon and Michigan; 18 in Nebraska and Nevada. The legal working age is the limit in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

"Amount of Allowance—The maximum allowance for one child is $2 a week in Iowa; $3 a week in Michigan. It is $9 a month for one child, $14 for two children, and $4 for each additional child in New Jersey; $10 a month for each child in Minnesota and Nebraska; $10 a month for one child, $5 for each additional child in Idaho, Missouri (i. e., Jackson County), New Hampshire, and Utah; $10 for one child and $7.50 for each additional child in Oregon; $12 for one child and $4 for each additional child in Wisconsin (amount may, however, be temporarily increased in cases of sickness or unusual conditions); $12 for one child, $20 for two children, $26 for three children and $5 for each additional child in Pennsylvania; $12.50 for each child in California ($6.25 a month by the State and a like amount by the city or county); $15 for one child and $5 for each additional child in Washington; $15 for one child and $7 for each additional child in Ohio and South Dakota; $15 for one child and $10 for each additional child in Illinois (not to exceed, however, $50 for any one family). In Colorado, Nevada and Massachusetts no maximum is set, but the amount must be sufficient to care properly for the children, with the restriction in Nevada that it may not exceed what it would cost to maintain and educate the child in a county or State home. In Oklahoma the 'school scholarship' is the equivalent of the wages of the child. In the city of St. Louis the maximum is $3.50 a week, which may be increased temporarily on account of sickness or other exceptional conditions.

"Administration—The law is administered by the Juvenile Court or some other county court with similar functions in Colorado, Illinois, Idaho (Probate Court), Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey (Common Pleas), Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin; by the County Commissioners, upon the advice of the School Board, in New Hampshire; by the City or Town Overseers of the Poor in Massachusetts, and by an unpaid board of five to seven women residents of each county, appointed by the Governor, in Pennsylvania. In Ohio, Nebraska and South Dakota, the order granting aid is good only for six months unless renewed. In Idaho, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, Ohio, Utah and Washington the court may at any time modify or discontinue the allowance. In California supervisory powers are given to the State Board of Control, which can appoint three State children's agents with an unpaid advisory committee of three persons in each county; in New Jersey all cases granted aid are under the supervision of the State Board of Children's Guardians. In Massachusetts certain supervisory powers are given to the State Board of Charity; in Wisconsin to the State Board of Control. In Illinois and Ohio the law requires that visits shall be made to the homes from time to time by the probation officers; in Massachusetts, that the Overseers of the Poor shall visit the families at least once every three months and reconsider each case at least once a year.

"Source of Funds—In all the States except California, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin the funds for carrying out the provisions of these laws come out of the county treasury. In Illinois they are raised by a special tax of not exceeding three-tenths of a mill on the dollar of a taxable property of the county, and in Ohio by a tax not exceeding one-tenth of a mill.

"Reimbursements to the extent of $75 a year is made to the local authorities by California, and in Massachusetts one-third of the amount in settled cases and the whole amount in unsettled cases. The State bears one-half of the expense in Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, within the limits of the appropriation, which is apportioned according to the population of the counties.

"Penalty for Fraud—Penalties are provided for procuring or attempting to procure an allowance fraudulently in Idaho, Illinois, Missouri, Nevada, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, and Washington."

The Hon. William E. Hannan, Legislative Reference Librarian of the State of New York, prepared a bulletin which summarizes Mothers' Pension legislation in New York and other States. In this bulletin Mr. Hannan thus summarizes the provisions of the various States in regard to the persons who are to receive an allowance for the care of a child:

State.	To Whom Allowance Paid.
Arizona	Widows who are mothers of dependent children; wives whose husbands are consigned to State penal institutions or insane asylums.
California	Dependent mother who is a widow.
Colorado	To parent or parents if poor but otherwise proper guardians. May be paid to other person for benefit of child.
Idaho	Dependent mother who is a widow or whose husband is confined in either State Penitentiary, State Insane Asylum or State Home for Feeble-Minded. May be paid to individual or organization as trustee for mother's benefit.
Illinois	Dependent mother who is a widow or whose husband is incapacitated by a physical or mental infirmity or who has deserted her for a period of two years prior to application.
Iowa	Dependent mother who is a widow or whose husband is an inmate of an institution under the State Board of Control.
Kansas	Mother who is a widow or divorced or whose husband is incapacitated by a physical or mental infirmity or is an inmate of any penal or other State institution or whose husband has deserted her for at least three months.
Massachusetts	All mothers with dependent children in need of support.
Michigan	Mother who is a widow or unmarried or divorced or deserted by her husband; whose husband is insane, feeble-minded, epileptic or blind and confined in a State institution or who is an inmate of some State penal institution.
Minnesota	Mother who is a widow or whose husband is confined in a penal institution or insane asylum, or because of physical disability is unable to support his family.
Missouri	Women whose husbands are dead, prisoners, or whose husbands are in hospitals for insane or colony for the feeble-minded and epileptic.

State.	To Whom Allowance Paid.
Montana	Mother who is a widow or whose husband is an inmate of some institution of charity or correction or who is physically and mentally unable to work, such disability to have occurred while a resident of the State and who has failed to provide for his family for a period of two years or more. Aid to be given to mother.
Nebraska	To any parent unable to care properly for dependent child.
Nevada	Mother who is a widow or whose husband has deserted her for more than one year or whose husband is totally disabled or an inmate of a penal institution or insane asylum.
New Hampshire	Dependent mothers.
New Jersey	Dependent mother who is a widow.
New York	Dependent widow whose deceased husband was a citizen of the United States and a resident of the State at the time of his death.
North Dakota	Any woman with children dependent upon her for support.
Ohio	Mother who is a widow or whose husband is permanently incapacitated physically or mentally or who is in prison or who has deserted her for a continuous period of three years. (No aid given to mother who, while her husband is imprisoned, receives sufficient of his wages to support her children.)
Oklahoma	Indigent women whose husbands are dead or insane or prisoners in any State institution.
Oregon	Mother whose husband is either dead or an inmate of a State institution or physically or mentally incapacitated and whose support as well as that of the children is dependent wholly or partly upon her labor. May be paid to other person for benefit of mother.
Pennsylvania	Dependent mother who is a widow or whose husband is permanently confined in institution for the insane.
South Dakota	Women whose husbands are dead or permanently disabled for work by reason of physical or mental infirmity or who are prisoners. Women granted a divorce and who are poor. Not to apply to woman who, while her husband is imprisoned, receives sufficient of his wages to support the children.
Tennessee	Women whose husbands are dead or disabled mentally or physically as to be unable to aid in the support of the family.
Utah	Mothers who are dependent upon their own efforts for the maintenance of their children.
Washington	Mother whose husband is dead or confined in a penal institution or insane hospital or who, through total disability, is unable to support his family.
Wisconsin	Mother who is a widow or whose husband is incapacitated by permanent mental or physical disability or who has been sentenced to a penal institution for one year or more or who has continuously deserted her for one year or more. Aid may be granted to the child, its parents or other person having care of child.
Wyoming	Any woman whose husband is dead or permanently disabled for work by reason of physical or mental infirmity or is a prisoner or who has deserted her for a continuous period of one year.

The child welfare boards of New York State are subject to the general supervision of the State Board of Charities. The Hon. Simon W. Rosendale, of Albany, who is Chairman of the Committee on Child Welfare of the State Board of Charities reported to it on May 17, 1916, as follows:

"Since the enactment of the law, boards of child welfare have been appointed in all the counties of the State excepting Hamilton and Wyoming. It is taken for granted that in these the County Judges will appoint such boards at an early date, as the act in part provides that 'The members of the Board of Child Welfare established by this act shall be appointed within sixty days after this act takes effect,' but in the two counties named the County Judges failed to make appointments within the time limit fixed by the statute.

"A number of the counties which established boards of child welfare made no appropriation for their work. The section of the law which governs appropriations conferred discretion in the determination of the necessity as well as the amount required for the purpose, and in twenty-four counties, including Hamilton and Wyoming, the Supervisors made no appropriations. These twenty-four counties are:

Clinton,	Fulton,	Lewis,	Otsego,	Schoharie,	Ulster,
Columbia,	Greene,	Madison,	St. Lawrence,	Schuyler,	Washington,
Delaware,	Hamilton,	Orange,	Saratoga,	Seneca,	Wyoming.
Franklin,	Jefferson,	Orleans,	Schenectady,	Tioga,	Westchester."

The counties which made appropriations during the 9 months ending June 30, 1916, were:

Albany, $20,000; Allegany, $20,000; Broome, $15,000; Cattaraugus, $2,500; Cayuga, $4,000; Chautauqua, $2,600; Chemung, $4,000; Chenango, $4,000; Cortland, $3,000; Dutchess, $4,000; Erie, $50,000; Essex, $3,000; Herkimer, $2,050; Livingston, $1,000; Montgomery, $3,500; Nassau, $13,024; New York, $437,142 (number of children cared for in New York 3,179, families 930); Niagara, $10,000; Oneida, $14,775; Onondaga, $15,000; Oswego, $6,200; Rensselaer, $45,000; Rockland, $5,000; Steuben, $6,500; Suffolk, $5,400; Warren, $5,001; Wayne, $2,000.

SOCIETAS ROSICRUCIANA IN AMERICA.

THE AMERICAN BRANCH OF THE ROSICRUCIAN BROTHERHOOD.

Incorporated under the laws of the State of New York in 1912. Has jurisdiction throughout the United States, operating through a High Council and subordinate colleges, also maintaining colleges on the African West Coast. Is in fraternal communication with councils in Great Britain, Germany, France, Spain and Egypt. Secretary-General's address, 46 John Street, New York City. Object: "The teaching and study of moral philosophy and ethical principles through the exploration of the archæological, historical and traditional subjects of Rosicrucianism, Freemasonry, Druidism and other arcane organizations.

THE BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT.

This movement was founded in 1904 by Ernest K. Coulter in New York City. Since that time the work has been taken up in over one hundred cities. There is a staff of paid workers, supplemented by volunteers—lawyers, physicians, merchants, executives, teachers—all busy men, selected because of their good will and natural ability to do effective work. The Little Brothers are boys referred by parents, hospitals, police, courts, by other boys and by the boys themselves. They are the sons of widows, inebriates, prisoners, of careless or ignorant parents—boys who are largely the victims of their environment.

The task is to ascertain the cause of the boy's trouble—whether it be truancy, stealing, lying, running away from home, etc.; then, with the co-operation of parents, through the mediation of the Big Brothers, to build up within the boy a sense of honor and good citizenship. Every possible agency is employed to secure results—hospitals for examination or operation, the Y. M. C. A., church and settlement gymnasiums, industrial classes and boys' clubs, Boy Scouts, trade schools, camps, and farm schools. President—Franklin C. Hoyt. Vice-Presidents—Luther H. Lewis, Robert L. Gerry. Chairman Executive Committee—Ernest K. Coulter. Secretary—Charles A. Taussig. Treasurer—Francis J. Danforth. General Secretary—R. C. Sheldon. Headquarters, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

RURAL POST ROADS.

AN act to provide that the United States shall aid the States in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to co-operate with the States, through their respective State Highway Departments, in the construction of rural post roads; but no money apportioned under this act to any State shall be expended therein until its Legislature shall have assented to the provisions of this act, except that, until the final adjournment of the first regular session of the Legislature held after the passage of this act, the assent of the Governor of the State shall be sufficient. The Secretary of Agriculture and the State Highway Department of each State shall agree upon the roads to be constructed therein and the character and method of construction: Provided, That all roads constructed under the provisions of this act shall be free from tolls of all kinds.

SEC. 2. That for the purpose of this act the term "rural post road" shall be construed to mean any public road over which the United States mails now are or may hereafter be transported, excluding every street and road in a place having a population, as shown by the latest available Federal census, of 2,500 or more, except that portion of any such street or road along which the houses average more than 200 feet apart; the term "State Highway Department" shall be construed to include any department of another name, or commission, or official or officials, of a State empowered, under its laws, to exercise the functions ordinarily exercised by a State Highway Department; the term "construction" shall be construed to include reconstruction and improvement of roads; "properly maintained" as used herein shall be construed to mean the making of needed repairs and the preservation of a reasonably smooth surface considering the type of the road, but shall not be held to include extraordinary repairs, nor reconstruction; necessary bridges and culverts shall be deemed parts of the respective roads covered by the provisions of this act.

SEC. 3. That for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act there is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, the sum of $5,000,000; for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, the sum of $10,000,000; for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, the sum of $15,000,000; for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, the sum of $20,000,000; and for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921, the sum of $25,000,000. So much of the appropriation apportioned to any State for any fiscal year as remains unexpended at the close thereof shall be available for expenditure in that State until the close of the succeeding fiscal year.

SEC. 7. To maintain the roads constructed under the provisions of this act shall be the duty of the States, or their civil subdivisions, according to the laws of the several States. If at any time the Secretary of Agriculture shall find that any road in any State constructed under the provisions of this act is not being properly maintained he shall give notice of such fact to the Highway Department of such State and if within four months from the receipt of said notice said road has not been put in a proper condition of maintenance then the Secretary of Agriculture shall thereafter refuse to approve any project for road construction in said State, or the civil subdivision thereof, as the fact may be, whose duty it is to maintain said road, until it has been put in a condition of proper maintenance.

NOTE.—The construction work and labor in each State shall be done in accordance with its laws, and under the direct supervision of the State Highway Department, subject to the inspection and approval of the Secretary of Agriculture and in accordance with the rules and regulations made pursuant to this act.

[Approved July 11, 1916.]

RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES.

Seventh-Day Adventists—The following statement has been prepared by H. E. Rogers, Statistical Secretary of the General Conference:

The doctrine of the second coming of Christ was preached extensively in the United States and Europe during 1840-1844, and found adherents in many denominations. The circulation of books and journals on this question deepened the interest, and this study and agitation brought about the formation of a movement which assumed definite form in 1846 in the New England States and was later organized as the Seventh-Day Adventist denomination. The chief tenets of this body are a belief in the literal, personal second appearance of Christ, yet without ever setting a time for that event, and the observance of the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath. They believe that the dead sleep until Christ's second coming; that the righteous dead are then raised to life, and that the living righteous are made immortal. Their total communicants throughout the world is 136,879. They have 130 organized conferences, 109 mission fields, 3,876 churches, 67 advanced educational institutions, 692 primary schools; total enrolment, 21,036.

Beginning in 1894, active work was begun in non-Christian lands, and has been continued until the present, so that a segregation of the work conducted in non-Christian and non-Protestant lands, from the foregoing figures, indicates the following: Mission work is carried forward in 74 countries, with a total force of 1,901. There are 842 churches, 24,902 adherents, 10,928 pupils in 246 schools taught by 428 foreign and native teachers.

Headquarters, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C.

Latter Day Saints' Reorganized Church—The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints is a separate body, having its headquarters at Lamoni, Ia. Its membership now numbers 78,326. It has about 1,200 active ministers in the field, 38,938 Sunday-school members and 746 Sunday schools. It claims to be the church in succession to the one founded by Joseph Smith in 1830. It was reorganized in 1852, and is presided over by Frederick M. Smith, of Independence, Mo., grandson of the Prophet. Presiding Bishop—Benjamin R. McGuire, Independence, Mo. General Church Secretary—Richard S. Salyards, Lamoni, Ia. The only church of this denomination in New York City is at Park Place and Schenectady Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Pastor—W. L. Christy, 1312 Park Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Missionary Education Movement—Chairman—Samuel Thorne, Jr. Vice-Chairman—Rev. H. Paul Douglass. Recording Secretary—F. C. Stephenson. General Secretary—Harry W. Hicks. Treasurer—James S. Cushman. Headquarters, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor—President—Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D. General Secretary—William Shaw, LL. D.

Each society is in some local church, and in no sense outside. It exists simply to make the young people loyal and efficient members of the Church of Christ. It is the church training the young. Its motto is, "For Christ and the Church." In July, 1916, there were more than 77,000 societies, with a membership of about 4,000,000, chiefly in the United States and Canada, and in Australia, Great Britain, China, India, Japan, and in all missionary lands. It is found in about the same proportions in all the great evangelical denominations and in all their subdivisions. Headquarters, Christian Endeavor House, 31 Mount Vernon Street, Boston, Mass.

American Sunday-School Union—The First Day Society, founded in Philadelphia in 1791, still active, led to the formation of the Philadelphia Sunday and Adult School Union in 1817, which, uniting with other similar societies, was changed in name to the American Sunday-School Union in 1824. Its object is twofold: To establish and maintain Sunday-schools; to publish and circulate moral and religious publications. It is a voluntary union of Christians of different denominations to teach the truths of our common Christianity as they are taught in the Bible.

Its great field is the rural districts. The Philadelphia Union began with one juvenile book in 1817, and one missionary in 1821. The American Sunday-School Union now issues over a thousand works and ten periodicals. In ninety-nine years it has circulated $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 worth of Bibles, testaments, and religious works. In ten years it founded 16,640 Sunday schools, with 659,219 members; resulting in over 90,000 hopeful conversions and 900 churches. In ninety-nine years the union founded 130,501 Sunday schools, with 5,805,044 members. It employs Sunday school missionaries, who have organized an average of nearly four new Sunday schools for each day of the last ninety-nine years. Its benevolent work costs $250,000 yearly. Officers: President—Martin L. Finckel. Vice-Presidents—Clarkson Clothier, James F. Stone, M. D. Recording Secretary—William H. Hirst. Treasurer John E. Stevenson. The 100th Anniversary will be celebrated in May, 1917. Headquarters, 1816 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

National Woman's Christian Temperance Union—The National W. C. T. U. was organized in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1874, and is the sober second thought of the great woman's crusade. It is now regularly organized in every State of the Union.

There are about 12,000 local unions, with a membership and following, including the children's societies, of about half a million. The W. C. T. U. has forty distinct departments of work, presided over by as many women experts, in the National and in nearly every State organization. All the States have laws requiring the study of scientific temperance in the public schools, and all these laws were secured by the W. C. T. U.; also the laws forbidding the sale of tobacco to minors. The first police matrons and most industrial homes for girls were secured through the efforts of this society, as were the refuges for erring women.

The World's W. C. T. U. was founded by Frances E. Willard in 1883, and has auxiliaries in more than fifty countries and provinces. The white ribbon is the badge of all the W. C. T. U. members, and is now a familiar emblem in every civilized country.

The headquarters of the National organization is The Willard, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill. The following are the officers: President—Miss Anna A. Gordon, Evanston, Ill. Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Frances P. Parks, Evanston, Ill. Treasurer—Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, Evanston, Ill.

The Vedanta Society—The Vedanta Society of New York was established in 1894 by Swami Vivekananda of India and was regularly incorporated in 1898 by Swami Abhedananda. The object of the society is to explain through logic and reason the spiritual laws that govern our lives; to show that the True Religion of the Soul is not antagonistic to, but in harmony with, philosophy and science; to establish that Universal Religion which underlies all the various sects and creeds of special religions; to propagate the principles taught by great seers of Truth and religious leaders of different countries; and to help mankind in the practical application of those principles in their spiritual, moral, intellectual and physical needs.

The present headquarters of the society, with its Circulating Library, Reading Room and Meditation Room, is at 236 Central Park West, New York City.

The officers of the society are: President—W. N. Goodyear. Vice-President—M. Kreedop. Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. M. Storey Williams.

The society has a large publishing department and issues a catalogue containing nearly forty titles of works on the Philosophy and Religion of Vedanta. Within the last five years it has sent out from its headquarters 39,876 books and pamphlets written by Swamis of India. There are also centres in Boston, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Washington, D. C., besides a Peace Retreat in the mountains of Santa Clara County, Cal. These organizations in America are affiliated with hundreds of Vedanta Societies throughout India and Ceylon.

The Daughters of the King—The Order of the Daughters of the King was organized on Easter evening, 1885. It is desired by its promoters that a careful distinction shall be made between the Daughters of the King and the King's Daughters. This is the older organization, and differs from the King's Daughters in many important particulars. In the first place, it is an order, and is distinctively Episcopal. Its work is definite, and is "for the spread of Christ's kingdom among women," and the "active support of the rector's plans in the parish in which the particular chapter may be located." Its emblem is a cross of silver, a Greek cross fleury, and its motto is "Magnanimeter Crucem Sustine" and its watchword "For His Sake." Its colors are white and blue—white, the old royal color of Israel, and blue, the color of the Virgin Mary, the "blessed daughter of Israel's King, the Mother of the King of Kings." Its Constitution is framed, as far as possible, in the terms of that of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the work of the two organizations being similar. The officers of the Council are: President—Mrs. Adam Denmead, Baltimore, Md. Treasurer—Mrs. Charles H. Arndt, Germantown, Pa. General Secretary—Emma E. Behlendorff. Office of the Council, Church Missions House, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

United Brethren Christian Endeavor Union—The union was organized June 5, 1890. It is a union of all forms of young people's societies within the Church of the United Brethren in Christ. There are now 2,419 societies, with 103,004 members. Each conference is called a Branch and holds annual conventions, when a review of the year's work is made and new plans formed. The Watchword is the organ of the union. Rev. H. F. Shupe, D. D., Dayton, Ohio, is editor. The General Secretary, Rev. O. T. Deever, Dayton, Ohio, is elected by the General Conference to serve for the Quadrennium. The work is under the direction of a Board of Control. Rev. J. G. Huber, D. D., of Dayton, Ohio, is Chairman of the Board and also Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Young People's Department, which has supervision of the Christian Endeavor work of the denomination.

Christian Science is a religion based on the Bible, and founded by Mary Baker Eddy in 1866. Her interpretation of the Scriptures, which she named Christian Science, is set forth in a book entitled "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," first published in 1875. Since then it has been often reprinted, with occasional revisions of its wording, before her decease. Other works by the same author are "People's Idea of God" (1886), "Christian Healing" (1886), "Unity of Good" (1887), "Retrospection and Introspection" (1891), "Rudimental Divine Science" (1891), "No and Yes" (1891), "Church Manual" (1895), "Miscellaneous Writings" (1896), "Christ and Christmas" (1897), "Christian Science Versus Pantheism" (1898), "Pulpit and Press" (1898), "Messages to the Mother Church" (1900, 1901, 1902), "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (1913).

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., founded in 1879, and known as The Mother Church, is the parent organization of the Christian Science denomination. Local churches, known as branches of The Mother Church, are situated in towns and cities throughout the world, but mainly in countries where the English language is spoken. The Mother Church is governed by a board of five directors, while the branch churches are self-governed, subject only to a limited supervision by The Mother Church as defined in the Church Manual. At present the number of churches and societies is 1,649, a considerable number of which have beautiful and costly church edifices.

In the Church of Christ, Scientist, the place of preaching is taken by the reading of a "lesson-sermon" composed of selections from the Bible and from "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy. The remainder of the Sunday service consists of hymns, a solo, silent prayer, the Lord's Prayer, and a responsive reading from the Bible.

The Wednesday night meeting includes readings from the Bible and "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," hymns, silent prayer, the Lord's Prayer, and testimonies of Christian Science healing from voluntary speakers. This church claims to be attended by a greater percentage of men than is apt to be the case in other churches.

The Christian Science Publishing Society, under the auspices of The Mother Church, issues a quarterly periodical named The Christian Science Quarterly Bible Lessons, a monthly periodical, The Christian Science Journal; a monthly, Der Herold der Christian Science; a weekly, the Christian Science Sentinel, and a daily, The Christian Science Monitor, the latter being a daily newspaper of general circulation and includes in each issue an essay or article on Christian Science.

Christian Scientists are unique among religionists by reason of the extent to which they rely on the practise of their religion for the prevention and cure of disease. For this they assign several reasons. They have found Christian Science most effective and reliable for this purpose; they believe it to be the same method of healing that was used and taught by Christ Jesus; they expect that this method of dealing with evil, as it becomes better known and more generally practised, will abate and ultimately abolish sin and mortality.

In this way the Church of Christ, Scientist, is regarded as a necessary agency in the restoration of original Christianity and the realization of the highest ideal in religious hope and faith. Headquarters, Boston, Mass. Christian Science Committee on Publication for the State of New York, 52 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York City.

The Theosophical Society—The Theosophical Society was founded in New York City on November 17, 1875, by Mme. H. P. Blavatsky and Col. Henry S. Olcott, but its headquarters was removed in 1879 to Adyar, Madras, India, where the President, Mrs. Annie Besant, resides. Its objects are three: (a) To form a nucleus of the universal brotherhood of humanity, without distinction of race, creed, sex, caste or color; (b) to encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science; (c) to investigate unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man. It has now twenty-three territorial sections, each presided over by a General Secretary, three by Presidential Agents; America, England and Wales, India, Scandinavia, Hungary, France, Italy, Germany, Australia, Cuba, Finland, Russia, Bohemia, South Africa, Scotland, Switzerland, Belgium, Dutch East Indies, Netherlands, Burma, Austria, Norway and New Zealand. Three non-sectionalized countries with Presidential Agents: South America, Spain and Ireland. During the 39 years of its existence it has chartered over 1,405 branches. The membership at present of the Society is approximately 30,000, of which the membership in the American section is over 5,000; there are 163 branches. Although there is but one dogma in the society, namely, the belief in the Universal Brotherhood of Man, yet Reincarnation and Karma are among some of the basic stones of the Theosophical system. National President—A. P. Warrington, Krotona, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Cal., contributes the above statement.

The National Spiritualists' Association—Organized September 28, 1893; incorporated November 1, 1893, at Washington, D. C. The object of said association shall be the organization of the various Spiritualist societies of the United States into one general association for the purpose of mutual aid and co-operation in benevolent, charitable, educational, literary, musical, scientific, religious and missionary purposes and enterprises germane to the phenomena, science, philosophy, and religion of spiritualism.

Active working local societies, 1,000; State associations, 22; other local societies meeting at irregular intervals, 400; public meetings not organized as societies, 500; camp meeting associations, 32; academy for liberal education, 1; churches and temples, 200; membership of avowed Spiritualists, 600,000; unidentified with organized societies, but believers in the philosophy and phenomena, and frequent attendants at public services, 1,500,000 to 2,000,000; number of public mediums, 1,500; private mediums, many thousands; ordained ministers, 500; total valuation church, temple and camp meeting property, $6,000,000.

President—Dr. George B. Warne, 749 Oakwood Boulevard, Chicago. Secretary—George W. Kates, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, S. E., Washington, D. C. Treasurer—Cassius L. Stevens, Pittsburgh, Pa. Headquarters, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip—This organization, founded by Rev. Rufus W. Miller in Reading, Pa., in 1888, held its first federal convention in the City of New York in 1893. It is composed of members of fifteen evangelical denominations, among them the Reformed Church in America, the Reformed Church in the United States, the Congregational, Presbyterian (North, South, Canadian, and United), Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant, Baptist, United Brethren, Lutheran, Reformed Episcopal, Church of Christ, Friends, United Evangelical, Free Baptist, African Methodist Episcopal, and Evangelical Association.

It has chapters in Australia and Japan, China and England, Jamaica, Philippines, Alaska. Its objects are embodied in the statement that "any man can belong to the brotherhood who will promise to pray daily for the spread of the kingdom of Christ among men, and to make an earnest effort to bring men within the hearing of the Gospel." The number of chapters of the brotherhood organized in the United States is 1,300, and the membership 15,000; 102 boys' chapters enrolling 3,000 members. The office of Norman J. Smith, General Secretary, is at 1214 Widener Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew—"The Brotherhood of St. Andrew is an organization of men in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Its sole object is the spread of Christ's kingdom among men. It works under two rules, known as (1) The Rule of Prayer: To pray daily for the spread of Christ's kingdom among men, especially young men, and for God's blessing upon the labors of the brotherhood, and (2) The Rule of Service: To make at least one earnest effort each week to lead some man nearer to Christ through His church." There are now 1,200 active chapters with a membership of about 13,000 men.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the Church of England in the Dominion of Canada has been formed, with 300 chapters and 3,000 men. A similar organization has been formed in the Scottish Episcopal Church. In the West Indies there is a membership of 1,000 men, and there is also a national organization in Japan. June 12, 1896, the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the Church of England was formed, and now has a membership of 1,200. It is also well organized in New Zealand.

The brotherhood in the United States includes a Junior Department. It has 500 chapters in the United States, with about 4,000 members.

The officers are: President—Edward H. Bonsall. General Secretary—Franklin S. Edmondo. Editor of St. Andrew's Cross and Executive Secretary—G. H. Randall, Church House, Twelfth and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia, Pa.

The National Council of Congregational Churches—Is composed of delegates from Congregational conferences and associations, and was organized November 17, 1871. The officers are: Moderator—Henry M. Beardsley, Kansas City, Mo. Secretary—Rev. Hubert C. Herring, D. D., Boston, Mass. Treasurer—Rev. John J. Walker, Boston, Mass.

Next meeting, Los Angeles, Cal., June 26–July 3, 1917.

Federation of American Zionists—President—Harry Friedenwald. Chairman Executive Committee—Louis Lipsky. Secretary—Bernard A. Rosenblatt. Treasurer—Louis Robison. Societies, 140; camps, 87; Circles of Young Judea, 185. Office, 44 East Twenty-third Street, New York City.

The Epworth League—Officers of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church: President—Bishop A. W. Leonard, San Francisco, Cal. General Secretary—Wilbur F. Sheridan, D. D. Treasurer—Edwin H. Forkel, Chicago, Ill. The central office of the Epworth League is located at 740 Rush Street, Chicago, Ill.

The Epworth League was organized at Cleveland, Ohio, May, 1889, by the union of five societies then existing in the Methodist Episcopal Church. These several societies held under their jurisdiction 1,500 local societies, with a membership of about 800,000. The league now consists of two branches, senior and junior, with a membership of about one and one-half million. Its official organ, the Epworth Herald, has a circulation of over 100,000.

Officers of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church South: President—Bishop J. H. McCoy, D. D. General Secretary Editor—Rev. Fitzgerald S. Parker, D. D. Assistant Secretary Editor—J. M. Culbreth. Junior League Secretary—Ada Trawick. The general organ of the league is the Epworth Era, published monthly by the publishing agents of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Nashville, Tenn., Dallas, Tex., and Richmond, Va. The league in the Methodist Episcopal Church South was provided for by the General Conference of 1890, and in December of the same year its organization was effected. It came under the supervision of the Sunday-School Board. The General Conference of 1894 created it a separate connectional board and elected a General Secretary. The Epworth League includes an organization for adolescent boys called the Knights of Ezelah, and a parallel organization for girls called the Girls of Epworth. It has now 3,745 chapters, with a total membership of 133,044. Office, 810 Broadway, Nashville, Tenn. In addition to weekly chapter meetings, monthly meetings of City Unions and annual District meetings the league holds 32 State and conference conventions and three larger assemblies each year. Its gifts for missions and other benevolences last year were $100,979.39.

Catholic Educational Association—The Catholic Educational Association was organized at St. Louis in 1904. It consists of three general departments, the Seminary, College, and School, and embraces in its membership representatives from all the Catholic educational establishments in the United States. It issues in November a report of the year's work and of the annual convention held each year in the last week of June. The Thirteenth Annual Convention was held at Baltimore, Md., June 26-30, 1916. The development of secondary and college education continues to be the striking feature of the year's progress. Honorary President—James Cardinal Gibbons. President-General—Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Shahan D. D., Rector of the Catholic University at Washington. Secretary General—Rev. Francis W. Howard, LL. D., 1651 East Main Street, Columbus, Ohio. Office of the association is at Columbus, Ohio.

The Catholic Church Extension Society—Officers: Cardinal Protector—Sebastian Cardinal Martinelli. Chancellor—Archbishop Geo. W. Mundelein. Vice-Chancellor—Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer. President—Rt. Rev. Francis C. Kelley. General Secretary—Rev. E. B. Ledvina. Recording Secretary—Mr. Warren A. Cartier. Treasurer—Mr. John A. Lynch. Headquarters, McCormick Building, Chicago, Ill.

The objects of this society are to develop the missionary spirit in the clergy and people of the Catholic Church in the United States. To assist in the erection of parish buildings for poor and needy places. To support priests for neglected and poverty-stricken districts. To send the comfort of religion to pioneer localities. In a word, to preserve the faith of Jesus Christ to thousands of scattered Catholics in every portion of our own land, especially in the country districts and among immigrants.

Society of St. Vincent De Paul—Organized in Paris, France, 1833. A Roman Catholic society the objects of which are: (1) the practice of a Christian life; (2) to visit the poor in their dwellings and to carry them succor in kind; (3) to promote the elementary and religious instruction of poor children; (4) to distribute moral and religious books; (5) to undertake any other charitable work to which its resources are adequate.

The society is organized in all countries and is under the general jurisdiction of the Council-General, located at Paris, France. The society in the United States is under the jurisdiction of the Superior Council of the United States, Society of St. Vincent De Paul, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. The President of the Superior Council is George J. Gillespie, 20 Vesey Street, New York City.

The society in the city of New York is under the jurisdiction of: The Particular Council of New York, Michael J. Scanlan, President, for the Boroughs of Manhattan and Richmond, office, 375 Lafayette Street. The Particular Council of Brooklyn, Thomas W. Hynes, President, for the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, office, 4 Court Square. The Particular Council of Bronx, for the Borough of Bronx, James J. Reid, President, office, 509 Willis Avenue.

Conferences: Nearly all the Roman Catholic churches in New York City have conferences of the society. The name of the conference is usually the same as that of the church with which it is connected; its work is confined to the parish in which it is located, and the parish priest is, in most cases, its Spiritual Director. Applications may be made to the Director or to the President.

Special Works: In addition to the Conferences, there are a number of special works maintained by the Particular Councils and directed by committees made up of members of the Particular Councils and Conferences.

The several committees above referred to visit regularly every Sunday the hospitals, prisons, and other city institutions, furnishing reading matter, giving religious instructions to those of their faith, and supplying such material aid and advice as is needed by the sick and convalescent.

The Society for the Propagation of the Faith—President and Treasurer—Rt. Rev. Joseph Freri. Vice-President—Rev. W. P. Cantwell. Secretary—Very Rev. John J. Dunn.

The society assists missionaries in 325 dioceses, vicariates, and prefectures in Africa, Asia, Oceania, the United States, and the non-Catholic countries of Europe. It is the oldest missionary organization in the Catholic Church, dating back to 1822. Since its foundation it has given seven millions of dollars to the various missions of the United States.

The official publication is The Annals of the Propagation of the Faith, issued bi-monthly and distributed from the national office at 343 Lexington Avenue, New York City. Total membership in the world, 3,000,000. United States membership, 796,000.

American Federation of Catholic Societies—The American Federation of Catholic Societies was founded in 1901. It is composed of thirty-four national organizations, many State and county federations and parishes. Total membership about 3,000,000. Its objects are the cementing of the bonds of fraternal union among the Catholic laity, and the fostering and protection of Catholic interests. The federation has the approval and blessing of 102 archbishops and bishops, and of Pope Pius X. and Benedict XV. National headquarters is at 175 Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill. The officers are as follows: President—John Whalen, New York. First Vice-President—Thos. Flynn, Chicago, Ill. Secretary—Anthony Matre, Chicago, Ill. Treasurer—C. H. Schulte, Detroit, Mich.

The Catholic Missionary Union—President—His Eminence John Cardinal Farley, of New York. Secretary-Treasurer—Rev. Thomas A. Daly, C. S. P., Washington, D. C. Directors—Most Rev. Edmond F. Prendergast, Philadelphia, Pa.; Right Rev. Mathew Harkins, Providence, R. I.; Very Rev. John J. Hughes, C. S. P., New York; Rev. Walter Elliott, C. S. P., Very Rev. E. S. Dyer, S. S., Baltimore, Md.; Rev. Peter J. O. Callaghan, C. S. P., Washington, D. C.

The Catholic Missionary Union was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, November, 1896. Its object is to arouse the Catholic people and clergy of the United States to greater missionary activity; to train priests to be Home Missionaries; to establish bands of Diocesan Missionaries in the United States, that they present the truths of the Catholic Church to all the people in a purely expository manner, without controversy or religious rancor. Its home and training college is the Apostolic Mission House on the grounds of the Catholic University, at Brookland Station, Washington, D. C.

The Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America—The Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America is incorporated under the laws of New York State to train missioners for heathen lands.

In connection with its work it publishes books, pamphlets and other reading matter, including a monthly periodical, The Field Afar.

Its incorporators include His Eminence John Cardinal Farley, Very Rev. James A. Walsh, Superior of the society; Rev. Thomas F. Price, Vice-President; Rt. Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, D. D.; Very Rev. John J. Dunn; the Hon. Victor J. Dowling, John U. M. Ewing, Michael Maginnis.

Although having its centre in New York, the work is a national one, being organized under the protection of the entire American hierarchy.

The Guild of the Love of God—Object: To unite all faithful Anglican Catholics by prayer and service, and to promote mutual recognition and friendship by the adoption of a distinctive badge.

The guild admits to membership only those who go to confession. Members are pledged to help other members anywhere, at any time, and therefore isolated and lonely Catholics are especially invited to join this guild.

Sub-Warden—Rev. C. T. Pfeiffer, Laurel, Del. Secretary-General—Rev. S. D. Van Loan, Georgetown, Del. A quarterly magazine entitled Caritas is published by the society.

The purposes of the convention, as defined in its by-laws, are "to give expression to the opinions of its constituency upon moral, religious and denominational matters, and to promote denominational unity and efficiency for the evangelization of the world."

The next meeting will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, May, 1917.

National Baptist Convention — President — Rev. E. C. Morris, Helena, Ark. Secretary—Prof. R. B. Hudson, Selma, Ala. Treasurer—Rev. A. J. Stokes, Montgomery, Ala.

The object of the convention is to do foreign mission, home mission, educational, publishing, Young People's Union, and other work of a religious nature; this work to be done through and by its seven boards.

The membership of the National Baptist Convention as reported by the statistician at the last National Baptist Convention was 2,614,581.

Southern Baptist Convention — President — Lansing Burrows, D. D., Americus, Ga. Secretaries—Oliver F. Gregory, D. D., Baltimore, Md.; Hight C. Moore, D. D., Raleigh, N. C.

It shall be the design of the convention to promote foreign and domestic missions, and other important objects connected with the Redeemer's kingdom, and to combine for this purpose such portions of the Baptist denomination in the United States as may desire a general organization for Christian benevolence, which shall fully respect the independence and equal rights of the churches.

Next meeting, New Orleans, La., May 16-21, 1917.

Lake Mohonk Conferences—Secretary—H. C. Phillips, Mohonk Lake, N. Y. Lake Mohonk Conference on the Indian and Other Dependent Peoples—The first annual conference was held in 1883, when Mr. Albert K. Smiley, who was a member of the Board of Indian Commissioners, invited a number of those interested in Indian affairs to a meeting at Mohonk Lake to confer regarding measures affecting the interests of the Indians. On Mr. Smiley's death his brother, Daniel Smiley, succeeded him as host of the conferences. In 1904 the scope of the conference was enlarged to include the peoples of the Philippines, Porto Rico, and other dependencies of the United States. The conference seeks to clarify public opinion on these great questions through free discussion by those having first-hand knowledge of existing conditions.

Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration—The first of these annual conferences was held in 1895. The purpose is specifically to create and direct public sentiment in favor of international arbitration and an international court, and generally to encourage the substitution of pacific methods for war in settling disputes between nations. The conference maintains a permanent office.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America—The Federal Council was organized as the chief consummation of the National Federation of Churches at its first meeting, held in Philadelphia, December 2-8, 1908. It is the delegated congress of thirty leading Christian bodies which are constitutionally federated for the purpose of providing this congress, through which to realize their fellowship and united action. The Federal Council, through its commissions and secretaries, seeks to organize efficient State and local federations, to secure co-operation in home missionary work, and to promote moral reform and social service by the churches throughout the United States.

The following denominations are represented in this Federal Council: Baptist (North), Free Baptist, Christian, Congregational, Disciples of Christ, Evangelical Association Evangelical Synod, Friends, Lutheran General Synod, Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal (South), German Evangelical Synod, Colored Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant, African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion, Mennonite, Moravian, Presbyterian, Presbyterian (South), Welsh Presbyterian, Reformed Presbyterian United Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, Commissions on Christian Unity and Social Service, Reformed Church in America, Reformed Church in the U. The Volunteers of America—The Volunteers of America is a philanthropic, social, and Christian movement. It was inaugurated in March, 1896. It was incorporated on November 6, 1896, under the Membership Act of the State of New York. It is organized in military style, having as its model the United States Army, but in conjunction with military discipline and methods of work it possesses a thoroughly democratic form of government. Its Constitution and by-laws are framed by a Grand Field Council, which represents the minor councils of officers throughout the country annually. Though only twenty years old, the Volunteers have representatives and branches of their benevolent cause in almost all the principal cities of the United States.

The Volunteers have some 56 principal homes and institutions of benevolence, many of which are Volunteer property, and are open for poor and deserving people in different sections of the country. During the past year the commissioned workers in their visitation called upon and aided, in one form or another, no less than 29,510 families. This was primarily in the poorer sections of the large cities. In the different permanent philanthropic homes and institutions no less than 244,898 free lodgings have been given, and 307,169 have been paid for by work and other means, while 820,072 free meals were given, and 410,103 meals were distributed to persons who paid for them, many doing so by work.

In their latest undertaking, which has proved a large responsibility, that is, the Volunteer Hospital, a separate corporation, which hospital is located at Beekman and Water Streets, New York City, near the Brooklyn Bridge, there have been 2,023 ambulance calls, 9,763 days' treatment given to patients in the surgical and medical wards; in the dispensary department, 7,573 new cases treated, and 12,837 old cases treated. The hospital figures given above cover a period of nine months only to meet the change in the fiscal year now ended, June 30.

The Volunteer Prisoners' League has embraced upward of some 81,000 members since its inauguration. It has leagues in nearly thirty State prisons, and over 70 per cent. of those having left the prisons are, through their Hope Halls, living reformed and honest lives. Through the Fresh Air branch of the work many thousands of mothers and children have been taken from crowded cities for a change in the open air amid hills and lakes, rivers and dales. From the regimental reports of Volunteer centres, it is carefully calculated that 852,350 persons were gathered to their indoor services, while 2,118,196 persons were listeners in God's natural cathedral, their open-air stands. By these services 7,601 were led to promise that they would lead a new life.

In addition to the Volunteer reading rooms, thousands of copies of Christian literature are circulated in the State prisons, jails, hospitals, soldiers' homes, and children's homes. In connection with the Volunteers there are also sewing classes, hospital nursing, temporary financial relief departments, fresh air camps, Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, and many other worthy undertakings. The headquarters of The Volunteers of America is at 34 West Twenty-eighth Street, New York City. The principal officers are General and Mrs. Ballington Booth, Presidents; General Edward Fielding, Vice-President; Col. Walter J. Crafts, Treasurer, and Col. James W. Merrill, National Secretary. (The above statement was prepared by Gen. Ballington Booth.)

The Family Altar League—The Family Altar League is a world-wide company of people who have made a covenant to maintain a family altar in their homes, to come together for Bible study and prayer. The league was founded in 1909 and has had a phenomenal growth. Over 300,000 covenant cards have been sent out on request and more than 60,000 family altars have been established. The officers are: President—Rev. W. E. Biederwolf. Vice-President—Henry P. Crowell. Treasurer—E. O Excell. General Secretary—Rev. R. Howard Taylor. Headquarters, 508 Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

New York Bible Society—(Original society, 1809; incorporated 1866), Room 66, Bible House, New York City—The only society having for its sole work Bible distribution in the city and harbor of New York. Issues only Bibles and portions of the Bible in all languages and styles of binding. Supplies the Scriptures at cost and by gift. Unsectarian, interdenominational, the work being conducted without regard to creed, class or color. Co-operates with missionaries and missionary societies of all denominations. Employs missionaries among the immigrants and sailors. Hotels, hospitals, prisons and needy homes supplied. Total distribution during past year 350,332 volumes in 47 languages and in raised type for the blind. Instituted Bible Sunday, the third Sunday before Christmas. Supported by church collections, donations and legacies. Officers: President—John C. West. Treasurer—James H. Schmelzel. General Secretary—Rev. George William Carter, Ph. D., to whom apply.

American Bible Society—The American Bible Society was founded in 1816. It is a charitable institution whose sole object is to encourage a wider circulation of the Scriptures without note or comment. It invites the contributions and co-operation of all. The officers are a President and many Vice-Presidents. There are thirty-six managers, divided into four classes as to terms of office. The Corresponding Secretaries are Rev. John Fox, D. D., and Rev. W. I. Haven, D. D.; Assistant Corresponding Secretary, Rev. L. B. Chamberlain; Recording Secretary, Rev. H. O. Dwight, LL. D. The Treasurer is William Foulke. The issues for the year ended December 31, 1915, were 7,761,377 volumes, and for the one hundred years of the existence of the society, 117,687,591 volumes. This includes Bibles in many foreign tongues and the languages of several American Indian tribes. The offices of the society are at the Bible House, Astor Place, New York.

Smith, 82 Franklin Street, New York City. Treasurer—John Whalen, 206 Broadway, New York City. Council consists of the officers and Rev. John J Wynne, S. J., George MacDonald, Mrs. Thomas H. Kelly, Miss Teresa R. O'Donohue.

Church of God—The purposes of the Church of God are to gather together into one all the children of God and to evangelize the world by preaching the whole truth of the New Testament. Its teachings are absolutely non-sectarian and entirely orthodox. The New Testament alone is its creed. Mr. A. L. Byers, Anderson, Ind., attends to the correspondence of the general convention, and M. Anna Blewett is Secretary of the New York Headquarters. Annual World's Convention of ministers, missionaries and Sunday-School workers, held May 25 to June 1 at the General Headquarters, Anderson, Ind. New York City Convention, December 22 to January 1, at 2132-2142 Grand Avenue, New York City.

The Big Sisters—The Big Sisters is an incorporated organization of women which helps unfortunate children. Object: To promote the welfare and improvement of children, especially girls who have been brought before the Children's Courts, and others whose physical, mental, and moral development have suffered because of bad environment or other conditions, and to enlist women who individually will take a friendly interest in such children and will aid them to become good citizens.

President—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Secretary—Mrs. Chas. Dana Gibson. Treasurer—Mrs. Willard Parker, Jr. General Secretary—Mrs. Henry Beach Needham. Assistant Secretary—Miss Beatrice Beaumont. Headquarters, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Young Women's Hebrew Association—The purpose of the association is to promote the temporal, mental, moral, religious, social, and physical welfare of young Jewish women, and more particularly of those dependent upon their own exertions for their support. There are about one thousand sustaining members in the association. Associate membership, $1 yearly; sustaining active membership, $5 yearly; patron, $10 yearly; donors, $25 to $100 yearly.

President—Mrs. Israel Unterberg, 11 West Eighty-sixth Street, New York City. Vice-Presidents—Mrs. A. N. Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America—President—Rev. John G. Beane. Secretary—T. E. McCloskey, Danbury, Ct. Members 100,000.

The New Jerusalem Church—This church is founded on the acknowledgment of the Lord Jesus Christ as the One God, and that the Trinity of Father, Son and Holy Spirit is in Him, as the soul, body, and proceeding life are in man. He took our nature upon Him to overcome the powers of hell by temptations, and thus glorified it or made it divine. So He redeemed man. Salvation is by our co-operating with Him by shunning our evils as sins against Him. The Sacred Scripture is His Word, containing a spiritual sense within the letter, and teaching the way of life in Him. At death the body is forever laid aside, and man rises in a spiritual body into the spiritual world, the environment there being heavenly or infernal according to the character formed on earth. The Second Coming of the Lord is not in Person, but in the Word, to open its genuine meaning, effected through the writings of His servant, Emanuel Swedenborg. Thus the New Christian Church of Divine Promise, signified by the New Jerusalem in Rev. xxi., has begun, introducing a new era of enlightenment and progress.

The body numbers 98 societies in the United States and 72 in Great Britain, but there are many scattered centres in various parts of the world, and there is much interchange of thought and activity through periodical and missionary literature. The General Convention of the New Jerusalem is the leading organization in this country. Its chief officers are: President—Rev. Julian K. Smyth, 230 West Fifty-ninth Street, New York. Recording Secretary—B. A. Whittemore, 134 Bowdoin Street, Boston, Mass. Treasurer—J. R. Carter, 246 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass. The New-Church Messenger is the official organ of the convention. (Editor—Rev. John S. Saul, 64 East Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill.)

Swedenborg's works are published by the American Swedenborg Printing and Publishing Society, 3 West Twenty-ninth Street, New York. They have a large and increasing circulation, over 10,000 strangers having ordered volumes during the last two years. Since its incorporation in 1850 the society has donated over 650,000 volumes to libraries, ministers, etc.

THE HUGUENOT SOCIETY OF AMERICA.

This society was organized April 13, 1883, with an office in New York at 2 West Forty-fifth Street. Descent from Huguenot ancestors is the qualification necessary for membership. President—William Mitchell. Treasurer—T. J. O. Rhinelander. Secretary—Mrs. James M. Lawton.

RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Statistics of Ministers, Churches, Communicants or Members, prepared by Dr. H. K. Carroll, for year 1915, and published (in 1916) in the Bulletin of Church Statistics, under the auspices of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

These statistics cover the territory of the United States and its possessions exclusively. Ministers, churches, and communicants or various denominations in foreign countries are deducted from the denominational totals.

Grand Total for 1915.	180,604	225,333	39,380,670

The aggregate of 39,380,670 represents actual church membership, and includes all Catholics (communicants, but not unconfirmed minors). It does not give all persons affiliated by family ties to Protestant bodies. The larger of the Protestant bodies may claim twice the number of their communicants as nominal adherents.—EDITOR OF THE ALMANAC.

NOTE.—(a) About 75 per cent. of these churches are merged with churches of the Northern Baptist Convention. (b) The American Jewish Year Book for 1915-16 estimates the number of the Jewish race in the United States as 2,349,754. (c) Census of 1906. (d) Estimates of increase are by editor of Catholic Directory. (e) Estimates of increase are by statistician of Southern Baptist Convention. (f) Returns of 1914. ‡ Returns for 1913. *For 1907. No figures furnished since. (u) Returns of 1911.

SEATING CAPACITY OF CHURCHES.

The total seating capacity of church edifices reported in 1906, according to the Census Bulletin of August 20, 1909, was 58,536,830, an increase over 1890 of 14,976,767, or 34.4 per cent. The seating capacity reported for the Protestant bodies was 53,282,445; for the Roman Catholic Church, 4,494,377; and for the remaining bodies, 760,008. The rate of increase was practically the same for both the Protestants and the Roman Catholics, being 33.6 per cent. for the former, and 33.3 per cent. for the latter. The increase in the seating capacity of churches has kept pace with the increase in population, the seating capacity being 69.2 per cent. of the population in 1890, compared with 69.5 per cent. in 1906.

The average seating capacity per organization for the Protestant bodies taken together was 317, and for the Roman Catholic Church, 436. With the single exception of the Roman Catholic Church, all the denominations showed an average seating capacity considerably in excess of the average membership.

The floor space of the large cathedrals of the world is as follows, in square feet: St. Peter's, Rome, 227,069; Seville, Spain, 124,000; Milano, Italy, 107,000; St. John the Divine, New York City, 99,500; Cologne, Germany, 91,464; St. Paul's, London, 84,025; York, England, 72,860; Amiens, France, 71,208; St. Sophia, Constantinople, 70,000; Chartres, France, 68,260; Lincoln, England, 66,900; Winchester, England, 64,200; Notre Dame, Paris, 64,108; Westminster, England, 61,729; St. Patrick's, New York City, 55,000.

THE estimates in the first two tables, except footnotes thereto, are by Whitaker's (London) Almanack; those of Religious Divisions in Europe and the World, by Gustav Sundbärg in Webb-Muthali. A distinction should be observed between followers and actual communicants.

For countries outside Europe, Roman Catholics are not separately specified, but are included under the heading "Others." It is estimated that there are about 89 million Roman Catholics outside Europe, thus making a total in the world of about 268 millions, as against 177 million Protestants. Greek Catholics numbered 119,300,000. Buddhists and Brahminists about 550 millions. † Including Greek Catholics. ‡ Readjustment of boundaries owing to the European wars has doubtless affected the figures given in table.

THE GENERAL CONVENTION OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

The 44th triennial General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church was held in St. Louis from October 11 to 27, 1916. This is the supreme legislative body of the Episcopal Church and is composed of two Houses—the House of Bishops and the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies. Either of these two bodies may initiate legislative measures, but a concurrent vote is necessary for actual legislation. All changes in the Constitution of the church must obtain the approval of each House and must be ratified at the next ensuing convention before becoming effective.

The House of Bishops consists of all diocesan bishops, coadjutor-bishops, and suffragans. The latter have a seat in the House but no vote. There are now 119 bishops, of whom 108 were present at the convention. The newly elected Chairman of the Upper House is the Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, Bishop of Tennessee, and the Secretary is the Rev. Dr. Samuel Hart, dean of the Berkley Divinity School, Middletown, Ct. Two new Missionary Bishops were elected—the Rev. Dr. Hugh Latimer Burleson, Editorial Secretary of the Board of Missions, Missionary Bishop of South Dakota, and the Rev. Frank Hale Touret, rector of Grace Church, Colorado Springs, Missionary Bishop of Western Colorado. The Rt. Rev. Edward Osborne, Bishop of Springfield, Ill., and the Rt. Rev. James Sentoe Johnson, Bishop of West Texas, resigned their jurisdictions owing to age and infirmity. Consent was given to the consecration of the Rev. James Wise of St. Louis as Coadjutor-Bishop of Kansas, and the Rev. Dr. Irving P. Johnson of Faribault, Minn., as Coadjutor-Bishop of Colorado.

The House of Deputies consists of 610 clerical and lay deputies. Each of the 68 dioceses of the United States is represented by four clergymen and four laymen. The domestic missionary districts, including the countries under the American sphere of influence, have two delegates, and the same representation is allowed to the ten foreign missionary districts and to the American churches in Europe. This body organized by the election of the Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity Church, Boston, as President, and the Rev. Dr. Henry Anstice of New York as Secretary. The Rev. Dr. White of Newark, N. J., was re-elected Chairman of the Committee on Canons, and Mr. Francis A. Lewis of Philadelphia was appointed to the Chairmanship of the Committee on Despatch of Business.

The main business of the convention was the reception and consideration of the reports and recommendations of various joint committees and commissions appointed in 1913 at the General Convention held in New York.

The report of the joint commission on questions affecting holy matrimony recommended the amendment of the canon law of the church so as to make the remarriage of any person who had a husband or wife living impossible by any clergyman of the Episcopal Church. As the law of that church now stands, the innocent party to a divorce may be married subject to an inspection of the court records and with the consent of the bishop of the diocese, though no clergyman is compelled to officiate at such a marriage. In view of the difficulty of determining questions of guilt or innocence and of the growing prevalence of collusion, the joint commission favored the prohibition of the marriage, in the church, of any divorced person. After a long debate in the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies the proposal was carried by the clergy, but defeated by the laity by two and a half votes. It was therefore lost by non-concurrence of the two orders.

The report of a joint commission on the basis of representation in the House of Deputies recommended the reduction of clerical and lay deputies from each diocese from four in each order to three and the granting of additional representatives to dioceses on the basis of one clergyman and one layman for each 100 resident clergymen in the diocese. The effect of this proposal would be to decrease the deputies from the smaller and poor dioceses of the South and the West and to increase the representation of the larger dioceses of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Chicago. Of the 68 dioceses, under this scheme of proportionate representation, 35 would have 3 deputies in each order; 47 would have 4; 4 would send five deputies and the two largest dioceses would send each 6 deputies. The proposal of the commission was decisively defeated by both the clerical and lay order.

Other proposals which failed of passage were: The resolution making the election of women as deputies possible, which was voted down both in the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies, and the report of a joint commission favoring the election of provincial suffragan-bishops, which would have paved the way for the election of a negro bishop to have the oversight and direction of the work among the colored people of the South. A further proposal to give the suffragan-bishops a vote in the Upper House, where they now have a seat without a vote, was passed by the Bishops, but rejected by the House of Deputies. It failed for want of concurrence.

Turning to actual legislation accomplished at the convention, the most notable was the final adoption of an adequate pension fund for the support of aged and disabled clergymen. This scheme, which was inaugurated at the General Convention of 1913, is based on a scientific actuarial calculation and is, by the terms of its charter, subject to the jurisdiction of the Department of Insurance of the State of New York. Funds for the payment of the pensions are provided by an annual assessment on parishes of 7½ per cent. on the salaries paid to the clergy. This assessment will ultimately provide funds to pay a pension ranging from $600 to $2,000 per annum, varying according to the years of service and the stipend paid. All of the 68 dioceses of the church have agreed to levy this tax on the parishes in their jurisdiction. In order, however, to provide for the present generation of the clergy a fund of $5,000,000 is being secured, of which $3,500,000 is now in hand. The fund will be completed by March 1, 1917, at which date all clergymen who have reached the age of 68 and are then in active service will be entitled to retire on a pension. The convention appointed 18 trustees, of whom Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts is Chairman and Mr. John Pierpont Morgan is Treasurer.

Considerable attention was given to the necessity of the adoption of modern business methods in church affairs. On the recommendation of a joint commission the convention adopted a uniform fiscal year beginning on January 1, and a model form for all parochial reports to diocesan conventions, together with the appointment of a finance committee in every diocese. The convention also adopted a new canon requiring the auditing of all church accounts over $3,000 per annum by a certified public accountant, also the depositing of all trust and other permanent funds with a trust company or bank organized under the laws of the United States or of a State. The canon also makes an adequate fire insurance of all church property compulsory.

The convention adopted a new lectionary which provides the tables of lessons from Holy Scripture which are authorized to be read in the public services of the church. This covers a period of two years, during which the major portion of both the Old and the New Testaments will be read where daily services are held. The general tendency of the new lectionary is to shorten the lessons and it follows the Christian year instead of, as heretofore, the civil year. A new hymnal has also been adopted and authorized for use as an alternate to the present one, which has not been revised since 1892. Two hundred of the old hymns have been eliminated and 126 new ones added, so that the new book has 559 hymns as against 679 in the old. The new hymns are drawn from all ecclesiastical sources, ranging from Roman Catholic to Unitarian writers. Twenty-five of the hymns are by American authors, including William Cullen Bryant, Whittier, Holmes and such English writers as Tenny-son and Kipling. Carols for Christmas and Easter are added for the first time.

Much attention was given to the report of a joint commission on the revision and enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer, the last revision having been in 1892. Owing to the magnitude of this report, it was divided between the two Houses and could not be completed at this convention. Much progress was, however, made. The revision of morning and evening prayer, the psalter and the offices for the burial of the dead and the visitation of the sick was completed. The general tendency of the changes was to shorten the services and to give the officiating minister more liberty in their use in public worship. Scriptural quotations were revised to bring them into harmony with the accepted results of modern critical study, and many archaic expressions have been modernized. The sentence of committal at a burial was radically changed and a new office for the burial of children was adopted. For the first time in the history of the Episcopal Church a prayer for the dead and one for the blessing of a grave appears in the prayer book. In their revision of the office of the Holy Communion the House of Bishops changed its title to "The Divine Liturgy, or Holy Eucharist," these terms being entirely new to the prayer book. They, however, rejected the proposal of the commission to print the Ten Commandments without the reasons heretofore attached for their observance.

Under the head of enrichment several new and important prayers were added to the book. These include a prayer for State Legislatures, for courts of justice, for the army, the navy, for schools and colleges, for children of the church, for Memorial Day social service, religious education and for all who labor. A new table of Psalms for special occasions is provided, and the use of what is known as the "Imprecatory Psalms" is made optional. New collects, epistles and gospels are provided for the Fourth of July, the solemnization of matrimony, the burial of the dead and the dedication of a church.

Inasmuch as all changes in the Prayer Book are alterations of the Constitution of the church, they will have to win the approval of all the dioceses and be ratified at the convention of 1919 before the new Prayer Book can be issued. Individual bishops may, however, authorize the use of any or all of the new prayers in their respective dioceses.

The Board of Missions reported an income of $4,600,054.71 for the triennium and of $1,543,-780.88 for the period of September 1, 1915, to October 1, 1916, this being the largest income in its history. Of this amount the sum of $761,354.32 was contributed by the parishes, $171,864.26 by individuals, and $193,049.20 by Sunday Schools. After the payment of appropriations amounting to $1,550,000, the balance in hand was $31,190.19. The reserve deposits are $748,776.06. The united offering of the Woman's Auxiliary, presented during the convention, was $352,147.04, an increase of $50,000. This is devoted to the support of women missionaries in various parts of the world.

After a sharply contested election the Rt. Rev. Arthur Selden Lloyd was re-elected President of the Board of Missions by a majority of one in the House of Bishops, and George Gordon King was elected Treasurer. The convention gave the board permission to elect a Vice-President who may be a layman. A special commission was appointed to visit Liberia, where the mission has been left without an Episcopal head through the recent death of Samuel Ferguson, the only negro bishop in the Episcopal Church, and also to investigate conditions in the French plateau of the Soudan, with a view to the establishment of a new mission in that part of Africa. By an agreement with the Anglican Church the board is authorized to take over all the missions of the English Church in Central America, with the exception of British Honduras, and, with the addition of the Panama Canal Zone, to establish a new foreign missionary district. When this has been done, the House of Bishops is empowered to elect a missionary bishop for Central America. The convention, by resolutions unanimously adopted, placed itself on record as favoring the introduction of Bible study, with credits, into the high schools, and of the closer supervision of moving pictures. It also favored simpler and more wholesome standards of living; the stricter regulation of the saloon and total abstinence on the part of communicants from intoxicating liquors at all public functions and private social gatherings. A comprehensive report of the state of the church during the last three years contains the official statistics of the Episcopal Church for that period and, in almost every department, notes growth. The number of communicants is given as 1,080,000, but this includes only those who have been actually confirmed, and the committee estimates the working adherents of the church at 4,000,000. There are 5,750 ordained clergymen, of whom about 1,000 are not in active service. In the Sunday Schools there are 53,000 officers and teachers and 450,000 scholars. As compared with the previous triennium, the number of baptisms has increased by 12,000, and the number of confirmations by 14,000. Parishes and missions number 5,341, and the total number of church buildings is 7,310. There is noted a marked increase in endowments for the support of churches, the total now being $19,078,-112.09, as compared with $14,320,147.07 three years ago. The endowment for the support of the Episcopate in the 68 dioceses now amounts to $4,491,057.67. The committee estimates the total endowments of the church and its educational and charitable institutions at $55,000,000. The number of sittings in churches and chapels is 1,504,890, an increase of 194,672. There are 135 church hospitals, as against 79 reported three years ago, and 77 Homes for the Aged and Poor. Contributions for the aged clergy amounted to $3,295,-952.90, but this included the $3,000,000 given for the new pension scheme. There are 24 theological institutions controlled by the church; 24 collegiate institutions and 124 schools and academies.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. held its 128th Annual Meeting at Atlantic City, N. J., May 18 to May 26, 1916. There were present about 900 delegates, officially appointed, including the representatives of the various boards and agencies of the church. Among important matters decided were the following:

The Committee on Church Co-operation and Union, of which the Rev. W. H. Roberts, D.D., is Chairman, was authorized to go forward with its work.

The Doctrinal Deliverance of the General Assembly of 1910 was unanimously reaffirmed as to the following points: Inerrancy of the Scriptures, Virgin Birth of Jesus Christ, vicarious atonement of Jesus Christ, bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ, the actuality of the miracles of Jesus Christ.

The licensure of candidates for the ministry was ordered deferred, if their views are not in accordance with the Doctrinal Deliverance above given.

The Board of Missions for Freedmen was authorized to continue work in the Northern and Western States.

The 200th anniversary of the meeting of the First General Synod was appointed to be held by the Assembly on May 24, 1917.

The Home Missions Council was again approved and its standing rules and budget were confirmed. This body, which is advisory to the Board of Home Missions, is to meet annually on the Monday preceding the General Assembly.

It was ordered that in foreign mission fields where there is no organized Presbytery, foreign missionaries, not less than three in number, may organize churches and ordain native ministers.

A committee of five was appointed to co-operate with other committees appointed on the 400th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation.

A committee was appointed on the relations of the Theological Seminaries to the General Assembly.

The matter of the organization of an Evangelical Church in Porto Rico, to include the churches of all Protestant denominations, was referred to the Executive Commission to decide.

The new General Board of Education, to take the place of the College Board, located in New York, and the Board of Education, located in Philadelphia, was established, and its 36 members elected.

The next meeting of the Assembly will be held at Dallas, Tex., May 17, 1917.

THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST.

The Disciples of Christ as a religious movement began to develop early in the nineteenth century. Among the Protestant bodies of America they rank fifth in number, having a membership of 1,375,000, with 9,000 churches and 6,000 ministers. Their strength is greatest in the Ohio and Mississippi Valley States. Their aim is to occupy a catholic position common to all Christian bodies. They seek to unite all followers of Christ by a return to the common faith and practice of the apostolic church. Their local churches are congregational in polity; their organized co-operative work embodies the following organizations:

A General Convention consisting of delegates from the churches meets annually in October. Its object is to promote unity, economy and efficiency among the philanthropic organizations of the Churches of Christ, promote equitable representation and secure closer co-operation. Its powers are advisory. Judge J. N. Haymaker, Wichita, Kan., is President and Rev. Robert Graham Frank, Liberty, Mo., is Secretary.

The American Christian Missionary Society was organized in 1849, has headquarters in Cincinnati, Ohio, and operates in all North America. It has departmental work for Sunday schools, Social Service, Rural Church, Immigrants and Foreign Relations. F. W. Burnham is President, Grant K. Lewis, Secretary, and Robert M. Hopkins, Bible School Secretary.

The Christian Woman's Board of Missions was organized in 1874, and has headquarters in the College of Missions Building, Indianapolis, Ind. This board has charge of the women's work and has missions both in the home and foreign lands. Mrs. Anna R. Atwater is the President and Mrs. Effie L. Cunningham, Mrs. J. McDaniel Stearns and Mrs. Ellie K. Payne are Secretaries.

The Foreign Christian Missionary Society was organized in 1875, and has headquarters in Cincinnati, Ohio. It is engaged exclusively in the work of foreign missions. A. McLean is the President, and F. M. Rains, Stephen J. Corey, R. A. Doan and Bent Wilson are Secretaries.

The Board of Church Extension was organized in 1888, and has headquarters in the New England Building, Kansas City, Mo. This board is engaged exclusively in the erection of church buildings. G. W. Muckley and John H. Booth are Secretaries.

The National Benevolent Association was organized in St. Louis in 1887, where it has headquarters. It cares for orphans and widows and provides homes for the aged and infirm. It conducts hospitals in Valparaiso, Ind., and at Kansas City, Mo. It manages homes for the aged in Jacksonville, Ill.; East Aurora, N. Y.; Walla Walla, Wash., and Dallas, Tex. It conducts homes and institutions for children at St. Louis, Mo.; Cleveland, Ohio; Dallas, Tex.; Atlanta, Ga.; Denver, Col., and Omaha, Neb. J. W. Perry of Kansas City, Mo., is President; Lee W. Grant of St. Louis, Mo., Treasurer, and James H. Mohorter, St. Louis, Mo., General Secretary.

The Board of Ministerial Relief was organized in 1895, and provides pensions for ministers and missionaries, aged or disabled in the service of God, and for their widows and orphans. Its headquarters is at 120 East Market Street, Indianapolis, Ind. A. L. Orcutt is President, and W. R. Warren, Secretary.

The American Temperance Board was organized in 1910, and has headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind. Its business is to promote the temperance cause, including prohibition. Its President is David H. Shields, Kokomo, Ind., and its Secretary is L. E. Sellers, Box 501, Indianapolis.

The Commission on Christian Union was organized in 1910, and Dr. Peter Ainslie of Baltimore, Md., has been the only President. This organization is for the promotion of Christian union throughout the world. With other similar bodies the commission is helping to plan for a world conference on unity.

The Board of Education was organized in 1914. It has headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind. It consists of the executive head of twenty-six institutions of learning among the Disciples of Christ. Dr. R. H. Crossfield, Lexington, Ky., is President, and Charles E. Underwood, 70 Layman Avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., is Secretary.

All the institutions just referred to, missionary, educational and benevolent, are related in the Men and Millions Movement for the purpose of promoting a special work of extension among the Disciples of Christ. This Men and Millions Movement has headquarters at 222 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. Its purpose is to raise in five years, over and above the regular income of these societies, $6,300,000 for enlargement, 1,000 new missionaries at home and abroad, and to place the income to the several missionary and philanthropic enterprises upon a regular systematic basis by promoting the budget system and the every-member canvass. This movement is directed by its Secretaries, A. E. Cory and R. H. Miller. The total income of these missionary societies last year was $2,000,000.

SOCIALIST LABOR PARTY.

Arnold Petersen, National Secretary, 45 Rose Street, New York City. Representative on International Socialist Bureau, Boris Reinstein. National Executive Committee—California, Sidney Armer; Connecticut, J. P. Johnson; Illinois, John M. Francis; Indiana, Ernst Viewegh; Massachusetts, John Sweeney; Michigan, James R. Murray; Minnesota, Samuel Johnson; Missouri, H. J. Poelling; New Jersey, J. C. Butterworth; New York, Patrick E. De Lee; Ohio, John D. Goerke; Pennsylvania, G. G. Anton; Virginia, Donald L. Munro; Washington, Thos. Taylor; Wisconsin, Albert Schnabel.

The party is organized in local organizations known as "sections," such sections existing in thirty States. Seven persons, five of whom must be actual wage-workers, may form a section, providing they acknowledge the platform, Constitution and resolutions of the Socialist Labor Party and do not belong to any other political party. But if more than seven propose to organize a section then at least three-fourths must be actual wage-workers. In places where no section exists, or where none can be formed, any person complying with the aforesaid provisions may become a member-at-large upon application to the National Executive Committee. Sections are not permitted to charge initiation fees. All questions of importance arising within the party are decided by general vote. At each meeting of the section a Chairman is elected, and the same rule holds good with all standing committees.

SOCIALIST PARTY PRINCIPLES.

WORKING PROGRAMME.

As general measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of its ultimate aim, the co-operative commonwealth, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following programme:

POLITICAL DEMANDS.

1. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women.

2. The immediate adoption of the so-called "Susan B. Anthony Amendment" to the Constitution of the United States granting the suffrage to women on equal terms with men.

3. The adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall and of proportional representation, nationally as well as locally.

4. The abolition of the Senate and of the veto power of the President.

5. The election of the President and the Vice-President by direct vote of the people.

6. The abolition of the present restriction upon the amendment of the Constitution so that that instrument may be made amendable by a majority of the voters in the country.

7. The calling of a convention for the revision of the Constitution of the United States.

8. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by Congress. National laws to be repealed only by Act of Congress or by a referendum vote of the whole people.

9. The immediate curbing of the power of the courts to issue injunctions.

10. The election of all Judges of the United States Courts for short terms.

11. The free administration of the law.

12. The granting of the right of suffrage in the District of Columbia with representation in Congress and a democratic form of municipal government for purely local affairs.

13. The extension of democratic government to all United States territory.

14. The freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

15. The increase of the rates of the present income tax and corporation tax and the extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the value of the estate and to nearness of kin—the proceeds of these taxes to be employed in the socialization of industry.

16. The enactment of further measures for general education and particularly for vocational education in useful pursuits. The Bureau of Education to be made a department.

17. The enactment of further measures for the conservation of health and the creation of an independent department of health.

18. The abolition of the monopoly ownership of patents and the substitution of collective ownership, with direct rewards to inventors by premiums or royalties.

COLLECTIVE OWNERSHIP.

1. The collective ownership and democratic management of railroads, telegraphs and telephones, express service, steamboat lines and all other social means of transportation and communication and of all large-scale industries.

2. The immediate acquirement by the municipalites, the States or the Federal Government of all grain elevators, stockyards, storage warehouses and other distributing agencies, in order to relieve the farmer from the extortionate charges of the middlemen and to reduce the present high cost of living.

3. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests, and water power.

4. The further conservation and development of natural resources for the use and benefit of all the people: (a) By scientific forestation and timber protection. (b) By the reclamation of arid and swamp tracts. (c) By the storage of flood waters and the utilization of water power. (d) By the stoppage of the present extravagant waste of the soil and the products of mines and oil wells. (e) By the development of highway and waterway systems.

5. The collective ownership of land wherever practicable, and in cases where such ownership is impracticable, the appropriation by taxation of the annual rental value of all land held for speculation or exploitation.

6. All currency shall be issued by the Government of the United States and shall be legal tender for the payment of taxes and impost duties and for the discharge of public and private debts. The Government shall lend money on bonds to counties and municipalities at a nominal rate of interest for the purpose of taking over or establishing public utilities and for building or maintaining public roads and highways, and public schools—up to 25 per cent. of the assessed valuation of such counties or municipalities. Said bonds are to be repaid in twenty equal and annual instalments, and the currency issued for that purpose by the Government is to be cancelled and destroyed seriatim as the debt is repaid. All banks and banking institutions shall be owned by the Government of the United States or by the States.

7. Government relief of the unemployed by the extension of all useful public works. All persons employed on such work to be engaged directly by the Government under a workday of not more than eight hours and at not less than the prevailing union wages. The Government also to establish employment bureaus; to lend money to States and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works, to contribute money to unemployment funds of labor unions and other organizations of workers, and to take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

INDUSTRIAL DEMANDS.

The conservation of human resources, particularly of the lives and well-being of the workers and their families:

1. By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

2. By securing the freedom of political and economic organization and activities.

3. By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

4. By securing a more effective inspection of workshops, factories and mines.

5. By forbidding the employment of children under eighteen years of age.

6. By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor and of all uninspected factories and mines.

7. By establishing minimum wage scales.

8. By abolishing official charity and substituting a non-contributory system of old age pensions, a general system of insurance by the State of all its members against unemployment and invalidism, and a system of compulsory insurance by employers of their workers, without cost to the latter, against industrial diseases, accidents and death.

9. By establishing mothers' pensions.

UNIVERSITY FORUM OF AMERICA.

An educational institution of travelling professorships of eminent men of action, and original investigators, whose lectures are based on personal experience and observation. The lectures are delivered before the leading universities, colleges, and other educational bodies throughout North America, Europe, and in other parts of the world.

The forum acts as a standing committee, a bureau of information, a clearing-house, through which universities and colleges may promptly and readily secure national leaders to speak at first-hand and authoritatively concerning their particular line of life-work and activity.

Meetings in New York City are held weekly on Tuesday evenings. President—Alexander Cumming 316 West 88th Street, New York City.

Assistant Treasurer-General.....Mr. Henry Randall Webb, Md.

The historic and patriotic Order of the Cincinnati was founded by the American and French officers at the cantonments of the Continental army on the Hudson at the close of hostilities in the War of the Revolution for American Independence, May 10, 1783.

In forming the society it was declared that, "To perpetuate, therefore, as well the remembrance of this vast event as the mutual friendships which have been formed under the pressure of common danger, and, in many instances, cemented by the blood of the parties, the officers of the American army do hereby, in the most solemn manner, associate, constitute, and combine themselves into one Society of Friends, to endure as long as they shall endure, or any of their eldest male posterity, and in failure thereof the collateral branches who may be judged worthy of becoming its supporters and members."

For convenience, thirteen State societies were formed, and one in France, under the direct patronage of Louis XVI., which was dispersed at the Reign of Terror in 1793. Upon the roll of original members appeared the names of all the great historic military and naval characters of the Revolution, and upon the roll of honorary members, elected for their own lives only, appeared many of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

THE RIGHT TO MEMBERSHIP.

All Continental officers who had served with honor and resigned after three years' service as officers, or who had been rendered supernumerary and honorably discharged, in one of the several reductions of the American army, or who had continued to the end of the war, and all French officers who had served in the co-operating army under Count d' Estaing, or auxiliary army under Count de Rochambeau, and held or attained the rank of colonel for such services, or who had commanded a French fleet or ship of war on the American coast, were entitled to become original members, and upon doing so were required to contribute a month's pay.

STATE SOCIETIES.

The Cincinnati is organically one society in membership, but for convenience in admission of members and in its charitable and patriotic objects was subdivided into State societies by the Institution of 1783, there being thirteen. Four dormant societies were restored to membership at the triennial meeting of 1902.

Membership descends to the eldest lineal male descendant, if judged worthy, and, in failure of direct male descent, to male descendants through intervening female descendants. The Institution gives the same right to the proper descendant of any Continental officer who was killed or died in service.

The general society when legislating for the good of the Order is composed of the general officers and five delegates from every State society, and meets triennially. In 1854 it ruled that proper descendants of Revolutionary officers who were entitled to original membership, but who never could avail themselves of it, are qualified for hereditary membership, if found worthy, on due application.

The society of the "Sons of the Revolution" was instituted in New York City December 18, 1875, on the motion of John Austin Stevens, to be composed exclusively of gentlemen of Revolutionary War ancestry; reorganized December 4, 1883, to include civil officers who materially assisted in establishing American Independence, and incorporated May 3, 1884, to "perpetuate the memory of the men who, in military, naval or civil service, by their acts or counsel, achieved American Independence; to promote and assist in the proper celebration of the Anniversaries of Washington's Birthday, the Battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill, the Fourth of July, the Capitulations of Saratoga and Yorktown, the Evacuation of New York by the British Army, and other prominent events relating to or connected with the War of the Revolution; to collect and secure for preservation the manuscript rolls, records and other documents and memorials relating to that war; to inspire among the members and their descendants the patriotic spirit of their forefathers; to inculcate in the community in general sentiments of nationality and respect for the principles for which the patriots of the Revolution contended; to assist in the commemorative celebration of other great historical events of national importance, and to promote social intercourse and the feeling of fellowship among its members."

Eligibility to membership is confined to male descendants, above the age of twenty-one years, from an ancestor who as either a military, naval or marine officer, soldier, sailor or marine, or official in the service of any one of the thirteen original Colonies or States, or of the National Government, representing or composed of those Colonies or States, assisted in establishing American Independence during the War of the Revolution between the 19th day of April, 1775, when hostilities commenced, and the 19th day of April, 1783, when they were ordered to cease. The triennial meetings of the general society are held in the City of Washington.

The officers of the New York Society Sons of the Revolution are as follows: President—Robert Olyphant. Vice-Presidents—Norman Henderson, Francis G. Landon and Thomas Denny. Secretary—Henry Russell Drowne, Fraunces's Tavern, corner Broad and Pearl Streets, New York. Treasurer—Arthur Melvin Hatch. Registrar—Edward B. Van Winkle. Chaplain—Rt. Rev. David H. Greer, D. D.

There are thirty-one State societies and a society in the District of Columbia. The aggregate membership is 8,000, that of the New York Society being over 2,400 and the Pennsylvania Society over 1,100.

DAUGHTERS OF THE CINCINNATI.

President—Miss Julia Chester Wells. Vice-President—Miss Laura Sylvina Heilner. Secretary—Miss Helen Richards, 13 West 31st Street, N. Y. City. Treasurer—Miss Annie Clarkson. Incorporated in 1894. The objects are "to renew, foster and develop among its members the friendships formed and cemented amid the trying ordeals of the War of the Revolution, in the camp, and on the battlefield by their ancestors; to advance and encourage investigation and study of the history of the Revolution, its causes and results; to cherish the memory and record the deeds of the noble women who encouraged and assisted the patriot cause; to commemorate by celebrations and tablets the achievements of our ancestors in the Revolution, and to gather and carefully preserve documents and relics relating to the Revolutionary period."

The great work of the society is the education of a daughter of a Naval or Army officer, with a view to self-support in Teachers' College. The daughters of the Cincinnati are now educating their seventh "God Child" with a maintenance fund for the average scholastic year expense.

THE DRAMA SOCIETY.

It is an organization of art-loving playgoers on a basis that secures to regular members of the society the best seats, for the best productions only, at the box-office price. There are no dues, and no initiation fees. The only condition imposed is that the members yearly attend ten productions found worthy of the intelligent playgoer, within the first month of the run. By insuring that intelligent plays receive immediate attendance and financial support, the society hopes to encourage the better forms of dramatic art.

Fitch, M D. 355 West 145th Street, New York City. Secretary—Ralph M. Leonard, 120 Broadway, New York City.

Society of Tammany, or Columbian Order—This organization was formed in 1789, being the effect of a popular movement in New York having primarily in view a counterweight to the so-called "aristocratic" Society of the Cincinnati. It was essentially anti-Federalist or democratic in its character, and its chief founder was William Mooney, an upholsterer and a native-born American of Irish extraction. It took its first title from a noted ancient, wise and friendly chief of the Delaware tribe of Indians, named Tammany, who had, for the want of a better subject, been canonized by the soldiers of the Revolution as the American patron saint. The first meeting was held May 12, 1789. The act of incorporation was passed in 1805. The Grand Sachem and thirteen Sachems were designed to typify the President and the Governors of the thirteen original States. William Mooney was the first Grand Sachem. The society is nominally a charitable and social organization, and is distinct from the General Committee of the Tammany Democracy, which is a political organization and cannot use Tammany Hall without the consent of the society.

Grand Sachem—John R. Voorhis. Sachems—Louis F. Haffen, George W. Loft, Thomas F McAvoy, Edward C. Sheehy, John J. Scannell, Charles F. Murphy, Henry W. Unger, John F. The Veteran Corps of Artillery of the State of New York—The Veteran Corps of Artillery of the State of New York was instituted in New York City November 25, 1790, exclusively by officers and soldiers of the War of the Revolution, and was duly confirmed as a separate corps in the organized militia of the State by Governor George Clinton March 3, 1791. Congress, in its Militia Laws of 1792, 1874, 1903, and May 27, 1908, enacted that it should retain "accustomed privileges" as a component part of the organized militia, supplemental to the National Guard, and the status of the corps, as part of the active militia, has also been embodied in several State statutes.

When composed wholly of Revolutionary veterans, it was in the military service of the United States, June 25 to July 2, 1812, and September 2, 1814, to March 2, 1815, and afterward recruited exclusively from veterans War of 1812, until 1890, when the surviving veteran original members amended their regulations to admit male descendants of original members or male descendants of those who served honorably in the War of 1812 and the War of the Revolution, which limitation was fixed by law March 9, 1895.

On January 8, 1826, the Military Society of the War of 1812 was formed at New York City exclusively by officers of the regular Army, Navy, and volunteer services of that war, and consolidated January 8, 1848, with the Veteran Corps of Artillery, and was constituted by law the Civic Association of the Corps, for "patriotic and other laudable purposes." Its last Revolutionary member, Daniel Spencer, died March 4, 1854, aged 95; its last War of 1812 member, Hiram Cronk, died May 10, 1905, aged 105.

The officers are: Colonel-Commandant—Asa Bird Gardiner. Paymaster—Lieut. Chandler Smith. Acting Adjutant and Secretary—Lieut. Benjamin R. Lummis, Commissary, 25 West Thirty-third Street, New York City.

The officers are commissioned, and the corps, with the National Guard, form a part of the active militia of the State.

The General Society of the War of 1812—Composed of federated State societies in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Illinois, District of Columbia, New York, and New Jersey, the members of each of which State societies are borne upon the membership roll of the general society. George Washington Memorial Association—President—Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, New York. Treasurer—Mrs. Frank Northrop, New York. General Secretary—George Milbank Hersey, 609 Publicity Building, Boston, Mass.

To furnish our National capital with a building which will provide facilities for the holding of congresses and conventions—both National and international. The building will also provide office accommodations for the many societies of National scope devoted to the advancement of humanity which require National headquarters, such as the patriotic, scientific, educational, art, literary, sociological and civic virtue organizations. It will also set apart a room for each State (which appropriates its quota of the total amount to be raised) so that a permanent exhibit of the State's resources may be accessible to the vast number of people visiting the National capital. It is to cost $2,000,000 and will have an endowment fund of $500,000 for maintenance. The building may also be used for inaugural receptions and special public meetings authorized by Congress. The structure which is to embody this idea is to be known as the George Washington Memorial Building. In a broader sense it will fulfil Washington's wish expressed in his Farewell Address, to "promote as an object of primary importance institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge." President Taft signed the bill on March 4, 1913, giving the association permission to erect this building in the north end of the reservation known as Armory Square, bounded by Sixth and Seventh Streets West, and B Street South, Washington, D. C. The Governors of forty-three States have accepted the Honorary Chairmanship of Advisory Councils being organized or appointed in their respective commonwealths.

The total amount to be raised, $2,500,000, is equitably apportioned to the different States; for instance, Rhode Island, $50,000; Connecticut, $100,000; Massachusetts, $200,000; New York, $350,000, etc., etc. A considerable amount has been raised and paid in to Mr. Charles J. Bell, Trustee of the Permanent Fund, President of the American Security and Trust Company of Washington, D. C. Gifts are invited.

The United States Hay Fever Association—Forty-three years ago the United States Hay Fever Association came into existence as a joke. But very soon it was discovered that real service might be rendered hay fever sufferers through organization. The "joke" became a "practical" one and has so remained to date. The forty-third annual convention of the association was held at Bethlehem, N. H., on August 31, 1916. A Vermont chapter was formed at Lunenberg, Vt., at the meeting held there on August 30, 1916.

The object of the association is the seeking for information which will serve to relieve sufferers with hay fever and for their mutual benefit and comfort. Not only hay-feverites, but the townspeople and proprietors of hotels of places exempt from hay fever, the manufacturers of remedies for hay fever, and especially physicians who have made a study of this disease are invited to become members of the association, that all may work together for the best results.

National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children—"This association, which was founded by Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, has approached the problem of exceptional development from the point of view of the normal, or potentially normal, child as representing an actual, positive asset in human society. In doing this, this association has endeavored to elaborate a suitable and scientifically tenable classification and terminology which would enable students of this problem to understand the different types of exceptional development in their true perspective. It is the purpose of this association to evolve methods by which this human waste can be avoided, just as modern processes of manufacture and industry have led to saving what was formerly waste material and what is now often turned into products more valuable than the original object of production." Organized in New Jersey in 1905.

President—Dr. Ira S. Wile, New York City. Vice-President—A. A. D'Ancona, San Francisco, Cal. Secretary and Treasurer—Waldemar H. Groszmann, Plainfield, N. J. Educational Director—Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, Plainfield, N. J.

Headquarters Army and Navy Medal of Honor Legion of the United States of America—Congress passed a bill, which was approved by President Wilson on April 27, 1916, which established in the War and Navy Departments, respectively, a roll, designated as the Army and Navy Medal of Honor Roll, and grants to each person enrolled thereon a special pension of ten dollars per month, in addition to any other pension he may receive. The United States Congress requires a far higher degree of valor before granting the Congressional Medal of Honor than is required by any other nation for its similar decoration. Every nation, with its special decoration, gives a special pension for the special deed of valor which gained it. The Congressional Medal of Honor is hardest to gain, fewest in numbers, the least known and appreciated of any military decoration of honor in the world. Commander—Orville T. Chamberlain, 329. West Franklin Street, Elkhart, Ind.

The Military Order of the Serpent—The Military Order of the Serpent is a secret and social organization founded upon facts, and is of historical interest. EDUCATIONAL SOCIETIES.

Chautauqua Institution—Chancellor Emeritus—John H. Vincent. Chancellor—George E. Vincent. President—Arthur E. Bestor. President of Trustees—Clement Studebaker, Jr. Treasurer—M. J. Gallup.

The Chautauqua Assembly, now Chautauqua Institution, was organized in 1874 as a result of the joint plan of Lewis Miller and John H. Vincent. The annual assembly during July and August at Chautauqua, N. Y., is a sixty-day programme of lectures, addresses, concerts, recitals, and various forms of platform entertainment, out-of-door recreation, and highly organized social group life. Local assemblies patterned after the parent Chautauqua in the United States number over 3,000.

The Chautauqua Summer Schools (E. B. Bryan, Principal of Summer Schools) are annually conducted during six weeks of the assembly season. Faculty, 115; courses, over 200, in fourteen departments; six in academic subjects usually pursued in academies and colleges, eight in special professional work in Library Training, Domestic Science, Music, Physical Education, Arts and Crafts, etc. Over 3,500 students annually.

The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle (E. H. Blichfeldt, Manager), organized at Chautauqua in 1878, continues the educational influence of the assembly throughout the year. More than 350,000 members have been enrolled. Individual readers may pursue the course alone, or local circles may be formed. The time required is about one-half hour daily for nine months. Diplomas are granted to those who complete the course. Any one may become a member of the C. L. S. C. by sending $5 for the unit (four books, membership book and magazine for one year) to Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, N. Y.

National Society for Broader Education—National Society for Broader Education of New York was organized in December, 1909; incorporated January, 1910, under the laws of New York. Its purpose is: "Through the education of the adult to aid in the normal development of National life; in removing the causes of distrust and antagonism between classes and in promoting the interests of the whole people."

The society carries on its work through the lecture and concert platforms, the pulpit, and the newspapers. In 1916 its speakers delivered 543 lectures, its singers gave 470 concert lectures, several hundred sermons, conducted 530 discussions. President—George Edward Reed, S. T. D., LL. D., Harrisburg, Pa. Managing Director—Guy Carleton Lee, Ph. D., 55 West Forty-fourth Street, New York City. Secretary and Treasurer—Dr. H. H. Langsdorf, 168 West High Street, Carlisle, Pa.

The Northfield Conferences and Summer Schools were established by D. L. Moody, and meet annually between about June 15 and about September 1. Bible Studies and Special Addresses in connection with the above gatherings, and the sessions of the Northfield Schools are given at different times during the Fall and Winter. Northfield Seminary for young women and Mount Hermon School for young men, each with an attendance of about 600, constitute the Northfield Schools. President—William R. Moody. Clerk—Ambert G. Moody. Headquarters, East Northfield, Mass.

The John F. Slater Fund—In 1882 Mr. John F. Slater of Connecticut placed in the hands of trustees the sum of $1,000,000 for the purpose of "uplifting the lately emancipated population of the Southern States and their posterity." For this patriotic and munificent gift the thanks of Congress were voted, and a medal was presented. The board consists of William A. Slater, President; Richard H. Williams, Vice-President; John A. Stewart, John M. Glenn, Cleveland H. Dodge, Wickliffe Rose, David F. Houston, Francis P. Venable, William Lawrence, James H. Dillard, Fairfax Harrison, Charles Scribner. The Treasurer is the Metropolitan Trust Company of New York. Director—Jas. H. Dillard, Charlottesville, Va. Field Agents—W. T. B. Williams, Hampton, Va., and B. C. Caldwell, Natchitoches, La. Office Secretary—Miss G. C. Mann, Charlottesville, Va. The fund has grown through judicious investment, and the Trustees have now an annual income of about $80,000, which is used in encouraging industrial and normal training in institutions for the colored race in the South.

The General Education Board—The General Education Board was organized in New York February 27, 1902, and incorporated by an Act of Congress signed January 12, 1903. The following are officers of the board: Frederick T. Gates, Chairman; L. G. Myers, Treasurer; L. M. Dashiell, Assistant Treasurer; Wallace Buttrick, Secretary; E. C. Sage and Abraham Flexner, Assistant Secretaries. The following are members of the board: Frederick T. Gates, Charles W. Eliot, Andrew Carnegie, Walter H. Page, J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., Albert Shaw, Wallace Buttrick, Starr J. Murphy, Jerome D. Green, Anson Phelps Stokes, Edwin A. Alderman, Hollis B. Frissell, Harry Pratt Judson, Edgar L. Marston, Wickliffe Rose, Abraham Flexner and George E. Vincent. The purposes of the board are to promote education in the United States, without distinction of race, sex, or creed, and especially to promote, systematize, and make effective various forms of educational beneficence. Office, 61 Broadway, New York City.

The Southern Conference for Education and Industry—Successor to the Southern Educational Association (organized 1890), the Conference for Education in the South (organized 1898), and the Southern Education Board (organized 1901), consolidated at Chattanooga April 29, 1915.

President—Sidney G. Gilbreath, Johnson City, Tenn. Vice-President—T. J. Woofter, University of Georgia, Athens, Ga.; Treasurer—T. R. Preston, Chattanooga, Tenn. Executive Secretary—A. P. Bourland, 508 McLachlen Building, Washington, D. C. Members of the Executive Board from the Country at Large—P. P. Claxton, Washington, D. C.; John M. Moore, Nashville, Tenn.; B. D. Gray, Atlanta, Ga.; Clarence Poe, Raleigh, N. C.; W. M. Riggs, Clemson College, S. C.; H. A. Morgan, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.

The conference is a united effort for Southern development.

Catholic Summer School of America—A Roman Catholic Chautauqua or Summer school was opened at New London, Ct., in the Summer of 1892 under the auspices of distinguished clergymen and laymen, and the first meetings were held from July 30 to August 14. The association has since acquired a site at Cliff Haven, near Plattsburg, N. Y., on Lake Champlain, upon which the necessary buildings have been erected, and here the Summer school is held annually for ten weeks, from July to September. The work of the institution is continued throughout the year by means of reading circles and study clubs on the University Extension plan. President—Rt. Rev. Mgr. John P. Chidwick, D. D., 7 East Forty-second Street, New York City.

Negro Rural School Fund, Jeanes Foundation—The Negro Rural School Fund, amounting to $1,000,000, was established in 1907 by Miss Anna T. Jeanes, a resident of Philadelphia. The income of the fund is used in assisting small rural public schools for negroes in the Southern States by supplying county superintendents with a part of the salary of a supervising industrial teacher, who introduces simple forms of home industries in the schools and supervises them. The board consists of: President—James H. Dillard. Vice-President—Walter H. Page. Treasurer—George Foster Peabody. Secretary—R. R. Moton. Director—James H. Dillard, Charlottesville, Va. Field Agents—B. C. Caldwell, Natchitoches, La., and W. T. B. Williams, Hampton Institute, Va. Office Secretary—Miss G. C. Mann, Charlottesville, Va.

TERRITORY OF ALASKA.

(Statement prepared by Charles E. Davidson, Secretary of Alaska.)

ALASKA was purchased in 1867 for $7,200,000, and since that time has yielded over sixty-six times its purchase price. Congress did not pay any attention to Alaska for the first seventeen years of its existence. From the date of its purchase until 1877 a Collector of Customs and some troops were the sole representatives of the Federal Government. However, since 1867 (and by far the greater portion since 1899, or only fifteen years), according to official documents, its output has been:

Gold	$260,488,175
Silver	3,011,153
Copper	46,281,148
Other minerals	2,751,638
Fisheries and furs	299,581,890
Other merchandise	1,705,820
Total	$614,319,824

Alaska is situated in approximately the same latitude as the Scandinavian countries, but the climate is much milder, especially along the coast, where there is an unusually large amount of rainfall.

The Agricultural Department has established successful experimental stations at various points within the Territory, demonstrating that vegetables, grains, grasses, and live stock are adapted to the climate.

Next to mining, the fisheries are the most productive industry in the Territory.

The first arterial route of a Government railroad in Alaska, reaching from the coast to navigable waters of the interior, was designated by the President on April 11, 1915. Starting from Seward, on Resurrection Bay, the route follows the line of the Alaska Northern Railroad (acquired by purchase) to Mile 72 on Turnagain Arm of Cook's Inlet; thence following the north shore of the arm to Ship Creek; thence in a generally northerly direction along Knik Arm and the easterly side of the Susitna Valley to Broad Pass in the Alaska range of mountains and the headwaters of the Nenana River; thence down the river to the Tanana Valley and Fairbanks, a total distance of 471 miles, with a spur of 33 miles from a point near the head of Knik Arm to the Matanuska coal field. The estimated cost of this system is $26,800,000. Congress authorized the construction of Government railroads in Alaska to the extent of $35,000,000, which leaves a balance of $8,200,000 available for other routes or branches.

The large and extensive coal fields—the Bering River, the Matanuska Valley, and the Nenana fields—containing deposits of high grade character, were subdivided into townships by Government surveyors during the Summer of 1915. A portion of these and other fields contain low grade deposits known as lignite. The Nenana coal fields were subdivided into townships during 1916.

The route of the railroad will open up the development of the coal fields, as well as make available for settlement the many thousands of acres of agricultural lands, not to speak of the immense regions known to be highly mineralized, as the lack of transportation facilities heretofore has prevented the extraction of minerals except at a loss. Every one familiar with Alaska is confident that the building of the road will revolutionize conditions in the North.

The principal shipments from Alaska for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1916, were: Gold, $16,195,635; silver, $759,962; copper, $26,488,288; other minerals, $449,518; fisheries and furs, $20,202,400; other merchandise, $479,688.

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

The University of the State of New York, governed by the Board of Regents, established and incorporated in 1784, includes in its constituent membership all public schools of the State and all institutions in the university, all secondary and higher educational institutions incorporated in the State and such libraries, museums, institutions, schools, organizations and agencies for education as may be admitted to or incorporated by the university. The President of the university is also the Commissioner of Education, the chief executive officer of the entire State educational system. The Assistant Commissioners are Thomas E. Finegan for elementary education, who is also Deputy Commissioner; Augustus S. Downing for higher education, and Charles F. Wheelock for secondary education. The State Library, James I. Wyer, Jr., director, and the State Museum, John M. Clarke, director, are departments of the university.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN LEAGUE OF THE UNITED STATES.

The National Republican League of the United States was organized in Chickering Hall, New York City, December 15-17, 1887, by delegates from about 350 Republican clubs of the United States, assembled in National Convention, pursuant to a call issued by the Republican Club of New York City. It is composed of the Republican clubs of the United States, organized by States and united in a national organization. Its purpose is "Organization and Education." It aims to enlist recruits for the Republican Party, particularly the younger men and the "first voters." National Conventions have since been held at Baltimore, 1889; Nashville, 1890; Cincinnati, 1891; Buffalo, 1892; Louisville, 1893; Denver, 1894; Cleveland, 1895; Milwaukee, 1896; Detroit, 1897; Omaha, 1898 (biennial sessions afterward); St. Paul 1900, Chicago, 1902; Indianapolis, 1904; Philadelphia, 1906; Cincinnati, 1908; New York, 1910; Chicago, 1912. At the close of the campaign of 1908, the league, including the Taft campaign clubs, comprised approximately 4,000 clubs, with a membership of 1,500,000. Officers—President, John Hays Hammond, Gloucester, Mass.; Treasurer, D. B. Atherton, New York City; Secretary, W. B. Brewster, East Orange, N. J.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

FOR THE INCREASE AND DIFFUSION OF KNOWLEDGE AMONG MEN.

OFFICERS OF THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION:

Ex-Officio Presiding Officer of the Institution, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States; Chancellor of the Institution, Edward Douglass White, Chief Justice of the United States; Secretary of the Institution, Charles D. Walcott; Assistant Secretary in Charge of United States National Museum, Richard Rathbun.

Board of Regents, Edward Douglass White, Chief Justice of the United States, Chancellor; Thomas R. Marshall, Vice-President of the United States; Henry Cabot Lodge, Member of the Senate; William J. Stone, Member of the Senate; Henry F. Hollis, Member of the Senate; Scott Ferris, Member of the House of Representatives; Ernest W. Roberts, Member of the House of Representatives; James T. Lloyd, Member of the House of Representatives; Andrew D. White, citizen of New York; Alexander Graham Bell, citizen of Washington, D. C.; Charles F. Choate, Jr., citizen of Massachusetts; George Gray, citizen of Delaware; John B. Henderson, Jr., citizen of Washington, D. C.; Charles W. Fairbanks, citizen of Indiana.

The Institution at Washington, D. C., was established by statute in 1846, under the terms of the will of James Smithson, who bequeathed his fortune in 1826 to the United States to found an institution for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." From the income of the fund a building, known as the Smithsonian Building, was erected on land given by the United States. The Institution is legally an establishment having as its members the President of the United States, the Vice-President, the Chief Justice, and the President's Cabinet. It is governed by a Board of Regents consisting of the Vice-President, the Chief Justice, three members of the United States Senate, three members of the House of Representatives, and six citizens of the United States appointed by joint resolution of Congress. It is under the immediate direction of the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who is the executive officer of the board and the director of the Institution's activities.

For the increase of knowledge, the Institution aids investigators by making grants for research and exploration, supplying books, apparatus, laboratory accommodations, etc. It occasionally provides for lectures, which are published. It has initiated numerous scientific projects of national importance, some of which have been turned over to the Government and resulted in the creation of independent Government bureaus. It advises the Government in many matters of scientific importance, especially in those that have an international aspect. It co-operates with national scientific bodies, such as the National Academy of Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Historical Association, etc. It issues three regular series of publications: Annual Reports, containing papers of general interest intended to keep the ordinary reader abreast of the progress of science; Contributions to Knowledge, the distinct feature of which is that each memoir constitutes an original contribution to knowledge; Miscellaneous Collections, which contain bibliographies, reports of expeditions and of various scientific researches, and standard tables. All these publications are distributed gratuitously to important libraries throughout the world.

The Institution maintains a library, in co-operation with the Library of Congress, which numbers 265,000 volumes and consists mainly of the transactions of learned societies and scientific periodicals. While the body of the library is deposited in the Library of Congress and accessible to all its readers, a working library is maintained at the Institution. Lists, bibliographies, rules for cataloguing and library work have been published. The Institution supports a table at the Naples Zoological Station. All these and numerous other activities may be carried on solely from the income of the Smithsonian fund. The Regents are empowered to accept gifts without action of Congress, in furtherance of the purposes of the Institution, and to administer trusts in accord therewith.

The parent Institution has the administrative charge of several branches which grew out of its early activities and which are supported by Congressional appropriations. These are the National Museum, including the National Gallery of Art; the International Exchange Service, the Bureau of American Ethnology, the National Zoological Park, the Astrophysical Observatory, and the United States Regional Bureau for the International Catalogue of Scientific Literature.

THE UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM is the depository of the national collections. It is especially rich in the natural history, geology, paleontology, archæology and ethnology of America, and has unique collections of American history, as well as many series relating to fine arts and the industrial arts. It is both an educational and a research museum, and issues numerous scientific publications. The National Gallery of Art consists largely of the collections of etchings and engravings of George P. Marsh, the collections of Charles L. Freer, containing numerous paintings and etchings by Whistler, and examples of Oriental art; the Harriet Lane Johnston collection, including works of a number of the greatest English portrait painters, and the collection of William T. Evans, of one hundred and fifty-one paintings, representing some of the best work of one hundred and six American artists.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE SERVICE, carried on in accordance with the terms of treaties entered into between the United States and various foreign nations, is for the free interchange of scientific, literary and governmental publications between the Government of the United States and foreign Governments and institutions, and investigators in the United States and foreign lands. It has correspondents in all parts of the world, and since its establishment more than 4,000,000 packages, containing many millions of publications, have been handled by it.

THE BUREAU OF AMERICAN ETHNOLOGY, for the study of the American Indian; THE ASTROPHYSICAL OBSERVATORY, for the investigation of solar phenomena; THE NATIONAL ZOOLOGICAL PARK at Washington, containing about 1,400 animals; the Regional Bureau of the INTERNATIONAL CATALOGUE OF SCIENTIFIC LITERATURE, for the preparation of a classified index to the current scientific literature of the United States, and the LANGLEY AERODYNAMICAL LABORATORY are also branches of the Institution.

AMERICAN BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The head office of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions is at the Congregational House, 14 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. There are three district offices: (1) at the United Charities Building, Twenty-second Street and Fourth Avenue, New York City, Rev. E. L. Smith, D. D., Secretary; (2) 19 S. La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill., Rev. A. N. Hitchcock, D. D., District Secretary; (3) San Francisco, Cal., Henry H. Kelsey, D. D., District Secretary. Its officers are: President—Edward C. Moore, D. D. Corresponding Secretaries—James L. Barton, LL. D., Cornelius H. Patton, D. D., Edward L. Smith, D. D. Treasurer—Frank H. Wiggin.

The American Board, which is the oldest foreign missionary society in the United States, was organized June 29, 1810. During its history it has sent out over 3,000 missionaries, of whom 664 are now in service. Into the 701 churches which have been organized by these missionaries there are now enrolled 83,135 members. The total receipts from the beginning have been $46,696,466.61; for year 1916, $1,207,126.54.

The mission fields now occupied by the board are: Mexico; Micronesian Islands; Mindanao, Philippine Islands; Japan; North China; Shansi, in Northwestern China; Foochow and Canton, in Southern China; Ceylon; Madura, in Southern India; the Marathi field of Western India; in Southern Africa, the Rhodesian branch and the Zulu branch, West Central Africa; Bulgaria and Asiatic Turkey; Austria; Spain; Greece, and Serbia.

THE SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM.

(From a statement prepared by Dr. Talcott Williams, Director.)

THE School of Journalism in Columbia University, New York City, on the Pulitzer Foundation, opened September 30, 1912. On November 1, 1916, it had in all 180 students, of whom 36 are women. Divided by classes, there are 69 in the first-year class, 43 in the second-year class, 43 in the third-year class, and 25 in the fourth-year class. Of the women who will take their degree in the School of Journalism, 17 are in Barnard, and 8 of the men at present registered in Columbia College are taking courses in the School of Journalism. Of the first-year class entering last Fall, 55 are men and 10 are women. Of this number, 43 men entered on examination and 11 under the provision laid down by the late Joseph Pulitzer in his gift, that students of maturity, experience and marked fitness should be admitted without examination. Of the women, 10 entered Barnard College, to be there two years, on examination. Admission without examination, as Mr. Pulitzer expected, has enabled a number of journalists to enter the school. On pursuing courses for two years with credit, these students are admitted to candidacy for the degree of Bachelor of Literature in Journalism. This degree was conferred on 24 graduates in the course at the last commencement of Columbia University; of the fourth-year class, 18 were in the school last year in the third-year class, and 6 are graduates of other colleges. In 1918 the school will be placed on a full professional standing Five years will be required for a degree from the high school, the first two in college and the last three in the School of Journalism. This will permit the addition of another year of professional study.

The total attendance grows steadily year by year and establishes the leading position of the school among institutions of its kind in this or any other country. The number attending is greater in proportion to the number of journalists in the country than is the number attending the law and medical courses in Columbia University in proportion to the number of those practising law and medicine. In September, 1913, the school entered its new building, for which $500,000 was provided by Mr. Pulitzer's bequest. The building is excellently equipped in every way for training in journalistic work, and contains a reference library, files of a hundred daily papers, American and foreign, and a morgue of 400,000 newspaper clippings made under the supervision of the Director during the last thirty years.

No step in professional education has attracted wider public attention or awakened a more general approval in the American press. When Mr. Pulitzer proposed the school twelve years ago its plan, purposes and need were all challenged. From the announcement of the appointment in February, 1912, of its Director, Talcott Williams, formerly of THE NEW YORK WORLD staff and for 38 years in active journalism, to its successful opening and full operation the school has commanded the confidence of newspapers and journalists. One-third of its teaching staff of 25 have been in active service on newspapers.

The plan of the school and its course of study were approved and at many points directed by an Advisory Board of eleven journalists, including Mr. John Langdon Heaton, of the editorial staff of THE NEW YORK WORLD; Mr. Ralph Pulitzer, President of the Press Publishing Company (THE NEW YORK WORLD), and Mr. George S. Johns, editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The other journalists on this Advisory Board, of which President Butler of Columbia University is a member, are S. B. Griffin, Springfield Republican; Victor Fremont Lawson, Chicago Daily News; Charles Ransom Miller, New York Times; Edward Page Mitchell, The Sun, New York; Melville Elijah Stone, Associated Press, New York; Charles H. Taylor, Boston Globe, and Samuel Calvin Wells, Philadelphia Press.

The administrative work of the school is conducted by an Administrative Board, composed of President Butler; the Director, Talcott Williams; the Associate Director, Prof. John W. Cunliffe; Frederick P. Keppel, Dean of Columbia College; William P. Trent, Professor of English Literature; Henry R. Seager, Professor of Political Economy; James T. Shotwell, Professor of History; Ashley H. Thorndike, Professor of English, and Charles A. Beard, Associate Professor of Politics.

While there are universities and colleges which give courses in various phases of journalism and several which have schools of journalism, no other school has an endowment so large, beginning at $1,000,000 and enlarged by the final legacy of $1,000,000 from the Pulitzer estate; none has a course giving so much time to the solid study needed for the training of the journalist, and this has also the crowning advantage of a metropolis like New York in which to train its students in reporting by sending them to see and to write upon events as they come in the life of a great city. The City Hall, the departments and the regular newspaper assignments have all been used to train men in getting news as well as in writing it. Attendance on first-night performances is employed in training for dramatic criticism. From the second year on, the students are under direction and correction, writing articles on financial and business subjects, editorials, special articles, and in other fields of newspaper work. The headquarters of the political parties in New York City have given opportunity for training in National and State politics.

This practical training in the work of the journalist in the greatest news centre of the country comes in the last two years, but of the four years' course four-fifths are devoted to the study of history, constitutional law, political science, economics, statistics, American and European literature, etc.; a mastery of either French or German is insisted on. These studies follow the lines laid down by Mr. Joseph Pulitzer in his plan for the school. They are taught with the comprehensive thoroughness only possible in a great university. The work and study required is on a professional standard. Taking the technical work of reporting and their studies, the students of the school are working as hard as in a newspaper office, covering the same range of subjects and writing under close supervision and correction from men trained as journalists.

The bureau invites all who wish to undertake this course of reading under its direction to join its National Reading Circle. For admission to this circle it is only necessary to write to the "Home Education Division of the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.," giving your name, post-office address, your age, and a very brief statement of your education and occupation. You should also write the Home Education Division of the bureau for requirements.

To each person submitting satisfactory evidence of having read all the books on this list within three years from the time of joining circle, there will be awarded a certificate bearing the seal of the United States Bureau of Education and signed by the Commissioner of Education. All young men and women who wish to lay a good foundation for a knowledge of the best literature are invited to join this circle.

Charles Alphonso Smith, Edgar Allan Poe Professor of English in the University of Virginia; Charles Forster Smith, Professor of Greek in the University of Wisconsin; Richard Burton, Professor of English Literature in the University of Minnesota, and William Lyon Phelps, Professor of English Literature in Yale University, will assist the Bureau of Education in directing this course of reading.

In writing about this course refer to it as "United States Bureau of Education, Home Education Division, Reading Course No. II., or, Great Literature—Ancient, Mediæval, and Modern."

Readers may take one or more courses. They are required to read Course I. twice during the three years succeeding enrolment. Any other courses are to be read but once. No reading done previous to the date of enrolment will be considered adequate.

Let the bureau know when each book is begun and when it is completed. Send a description of the principal characters, the chief episodes, and impressions. When the nature of the book does not lend itself to this form of report, send a list of five important lessons or truths found in each book. When the course is completed a few questions as the final test will be sent.

Books may be purchased of publishers or borrowed from libraries elsewhere. The Bureau of Education does not furnish or lend books for this purpose.

If the editions named are not available, any editions may be used, but the advantage to be gained from Moulton's Modern Readers' Bible will more than pay for the additional cost.

LITERATURE OF 1916.

BY FREMONT RIDER.

The book trade in this country revived in 1916 after the slump of 1914-15, the retail trade being especially prosperous. The book output was larger and of a high level of quality, making selection doubly difficult.

FICTION was one of the classes to show improvement, several new authors of promise being introduced to the reading public, and novels by foreign authors showing a marked increase. DRAMA, thanks to the Shakespeare centenary and moving picture interest, held its own. SPORTS and GAMES showed a large number of titles. TRAVEL and DESCRIPTION was comparatively scant this year, its place being taken by a veritable flood of books on the WAR in all its various phases. There were several notable BIOGRAPHIES.

The following 900 odd titles out of some 11,000 published in 1916 aim to include the most important, not only in the sense of having more or less enduring value, but also because of their popularity, possibly transient, but no less significant, as evidenced by sales or repute. Where choice was necessary, emphasis has been laid on the popular and practical, rather than the scholarly and theoretical. Endeavor has been made, in other words, to list books of legitimate interest to the stenographer as well as the economist, to the farmer as well as the reader of belles-lettres. New editions are seldom listed unless of notable importance. The classification adopted is a rough adaptation of the Dewey Decimal classification for books, which is in wide international library and bibliographical use.

FICTION.

POPULAR ROMANCE OF THE BEST-SELLING TYPE—"The Agony Column," by Earl Derr Biggers; a mystery story of Americans in London in wartime that has surprises up to the last page (Bobbs, $1.25). "Behold the Woman," by T. Everett Harre; a tale of redemption; florid tale of Egypt in the 3d century (Lipp., $1.35n.). "The Blind Man's Eyes," by Wm. MacHarg and Edn. Balmer; an adventure-mystery story of a blind lawyer with uncanny powers of perception (Latt., B., $1.35n.). "Buck Parvin and the Movies," by Chas. E. Van Loan; inimitable short stories of movie folk and motion picture making (Doran, $1.25n.). "Cappy Ricks," by Peter B. Kyne; shipping sea-stories of the Pacific Coast today by a man who knows (Fly, $1.35). "The Fall of a Nation," by Thomas Dixon; melodramatic tale of future conquest of U. S. by a foreign invader (Apltn., $1.35n.). "Georgina of the Rainbows," by Annie Fellows Johnston; another child story of the "Pollyanna" type (Britt., $1.25n.). "The Girl Philippa," by Robt. W. Chambers; romance of Belgium in war time (Apltn., $1.40n.). "Just David," by Mrs. Eleanor H. Porter; David is 10, and a fine violinist (H. Miff., $1.25n.). The book production in Japan in 1911 was 43,244; Russia, in 1910, 29,057; both inflated by pamphlet and periodical material; Switzerland, 1914, 2,583; Italy, 1914, 11,523; Denmark, April, 1914-March, 1915, 3,735; Holland, 1914, 3,453; Belgium, 1912, 2,403; Poland, 1911, 3,436; Spain, 1914, 2,463; Roumania, 1901, 1,739; Sweden, 1904, 1,474; Bulgaria, 1909, 1,400; Norway, 1911, 1,342; Serbia, 1888, 258; Luxemburg, 1914, 39; Ireland, 1902, 180; Iceland, 1903, 212; Uruguay, 1910, 619; Greece, 1908, 53; Argentina, 1886, 899; Egypt, 1898, 164; Turkey, 1890, 924; Mexico, 1888, 167; Chile, 1891, 385; India, 1895, 8,000; Austria, 1914, 2,473 (in German only); Canada, 1910, 94; Ceylon, 1909, 422; Hungary, 1914, 2,713; Australia, 1912, 3,158.

The total book publications of the world annually approximate 160,000. Paul Otlet, the Secretary of the Brussels International Bibliographic Institute, estimates the number of printed books since the invention of printing to January, 1900, at 12,163,000 separate works, and the number of periodicals at between fifteen and eighteen millions. M. Iwinski estimates the number of books published since the invention of printing to the end of 1908 at 10,378,365.

Miss Doris Webb, assistant editor The Publishers' Weekly, furnished these statistics.

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

THE Library of Congress was established in 1800, destroyed in 1814 by the burning of the Capitol, afterward replenished by the purchase by Congress of the library of ex-President Jefferson, 6,760 volumes (cost, $23,950); in 1851, 35,000 volumes destroyed by fire; in 1852, partially replenished by an appropriation of $75,000; increased (1) by regular appropriations by Congress; (2) by deposits under the Copyright Law; (3) by gifts and exchanges; (4) by the exchanges of the Smithsonian Institution, the library of which (40,000 volumes) was, in 1866, deposited in the Library of Congress with the stipulation that future accessions should follow it. One hundred sets of Government publications are at the disposal of the Librarian of Congress for exchange, through the Smithsonian, with foreign Governments, and from this source are received about 12,000 volumes annually. Other special accessions have been: The Peter Force collection (22,529 volumes, 37,000 pamphlets), purchased 1867, cost $100,000; the Count de Rochambeau collection (manuscript), purchased 1883, cost $20,000; the Toner collection (24,484 volumes, numerous pamphlets), gift in 1882 of Dr. Joseph M. Toner; the Hubbard collection (engravings).

The collection is now the largest in the Western Hemisphere, and third in the world. It comprised at the end of the fiscal year (June 30, 1916) about 2,451,974 printed books and pamphlets (including the law library which, while a division of the Library of Congress, still remains at the Capitol), manuscripts, maps, and charts, pieces of music, and photographs, prints, engravings and lithographs numbering about a million.

The collection is rich in history, political science, in official documents, National, State, and foreign, and in Americana, including important files of American newspapers and original manuscripts (Colonial, Revolutionary, and formative periods). Many of the rare books and manuscripts belonging to the library are exhibited in show cases on the second floor.

The library is rich in special collections acquired since 1897.

In Prints—The Hubbard collection, gift in 1898 of Mrs. Gardiner G. Hubbard; Noyes works of Japanese artists; Garrett, 19,113 prints (on deposit); George Lothrop Bradley, 1,980 engravings; prints issued by the Government calcographies of France, Germany, Italy, Japan, and Austria-Hungary.

Manuscripts—The PAPERS OF NINE PRESIDENTS: Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Van Buren, Polk, Pierce, and Johnson. AMERICAN STATESMEN AND POLITICIANS: Franklin, R. Morris, Hamilton, Van Buren, Wm. L. Marcy, Duff Green, Washburne, Clayton, Chase, Crittenden, Lyman Trumbull, E. M. Stanton, John Sherman, Gideon Welles (deposited); James H. Hammond, J. L. M. Curry, Thomas Ewing. MILITARY PAPERS: Gen. George B. McClellan, Gen. W. T. Sherman, Gen. C. B. Comstock. DIPLOMATIC: Wm. Short, Bancroft Davis, papers. NAVAL PAPERS: Preble, John Paul Jones. COMMERCIAL HISTORY: Ellis, 1805-1853; Bourne, 1776-1816; Galloway (early part of the eighteenth century); letters of William Taylor (the latter part of the eighteenth century); of John White, cashier of the Bank of the United States at Baltimore; Edward Dixon, merchant of Port Royal, 1743-1796. Biddle papers (Bank of the U. S.), deposited. DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA: Papers of William Thornton; George Watterson. EUROPEAN ARCHIVES: Stevens Index, 1763-1783; upward of 200,000 folios of transcripts of documents relating to American Colonial history. Mercy-Argenteau family papers, fifteenth to nineteenth century. STATE PAPERS: Continental Congress; House of Representatives. COLONIAL DOCUMENTARY HISTORY: Records of Virginia Company; Spanish papers of New Mexico and Florida; Philippine and Guam documents. SCIENTIFIC: Maury papers, Gibbes papers. MEXICAN HISTORY: Yturbide papers; Inquisition papers, 1759. LITERARY: Louise Chandler Moulton collection of letters.

Maps—The Kohl collection; manuscript maps of Lord Howe (and many other manuscript maps); the Lowery collection of maps of Spanish possessions now within the limits of the United States.

Printed Books—The Weber library (Sanskrit literature, 3,018 volumes, 1,002 pamphlets); Hattala (Slavic, about 1,500 volumes); Yudin (Russian, 80,000 volumes); Chinese and Japanese literature, 45,000 volumes; the Huitfeldt-Kaas (Scandinavian, 5,000 volumes); the John Boyd Thacher collection of Incunabula (deposited); the Deinard collections of Hebraica, comprising upward of 14,000 titles, were given to the library by Mr. Jacob H. Schiff in 1912 and 1914.

In 1897 the main collection was removed from the Capitol to the building erected for it under the Acts of Congress approved April 15, 1886; October 2, 1888, and March 2, 1889, at a cost of $6,347,000 (limit by law, $6,500,000), exclusive of the land, which cost $585,000. The architects who furnished the original designs were John L. Smithmeyer and Paul J. Pelz. By the act of October 2, 1888, before the foundations were laid, Thomas L. Casey, Chief of Engineers of the Army, was placed in charge of the construction of the building, and the architectural details were worked out by Paul J. Pelz and Edward P. Casey. Upon the death of Gen. Casey, in March, 1896, the entire charge of the construction devolved upon Bernard R. Green, Gen. Casey's assistant, and under his superintendence the building was completed in February, 1897, opened to the public November, 1897. The building occupies three and three-quarter acres upon a site ten acres in extent at a distance of 1,270 feet east of the Capitol, and is the largest and most magnificent library building in the world. In the decorations some forty painters and sculptors are represented—all American citizens. The floor space is 326,195 square feet, or nearly eight acres. The book stacks including the new stack built over the southeast interior court, contain about 100 miles of shelving, affording space for 3,540,000 octavo volumes and 84,000 volumes of newspapers.

The library is maintained by annual appropriations by Congress for various purposes, including the purchase of books. Total appropriation for 1917, $681,105. For service and contingent expenses, $463,360; purchase of books, $98,000; building and grounds, $119,745.

Library Service—Library proper, 258 employés; copyright, 91; distribution of cards, 42; legislative reference, 22. Total, 413. By virtue of the act of 1897, employés in the library proper are appointed by the Librarian of Congress, "solely with reference to their fitness for their particular duties." Custody and care of the building is under the Superintendent of the Library Building and Grounds, who is also the disbursing officer and appoints the 138 employés of his office.

Entitled by statute to draw books for home use are the following: The President, the Vice-President, Senators, Representatives, and Delegates in Congress (no books may be given out upon the orders of members in favor of those who are not members); Heads of Departments; the Justices, Reporter, and Clerk of the Supreme Court; the Judges and Clerk of the Court of Claims; Judges of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia and Judges of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia; representatives at Washington of foreign Governments; the Solicitor-General and Assistant Attorney-General; the Secretary of the Senate; the Clerk of the House of Representatives; the Solicitor of the Treasury; ex-Presidents of the United States; the Chaplains of the two Houses of Congress; the Secretary and Regents of the Smithsonian Institution; members and Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Chief of Engineers of the Army.

Inter-Library Loans—While not a lending library, but a reference library, primarily and essentially, the Library of Congress maintains an inter-library loan system by which special service is rendered to scholarship by the lending of books to other libraries for the use of investigators engaged in serious research, which it is not within the power or duty of the library in question to supply, and which at the time are not needed in Washington.

Copyright Office—The Copyright Office is a distinct division of the Library of Congress, and is located on the ground floor, south side: open 9 to 4.30. It is under the immediate charge of the Register of Copyrights, who, by the acts of February 19, 1897, and March 4, 1909, is authorized "under the direction and supervision of the Librarian of Congress," to perform all the duties relating to copyrights. Copyright registration was transferred to the Librarian of Congress by the act of July 8, 1870. Of most articles copyrighted two copies, and of some one copy, must be deposited in the Library of Congress to perfect copyright.

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS—Continued.

Hours—The library building is open to the public all days in the year excepting 4th of July and Christmas. The hours are from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. week days, from 2 P. M. to 10 P. M. Sundays and holidays, and 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. on Saturdays from June 15 to September 15.

The Main Reading Room and Periodical Reading Room are open to the public from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. week days, and from 2 P. M. to 10 P. M. Sundays and holidays.

The Librarian's Office is open for the transaction of business from 9 A. M. to 4.30 P. M. week days, and from 2 P. M. to 6 P. M. Sundays and holidays.

The other administrative divisions of the library, including the Copyright Office, are open for the transaction of business from 9 A. M. to 4.30 P. M. all days in the year, excepting legal holidays and Sundays.

Librarians Since the Inception of the Library—1800-1814, the Clerk of the House of Representatives (for the time being); 1815-1829, George Watterston; 1829-1861, John S. Meehan; 1861-1864, John G. Stephenson; 1864-1897 (June 30), Ainsworth R. Spofford; 1897-January 17, 1899, John Russell Young; 1899 (April 5), Herbert Putnam.

General Administration—Librarian of Congress, Herbert Putnam; Chief Assistant Librarian, Appleton P. C. Griffin; Chief Clerk, Allen R. Boyd; Secretary, Jessica L. Farnum.

RO.

Ro is the name of the universal language constructed by Rev. Edward P. Foster of Marietta, Ohio. The first publication—an eight-page outline—of the language was issued in 1906.

Ro uses the method technically known as a priori; that is, it rejects all existing root words, whether of Latin or any other language, and uses as a basis simply the twenty-six letters of the alphabet. These letters it makes absolutely phonetic. No accents or diacritical marks are employed.

For the formation of words, Ro first analyzes ideas into their ultimate elements. Having completed the analysis, it chooses an initial letter or initial syllable to designate one of these primary elements or general concepts. Each added letter subdivides or particularizes so that the completed word represents an individual thought of the general signification denoted by the initial of the word. The initial letter represents, as it were, an army corps, the second letter a division of that corps, the third a brigade, the fourth a regiment, the fifth a company, and the final letter the individual soldier.

For example, Ro takes the initial "a" to denote pronoun; "ab" for pronoun of the first person; "abl" for this pronoun in the nominative case, "I;" "abiz," we; "abe," my; "abez," our; "abo," me; "aboz," us. The initial "e" denotes verb; "eb" infinitive mood: "eba," to be; "ebe," to become; "ebi," to make; "ebni," to unmake; "ebo," to be made (passive voice). The initial "t" denotes time; "ta", definite period of time; "tab," moment, second; "tac," minute; "tad," hour; "tada," morning hour; "tadab," 1 A. M.; "tadib," 1 P. M.; "taf," day; "Tafab," Sunday; "tal," month; "Talab," January; "z" denotes number; "za," unit column; "zab," one; "zac," two; "zad," three; "zaf," four; "zag," five; "zeb," ten; "zec," twenty; "zed," thirty; "zib," one hundred; "zibzedzaf," 134.

This method of word-building is chosen as the scientific method, the only one that is absolutely international, definite or adequate for the twentieth century.

THE PRINCIPAL LANGUAGES OF THE WORLD.

THERE are said to be 3,424 spoken languages or dialects in the world, distributed as follows: America, 1,624; Asia, 937; Europe, 587; Africa, 276.

The English language is spoken by more than 150,000,000 of people.

German by more than	120,000,000 of people.	Spanish by more than	55,000,000 of people.
Russian " " "	90,000,000 " "	Italian " " "	40,000,000 " "
French " " "	60,000,000 " "	Portuguese " " "	30,000,000 " "

The English language contains approximately 600,000 words. Of this total nearly one-half consists of scientific terminology seldom met outside of text-books and of archaic, obsolescent or obsolete terms.

Various estimates of the sources of English words have been made at different times. On the basis of the Lord's Prayer, George Hickes calculated that nine-tenths of our words were of Saxon origin. Sharon Turner's estimate was that the Norman were to the Saxon as 4 to 6. Trench computed 60 per cent. Saxon; 30 per cent. Latin, including those received through French; 5 per cent. Greek, and 5 per cent. other sources. Prof. W. W. Skeat in the recently published fourth edition of his Dictionary, which contains approximately 20,000 words, shows the following sources:

Anglo-Saxon and English	3,681
Low German	126
Dutch	207
Scandinavian	693
French from Low German	54
" " Dutch or Middle Dutch	45

" " Late Latin	828
" " Italian	162
Celtic	170
Latin (direct)	2,880
Provencal, from Latin	25
Italian	99
Spanish	108
Portuguese	21
Greek direct or through Latin, Late Latin, French or other sources	2,493
Slavonic	31
Lithuanian	1
Asiatic: Aryan languages, including Persian and Sanskrit	163
European non-Aryan languages	20
Semitic: Hebrew	99
Arabic	272
Asiatic: Non-Aryan, not Semitic, including Malay, Chinese, Japanese, Tatar, Australian	135
African languages	32
American	102
Hybrid	675
Unknown	12
Total	19,160

As regards the number of words in the principal other languages no estimate of any practical value has been made in recent years, but existing dictionaries show the following facts:

The vocabulary of the New Standard Dictionary of the English Language aggregates approximately 450,000 words.

The German word-book (Kürschner's Universal-Konversations-Lexikon) contains not more than 300,000 words, including personal names.

Grimm's Dictionary of the German Language contains approximately 150,000 words; Littre's Dictionary of the French Language, 210,000 words; Dahl's Dictionary of the Russian Language, 140,000 words; Carlos de Ochoa's Dictionary of the Spanish Language, 120,000 words; Petrocchi's Dictionary of the Italian Language, 140,000 words.

This table was prepared by Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, Managing Editor of the Standard Dictionary.

COPYRIGHT LAW OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE copyright law approved March 4, 1909, which took effect on July 1, 1909, provides that the application for registration of any work "shall specify to which of the following classes the work in which copyright is claimed belongs":

SUBJECT MATTER OF COPYRIGHT.

(a) Books, including composite and cyclopædic works, directories, gazetteers and other compilations; (b) periodicals, including newspapers; (c) lectures, sermons, addresses, prepared for oral delivery; (d) dramatic or dramatico-musical compositions; (e) musical compositions; (f) maps; (g) works of art, models or designs for works of art; (h) reproductions of a work of art; (i) drawings or plastic works of a scientific or technical character; (j) photographs; (k) prints and pictorial illustrations. The amendment of August 24, 1912, adds: (l) motion picture photo-plays; (m) motion pictures other than photo-plays.

The application for registration of any article should distinctly specify to which one of these classes the work belongs. An article is not entitled to registration unless it is reasonably possible to class it under one or the other of the designations named in the statute.

STEPS NECESSARY TO SECURE COPYRIGHT REGISTRATION.

For works reproduced in copies for sale or public distribution: 1. Publish the work with the copyright notice. The notice may be in the form "Copyright, 19.... (year date of publication) by..... (name of copyright proprietor), or in case of works specified above (f) to (k) the notice may consist of the letter C enclosed in a circle (C) accompanied by the initials, monogram, mark or symbol of the proprietor—provided that his name shall appear on some accessible part of the copies." 2. Promptly after publication send to the Copyright Office, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., two copies (or if the work is by a foreign citizen and is first published in a foreign country, one copy only) of the best edition of the work, with an application for registration. In the case of motion picture photo-plays and of motion pictures other than photo-plays a description of the work must be filed, together with copies of the reels, and a money order payable to the Register of Copyrights for the statutory registration fee of $1.

In the case of books by American authors, or permanent residents of the United States, the copies deposited must be accompanied by an affidavit, under the official seal of an officer authorized to administer oaths, stating that the typesetting, printing and binding of the book have been performed within the United States. Affidavit and application forms will be supplied by the Copyright Office on request.

Books of foreign origin in a language or languages other than English are not required to be manufactured in the United States. In the case of a book in the English language published abroad before publication in this country, an ad interim copyright for 30 days from the day of the deposit of the foreign copy may be secured by depositing in the Copyright Office one complete copy of the foreign edition within 30 days after its publication abroad. If two copies of such book manufactured in this country are deposited with application for registration and fee ($1) published during the ad interim term, the copyright shall be extended for the full term of 28 years.

For works not reproduced in copies for sale: Copyright may also be had of certain classes of works (see a, b, c, below) of which copies are not reproduced for sale, by filing in the Copyright Office an application for registration, with the statutory fee of $1, sending therewith: (a) In the case of lectures or other oral addresses or of dramatic or musical compositions, one complete manuscript or typewritten copy of the work. This privilege of registration, however, does not exempt the copyright proprietor from the deposit of printed copies of a dramatic or musical composition or lecture where the work is later reproduced in copies for sale. A new application must be made in such cases and another fee of $1 paid. (b) In the case of photographs not intended for general circulation, one photographic print. (c) In the case of works of art (paintings, drawings, sculpture); or of drawings or plastic works of a scientific or technical character, one photograph or other identifying production of the work. In the case of a motion picture photo-play, a title and description and one print taken from each scene or act. In case of a motion picture other than a photo-play, a title and description with not less than two prints to be taken from different sections of a complete motion picture. In all these cases, if the work is later reproduced in copies for sale, two copies must then be deposited.

COPYRIGHT FEES.

For registration of any work subject to copyright, $1, which sum is to include a certificate of registration under seal. But only one registration at one fee is required in the case of several volumes of the same book deposited in the Copyright Office at the same time. For every additional certificate of registration, or copy of record under seal, 50 cents. In the case of photographs the fee shall be 50 cents where a certificate is not requested. For recording and certifying an assignment of copyright, or for a certified copy of an assignment, $1, if the instrument is not over three hundred words in length; if more than three hundred and less than one thousand words in length, $2; if more than one thousand words in length, $1 additional for each additional one thousand words or fraction thereof over three hundred words. For comparing a copy of an assignment with the record of such document in the Copyright Office and certifying the same under seal, $1. For recording the transfer of the proprietorship of copyright articles, 10 cents for each title of a book or other article, in addition to the fee prescribed for recording the instrument of assignment. For recording an extension or renewal of copyright, 50 cents. Remittances should be made by money order payable to the Register of Copyrights. Forms for application for copyright registration will be furnished on request.

DURATION OF COPYRIGHT.

The original term of copyright runs for twenty-eight years. Within one year prior to the expiration of the original term, the author, if living, or the widow or widower of the author, or the children of the author if he be not living; or if none of these be living then the author's executors, or in the absence of a will, the author's next of kin may secure a renewal for a further term of twenty-eight years, making fifty-six years in all. In case of composite works, if the proprietor secured the original copyrights, he may also secure the renewal.

ASSIGNMENTS.

Copyrights are assignable by any instruments of writing. Every assignment of copyright must be recorded in the Copyright Office within three calendar months after its execution in the United States or within six calendar months after its execution without the limits of the United States. "In default of which it shall be void as against any subsequent purchaser or mortgagee for a valuable consideration, without notice, whose assignment has been duly recorded." Every assignment of copyright executed in a foreign country must be acknowledged by the assignor before a consular officer or secretary of legation of the United States authorized by law to administer oaths or perform notarial acts. The certificate of such acknowledgment under the hand and official seal of such Consular Officer or Secretary of Legation is prima facie evidence of the execution of the instrument.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT RELATIONS.

Copyright is not secured in foreign countries by action in the Copyright Office, but only by complying with the legislation of such countries.

Copyright relations have been established with the following foreign countries by proclamation of the President: Austria, Belgium, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain and the British possessions, Italy, Luxemburg, Mexico, Netherlands and possessions, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tunis.

Copyright treaties have also been entered into with China, Japan and Hungary (the latter in effect on October 16, 1912). The Copyright Convention of Mexico of 1902 has been ratified by the United States and is effective from July 1, 1908, as between the United States and Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador. The Pan-American Copyright Convention signed at Buenos Ayres in 1910 was proclaimed July 13, 1914, and is effective as between the United States and Bolivia, Brazil, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama and Salvador.

CARNEGIE ENDOWMENT FOR INTERNATIONAL PEACE.

ON December 14, 1910, Andrew Carnegie of New York transferred to a Board of Trustees $10,000,000 in 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds, the income of which is to be devoted to "hastening the abolition of international war." The methods by which the annual income can best be expended for this purpose were left to be determined by the trustees. The Board of Trustees consists of the following members:

Elihu Root.
Robert Bacon.
Robert S. Brookings.
Thomas Burke.
Nicholas Murray Butler.
Joseph H. Choate.
Cleveland H. Dodge.
Charles W. Eliot.
R. A. Franks.
Arthur William Foster.
John W. Foster.
Austen G. Fox.
George Gray.
William M. Howard.
Samuel Mather.
Andrew J. Montague.
Henry S. Pritchett.
George W. Perkins.
J. G. Schmidlapp.
James Brown Scott.
James L. Slayden.
Oscar S. Straus.
Charlemagne Tower.
Andrew D. White.
John Sharp Williams.
Robert S. Woodward.
Luke E. Wright.

The officers of the endowment are Hon. Elihu Root, President; Hon. Joseph H. Choate, Vice-President; Dr. James Brown Scott, Secretary, and Hon. Charlemagne Tower, Treasurer. These officers have been annually re-elected. The Executive Committee consists of the President, the Secretary, the Treasurer, and Messrs. Butler, Fox, Montague, and Pritchett. The headquarters of the endowment is at Nos. 2 and 4 Jackson Place, Washington, D. C. The trustees operate under a series of by-laws.

They have divided the work of the endowment into three divisions, viz.: Division of Intercourse and Education, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, Acting Director; Division of Economics and History, Prof. John Bates Clark of Columbia University, Director; and Division of International Law, of which Dr. Scott, the Secretary, is the Director.

The first division has established a European Bureau at 24 Rue Pierre Curie, Paris, of which M. Jules-Jean Prudhommeaux is Secretary-General. A European Advisory Council has also been established, of which Baron d'Estournelles de Constant is the President.

This division has conducted its work of propaganda by co-operation with other existing peace organizations in this country and in other countries; by a series of international visits of representative men to and from this country; and by a series of publications for gratuitous distribution, the most important of which thus far are "Some Roads Toward Peace," by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, containing observations and impressions in China and Japan in 1912; and the report of an international commission appointed to conduct an inquiry into the "Causes and conduct of the two Balkan wars."

The second division, the purposes of which are "to promote a thorough and scientific investigation and study of the causes of war, and of practical methods to prevent and avoid it," works in co-operation with a Committee of Research, consisting of seventeen of the leading economists of Europe, Japan, and the United States, who have blocked out an elaborate schedule of researches to be carried forward by well known students and professors. More than a hundred studies of this character have been arranged for, and several have been published.

The Division of International Law has for its purpose "to aid in the development of international law and a general agreement on the rules thereof, and the acceptance of the same among nations to establish a better understanding of international rights and duties and a more perfect sense of international justice among the inhabitants of civilized countries; to promote a general acceptance of peaceable methods in the settlement of international disputes." This division is now engaged in the preparation of a collection of all known international arbitrations, and a companion work consisting of all known arbitration treaties. It has also in process of preparation the following works: Cases Heard Before the Permanent Court of Arbitration; Treatise in Spanish International Law; Statement of Certain Principles of International Law; Decisions of Chief Justice Marshall Involving Questions of International Law; Decisions of National Courts Involving Principles of International Law; and a number of other works, including publications in French of the following works: Lawrence—The Principles of International Law, Lisat—Lehrbuch des Voelkerrechts. Scott—The Hague Peace Conferences of 1899 and 1907. Triepel—Voelkerrecht und Landesrecht. Westlake—International Law. Kleen—Krigets Lagar. De Louter—Het Stellig Voelkenrecht. The Institute of International Law has accepted its invitation to act as the adviser of the division regarding the conduct and development of its work. The trustees have approved a plan for the maintenance of a Summer or vacation school of international law at The Hague, of which teachers and students of the subject from all countries may take advantage.

The main activities of the endowment are thus arranged on scientific lines, the results of the activities and researches of the latter two divisions to be utilized and popularized as a part of the propaganda of the first division. The plans of the trustees contemplate a world-wide international co-operation in each branch of the endowment's work. While these plans have been seriously interrupted, and may be somewhat modified by the European war, the outbreak of that war enormously emphasizes and illustrates the importance and the necessity of its work.

The annual meeting of the trustees is held at Washington on the second Friday of April, and a special meeting of the board occurs on the second Friday of November in each year.

The offices of the first two divisions are at 407 West One Hundred and Seventeenth Street, New York City. The Division of International Law occupies the headquarters buliding of the endowment in Washington.

The endowment has published to date: five editions of the Year Book, ten publications of the Division of Intercourse and Education, four of the Division of Economics and History, twenty pamphlets and eleven books of the Division of International Law. A list of these publications will be sent on request, addressed to the Secretary, No. 2 Jackson Place, Washington, D. C.

CARNEGIE MUSEUM.

(Department of the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa.)

Founded 1897. W. J. Holland, LL. D., Director. Established on the broadest lines for the promotion of scientific research and the diffusion of knowledge. Collections, valued at more than $1,250,000, especially rich in the fields of zoology, paleontology, ethnology, and industrial art. Publishes Annals, 8vo (10 vols. issued); Memoirs, 4vo (7 vols. issued); Annual Reports, 8vo (20 vols. issued).

CARNEGIE FOUNDATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF TEACHING.

An institution founded by Andrew Carnegie in 1905, and incorporated by the Congress of the United States in 1906. The institution is endowed with $15,000,000 to provide retiring allowances for teachers and officers of colleges, universities, and technical schools in the United States, Canada, and Newfoundland, and with $1,250,000 to provide for educational inquiry and publication. By the tenth annual meeting of the trustees in 1915, 327 allowances were being paid to teachers and 118 pensions to widows of teachers, at an annual cost of $690,668. The amount of the average retiring allowance is $1,552.06, the average age of retirement being about sixty-eight years.

In the administration of its endowment the foundation has restricted its allowances to professors and officers in a list of seventy-three institutions selected for their educational standing, and has published a series of widely influential reports and bulletins concerning educational conditions. President, Dr. Henry S. Pritchett; Secretary, Clyde Furst; 576 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

THE CARNEGIE INSTITUTION OF WASHINGTON.

The Carnegie Institution of Washington was founded by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, January 28, 1902, when he gave to a board of trustees $10,000,000, in registered bonds, yielding 5 per cent. annual interest. In general terms, he stated that his purpose was to "found in the City of Washington an institution which, with the co-operation of institutions now or hereafter established, there or elsewhere, shall in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research and discovery, show the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind, and provide such buildings, laboratories, books, and apparatus as may be needed." Mr. Carnegie added $2,000,000 to his gift in 1907, and $10,000,000 in 1911, making a total endowment of $22,000,000.

By an Act of Congress, approved April 28, 1904, the institution was placed under the control of a board of twenty-four trustees, all of whom had been members of the original board referred to above.

The trustees meet annually, and during the intervals between such meetings the affairs of the institution are conducted by an Executive Committee, chosen by and from the Board of Trustees, acting through the President of the institution as chief executive officer.

The Administration Building is situated on the S. E. corner of Sixteenth and P Streets, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Trustees of the Institution——Chairman—Elihu Root. Vice-Chairman—Charles D. Walcott. Secretary—Cleveland H. Dodge. Robert S. Brookings, Charles P. Fenner, Myron T. Herrick, Charles L. Hutchinson, Henry Cabot Lodge, Andrew J. Montague, William W. Morrow, William Barclay Parsons, Stewart Paton, George W. Pepper, Henry S. Pritchett, Martin A. Ryerson, Theobald Smith, William H. Taft, Henry P. Walcott, William H. Welch, Andrew D. White, Henry White, George W. Wickersham, Robert S. Woodward. One vacancy.

CARNEGIE CORPORATION OF NEW YORK.

Carnegie Corporation of New York, incorporated by an act passed by the New York Legislature June 9, 1911, was organized November 10, 1911. As stated in the charter, it was organized "for the purpose of receiving and maintaining a fund or funds and applying the income thereof to promote the advancement and diffusion of knowledge and understanding among the people of the United States, by aiding technical schools, institutions of higher learning, libraries, scientific research, hero funds, useful publications, and by such other agencies and means as shall from time to time be found appropriate therefor."

Mr. Carnegie transferred to the corporation $25,000,000 and later added $100,000,000 to the original gift. The work carried on by Mr. Carnegie as an individual for many years in founding and aiding educational institutions and in the making of grants to churches for the purchase of organs has been turned over to the corporation.

The trustees are Andrew Carnegie, Elihu Root, Henry S. Pritchett, S. H. Church, Robert S. Woodward, Charles L. Taylor, Robert A. Franks, and James Bertram. The officers are: President—Andrew Carnegie. Vice-Presidents—Elihu Root and Robert A. Franks. Treasurer—Robert A. Franks. Secretary—James Bertram, 576 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

THE CARNEGIE HERO FUND.

In April, 1904, Andrew Carnegie created a fund of $5,000,000 for the benefit of the dependents of those losing their lives in heroic effort to save their fellow men, or for the heroes themselves if injured only. Provision was also made for medals to be given in commemoration of heroic acts.

The endowment known as "The Hero Fund" was placed in the hands of a commission composed of twenty-one persons, residents of Pittsburgh, Pa., of which Charles L. Taylor is President, and F. M. Wilmot, Secretary and Manager of the fund.

In his letter to the Hero Fund Commission Mr. Carnegie outlined the general scheme of the fund thus: "To place those following peaceful vocations, who have been injured in heroic effort to save human life, in somewhat better positions pecuniarily than before, until able to work again. In case of death, the widow and children or other dependents are to be provided for until she remarries, and the children until they reach a self-supporting age. For exceptional children, exceptional grants may be made for exceptional education. Grants of sums of money may also be made to heroes or heroines as the commission thinks advisable—each case to be judged on its merits."

The fund applies only to acts performed within the United States of America, the Dominion of Canada, the Colony of Newfoundland, and the waters thereof, and such acts must have been performed on or after April 15, 1904, and brought to the attention of the commission within three years of the date of the act.

Applications should be made by letter addressed to the manager, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

During the year 1916 the commission has awarded 121 medals—101 bronze and 20 silver. In addition to the medals, pensions amounting to $11,580 annually and also sums aggregating $81,495 were granted for disablement benefits and for the dependents of heroes who lost their lives and for educational and other special purposes. Pensions in force as of December 31, 1916, amount to $87,000 annually.

ACTORS' FUND OF AMERICA.

President—Daniel Frohman. First Vice-President—Joseph R. Grismer. Second Vice-President—F. F. Mackay. Treasurer—William Harris, Jr. Secretary—Gus Hill.

The Actors' Fund was established in 1882 to provide assistance for disabled and needy members of the theatrical profession, and burial for such as leave no means therefor. The Actors' Fund Home, West New Brighton, Staten Island, under the direction of the Actors' Fund of America, was opened May 10, 1902. This is a home for aged and needy actors and actresses. There are 31 honorary members and 542 life members. Office, 1476 Broadway, New York City.

RUSSELL SAGE FOUNDATION.

Russell Sage Foundation was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, April 1, 1907, for the improvement of social and living conditions in the United States of America. The foundation does not attempt to relieve individual or family needs, but aims to eradicate the causes of distress.

Trustees—President—Mrs. Russell Sage. Vice-President—Robert W. de Forest. Treasurer—Cleveland H. Dodge; John H. Finley, John M. Glenn, Mrs. William B. Rice, Miss Louisa Lee Schuyler, Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, and Alfred T. White. General Director—John M. Glenn. Office, 130 E. 22d Street, New York City.

DEPARTMENT OF SURVEYS AND EXHIBITS.

The social or community survey is described as an important means to a better democracy. The survey is shown to serve this end by informing the community upon community matters, and thereby providing a basis for intelligent public opinion. It is a school whose teaching is not confined to children and youth, but which aims to get its facts and message, expressed in the simple terms of household experience, before the whole people. It utilizes as many channels of education as possible.

ESPERANTO, THE INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE.

Esperanto is an artificial language invented by the Russian Dr. L. L. Zamenhof, of Warsaw, Poland. It has only one object in view, namely, to serve as an international auxiliary language; it is not in the least intended to replace the national languages. The first book in the new language was published in 1887.

The Esperanto words are mostly of Latin, but to some extent also of Anglo-German origin, so that at the first glance Esperanto has the familiar appearance of a Roman language.

The great success of Esperanto, which is now known and studied all over the world, is chiefly due to the facility with which it may be mastered. The pronunciation is strictly phonetic, making the study of spelling unnecessary. The grammar does not admit of any exceptions to the rules, and is so logical and simple that it may be learned completely in a few hours by any person who is familiar with the grammar of his mother tongue. The vocabulary consists of about 2,500 root words, a large majority of which is known to any one whose language contains a great number of Latin roots—for instance, English.

In spite of this small number of root words Esperanto has been made rich in words and expressions by the adoption of certain affixes and certain methods of word combination. By these simple and easy means a considerable vocabulary may be obtained. Esperanto is a well-sounding language when spoken.

Esperanto is now used for all civilized purposes by many hundreds of thousands of persons in all civilized countries. It made its appearance in the United States in an organized form in 1905, when the first society for its study was formed in Boston, and this was followed soon afterward by societies in New York and Philadelphia. It is now promoted by a large and flourishing national association, the "Esperanto Association of North America."

Esperanto has a large literature, over a hundred periodicals, including a number in the United States, being published and a large and powerful "Universal Esperanto Association" maintains a regular system of consulates all over the world, to facilitate the transaction of all kinds of legitimate business for its members by means of the common tongue.

International congresses of Esperantists have been held at Boulogne, Geneva, Cambridge, Dresden, Barcelona, Washington, Antwerp, Cracow, Berne and San Francisco. Delegates representing the Esperantists of forty different nations and languages have been in attendance.

The Esperantists of America have established in Boston an office from which may be obtained without charge, any desired information of the movement. Address "Esperanto Office," West Newton (Boston Postal District), Mass.

THE RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS AT OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

Cecil J. Rhodes, statesman and capitalist, who died at Cape Town, South Africa, March 26, 1902, directed in his will, dated July 1, 1899, that a part of his fortune should be applied for the creation of a fund for the support of a certain number of scholarships covering a three years' course at Oxford University. He directed that the selection of the recipients of this gift should be made as follows: From three to nine scholars from each of the British Colonies, two from each State and Territory of the United States, or one hundred in all. Mr. Rhodes desired that in awarding the scholarships account should be taken of different qualities—literary and scholastic attainments, love of outdoor sports, strong, manly qualities such as courage, generosity, kindness, etc., high moral character, and desire to serve in public affairs.

The agencies for final selection vary a good deal. Scholars from Cape Colony are chosen by the individual schools to which the scholarships are especially assigned. In several of the Canadian provinces it has been decided that an appointment shall be made in rotation by the leading universities. In most of the States of the Union, in outlying colonies like Bermuda, Jamaica and Newfoundland, in provinces of Canada, in New Zealand and the States of Australia, the final choice of the scholar is left in the hands of a Committee of Selection. Great care has been taken in the constitution of these committees, as it has been felt that on the wise and impartial exercise of their judgment depends more than upon anything else the full success of the scheme.

The conditions regulating the award of scholarships in the American States provide that the candidates shall have satisfactorily completed the work of at least two years in some college of liberal arts and sciences. The upper age limit must be twenty-four years at the time of entering upon the scholarship at Oxford. To be eligible the candidate must be a citizen of the United States, or the son of a citizen, and must be unmarried. Each student receives an allowance of £300 a year, which is equivalent to $1,500, payable in quarterly instalments, which is just enough to enable a man to pay the expenses of vacations as well as terms. The first instalment is not payable until the student has actually gone into residence at Oxford, so he should go abroad with one or two hundred dollars in his possession.

The full number of scholarships, when all are filled, is, as at present, 189; and this number should be maintained from year to year, vacancies being filled as the men complete their three years' course. The last examination in the United States took place in October, 1915. The next qualifying examinations will be held in all States of the Union in October, 1917.

Hitherto scholars have been elected in all States of the Union in two successive years, while in each recurring third year none was chosen. In the future scholars will be selected each year from 32 States. The 48 States have for this purpose been divided into three groups (A, B and C) of sixteen each.

For the year 1916 scholars will be elected from groups A and B; for 1917 from groups A and C; and for 1918 from B and C, and subsequently in the same rotation year by year.

The qualifying examination, which is in essence the same as that for entrance into Oxford University, consisting of Latin, Greek and Mathematics, will be held in all the States each year.

The division of the States into groups, for the purpose above mentioned, is as follows:

A.	A.	B.	B.	C.	C.
Maine.	Maryland.	California.	Michigan.	Arizona.	North Carolina.
New Hampshire.	New Jersey.	Washington.	Missouri.	Delaware.	North Dakota.
Vermont.	Virginia.	Oregon.	Iowa.	Florida.	Oklahoma.
Massachusetts.	Ohio.	Colorado.	Georgia.	Idaho.	South Carolina.
Connecticut.	Kentucky.	Kansas.	Alabama.	Montana.	Utah.
Pennsylvania.	Illinois.	Minnesota.	Arkansas.	Nevada.	West Virginia.
New York.	Tennessee.	Wisconsin.	Mississippi.	New Mexico.	Wyoming.

The examinations are not competitive, but qualifying. Inquiries as to particulars by intending candidates may be addressed to any college. Information may also be obtained from The Rhodes Trust, Seymour House, Waterloo Place, London S. W., or from F. J. Wylie, Secretary to the Rhodes trustees, 9 South Parks Road, Oxford, England.

There were five annual German Scholarships which were created by a codicil to the will of 1899, scholars for which were appointed by the German Emperor. These scholarships were for three years and had an annual value of £250. They have naturally stopped since the outbreak of hostilities. As they were created by a codicil to the original will of Mr. Rhodes, the English Parliament can divert this fund without affecting the other scholarships.

NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY.

ASTOR, LENOX AND TILDEN FOUNDATIONS.

ESTABLISHED by consolidation of the "Trustees of the Astor Library," the "Trustees of the Lenox Library," and the "Tilden Trust," May 23, 1895, twenty-one trustees being chosen from the Trustees of these corporations; in 1902 the number of Trustees was increased to twenty-five, of which number the Mayor of the City of New York, the Comptroller, and the President of the Board of Aldermen serve ex officio. The agreement of consolidation provided for the establishment and maintenance of a free public library and reading room in the City of New York, with such branches as might be deemed advisable for the continued promotion of the objects and purposes of these several corporations.

The Trustees soon after consolidation in 1895 determined to pursue a liberal policy and to create a great library system that would serve the needs of scholars and of the general reading public as well. An act was passed by the Legislature and approved May 19, 1897, giving the city the necessary authority to issue bonds for the construction of a building on the present site and to contract with the New York Public Library for its occupancy. Carrère & Hastings were appointed architects of the building on December 9, 1897. The corner-stone was laid November 10, 1902, and the building was opened to the public on May 23, 1911.

The building is in the form of a rectangle 390 feet long and 270 feet deep, built around two inner courts, each about 80 feet square; it has a cellar, basement, and three upper floors. The area covered is about 115,000 square feet, the cubic contents 10,380,000 cubic feet. The material is largely Vermont marble (375,000 cubic feet), bonded in brick walls. There are seats for 768 readers in the main reading room and seats in other public rooms bring the total capacity up to 1,760. In the main stack room are 334,530 feet (63.3 miles) of shelving, with capacity for about 2,500,000 volumes. Book stacks in the special reading rooms amount to about 70,000 feet, with capacity for about 500,000 volumes.

The building fronts on Fifth Avenue, looking east. On the basement floor, with entrance from Forty-second Street, are the rooms for circulation of books, for children's reading, for newspapers, a library school and its offices, and public telephones; on this basement floor, with entrance on Fortieth Street, are the shipping rooms and the printing and binding offices. On the first floor are the business offices of the circulation department, the offices of the bursar, exhibition rooms, and reading rooms for current periodicals, technology, patents. On the second floor are the offices of the Director, a lecture room, the ordering and cataloguing rooms, and reading rooms for Jewish literature, Oriental literature, Slavonic literature, science, economics, and sociology, and public documents. On the third floor are the public catalogue room and the main reading room, the latter occupying nearly the whole of the west front of the building, in size about 300 feet long by 80 feet wide, with seats for 768 readers. Along the south side of the third floor are special reading rooms devoted to American history, maps, and engravings. Along the Fifth Avenue front are the art and architecture reading room, the Stuart room, the picture galleries, and the manuscripts division. Along the north front of the third floor are reading rooms for music and for genealogy and local history.

On March 12, 1901, Mr. Andrew Carnegie offered to give $5,200,000 to the city for the construction and equipment of free circulating libraries upon condition that the city should provide the land and agree to maintain the libraries when built. This communication was submitted to the Mayor on March 15, and on April 26 an act was passed authorizing acceptance of the gift by the city upon the terms imposed by Mr. Carnegie. An agreement with the city was executed on July 17, the library acting as agent for Mr. Carnegie, under which forty-two buildings are to be erected in Manhattan, the Bronx, and Richmond (later increased to fifty), on sites to be selected and purchased by the city with the approval of the library, the buildings to be leased to the library and to be under its control. The city agrees to provide adequate yearly maintenance, 10 per cent. of the cost of each building being agreed upon as a minimum.

On November 7, 1901, an agreement was made with three firms of architects in New York to prepare plans and specifications for these branch libraries. On June 6, 1902, an issue of bonds for $250,000 was authorized for purchase of sites. The first Carnegie building, known as the Yorkville branch, was opened December 13, 1902, at 222 East Seventy-ninth Street; the second, providing a new home for the Chatham Square branch, was opened November 2, 1903, at 33 East Broadway. By the end of 1916 thirty-seven branches had been opened under this contract.

There is an Advisory Committee on Circulation consisting of W. W. Appleton, Chairman; Mark Ash, J. H. McMahon, H. W. Taft, Samuel Greenbaum, George W. Smith, Lucius Wilmerding, John Henry Hammond. Director and Head Librarian, Edwin H. Anderson.

CO-OPERATIVE EDUCATIONAL WORK OF THE BUREAU OF NATURALIZATION AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF THE UNITED STATES IN THE EDUCATION OF FOREIGN-BORN RESIDENTS.

THE Naturalization Laws of the United States are administered by the Federal Bureau of Naturalization in Washington City, which, by the act of June 29, 1906, provides for a uniform rule for the naturalization of aliens throughout the United States. Congress has placed with this bureau the administrative control of all matters relating to the naturalization of aliens, under the direction of the Secretary of Labor, of the United States Department of Labor, making the Commissioner of Naturalization, or, in his absence, the Deputy Commissioner of Naturalization, the administrative officer in charge of this Federal administration.

The public schools throughout the United States co-operate with the bureau by opening evening classes to train the uninformed candidate for citizenship in American government. The bureau furnishes them the names and addresses of the foreigners who declare their intention to become citizens, and who petition for naturalization, for the purpose of bringing these prospective citizens into contact at the earliest moment with the Americanizing influences of the public school system. By insuring a comprehension of the true spirit of our institutions on the part of the aliens admitted to citizenship the bureau strives to make their acquisition serve as a strengthening influence on the social, political, moral, and industrial qualities of these institutions.

Through reports from various public schools where classes in citizenship have been maintained for aliens seeking naturalization, the bureau disseminates information regarding these courses throughout the public school system. It thereby acts as a clearing house for information on civic instruction. It is endeavoring, through the public schools of the United States, to stimulate interest throughout the Nation in the preparation for citizenship responsibilities of all candidates for naturalization.

The Bureau of Naturalization has a field service extending throughout the United States composed of Naturalization Examiners. The entire country is divided into eleven districts with a central headquarters for each district, presided over by Chief Naturalization Examiners. Through these officers the Bureau of Naturalization examines all candidates for citizenship as to their attachment to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and their compliance with the requirements of the Naturalization Law. These Naturalization Examiners appear in the courts exercising naturalization jurisdiction, and there represent the United States at the hearing of the petitions for naturalization by the Judges of the courts. These examiners also advise the general public in response to personal inquiries, and aid the public school authorities in their co-operation with the Federal Bureau in Washington in its national educational movement.

The Bureau of Naturalization in Washington furnishes all of the naturalization supplies to the clerks of the naturalization courts. There are nearly 2,500 Federal and State courts that naturalize aliens. The clerks of these courts send to the bureau in Washington, on the first working day of each month, the duplicates of all naturalization papers issued and executed by them during the preceding month. This represents over 40,000 foreigners, including the wives of those who declare their intention, or take out their first papers, and those who petition for naturalization, or secure their second papers. In all, the names of something over 500,000 foreigners come before the Bureau of Naturalization each year. Last year 207,935 declared their intention, and 108,009 filed their petitions for naturalization. Of these latter 93,911 were admitted to citizenship. With each of these foreigners who individually took steps to become a citizen of the United States there was on an average of one foreigner who became a citizen by reason of the family ties. The wives and minor children born abroad and living in the United States become citizens in this way. During the last year there were, therefore, upon this basis, 631,888 foreigners who came before the bureau to secure their first and final papers. During the ten years of Federal supervision there have been 1,726,544 who declared their intention, 615,473 who were admitted to citizenship, and 85,996 who were denied admission to citizenship. In the first three years of Federal supervision 9,921 were denied. These denials aroused public interest, and through the intervention of the Naturalization Examiners citizenship classes were organized as early as 1909 in various parts of the country.

The Judges of the naturalization courts agreed to send to these citizenship schools the candidates who were found ineligible through a failure to understand our governmental institutions.

In April, 1914, the plan of securing a nation-wide educational co-operation on the part of the public schools with the Bureau of Naturalization in citizenship preparedness was formulated in that bureau. With the opening of the school year in 1915 the co-operation of the public schools in every important city in the country had been secured by the bureau. This has been extended until the public schools of every State in the Union, representing over 750 cities and towns, have volunteered to co-operate through the organization of evening classes in citizenship to teach the adult foreigner citizenship responsibilities. The bureau has prepared individual cards for aiding the public schools in maintaining their records, and sent the names of 223,111 foreigners—men and women—to the public schools in these places. It also sent personally addressed letters to these men and women, urging the advantages of the public schools, both in securing better jobs and in the establishment of American homes. It also secured information from the public schools engaged in teaching foreigners, showing the various methods pursued by them in this instruction. From this it caused to be prepared and issued a pamphlet entitled "An Outline Course in Citizenship." Thousands of copies of this outline have been distributed for the use of the teachers of the foreign classes, and also in the high and upper graded schools among the native-born American children.

The bureau is now engaged in the preparation of a text-book for the candidate for citizenship in the public schools which is intended for free distribution to those who take out their first papers and enter the public schools.

Through the medium of the public schools and the Bureau of Naturalization, those alien friends who come forward for citizenship are becoming so enlightened that their true Americanization is resultant.

OCCUPATIONS OF COLLEGE GRADUATES.

The United States Bureau of Education in May, 1913, made public statistics showing the occupations of college graduates, from 1642 to 1900, from returns furnished by thirty-seven colleges and universities. Taking three periods a century apart gave these percentages:

NATIONAL MODEL LICENSE LEAGUE.

President—T. M. Gilmore, Louisville, Ky. Vice-President—George G. Brown, Louisville, Ky. Treasurer—J. B. Wathen, Jr., Louisville, Ky. Secretary—G. R. Washburne, Louisville, Ky. Chairman Executive Committee—I. W. Bernheim, Louisville, Ky. Chairman Model Law Committee—A. C. Van Winkle, Louisville, Ky.

The purpose of the organization is to conduct a National educational campaign in favor of legislation intended to take the liquor question out of politics and to put law-breakers out of the liquor business. It advocates limitation of licenses in proportion to population, thus preventing undue competition; mandatory penalties suspending and cancelling licenses of law-breakers; moderate license fees enabling the license holder to make a legitimate profit, and the renewal of a license so long as the holder obeys the law, and so long as the business is not outlawed by vote of the people, thereby relieving the liquor dealer of the domination of politicians.

The league's legislative plan has been adopted as a whole by Indiana and Ohio, and in part by Texas, Arkansas, Michigan, Louisiana, and Connecticut. The league was organized in October, 1907. Its membership includes numerous professional and business men. Office, Commercial Building, Louisville, Ky.

PRINTING AND PUBLISHING.

CENSUS BUREAU'S SUMMARY, ISSUED AUGUST 28, 1916, CONCERNING THE INDUSTRY FOR 1914.

According to the census classification the printing and publishing industry is made up of three branches, comprising: (1) establishments whose chief business is book and job printing, book printing and publishing, or book publishing only; (2) establishments whose sole or chief business is music printing, or music printing and publishing, or music publishing only, and (3) establishments which are engaged in the printing and publishing, or in the publishing only, of newspapers and periodicals, some of the first-named doing job work also.

NEWSPAPERS.

The daily newspaper, according to the census definition, is a publication issued on each of the secular days of the week, Sunday editions being excluded. A morning and an evening paper issued by the same plant are counted as two papers.

A total of 2,580 dailies was reported for 1914, representing a slight decrease as compared with 2,600 in 1909. The aggregate circulation of the dailies in 1914 was 28,436,030, representing an increase of 17.4 per cent. as compared with the 1909 circulation. During the semi-decade a number of publishers of both morning and evening papers suspended publication of one or the other of their editions; in several instances dailies were consolidated; in others the daily, after an experiment, retired into the weekly field whence it came, and other dailies disappeared without transformation.

The number of Sunday papers published in the United States in 1914 was 570, as compared with 520 in 1909; and their combined circulation in the later year, 16,445,820, represented an increase of 23.2 per cent. as compared with the corresponding figure for the earlier year.

The number of weekly newspapers and periodicals reported for 1914, 15,166, shows a slight increase as compared with the corresponding number in 1909, 15,097. The 1914 circulation of such publications was 50,454,738, an increase of 23.6 per cent. as compared with 1909.

There were also reported for 1914 84 tri-weekly newspapers, with an aggregate circulation of 549,495, representing increases of 15.1 per cent. and 63.8 per cent., respectively, as compared with 1909; 583 semi-weekly papers, with a circulation of 2,483,629, representing a decrease of 8.2 per cent. in number, together with an increase of 7.4 per cent. in circulation; 2,820 monthly publications, with a circulation of 79,190,838, the percentages of increase in number and circulation being 13.2 and 25.1, respectively, 500 quarterly publications, with a circulation of 18,852,401, representing increases amounting to 38.5 per cent. and 17.4 per cent., respectively; and 442 other periodicals, with a circulation of 8,946,567, the percentages of increase during the five-year period being 21.4 and 118.5, respectively.

LOCATION OF ESTABLISHMENTS.

Of the 31,612 establishments in the entire industry reported for 1914 4,159 were located in New York; 2,538 in Illinois; 2,352 in Pennsylvania; 1,685 in Ohio; 1,457 in California; 1,293 in Missouri; 1,206 in Massachusetts; 1,182 in Texas; 1,067 in Michigan; 1,058 in Iowa; 965 in Minnesota; 901 in Indiana; 789 in Wisconsin; 763 in Kansas; 689 in Nebraska; 681 in New Jersey; 622 in Washington; 619 in Oklahoma; 466 in Colorado; 438 in Georgia; 426 in Tennessee; 401 in Kentucky; 384 in Virginia; 379 in South Dakota; 363 in Oregon; 351 in North Dakota; 340 in Connecticut; 333 in Maryland; 329 in North Carolina; 3[illegible]3 in Arkansas; 278 in Alabama; 277 in Louisiana; 239 in West Virginia; 238 in Montana; 235 in Florida; 219 in Mississippi; 197 in Maine; 173 in Idaho; 166 in South Carolina; 156 in Utah; 147 in Rhode Island; 141 in the District of Columbia; 133 in New Hampshire; 111 in Vermont; 107 in New Mexico; 81 in Wyoming; 74 in Arizona; 54 in Delaware; and 42 in Nevada.

THE ALFRED B. NOBEL PRIZES.

THE Swedish scientist Alfred B. Nobel, the inventor of dynamite, died in 1896, bequeathing his fortune, estimated at $9,000,000, to the founding of a fund, the interest of which should yearly be distributed to those who had mostly contributed to the benefit of mankind improvement during the year immediately proceeding. The interest is divided in five equal shares, given away, "One to the person who in the domain of physics has made the most important discovery or invention, one to the person who has made the most important chemical discovery or improvement, one to the person who has made the most important discovery in the domain of physiology or medicine, one to the person who in literature has produced the most distinguished work of an idealistic tendency, and one to the person who has promoted most or best the fraternity of nations, and the abolishment or diminution of standing armies, and the formation and increase of peace congresses."

The prizes for physics and chemistry are awarded by the Swedish Academy of Science, that for physiology and medicine by the Caroline Institute (the faculty of medicine in Stockholm), that for literature by the Swedish Academy in Stockholm, and the peace prize is awarded by a committee of five persons elected by the Norwegian Storthing.

In accordance with these statutes the awarders of the prizes (the four above named institutions) elect fifteen delegates for two consecutive years, the Academy of Science electing six and the other prize awarders three each. These delegates elect for two consecutive years four members of the Board of Directors of the Nobel Foundation, which board, exclusively consisting of Swedes, must reside in Stockholm. A fifth member, the President of the board, is nominated by the Government. The Board of Directors has in its care the funds of the institution, and hands yearly over to the awarders of the prizes the amount to be given away. The value of each prize is on an average $40,000. The distribution of the prizes takes place every year on December 10, the anniversary of Mr. Nobel's death. Full information can be obtained from "Nobelstiftelsens Styrelse" (the Board of Directors of the Nobel Foundation), Stockholm, Sweden.

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF ARTS AND LETTERS.

THE first seven members of the American Academy of Arts and Letters were selected by the National Institute of Arts and Letters from its own body in 1904 by ballot. The seven were William Dean Howells, Augustus Saint-Gaudens, Edmund Clarence Stedman, John La Farge, Samuel L. Clemens, John Hay and Edward MacDowell. In order to become eligible to the American Academy one must first be a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, which society was organized at a meeting of the American Social Science Association in 1898. The Academy received a national charter from Congress in April, 1916. The qualification for membership is stated in the Constitution, "It shall be notable achievement in art, music or literature." The number in the institute is limited to 250, and the election is by ballot.

The American Academy of Arts and Letters numbers fifty members, and the officers are William Dean Howells, President; William Milligan Sloane, Chancellor and Treasurer; Robert Underwood Johnson, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City, Permanent Secretary.

The following are the present members of the academy with two vacancies:

William Dean Howells
Henry Adams
Theodore Roosevelt
John Singer Sargent
Daniel Chester French
John Burroughs
James Ford Rhodes
Horatio William Parker
William Milligan Sloane
Robert Underwood Johnson

ART PROGRESS IN THE UNITED STATES.

BY HENRY TYRRELL.

The greatest significance of the recent nation-wide awakening of our art museums and institutes to the work of educational extension lies in their interpretation of the word "Art" in a practical vocational sense. It has come to involve not simply painting, sculpture and architecture but all the allied crafts and industries collectively, in which all the people have part or interest. The artistic wealth of great collections thus goes back into circulation in the business of everyday life, out of which originally it grew. In the new Renaissance, which this movement forecasts, all the arts of design, form and color will be applied arts, as they were in Europe in the magnificently creative Middle Ages. Already, painting is turning from desultory easel pictures to real mural and interior decoration, and sculpture's highest goal is architectural adornment, rather than the restricted or futile independent statue. The principal public museums, notably those of New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo, Minneapolis, Cleveland, Toledo and San Francisco, are putting their main resources into vocational teaching, in direct and ever closer co-operation with the universities and public schools. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, has compiled and published a forty-six-page pamphlet on "Art Education," with a list of 300 different professions, trades and lines of commercial occupation requiring knowledge of drawing, design, modelling or color; also specifying the schools (numbering eighteen in New York City alone and about 200 throughout the United States) where an aggregate of 32,663 artisan-students find specialized instruction in these branches. And this is relatively but a small beginning as compared with actual economic needs, at a time of unprecedented dearth of expert labor in those productive industries into which art, in the broad sense here defined, enters.

American architecture in the last two or three decades has undergone an evolution more remarkable than that in any other country or period. In the commercial "sky-scraper" of Manhattan, as typified by the soaring Renaissance-Gothic adaptation in the Woolworth tower, it has given to the world a new order of building consecrated no less to aesthetic beauty than to practical utility. It is fitting, therefore, that the country's principal architectural art exhibition, that given annually by the New York Architectural League, should occupy itself mainly with the assembling of such drawings, plans, models, photographs, sculptures, mural paintings, interior decorations and schemes for the treatment of landscape settings or accessories as illustrate and encourage the harmonious alliance of all the mutually related building arts. Looking to the same ultimate goal is the current work and enterprise of such societies of national scope as the American Institute of Architects, the Beaux Arts Architects, the American Academy in Rome and the School of Architecture of Columbia University. In November, through the initiative of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Boston Society of Architects, Architectural Club, Landscape Architects and Society of Arts and Crafts held a joint exhibition of their allied arts in the historic Rogers Building, Boylston Street, Boston.

Sculpture's noteworthy advance is marked by the architectural use of statuary on an heroic scale on such important public buildings as the New York Public Library, the Museum of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences and the House wing of the Federal Capitol at Washington, with its recently finished marble pediment, "America Urging Peace," by Paul W. Bartlett; by Christian W. Feigenspan's presentation to the City of Newark, N. J., of J. Massey Rhind's full-size bronze and marble copy of Verrocchio's equestrian statue of Bartolommeo Colleoni, the Venetian original of which ranks as the noblest monument of its kind known to the modern world, and by the unprecedented exhibition of contemporary American sculpture held under the auspices of the National Sculpture Society in the Albright Art Gallery of Buffalo, N. Y. This new sculpture salon showed a selection of 400 objects from the Panama-Pacific Exposition, to which were added an equal number of works solicited especially for the occasion.

Painting in America, as elsewhere, is in a state of chaotic, almost riotous, confusion. One immediate cause of this, undoubtedly, is reaction to the tense feeling and general unrest of the times. But the radical reason is that a replacement of old, outworn and inadequate conventions by a new and vigorous regrowth makes the present period a critical turning point in art's progress. In even a greater degree than sculpture, painting now tends toward the artisan side of its development, which affects at once technique, medium and the general spirit of composition. There is a marked revival of fresco, tempera, sgraffito and decorative panel work in varied styles, indicating the approaching decline of pseudo mural painting on canvas, put in place after the manner of wall paper, and not in any integral sense related to the architectural spaces which it is meant to complete as well as to cover. In aesthetic aim and spiritual vision, painters to-day seem to be broadly divided into academic conservatives on the one hand and lawless reactionaries on the other. The former intrench themselves with the old masters, behind fixed scholastic traditions of the past, and continue to practise painting as a purely objective, imitative art, controlled by the inflexible laws of an exact science. The so-called modernists reject the cumbrous, archaic symbolism of classic and mediaeval art as inadequate and inappropriate to the expression of the eager, restless, scientific spirit and emotional intensity of the twentieth century. Art, they insist, can have no vital force unless it is the direct outgrowth and utterance of its time. Therefore, under various propaganda of "post-impressionism," "cubism," "futurism," "synthesism," "vorticism" and the like, groups of the younger men have experimented boldly, oftentimes rashly, with the technical subtleties of light, color, atmosphere, perspective, pattern, movement, rhythm, mass-form and interrelated spacing, in the hope of achieving some new and more effective kind of pictorial expression than that which merely copies the outward physical aspect of things. The impression which they would convey in their art is abstract, dynamic and mental rather than concrete, static and optical. They have not yet reached their goal, to the extent of producing a recognized masterpiece, though the effects of the new teaching are apparent everywhere, even in the academy exhibitions, the art auction sales and the dealers' galleries.

Commercially, the last season was a prosperous one, as a whole, for art. Circumstances have combined, of late years, to make New York the world's clearing house for pictures and art objects of every description. The last metropolitan season's aggregate auction sales of paintings alone amounted to over $1,000,000, this classification taking in such significant items as the celebrated Blakelock "Moonlight" at $20,000 and George Fuller's "Romany Girl" at $10,000. The record price for an American painting, $30,000, was fetched by "The Gale," one of Winslow Homer's Maine coast scenes, purchased last Spring by the Worcester (Mass.) Museum. At the Spring Academy nineteen paintings, two pieces of sculpture and two miniatures were sold for a total of $27,700—one of the paintings, Horatio Walker's "De Profundis," bringing $10,000. Notwithstanding the overwhelming rivalry of European artists and the unprecedented influx of antique and modern art of all kinds, due to war conditions, American art during the past year has come into its own as never before. That the prosperity is substantial and making for permanency is attested by the fact that the New York art sales are attracting from all sections of the country a new class of buyers, conservative yet independent, equipped with ample means, and at the same time restrained by a discrimination and sound connoisseurship which a decade ago was not general even among the collectors of the "magnate" class. Further evidence of a popular art awakening is seen in the grand scale and equipment of the new museums, notably that of Cleveland, Ohio; the enlarged activities of the older established ones, and the increased amount of space devoted to intelligent and educational art criticism by the press throughout the country.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, while no longer custodian of the Morgan collections in their entirety, has been enriched by the gifts from J. Pierpont Morgan of the great Colonna Raphael, "Virgin and Child Enthroned with Saints," the French Gothic sculpture and the Hoentschel collection of mediaeval ecclesiastical art. In addition to these some of the most famous of the Morgan tapestries remain on view at the museum as loans from their respective present owners, chief among whom is Joseph E. Widener, of Philadelphia, who bought the great Cardinal Mazarin piece, "The Triumph of Christ and the New Dispensation," for $600,000. The department of paintings has installed the seventy-one French, English and American pictures bequeathed by Mrs. Morris K. Jesup, which include eleven representative native works, mostly of the Hudson River school, by Thomas Cole, Asher B. Durand, Frederick E. Church, Kensett, Sanford R. Gifford and J. W. Casilear. The Egyptian department has reconstructed on the main floor of the central museum building the massive tomb of Perneb (3,000 B. C.), given by Edward S. Harkness—a monument so important that a special handbook detailing its history, together with its archaeological and artistic features, has been prepared and issued. The spacious new south wing of the museum, fronting on Fifth Avenue, has been completed, and will open early in the current year with its installation of hitherto inadequately accommodated features of the Metropolitan's vast and rapidly growing collections.

THE COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That a permanent Commission of Fine Arts is hereby created to be composed of seven well-qualified judges of the fine arts, who shall be appointed by the President, and shall serve for a period of four years each, and until their successors are appointed and qualified. The President shall have authority to fill all vacancies. It shall be the duty of such commission to advise upon the location of statues, fountains, and monuments in the public squares, streets, and parks in the District of Columbia, and upon the selection of models for statues, fountains, and monuments erected under the authority of the United States and upon the selection of artists for the execution of the same. It shall be the duty of the officers charged by law to determine such questions in each case to call for such advice. The foregoing provisions of this act shall not apply to the Capitol building of the United States and the building of the Library of Congress. The commission shall also advise generally upon questions of art when required to do so by the President or by any committee of either House of Congress.

Sec. 2. That to meet the expenses made necessary by this act an expenditure of not exceeding ten thousand dollars a year is hereby authorized. Approved, May 17, 1910. This act has been supplemented by a number of executive orders by the President, broadening the scope of the commission's functions.

Headquarters, 1729 New York Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Chairman—Charles Moore, Detroit, Mich. Vice-Chairman—Frederick Law Olmsted, Brookline, Mass.; Thomas Hastings, New York City; Cass Gilbert, New York City; Herbert Adams, New York City; J. Alden Weir, New York City; Charles A. Platt, New York City. Secretary and Executive Officer—Col. Wm. W. Harts, U. S. A.

ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION.

The State of New York granted a charter to the Rockefeller Foundation in 1913. Principal funds $101,324,576.78. The incorporators are John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Frederick T. Gates, Harry Pratt Judson, Simon Flexner, Starr J. Murphy, Jerome D. Greene, Wickliffe Rose, and Charles O. Heydt. The officers are: President—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.* Secretary—Jerome D. Greene. Treasurer—L. G. Myers. Assistant Treasurer—L. M. Dashiell. Comptroller—Robert H. Kirk. Members of the Executive Committee are: John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Jerome D. Greene, Simon Flexner, Starr J. Murphy, Wickliffe Rose. Headquarters, 61 Broadway, New York City. *Will be succeeded about May 1, 1917, by Dr. George E. Vincent.

EDUCATIONAL DRAMATIC LEAGUE.

The Educational Dramatic League was organized in 1913 to give assistance to amateur clubs in churches, settlements, schools, and other organizations and to unrelated groups of young people, in order to bring the work of such clubs to a higher standard of literary and entertainment value, to combine education and self-expression with recreation.

The league is doing this by giving the clubs special advice and aid to meet their individual needs in the selection of good plays, prompt-books, costume-plates, and costumes, and by instructing teachers in the best educational method of producing plays, or supplying clubs with competent directors. For the younger children classes have been formed in story-telling and story-playing.

A reference library of plays and general dramatic literature is at the disposal of members.

The league considers the public performance of a play but the smallest part of the work, and that the study of plays furnishes an interesting means of teaching literature, English, diction, bearing, and the correct management of a production.

The league's object is national, and every dramatic club of any kind, whether in New York or elsewhere, is eligible to become a member. Annual dues, $2 and $5.

President—Mrs. August Belmont. Vice-President—Miss Kate Oglebay. Secretary—Miss Rachel Crothers. Treasurer—Mr. James S. Cushman. Executive Secretary—Miss Marion A. Turner. Headquarters, the Tilden Building, 105 West Fortieth Street, New York City.

ACTORS' EQUITY ASSOCIATION.

The Actors' Equity Association has for its object equitable arrangement of all business matters pertaining to those who follow the art of acting, and especially pertaining to those who are members of the association. It is a voluntary association, formed to advance, promote, and foster the profession of acting and those engaged therein; to protect and secure the rights of actors; to inform them as to their legal rights and remedies; to procure appropriate legislation in matters affecting their profession; to do such things as shall appear advantageous, or refrain from doing such things as shall appear disadvantageous to the profession of acting or to the members of the association.

MUSIC.

BY MAZIE E. CLEMENS.

The general material prosperity which has come to the Nation will, from all indications, contribute to artistic development. In music especially is there continued and growing evidence of improved taste on the part of both producer and patron. The Metropolitan Opera Company began its ninth season on the evening of November 13, to work through a brilliant programme to extend over a season of twenty-three weeks. On the concert stage there was also a brilliant prospectus from the concert managers, while the standard orchestras were just as well advanced in their instrumental music.

In the operatic prospectus three novelties were listed, "Les Pecheurs de Perles," by Bizet, in French; "Iphigenie Auf Tauris," by Gluck, in German, and "The Canterbury Pilgrims," by Reginald de Koven, in English. Mr. de Koven's composition is new and will have its first presentation at the Metropolitan. It is composed to the libretto of Percy Mackaye and is, of course, a modernization of Geoffrey Chaucer's quaint poem.

"Les Pecheurs de Perles" ("The Pearl Fishers") was produced first in 1863, and while perhaps not Bizet's first opera, was the first he composed when he was free of school and material environment. The story of the opera is not a very serious one. It tells of Zurga, the chief of the Cingalese pearl fishers, and his closest friend, Nadir, falling simultaneously in love with an unknown maiden of Kandy. To protect their friendship they flee from her charms. The pearl fishers are under the protection of a veiled virgin, Leila, who, perched upon a high rock, sings while they work. Nadir recognizes in Leila the maid he and Zurga had loved in Kandy. She recognizes him and they sing a love duet, she thus neglecting her duty as the protectress of the fishers. A great storm comes up and the pearl fishers, investigating, find the two lovers together. Zurga, in fury, sentences both to death, but, approaching Leila, he sees on her neck a necklace he had given years before to a child who had saved his life. He thereupon decides to permit the lovers to escape and plans to fire the fishers' village. While the fishers are busy with the fire Zurga sends Nadir and Leila away in a boat, but is caught in this act of treason and falls by the knife of the high priest, while the lovers sail away.

This opera was chosen as the attraction for the opening night of the season. Frieda Hempel singing the part of Leila, Caruso that of Nadir, Giuseppe de Luca that of Zurga and Leon Rothier that of Nourabad. Georgio Polacco conducted. The opera was beautifully presented and sung and was so warmly received by the splendid audience that thronged the great auditorium that it was assured of a regular place in the repertoire.

"Iphigenie Auf Tauris" had its premiere at a matinee on Saturday, November 25. It, too, was brilliantly successful, so much so that there was general wonder why it had not been given before. It had its first presentation in Paris in 1779. Though similar in style to "Orfeo," "Iphigenie Auf Tauris" has more color and a contrast in musical values that relieves it from the occasional monotony of "Orfeo." It is unquestionably an operatic masterpiece, and now that it has been heard it is sure of repetitions. In its premiere the principal parts were sung by Melanie Kurt, Carl Braun, Johannes Sembach and Hermann Weil. Artur Bodanzky conducted with rare skill and judgment of values.

The Gluck opera, as its name indicates, is based on the old mythological tale. Iphigenie, daughter of Agamemnon, was to be sacrificed to appease Diana, angered because Agamemnon had killed the favorite stag of the goddess. At the last moment Diana relented and carried Iphigenie to Tauris, where she was appointed to serve as a priestess. The scene of the opera is laid in Tauris, whither Orestes, brother of Iphigenie, and his friend, Pylades, go to carry off the statue of Diana. They are captured by the Scythians and condemned to death. Iphigenie had previously, in a dream, seen her father being murdered by her mother and herself stabbing Orestes through the heart. She did not recognize her brother when he was brought before her, and she questioned the two Greek strangers for news of her parents. Finally she offered to spare the life of one on condition he would carry a letter to her sister, Electra. The two friends contended as to who should thus be spared, each wishing to remain for the sacrifice while his friend escaped. In the end Iphigenie decided Pylades should carry the letter and Orestes be slain. Just as she is about to plunge the sacrificial knife into him, however, an exclamation he makes causes her to recognize him as her brother and she withholds her hand. The King of Tauris, furious at the bargain which is allowing Pylades to escape, orders both Orestes and Iphigenie put to death, whereupon Pylades stabs the King and terrifies the Scythians by his bravery. Then Diana again intervenes, orders the Scythians to turn over the statue to Orestes, releases Iphigenie from her thraldom and orders her to return to Greece with Orestes and Pylades.

In addition to the novelties and revivals, the season is made up by reproductions of operas which have become popular favorites under the present regime at the Metropolitan Opera House. The annual addition of new operas to the repertoire has now made it perhaps the most comprehensive and complete which is being produced by any company of singers in the world, comprising, as it does, the work of composers of every school and of every form of expression. Another very striking feature of the management's contemporary and future plan is the development of American singers. In the long list of principals now under engagement are the following Americans: Soprani, Anna Case, Vera Curtis, Minnie Egener, Alice Eversman, Geraldine Farrar, Rita Fornia, Mabel Garrison, Odette Le Fontenay, Edith Mason, Alice Nielsen, Marie Rappold and Marie Sundelius; mezzo-soprani and contralti, Mariska Aldrich, Sophie Braslau, Louise Homer, Kathleen Howard, Florence Mulford, Lila Robeson; tenor, Paul Althouse; baritone, Clarence Whitehill; bassi, Arthur Middleton, Basil Ruysdael, Henri Scott.

The immense growth in the general appeal of opera and classic music and of the spread of musical education and understanding is proved by the throngs which seek admission to the "popular price" performances. The first of these for the 1916-17 season was given on the night of Saturday, Nov. 18, with "Aida," when the authorities had to order the discontinuance of the sale of even simple admissions, while scores outside were still clamoring to get in.

The second performance of the season was "Tristan und Isolde," November 16, with Melanie Kurt as Isolde, Urlus as Tristan and Louise Homer as Brangaene.

Strauss's "Der Rosenkavalier" was brilliantly given November 18, sung by the same cast as last year, with the exception of Miss Mason, who, as Sophie, gave a charming impersonation.

The Russian opera, "Prince Igor," was the attraction at the matinee November 19 and "Aida" at the popular price performance in the evening, with Paul Althouse taking Luca Botta's place in singing the principal tenor role.

Claudia Muzio, a new soprano, made a most successful debut at the Metropolitan Opera December 4. Despite the nervousness natural to a first American appearance, She gave such unmistakable evidence of artistic quality as to compel spontaneous applause. She chose the title role in Puccini's "Tosca," a part admirably suited to her strong, lyric soprano voice.

Other novelties and revivals to be produced during the season are Delibes's "Lakme," Donizetti's, "L'Elisir d'Amore," Massenet's "Thais," Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro" and Zandonai's "Francesca da Rimini." There were also performances of "Parsifal" and an afternoon cycle of Wagner's "Der Ring des Nibelungen."

The following is a review of the season 1914-15, continued from the 1916 ALMANAC:

The end of the 1915-16 season found the patrons of the Metropolitan Opera a little inclined to grumble and to feel that the management had not shown as great enterprise as it might have done in the production of new compositions. Only two were produced in the season, "Prince Igor," by the Russian composer Borodine, and "Goyescas," by Granados, considered the best of Spain's modern composers. "Prince Igor" did not entirely please, while "Goyescas" was regarded by most students as being merely a collection of pianoforte compositions. "Prince Igor" served an educational purpose, and the one fact that it gave opportunity for the introduction of the Tartar ballet music justified its production. It was a collection of episodes devoid of dramatic consistency, which seems typical of Russian operatic composition.

As to "Goyescas," its sole interest seemed to lie in its Spanish color and in the fact that it served to introduce the work of its composer and thus give American music lovers an opportunity to estimate the measure of Spanish composition.

During the season there were several "revivals," a term applied by the Metropolitan Opera Company to any work which it has not produced within three or four seasons. These were the noted Saint-Saens's work, "Samson et Dalila;" Flotow's "Marta," Verdi's "Rigoletto," Bellini's "La Sonnambula" and "Der Widerspaenstigen Zaehmung" ("The Taming of the Shrew"), by Goetz. Of these, "Marta," with its smooth and steady flow of melody, was one of the season's most distinct successes, though the lovers of modern music were inclined to shrug their shoulders over it. "Rigoletto" ranked next. "The Taming of the Shrew" ranked last in interest and popularity.

Most of the new principals heard during the season proved disappointing. A striking exception was Giuseppe de Luca, an Italian baritone with a wonderfully sympathetic voice and an art so rare as to rouse enthusiasm. The new German conductor, Artur Bodanzky, attained a considerable measure of success.

Louise Homer was welcomed back to the Metropolitan on March 13 as Amneris in "Aida." She assumed the role of Dalila for the first time in America in the repetition of "Samson et Dalila" and gave a fully capable interpretation of that role.

Vienna—"The Guest of the King," text by Armin Friedmann, based upon Dickens's "Little Dorrit," and music by Heinrich Reinhardt was brought out at the Volksoper in February.

Berlin—At the Karlsruhe Court Opera Weingartner's "Genesius" was heard for the first time in February. "Rahab," the one-act opera of Von Franckenstein, was given at the Frankfort opera. At the Royal Theatre Mozart's "La Finta Giardiniera" was resurrected along with other music of the period (1775) when the work was written.

Dresden—The opera season opened August 13 with a performance of "The Meistersinger," under the direction of Fritz Reiner.

Stuttgart—In September a new opera, "Sandro, the Fool," was given under Max Schilling's direction. The work is in three acts and the libretto is by Hans Hingelmann.

Milan—The one-hundredth birthday of Rossini's "Barber of Seville" was celebrated at the Scala in April.

London—At the Aldwych Theatre in October was heard "Faust," with Miriam Licette as Marguerite, Edith Clegg as Martha, Webster Miller as Faust and Robert Radford as Mephisto. Other works heard were "Tristan and Isolde," with Buckmann and Mullings; "Samson and Delilah," "Magic Flute," Puccini's "La Boheme," with Webster Miller as Rudolph and Bessie Tyas as Mimi; "Madama Butterfly," with Maurice D'Oisley as Pinkerton and "Il Seraglio," with Mignon Nevada, Bessie Tyas, Maurice D'Oisley, Alfred Heathre, Robert Radford and Frederick Austin.

Toronto—The San Carlo Grand Opera Company gave a short season of opera at the Royal Alexandra in October. The operas heard included "Aida," "Marta," "Rigoletto" and "Carmen."

New Orleans—The Boston-Pavlowa Company gave a week of opera in February. Beginning with "L'Amore dei Tre Re," the company gave performances of "Pagliacci," "La Boheme," "Madama Butterfly."

Chicago—Leoncavallo's "Zaza" was given for the first time here on January 17 at the Auditorium by the Chicago Opera Association. It is in four acts and follows the story of the play closely. Mr. Maguenat was Cascar, Carmen Melis was Zaza and Mr. Bassi was Milio. Ferrari conducted. For the first time in America this company brought out Massenet's last opera, "Cleopatre," in which Maria Kousnezoff, the Russian prima donna, made her bow in this country on January 10. This opera relates the story of the first meeting of Cleopatre and Mark Antony and his infatuation for her, his return to Rome, where he marries Octavia, a sister to Caesar, the jealousy of Cleopatre's slave, Spakos, and Antony's return to Cleopatre's garden. The opera ends with the death of the slave, whom Cleopatre kills, and her own self-inflicted death. In the cast were Alfred Maguenat as Mark Antony, Charles Dalmores as Spakos and Marcia Van Dresser as Octavia. The 1916-17 season opened November 13 with "Aida."

Louisville, Ky.—Three performances of opera were given by the Boston National Company at Keith's Theatre, beginning October 17, with Giordano's "Andrea Chenier," with Louisa Villani, Mabel Riegelman, Zenatella, Lazzari and Thomas Chalmers in the cast. The second opera given was "Iris," with Tamaki Muira. In the evening "Faust" was heard, with Riccardo Martin in the title role, Mardones as Mephistopheles, Maggie Teyte as Marguerite and Auguste Bouillie.

St. Louis, Mo.—The Ellis Opera Company gave a season of opera in the Coliseum. "Carmen" and "Trovatore" were among the works performed. The San Carlo Company, under Fortune Gallo, also gave a short season in this city. Their performances included "Trovatore," "La Gioconda," "Carmen," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Pagliacci" and "Lucia."

November 20 the Aborn Grand Opera Company began an indeterminate season at the Park Theatre, New York City, with "The Jewels of the Madonna," which held the stage for the entire ensuing week. Lois Ewell and Edith Helena appeared at alternate performances in the prima donna role of Maliella. "The Jewels of the Madonna" was followed by equally pleasing productions of "Aida," "Madama Butterfly," "Lohengrin" and other operas of established popularity. Other principals in the company are Lillian Eubank, Marie Louise Biggers, Salvatore Giordano, Giuseppe Agostine, Louis d'Angelo, Morton Adkins, Louis Derman, John Goldman, Joseph Interante and Grace Baum. The operas are conducted by Ignacio del Castillo, formerly conductor of the National Grand Opera Company in Mexico City.

CONCERTS.

The Philharmonic Society opened its seventy-fourth season on the evening of October 26 with a splendid programme of music before it for the 1916-17 period. The strong position given the society by the million dollar bequest under the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer has enabled it to reach further and further after the high ideals of its founders and of the many ardent lovers of music who have given their time, effort and money to its development ever since its first concert in 1842.

The season will include twelve subscription concerts on Thursday evenings, sixteen Friday afternoons, four Saturday evenings and twelve Sunday afternoons—all subscription series at Carnegie Hall. The soloists who appeared during the season were Josef Hofmann, Mischa Elman, Frances Alda, Ernest Schelling, Guimar Novaes.

CONCERTS—Continued.

Alma Gluck, Percy Grainger, Theo. Karle, Leo Schulz, Elena Gerhardt, Julia Culp, Maximilian Pilzer, Carl Friedberg, Yolando Mero, Efrem Zimbalist and Margarete Matzenauer.

Ureli Corelli Hill called the meeting of professional musicians, who, on April 2, 1842, brought the society into being. Hill was a violinist and conductor and his movement was inspired by the success achieved at a "Musical Solemnity" given in June, 1839, as a memorial to Daniel Schlessinger, one of the first genuinely qualified musicians to settle in New York. George Loder, one of the founders of the society, conducted the first performance in the United States of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony at a concert of the society May 20, 1846. In the society's first season three concerts were given. For the succeeding sixteen years four regular concerts were given, and for the next ten years there were five per season. From the twenty-sixth until the fifty-sixth season six concerts were given, and in the fifty-sixth season the number was increased to eight. Though there were but three concerts in the first season, there were five conductors. Ureli Corelli Hill, H. C. Timm, Mr. Alpers, Alfred Boucher and George Loder. In the second season Theodore Eisfeld and Max Maretzek came to the society, and in Mr. Eisfeld's second season he was elected sole conductor. Succeeding conductors were Carl Bergmann, H. C. Timm, Dr. Leopold Damrosch, Theodore Thomas, Adolph Neuendorf, Anton Seidl, Emil Paur and Walter Damrosch.

In the sixty-first season there was loss of interest, due to having a different conductor for each concert given. In the sixty-second season the guests were Edouard Colonne, Gustav F. Kogel, Henry J. Wood, Victor Herbert, Felix Weingartner and Richard Strauss. Others who accepted the society's invitations in succeeding years were William Mengelberg, Max Fiedler, Dr. Ernst Kunwald, Karl Panzer and Fritz Steinbach.

After the sixty-fourth season an arrangement was made by which Safonoff became sole conductor for three seasons. Following him came Mahler, who died in 1911. Josef Stransky succeeded that great musician and still wields the baton.

The Pulitzer endowment, bequeathed in 1911, carried the conditions that the society be incorporated, have an annual dues-paying membership of 1,000 and play more of the music of Beethoven, Liszt and Wagner and sell seats at reduced prices to students. By 1913 these conditions had been complied with and the society received $750,000 of its endowment. Among the most brilliant members of the orchestra are Maximilian Pilzer, who succeeded Leopold Kramer at the first desk last year; Leo Schulz, 'cellist; J. J. Kovarik, viola; Xavier Reiter, horn; Fritz Stahlberg, assistant conductor; August Mesnard, bassoon; Albert Chaffarelli, clarinet; A. Friese, tympani; Frederick De Angelis, oboe; Benjamin Klatzkin, trumpet; Anton Fayer, flute.

Mr. Stransky, the conductor, was born in Bohemia and as a youth attracted the interested attention of Dvorak and Smetana. He studied in Leipsic and Vienna and later became director of the Royal Opera at Prague. From Prague he went to the Hamburg Opera, where he conducted for seven years. From Hamburg he came to New York.

Felix Leifels, the present manager of the Philharmonic, has been a member for twenty-five years. His instrument was the double bass. He "disgovered" Stransky and was made manager of the orchestra shortly before the leader came here.

The second concert was given November 3, with Mischa Elman as soloist. On the programme were "Voyevode" overture, violin concerto, Symphony No. 5, Tschaikowsky. At the first Sunday concert, on November 12, an entire Beethoven programme was rendered, with Josef Hofmann as the soloist. He played Beethoven's pianoforte concerto in E flat. The orchestral numbers were the "Eroica" Symphony and the third "Leonore" overture.

Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Society, began his season at Aeolian Hall October 22, with a well balanced programme, which consisted of Symphony in D, Mozart; sinfonia from the cantata "Domenica Quasimodogeniti," and arioso from the cantata "Ich stand mit einem Fuss im Grabe," Bach; Symphony No. 6, "Pastoral," Beethoven. On November 5 Mr. Friedberg was the soloist, rendering the concerto for piano, in C minor, Beethoven.

The Diaghileff Ballet Russe opened its season on the night of October 16 at the Manhattan Opera House, the programme comprising "Les Sylphides," "Sadko," "Le Spectre de la Rose" and "Scheherezade." The company showed few changes from last year, and its work was fully up to the high standard attained in previous seasons. Mmes. Lopokova, Pflanz, Revalles, Sokolova and Wasilewska are still the principal dancers, and among the men the leaders are Messrs. Bolm, Gavrilow, Kremneff, Pianowski and Sverew.

THE DRAMA.

The plays that were mentioned in the 1916 Almanac and that were still running when the book went to press, with the number of their performances, are as follows:

"Eternal Magdalen," 90; "Pair and Warmer," 274; "Rolling Stones," 155; "Hip, Hip, Hooray," 425; "Abe and Mawruss," 192; "Hobson's Choice," 143; "Sadie Love," 80; "Common Clay," 328; "The House of Glass," 262; "Under Fire," 169; "The Chief," 33; "Quinneys," 50; "Princess Pat," 145; "A World of Pleasure," 129; "Alone at Last," 177; "Around the Map," 106.

If the growth of the pictured drama made serious inroads into the material prosperity of theatre owners who clung to the regularly staged production it had some compensation in rousing the managers to a realization that they had gone too far in their disregard of public taste in going to the extremes of crime and of the sordid side of passion in seeking themes for reproduction. The past year was the most brilliant, especially in an artistic sense, in nearly a decade. The improved quality of the plays had its natural effect in bringing back patronage, for this popular form of entertainment will always hold its auditors and its spectators as long as it presents things worth while hearing and seeing. The previous year was something of a financial disaster to the theatrical profession, and at first thought the picture plays were blamed. But common sense came to the rescue and the old school of public entertainers finally realized that if the pictures were to be competed with a higher order of attractions was necessary.

This does not mean that the past year was one of unbroken successes. Managers still made failures in their estimate of what the public desired, but in most cases the reasons for this seemed to be that the plays presented were the best that were available, and they were staged in the hope rather than in the expectation that they would attract audiences of paying proportions. The truth of the matter is, according to many expert students of the New York stage, that the playwrights are unable to turn out sufficient plays of high class to keep the vast number of theatres in the metropolis supplied.

One of the most artistic contributions to the stage's rehabilitation was that of Miss Grace George at the Playhouse. Her principal success was based on the public liking for the wit and odd philosophy of George Bernard Shaw. His two comedies which she produced were "Major Barbara," new to the American stage (87 times), and "Capt. Brassbound's Conversion" (37 times), which had previously been presented here by Miss Ellen Terry. Miss George also produced James Bernard Fagan's newspaper play, "The Earth," (23 times.)

of the season, however, was John Galsworthy's powerful propaganda drama, "Justice," at the Candler April 3. Dealing with prison reform and the failure of conventional justice when applied to first offenders, the play reached New York at the psychological moment and met with instant success. John Barrymore, who had hitherto been identified with light comedy roles, instantly established himself in a distinguished position among actors of more serious roles by his performance of the leading part, that of William Folder, the condemned forger. The fact that Mr. Galsworthy's great play hung fire for six years before its production was a refutation, to that extent, at least, of managers' claims that they had to produce poor or indifferent plays because there were no good ones available. Yet, because London had not become enthusiastic over "Justice" when it was produced there, there was a lapse of six years before it was ventured here. (104 times.)

Mrs. Fiske chose for her return to the stage a play called "Erstwhile Susan" (167 times) at the Gaiety. Though a rather ordinary play, it enjoyed a brilliant success, mainly because of the excellence of Mrs. Fiske's performance. The play was a dramatization of Helen R. Martin's novel "Barnabetta," and told the story of how a self-educated, self-developed Iowa woman brought enlightenment into a community of parsimonious Pennsylvania Dutch.

Augustus Thomas got away from the metaphysical trend which has marked his work in recent years and brought out a new play in the virile vein of his early success. It was a stirring melodrama of American Army life, called "Rio Grande." It was seen at the Empire April 4. (55 times.)

E. H. Sothern began his farewell season with "The Two Virtues," which was very successful for a time. His revivals of "Lord Dundreary" and "David Garrick," however, failed to divert public attention from the splendid new plays. He completed his season with "If I Were King," April 29, at the Shubert. It aroused exceptional interest.

The outstanding feature of the Shakespearian Tercentenary was the transfer of Sir Herbert Tree's Shakesperian festival to New York. His glittering production of "Henry VIII," on March 14 at the New Amsterdam, in which he played Cardinal Wolsey, enjoyed the greatest popular favor through nine weeks. In "The Merchant of Venice," May 8, he sacrificed much of the play's poetry to panorama, but it was almost as cordially received. (20 times.) "The Merry Wives of Windsor," given May 24, completed a most successful season. (10 times.)

Meanwhile the native actors paid their tribute to the memory of the great dramatic poet by productions of high merit. James K. Hackett produced "Macbeth," though his portrayal of the title role did not appeal with great force to the critics. His production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," however, met with great success. An accident prevented Mr. Hackett from carrying out his plan to play Falstaff, and Thomas Wise, called in at the last minute, portrayed the bluff old braggart with exceptional skill.

In striking contrast to these two Shakespearian endeavors was the production of the seldom seen "The Tempest" in the Elizabethan manner. Thus handled, under the archaic conditions for which it was written, it was possible to use the entire text without the use of pictured effects. The contrast proved that the modern picture stage is not adapted to genuinely imaginative productions of Shakespeare's works.

The general tendency toward the offer of a higher grade of attractions which began to govern the theatre managers in the preceding season seemed to hold its impetus when the new season opened in the Fall, or perhaps it would be better to say when it was resumed after a very brief let-up in the Summer. It used to be that the new season opened on Labor Day, apparently by common consent, but the Summer stay-at-homes and visitors have become so numerous in New York that the theatre season is getting closer and closer to being continuous. Comedy was the predominant note of the new offerings. There was very little of the serious drama, and musical comedy was not plentiful. Some of the comedies, notably "Old Lady 31" and "Turn to the Right," mixed pathos with their humor, while others stuck to simple romance and humor. In this latter class, "Capt. Kidd, Jr." and "Arms and the Girl" were pleasing examples.

Of all the plays, perhaps the most whimsical in basic idea was "Old Lady 31," which opened at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre October 30. It tells the story of an old seaman, Capt. Abe, who through reckless speculation comes to want in his old age, and the auction of their effects nets just sufficient to establish his doting wife in an old ladies' home, while he chooses to go to the poor farm. There is a prologue showing the old couple leaving the home that had been theirs since they entered it a bridal couple, and three acts set in and about the home. There are thirty inmates, and when Abe brings Angie to the home and is preparing to bid her goodby, while he trudges on to the poor farm, the old ladies decide not to separate them, but to take in the old man as well as his wife. He is called "Old Lady 31" and is immediately adopted by all the inmates, who coddle and pet him. The youngest of the inmates has been deferring an answer to a persistent suitor, a friend of old Abe's, for twenty-five years, and she makes Abe her confidant in her love affair. The exchange of confidences between this pair rouses the jealousy of the other old women and matters boil for a time, but a real explosion is averted by the announcement that under Abe's urging Blossy has decided to accept her faithful suitor and that they have gone away to get married. Meantime Angie is doing her best to forward a romance between a poor boy who does carpenter work about the home, but who has architectural promise, and the daughter of the richest man in town. Abe, however has always resented his position of dependence and his shame at having brought Angie to such an end, but their troubles are ended when one of Abe's wildcat speculations happens to turn out well and they are back in a position of affluence and return to their home with a programme of having serial visits from all the "girls" in the home, that their lives might be brightened.

This simple and pretty comedy of character was written by Rachel Crothers from a story by Louise Forsslund.

Miss Emma Dunn played the part of Angie with a sweetness and grace that was notable, especially in a young woman taking the part of an old one. The artistry by which she brought out the perfect tact her part called for made an instant appeal to her audiences. She was exceptionally well supported by Reginald Barlow as old Abe, Vivia Ogden, Mrs. Felix Morris, Maud Sinclair, Anna Bates, May Galyer and Edward O'Connor also gave admirable presentations of parts which possessed splendid opportunities for them. (Lee Kugel.)*

Grant Stewart and Robert Baker wrought a splendid comedy in "Arms and the Girl," produced at the Fulton Theatre on September 27. The fact that the title suggests a satire of Shaw's "Arms and the Man" is entirely misleading. "Arms and the Girl" is a delightful little romantic story laid in war-ridden Belgium, told with a simplicity that has a delightful charm. Dramatic values were not sought by the authors and are not plentiful, the story being worked out with a pleasing mixture of heroics, sentiment and humor. Ruth Sherwood, the heroine, has her passport stolen by a Russian spy while she is waiting for her fiance, Jack Martin. Wilfred Ferrens, another young American, has no passport at all and is on the point of being arrested as a spy. Ruth had met the German lieutenant in command of the soldiers who were about to arrest Ferrens and he believed her when she lied and said Ferrens was her fiance. Then came a German general, stocky and pompous, who orders the immediate marriage of Ruth and Ferrens, and the order is obeyed with a reluctance which has to be concealed. Then arrives the real fiance, Jack Martin, who was explained away as their chauffeur. Followed, then a series of amusing complications out of which grew a real romance between the newlyweds, at the same time establishing the unworthiness of the original fiance. Miss Fay Bainter, who played the heroine, is a new actress, who gave a performance uncommonly clever. Cyril Scott played opposite her in his usual genial, plausible manner. Henry Vogel was delightful as the German General and J. Malcolm Dunn was amusing as the Lieutenant. (H. B. Harris.)*

Rida Johnson Young's "Captain Kidd, Jr.," had its premiere at the Cohan and Harris Theatre November 11 and attained immediate favor. It is a rather Cohanesque affair that fairly bubbles with humor. It tells the story of an old Scotchman who keeps a bookstore in New York. His granddaughter is his partner, and a far from silent one. He has a protege whom he rescued, a cold and hungry newsboy, from the street and raised and loved as a son. In a box of books purchased at an auction of a deceased millionaire is a book on buried treasure which includes a map showing where there is a fabulous treasure buried on Cape Cod. The treasure tale is a "plant" by the old millionaire to rouse some ambition in a spineless grandson, the last survivor of the family, but the bookseller's protege finds it and the bookshop is closed up while the three go to Cape Cod to dig. The "lawyer" who helped the old millionaire to lay the "plant" is also made to appear as a seeker of the treasure, as well as the stenographer of the dead millionaire, with whom the grandson is in love. The treasure in the end is found to consist of a letter advising fresh air, hard work and a healthy interest in things in general, but it is not discovered until the old bookseller's granddaughter spends her heritage of $2,000 in buying the worthless farm on which the treasure is buried, and the treasure hunters get back to New York destitute and in a sad frame of mind. Then a company decides to buy the farm to build a railroad and the granddaughter sells it for $25,000, the old man's protege sells a story he has been hawking among the publishers, wins the granddaughter and every one is happy. It is splendidly acted, the work of Edith Taliaferro as the granddaughter, Otto Kruger as the protege and Ernest Stallard as the old bookseller having especially impressed the critics.* (Among the plays that Cohan and Harris have accepted for production in the near future are "Under Pressure," by Sydney Rosenfeld; "The Road to Destiny," by Channing Pollock; "I Love the Ladies," by Emile Nyitray and John Richards and "Speed Up," by Owen Davis.)

An early comer and long stayer was the Belasco production of "Seven Chances," by Roi Cooper Megrue, which opened at the Cohan Theatre August 9 and was moved to the Belasco Theatre October 29. The play, which is somewhat farcical, revolves around the experiences of a poor young man who is suddenly informed he must marry within twenty-four hours in order to inherit his grandfather's millions. The development of the story is left largely to the leading character, capitally played by Frank Craven, but Otto Kruger, who later in the season scored another success in "Captain Kidd, Jr.," gained plenty of praise as the friend who, chiefly by whistling, managed Jimmie, the hero.*

Winchell Smith and John E. Hazzard are the co-authors of "Turn to the Right," a comedy of much novelty and entertainment. It was produced by Mr. Smith and John L. Golden at the Gaiety Theatre August 17. The play deals chiefly with Joe Bascome, who, after serving a prison term, turns to the right under the influence of his mother and carries with him others who find themselves in the midst of gay and grave adventures. The play is unusual in that it utilizes all the details of the "Way Down East" type of melodrama, coupled with all the humor of the typical "crook comedy" of the "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" sort. The cast includes Forest Winant, Edgar Nelson, Ruth Chester, Roy Fairchild, Sam Reed, Louise Rutter, William E. Meehan, Lucy Colton and Alice Hastings.*

September 11 saw George Arliss open his season at the Criterion Theatre in "Paganini," a character story of the great musician. Edward Knoblauch, who wrote it, touched upon little more than the personality of his subject. The action of the piece rests mainly upon an episode in which the sentimental young daughter of an English merchant had entertained the violinist. She followed him to Calais, where she sat, cold and hungry, while he, apparently nourished and warmed by the fires of genius, composed a concerto in her honor. The picture was broken in upon by the girl's angry father and the matter-of-fact young army Captain affianced to the girl. The romance holds the pair enchained until the Captain suddenly seizes Paganini's beloved violin and holding it aloft demands the musician choose between art and the woman. The alacrity with which he drops the maid and rushes to the rescue of the violin opens the girl's eyes and her head finds its natural resting place on the Captain's broad shoulder. Mr. Arliss was admirably supported by Sara Biala, Margery Maude, Mrs. Arliss and Charles Harbury. (48 times.)

Otis Skinner appeared at the Lyceum September 18 in a new Booth Tarkington play called "Mister Antonio." It was not a dramatization of any of Tarkington's books, but a play written especially for Mr. Skinner. Mr. Skinner's support were Joseph Brennan, Eleanor Woodruff, Robert Harrison, John McCabe, Walter F. Scott, Louise Sydmeth, Frances Landy, Patterson McNutt and Ernest A. Elton. (48 times.)

Pollyanna, "the glad girl" of Eleanor H. Porter's very pretty stories, was made into a play by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, which made its appearance at the Hudson Theatre September 18. It toured the West before it was put on in New York, so its producers, Klaw & Erlanger and George C. Tyler, were not worried much about its fate. That their judgment was good was proved by the success the play at once attained. Patricia Collinge gives a pretty touch to the name part. Effie Shannon's beauty adds a material share to the pleasingness of her portrayal of the part of Miss Polly Harrington. Philip Merivale, as John Pendleton, Esq., and Jessie Busley also add to the spirit of gladness the play is supposed to and does radiate.*

Margaret Anglin opened the Empire's regular season on September 20 in "Caroline," an English comedy by William Somerset Maugham. The play revolved around the experiences of a man and woman who have waited ten years for each other. Suddenly the barrier, in the shape of the woman's impossible husband, is effaced by death, and then, very much to their surprise, they find that they do not wish to marry. Miss Anglin's appearance in this comedy marked her return to the Frohman forces and her first appearance at the Empire since the stock company days. (46 times.)

"Upstairs and Down," the work of Frederic and Fanny Hatton, was produced at the Cort Theatre September 25. It was intended to reflect that the same vices which prevail in the drawing room are as common among the servants in the lower regions of the house. The critics seemed to think the picture was rather overdrawn and was unpleasant, though the dialogue was admittedly clever. Courtney Foster, Christine Norman, Mary Servoss, Arthur Elliott and Iola St. Leon gave clever performances.*

Beginning October 2, Taylor Holmes appeared in the name part of "His Majesty Bunker Bean," a dramatization by Lee Wilson Dodd of Harry Leon Wilson's stories of that title, at the Astor Theatre. The general theme is that a man can develop into anything he can make himself believe he is. Bunker Bean is a spineless stenographer, who is convinced by a psychic faker he is the reincarnation of a good and powerful Egyptian King. Acting in this faith, the stenographer acquires boldness in the business world, achieves wealth and marries the girl of his desire. In the supporting cast are Florence Shirley, Charles Abbe, Robert Kelly, Lillian Lawrence, Jack Devereaux, Marion Kerby and Clara Louise Moore. (Joseph Brooks—74 times.)

Winthrop Ames produced "Hush," an English comedy by Miss Violet Pearn, the novelist, at the Little Theatre October 3. It deals with a young woman of advanced ideas, who writes a play which she hopes will shock London. Her fiance, stolid and stodgy, takes his parents to see his sweetheart's play and the humor is developed from the resulting contrasts. Miss Cathleen Nesbitt impersonated the heroine, and the cast also included Miss Estelle Winwood and Cecil Yapp. (37 times.)

October 4 William Hodge appeared in a four-act comedy depicting contemporary life called "Fixing Sister," at Maxine Elliott's Theatre. The play was by "Lawrence Whitman," which is Mr. Hodge's pen name. Mr. Hodge took the part of a Kansas City business man who rushes to New York to save his sister from the toils of two foreign adventurers. Yankee shrewdness winning in the end. Miss Miriam Collins had the leading feminine role.*

John Drew appeared at the Criterion Theatre October 26 in "Major Pendennis," a dramatization by Langdon Mitchell of Thackeray's novel "Pendennis." As impersonated by Mr. Drew, the Major was a somewhat more worthy character than might be inferred from a reading of the book. Most of Thackeray's books lack dramatic quality and the play is chiefly delightful for its sketches of character. Excellent support was given the star by Jane Houston, Lester Lonergan, Brandon Tynan, Alison Skipworth, Edith Shayne and Helen Mencken.*

"The Basker," chosen by Cyril Maude for his New York reappearance, was put on at the Empire October 30. It is an essentially English comedy by Clifford Mills, which had little in it to appeal to American sentiment. The Basker is an idler of forty, who dawdles through life, following the line of least resistance and who is reluctantly compelled, through the working of mortality, to become a Duke. In the end he awakes to his responsibilities, becomes vigorous, takes an impending bride in a loveless marriage from the cad she is to wed and leads her to a loving marriage with himself. In the play Mr. Maude succeeded in being amiable, which is about all the part permits. Maud Milton acted the part of the old Duchess with dignity and humor, and Marguerite Leslie, Muriel Martin Harvey, Hassard Short and Edgar Norton handled their parts of the production with ability and smoothness. (42 times.)

Ruth Chatterton opened at the Cohan Theatre October 31 in "Come Out of the Kitchen," a comedy built on Alice Duer Miller's novel of the same title. Miss Chatterton has the role of a Southern girl whose family has been impoverished by the war and is forced to rent the home to a rich Northerner. The newcomer stipulates that a corps of white servants shall be furnished and out of this arrangement a love story develops. With Miss Chatterton were Bruce McRae, Marguerite St. John, Alice Lindahl, Mrs. Charles G. Craig, Barbara Milton, Francis Goodrich, William Boyd, Charles Trowbridge, William W. Sams, Walter Connolly and Robert Ames.*

George Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married" had its first production in this country at the Booth Theatre November 6, with William Faversham in the leading role. The play deals, with all of Shaw's whimsical wit and humor, with phases of the marriage question, the problems that beset young lovers, the perplexing temptations of the married and the issue of divorce. Supporting Mr. Faversham are Henrietta Crosman, Charles Cherry, Hilda Spong, Lumsden Hare, John Harwood, Virginia Fox Brooks, Arleen Hackett, Mrs. Edmund Gurney, George Fitzgerald and Hugh Dillman.*

"The Yellow Jacket," the Chinese comedy by George C. Hazleton and Harry Benrimo, was revived by Mr. and Mrs. Coburn at the Cort Theatre November 9 for a series of ten matinees. The play had a peculiar history in that four years ago it failed to prove profitable when produced at the Fulton Theatre. Since then it has toured the great cities of the world and has everywhere been most enthusiastically received. The ten matinee performances showed that New York had learned to appreciate the odd mixture of Oriental poetry and nonchalant comedy which go to make up the play.*

Sam Sothern, a brother of E. H. Sothern, appeared in a comedy named "Such Is Life" at the Princess Theatre November 25. Harold Owen was the author, and the three acts of the comedy were placed about London. The story tells of an "intellectual" who thinks he thoroughly understands the psychology of woman. A situation develops which causes him to suspect his wife and his closest friend, a hard-headed, practical engineer, but the proof of her innocence is so absolutely conclusive the "Intellectual" is compelled to admit he doesn't even understand his own wife. Mr. Sothern took the part of the engineer, Ferdinand Gottschalk and Cathleen Nesbitt taking the other two leading parts.

Laurette Taylor made her reappearance in New York after an absence of more than two years when she opened in "The Harp of Life," a comedy by her husband, J. Hartley Manners, at the Globe Theatre, November 27. It was with the announced determination of showing her versatility that Miss Taylor chose a play so different from "Peg o' My Heart," in which she made her greatest success. Her new role is that of a middle aged woman, the mother of a headstrong youth who falls in love with and seeks to marry a notorious woman. The efforts of the mother to prevent the marriage form the development of the play. Others in the company are Gail Kane, Philip Merivale, Frank Kemble Cooper, Lynn Fontanne, Ffolliot Paget and Dion Titheradge.*

"Mile-a-Minute Kendall" is the title of a three-act comedy by Owen Davis which was produced at the Lyceum Theatre November 28. The play deals with the culmination of the career of a reckless young man in an unattractive love affair and his ultimate redemption. In the producing company are Tom Powers, Joseph Kilgour, Adele Blood, Edith Lyle, William Sampson, Helen Lowell, Burr McIntosh, John Flood and others.*

There were several successful farces produced. William Collier brought out a new farce called "Nothing but the Truth" at the Longacre Theatre September 14, which seemed destined for a long run. James Montgomery is the author of the piece, which follows traditional lines along the story of a man who wagered with his partners that he could tell the unvarnished truth for twenty-four hours. The stake he put up was $10,000 his sweetheart had intrusted to him for investment. She had collected it for charitable purposes. By sticking to the truth for the allotted time the hero almost bankrupted his firm, got every one around him as well as himself in hot water and came close to wrecking his romance. Others in the company were Rapley Holmes, Arnold Lucy, Ned A. Sparks, Miss Margaret Brainard, Miss Ione Bright, Miss Vivian Wessell and Morgan Coman.*

"Good Gracious Annabelle," a new play by Clare Kummer, was produced at the Republic Theatre October 31. It tells the adventures of Annabelle looking for her lost bank account and her husband. Lola Fisher, May Vokes, Edwin Nicander, Walter Hampden, Helen Lee, Ruth Harding and others are in the cast.*

"Our Little Wife," which opened at the Harris Theatre November 19, is a typical Avery Hopwood farce. The author indulges his usual propensity to follow the school of the French farceurs, and while keeping his dialogue and situations within bounds, delights to skate on "thin ice" in the matter of the proprieties. The story tells of a feminine Lothario, "Dodo" Warren. With a devoted husband, she cannot resist her inclinations to amuse herself with a young poet, a doctor who visits her daily, a reluctant bachelor friend of her husband's and finally with the lawyer her husband employs in his divorce proceedings. Margaret Illington failed to please the critics in the title role, which is so different in character from those parts in which she attained fame that there was some wonder she would consent to assume the part of an airy, flirty young matron. Robert Fischer, as a waiter in the play, scored a great success. Others in the excellent cast are Lowell Sherman, Walter Jones, Gwendolyn Piers, Effingham Pinto, Charles Hampden, Rae Selwyn, Thomas P. O'Malley and Lyle Clement.*

The detective story still holds its thrall for playwright and public and Bayard Veiller's "The 13th Chair," a melodrama of this type, scored a success from its production at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre November 20. Naturally and unavoidably, the play turns upon a mysterious murder committed some few weeks before the opening scene, and the remainder of the play is devoted to unravelling the mystery which is built up in a thrilling first act. While the guilty party seems rather obvious to the auditor throughout the action and the detective's avoidance of suspecting this one man seems rather pointed, the play holds its interest keenly throughout. The play is splendidly produced. The commanding figure is Margaret Wycherly as Rosalie La Grange, an old Irish medium. Katherine La Salle as the younger heroine, Calvin Thomas, Eva Condon and George Graham, among the large cast necessary to the action of the play, earned the favor of the public by the manner in which they handled their roles. (H. B. Harris.)*

A notable event of the theatrical year was David Warfield's revival of "The Music Master" after nine years rambling in other fields. It was put on at the Knickerbocker Theatre October 10 with every indication that it would get the same unending grip on the emotions it did at the time of its original production.*

Sarah Bernhardt was able to give New York but three weeks of her American season, opening at the Empire Theatre on the night of December 4. In her repertoire were several plays new to New York and others in which she had been seen here before. Those in which she appeared were as follows: "Cleopatre," "L'Holocauste," "Le Paix Chez Soi" ("Peace at Homes"), "Du Theatre au Champ d'Honneur" ("From the Theatre to the Field of Honor"), "Cendres d'Opium" ("Ashes of Opium"), "Jeanne d'Arc," "La Chance du Mari" ("The Husband's Luck"), "Le Vitrail," "Hecube," "Rosalie," "Le Faux Modele" ("The Sham Model"), Portia and Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," at alternate performances; "Camille," "L'Toile dans le Nuit" ("The Star in the Night"), "English as It Is Spoken," "Une d'Elles," "L'Aiglon" and "Adrienne Lecouvreur."

"The Master," in which Arnold Daly made his reappearance in New York at the Fulton Theatre December 5, will appeal with greatest force to those who prefer that the sex problems it presents should be demonstrated on their neighbors rather than upon themselves. This ironic drama is the work of Hermann Bahr, best known as the author of "The Concert." When presented several years ago at the Irving Place Theatre, "The Master" made no concessions to what is probably the American point of view, but has been considerably modified by its adapter, Benjamin F. Glazer. Most notable in Mr. Daly's support were Edward Abeles, Edyth Latimer and Ramsay Thompson.*

"Margery Daw," produced at the Princess December 5, with Kathlene MacDonell in the title role, is a frank and serious consideration of the marriage question. Margery comes from a convent to the house of her guardian, who, jilted by her mother, becomes a recluse. He falls in love with her, but she discovers facts about her mother's early life, including the fact that she herself was born outside of the conventions. In the following revulsion she accepts her guardian's proposal of marriage, but the play works out to a happy ending. Frederick Perry, Forrest Robinson, Louise McIntosh, Sarah McVicker, George Probert, Maude Eburne and Jacques Martin shared in the triumph of the star. The play was written by George D. Parker.*

"Treasure Island" reflected great credit on Charles Hopkins, who chose it again for his season's offering at the Punch and Judy Theatre. Jules Eckert Goodman made the thrilling story into a play and succeeded in preserving its atmosphere of adventure and courage.*

Charles Dillingham's second season at the Hippodrome is marked by as brilliant a succession of incidents and pictures as his first. The ice ballet of last year is retained and there are elephants that play ball, Pavlowa to dance, stirring army and navy pictures, flying pianos, a dancing skeleton, an immense minstrel show and a great deal of new music, to say nothing of the Six Musical Browns, with their saxophones.*

MUSICAL PIECES.

In musical comedy the season was an average one. There was much that was sprightly and amusing and much music, that was pleasing and catchy, but the average was not high. "The Blue Paradise" held the stage at the Casino through the season. "The Princess Pat," score by Victor Herbert and book by Henry Blossom, found popularity. Rudolph Friml's enticing score brought prosperity to "Katinka."

Among the most successful works given during the present season was "Miss Springtime," a pretty Hungarian operetta, by Emmerich Kalman, adapted by Guy Bolton. It had its American premiere at the New Amsterdam Theatre September 25 and introduced to New York a new actress and singer in Miss Sari Petrass, who has a high place on the stage of Budapest. The piece scored a success. Its pretty lyrics, supplied by P. G. Wodehouse and Herbert Reynolds, fitted the Kalman score smoothly and fluently. Miss Petrass had not been long upon the stage before her audience understood why she had gained such favor at home. She is graceful and displayed undoubted artistic quality. She sings with a voice very pure as to tone and admirably adaptable. George MacFarlane, John E. Hazzard, Jed Prouty and Miss Georgie O'Ramey contribute much to the general success of the production.* Lina Abarbanell received a joyful welcome when she returned to Broadway with a new operetta of composite origin called "Flora Bella," which opened at the Casino September 12. Felix Doermann wrote the book, Cosmo Hamilton adapted it and Dorothy Donnelly helped him. The music is by Charles Cuvilier and Milton Schwarzwald. The result combines the charm of "The Merry Widow," with the spirit of a cabaret show. The leading role was sung in delightful fashion by Miss Abarbanell. Lawrence Grossmith was always amusing and Charles Purcell and Adolph Link did their allotted portions in a most satisfactory manner. "Broadway and Buttermilk," a comedy with many song numbers, was chosen by Frances Ring for her 1916-17 season and opened at the Maxine Elliott. (23 times.) The Thirty-ninth Street Theatre saw the production of "Yvette," August 10, with Chapine. The scenes were laid at Trouville. The book was written by Benjamin Thorne Gilbert and the music and lyrics by Frederick Herenden.

Anna Held was away from the Broadway stage for a long time, but she found her way back in a three-act musical comedy called "Follow Me," produced at the Casino November 29. Felix Doermann and Leo Ascher were responsible for it in its original Viennese form and the adaptation was made by Sigmond Romberg, Mr. Ascher and R. B. Smith. Miss Held takes the part of a much courted Parisian actress, who leads on one of her most ardent admirers until she learns that as a result his young wife is miserable. Then she proceeds to teach him a lesson. Included in her support are Henry Lewis, Florence Moore, Harry Tighe, Letty Yorke and William P. Carleton and a very large chorus.

Another operetta built on a Viennese base was "Her Soldier Boy," which opened at the Astor Theatre December 6. Victor Leon, librettist of "The Merry Widow," was the author of the original book, which was made over by Rida Johnson Young. The score is by Emmerich Kalman, who had already achieved fame here with "Sari" and "Miss Springtime." Clifton Crawford was at the head of the cast. Among the other principals were John Charles Thomas, Adele Rowland, Beth Lydy, Louise Galloway, Mildred Richardson, Cyril Chadwick, Harold Vizard and George Schiller. An adventurous young American caught in the toils of the European war, a winsome Belgian maid and a gallant French officer furnish most of the action of the piece. (Shubert.)*

Dillingham and Ziegfeld opened the Century Theatre November 6 with a big show called "The Century Girl," which was a hodge-podge of musical comedy, farce, dancing and vaudeville. Among the notables who helped to make the show were Elsie Janis, Hazel Dawn, Sam Bernard, Leon Errol, Frank Tinney, Maurice and Walton, Doyle and Dixon, Harry Kelly and Van and Schenck.*

MOTION PICTURES IN 1916.

The close of the year 1916 finds the motion picture an accepted factor in educational work and an entertainment that no longer makes its appeal only to certain classes. The premier performance of an important motion picture is now ranked with the "first night" of a drama on the stage. Likewise in its appeal to the more popular taste the motion picture has reached far beyond the dreams of even a few years ago.

The year of a Presidential election has seen the motion picture called upon for new uses, "President Wilson and His Cabinet," a three-reel production, was one of the most popular subjects used by the Democrats in the furtherance of their campaign, while the Republicans found one of their most useful means of reaching the electorate in "A Re-United Party," a two-reel production. Motion pictures were called into play in State and local campaigns also, notably in New York, where Gov. Whitman had earned the favor of the picture interests by vetoing a bill providing State censorship.

Most important among the screen productions of the year was "Intolerance," by D. W. Grittith, whose "Birth of a Nation" had earned premier honors in 1915. "Intolerance" is an innovation in that it departs from all past dramatic methods and carries four distinct stories along simultaneously. The theme indicated by the title is driven home by means of stories laid in the Byzantine era, the time of Christ, France in the days of the Huguenots and the present in the United States. In elaborateness and effectiveness of massive spectacle and in expenditures "Intolerance" set new marks of achievement.

"Civilization," inspired by the war in Europe and aiming to drive home the horrors of strife, was another of the big spectacles of the year, being produced by Thomas H. Ince. Picture manufacturers also made their contribution to the Shakespeare centennial. Sir Herbert Tree's appearance in "Macbeth" for Triangle being one of the evidences of the heights of prestige reached by the screen. E. H. Sothern is another star of the first rank to make his screen debut in 1916 "The Chattel" being his initial subject for Vitagraph in a series of three to mark his permanent retirement to private life. Nazimova, and Rose Melville, the famous "Sis Hopkins," are among the other recruits from the galaxy of stage stars, the latter coming from her retirement to appear in a special series of comedies for the Kalem Company. Geraldine Farrar devoted practically all of her time during the last half of the year to a spectacular production of "Joan of Arc," to be shown early in 1917. In the closing months of the year Mary Garden and George M. Cohan announced that they would soon appear on the screen.

But the development of the year that has been considered most important by picture men was the steadily increasing desire among a large class of patrons for a return to the varied programme of short subjects. The swing in sentiment, which will work in the cases of both long and short pictures toward a survival of the fittest in the matter of quality, has been given impetus by the fact that many of the short pictures now meet the long pictures on their own ground, i. e., in prominence of star, author and costliness of production.

For example, the Kalem Company, which has been a consistent advocate of the short picture, started the year with "The Social Pirates," a two-reel series by George Bronson Howard. This was followed by "The Girl From Frisco" and "Grant, Police Reporter," two series of short pictures by Robert Welles Ritchie. Then, for the closing event of 1916, the company induced E. W. Hornung, author of "Raffles," to write a series of stories specially for the screen by bringing to life once more his famous character "Stingaree" in a series of two-reel adventures. This company has produced series of stories by prominent authors carrying a central character through different adventures, each picture being a complete story.

The formation of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, representing manufacturers, distributers and exhibitors, has been another important step of the year 1916. It has found its most important field thus far in educational work, making clear the evils of official censorship.

The most significant event of the year from the standpoint of the motion picture exhibitor was the opening of the Rialto, the stageless theatre on the site formerly occupied by Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre, at Forty-second Street and Seventh Avenue. The fact that this playhouse was designed without a stage and with no possibility of its being altered for any other purpose than the presentation of motion pictures and music showed that this form of entertainment had come to stay.

The Rialto is owned by a corporation and is under the managing directorship of S. L. Rothapfel, who originated the type of amusement given at this house. It represents an investment of $1,250,000. The corner it occupies is 135 by 100 feet and its seating capacity is 2,000. The lower floor seats 900 people. The others are seated in the loges and the single balcony. This theatre boasts a symphonic orchestra of forty pieces and one of the largest pipe organs ever installed in any theatre. Its singers are drawn from the ranks of grand opera and concert artists. The indirect lighting system, arranged in color cycles, is a step in advance of anything hitherto attempted. By means of an electrical switchboard it is possible for the management to light all parts of the auditorium in whatever soft combination of colors desired. This equipment of colored lights is also used in conjunction with the music, color harmonies being created for their psychological relation to the harmonies of the orchestra.

From the time it was opened, on April 21, 1916, until the latter part of the year, the Rialto used the Triangle programme of releases, with the exception of one week, when Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree was presented in "Macbeth." During the week of Nov. 26 E. H. Sothern was shown in "An Enemy to the King," a Vitagraph feature. Donald C. Thompson's scenes on European battlefields and the British Government's pictures of Admiral Sir John Jellicoe's fleet proved excellent drawing cards when introduced as added features. For the rest of the year such favorites as Douglas Fairbanks, William S. Hart, H. B. Warner, Norma Talmadge, Bessie Barriscale, Frank Keenan, Bessie Love, Roscoe Arbuckle and Mae Marsh kept up the pictorial portion of the programme to a high standard of excellence.

The "serial picture" idea received a strong indorsement when the Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay combination was effected. Billie Burke was featured in a forty-reel picture under the title of "Gloria's Romance." The picture was five months in the making, during which period Miss Burke was under contract at a salary of $4,000 a week. It cost, it is estimated, altogether $500,000 and was made under the personal supervision of Mr. Kleine, who had previously achieved fame by his production of "Quo Vadis?" It was released two reels a week. Other noted actors and actresses under contract to the new combination are Henry Walthall, Max Linder, Mary Charlson, Sydney Ainsworth, Mabelle Trunnelle, Fritzi Brunette and Vivian Reed.

The moving pictures have been used in a new way as a result of the European war, in the production of actual fighting scenes. While they are not half so thrilling and spectacular as the pictured sham battles of previous years, they have had a tremendous grip on the imagination and are expected to be of ultimate use to the various movements organized throughout the world to prevent wars.

MOTION PICTURES IN OTHER LANDS.

Motion picture theatres are well patronized throughout Greece and Italy. In Athens there are four modern establishments, more than half a dozen others charging popular prices and about ten open air theatres. In the provinces of old and new Greece there are about one hundred and twenty-five cinemas, most of them poorly housed. The total business of the country is estimated at about $20,200 feet of films per month. Those most in vogue are from Italian, French, Danish, American, German and occasionally English companies. Because of the war there has been, in general, a decline in the quality of the pictures sent to Greece. Striking exceptions to this, however, have been the various historical works sent out by Italian companies. On the other hand, the war pictures have been of absorbing interest to the public and attract large crowds. Up to the present the American films shown in Greece have not been successful. Many of them were so tinged with local color as to be unintelligible to a Greek audience. The making of motion pictures in Greece is as yet in its infancy; an Athens attempt gave poor results owing to lack of capital and experience.

The Italians are great supporters of motion picture shows and the business is developing rapidly in all parts of the kingdom. This is remarkable because of the high prices which prevail, tickets ranging from 10 cents for third class to 18 cents for first class, with extra prices for expensive films. Since the war began some managers show the daily positions of the various armies by the aid of a map and tiny flags. To this is added a short bulletin of the important events of the day. These pictures attract many people to the motion picture houses. Great attention is paid to the orchestra. In some of the better houses it is the practice to employ twenty musicians, and the music furnished is one of the features of the entertainment. "I Pagliacci" was presented as a motion picture, with the music of the opera as an accompaniment, some time ago and the experiment proved a success, and it is likely that motion plays or other operas under like conditions will be frequent.

In Florence, however, there are few motion picture houses. It is estimated that of the 2,500 theatres devoted to the screen in Italy only 230 are in the Florence consular district. Of the films in use 50 per cent. are Italian, 25 per cent. French and 15 per cent. German. The demand for American films is confined to those illustrating supposedly typical American characteristics and scenes. These are always popular.

The only cinematograph theatre in Teheran, Persia, has a seating capacity of 200, is open every day and is well patronized. French, German and Russian pictures are mostly shown and the most popular pictures are comic, tragic, war and chases with amusing falls.

The motion picture business in China is practically confined to the treaty ports and the large commercial centres. It has developed almost exclusively in the higher priced theatres ranging from 50 to 75 cents a seat. In Shanghai there are six such houses, while Tientsin and Peking have smaller numbers.

The Kobe district in Japan has about sixty motion picture theatres. There are no low price, continuous houses. Ordinarily only one performance of six or eight reels, lasting about three hours, is given each day. The price of admission varies from 5 to 30 cents. Some of the theatres show a complete programme of Japanese films and others foreign films, but the great majority of houses combine the two classes in about equal proportion. Most of the foreign plays there are French, Italian or English dramas or American comedies. A tendency to exhibit the serial adventure films has developed recently.

In Colombia the war has affected the business adversely. Medellin had three theatres for its 60,000 inhabitants, but the high class one has been closed and the other two run combined vaudeville and picture shows three times weekly, for admission fees of from ten to twenty-five cents. American films have not thus far proved a success.

In Costa Rica French and Italian films are used almost exclusively in Port Limon and district, though the people seem to prefer the American pictures when, on rare occasions, they are shown. As a result of this disregard of the public wishes the business is falling off.

In Honduras there is but one picture house in the Tegucigalpa consular district, which is open three or four nights weekly. Old films are shown for admission prices of from 10 to 30 cents; new films of the ordinary run command a fifty cents admission fee, and for big films, like "Les Miserables," the prices are trebled. No attempt has been made to try the continuous show idea. Among the most popular of the American pictures are the Wild West series.

In Leeds it is reported that American films are more popular there than ever. Leeds has more picture houses in proportion to population than any other city in England, the investment amounting to nearly $1,250,000.

Bolivia is the first country to use the film to advertise its resources in the United States. Four such reels have been prepared and shown before many clubs and business men's associations in this country.

Karachi, India, has two modern picture theatres which do a good business with two shows nightly.

In Honolulu the business is so prosperous that the Liberty Theatre has installed a $10,000 pipe organ. The city has several first class houses, the largest seating 1,800. The great tourist traffic helps to make a demand for pictures of the most artistic sort. Negotiations are under way for the foundation of a moving picture colony in Hawaii to take advantage of the wonderful climate and scenery for picture settings.

THE GIRLS NATIONAL HONOR GUARD.

(Incorporated June, 1916.)

Founded and organized by Miss Theodora Booth, for the purpose of creating a spirit of patriotism and duty among the girls of America.

The duties of "The Girls National Honor Guard" shall be to inculcate the spirit of unity and learning to do one thing well, which shall prove of helpfulness and value both in duration of peace as well as times of war. Hence it shall be the duty of each girl of the Honor Guard to maintain the honor of the country, the principles of the Government of the United States and the respect and honor of its flag.

Any girl while having full freedom to express her views respecting any policy, action or conduct on the part of those holding executive office in the United States, shall yet respect the position of the same and accord that position the sustained respect and deference due it.

Any young woman between the ages of fourteen and thirty years with a knowledge of the working of her Government and a recognition of the needs of her country and an appreciation of the sacredness of her obligations, is eligible for admission.

There are three divisions—

First aid to the wounded—Comprising emergency treatment in accidents, sterilizing, bandaging, diet-cooking, etc.

The second division—First aid to families, comprising care of children, plain cooking, sewing, social service, nursing, etc.

The third division—First aid in general utility, comprising riding, swimming, telegraphy, stenography, agriculture, etc.

The Honor Guard is a strictly first aid organization. In all disasters, local or National, the Honor Guard girls will be ready to give practical aid. Co-operation with the Government eliminates confliction. No one in the organization receives a salary. Dues are twenty-five (25) cents a year. There are no creed or social restrictions. There are members of the Guard in almost every State in the Union. Over five thousand girls are enrolled in the organization, each one of whom is earnestly and efficiently preparing to serve her country in at least one definite way.

Forty-five active Governors have indorsed "The Girls National Honor Guard." It has the approval of the leading preparedness organizations and the officials of the country. It is financially supported by benefits given by the members themselves, each local Guard always having a reserve fund. The National advisers of the Honor Guard are as follows:

Edward J. Wheeler, Editor Current Opinion; William Conant Church, Editor Army and Navy Journal; Nathaniel R. Usher, Rear-Admiral U. S. Navy; Ballington Booth, President Volunteers of America; Leonard Wood, Major-General U. S. Army; James E. Clarke, National Secretary Conference Common National Preparedness; Henry L. West, National Secretary National Security League; John F. O'Ryan, Major-General New York National Guard.

The National officers of "The Girls National Honor Guard" are: President, Miss Theodora Booth; Vice-President, Miss Agnes Smith; Treasurer, Miss Reed Askin; Secretary, Miss Dorothy Hoar.

National headquarters, 34 West Twenty-eighth Street, New York City.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE OF CLUBS.

PRESIDENT, Frank S. Clark, Indianapolis, Ind.; Secretary, William C. Liller, Indianapolis, Ind.; Treasurer, C. Arthur Haulenbeck, Jr., Portland, Ore.

The National Democratic League of Clubs is engaging actively in the work of adding to the Democratic vote in the nation. Its labors are purely a party work, aiming simply at the increase of Democratic strength. The league exists as a vote-getting auxiliary of the regular Democratic organizations, and its success depends upon the hearty co-operation of Democrats throughout the country. It is the aim and endeavor of the National Democratic League of Clubs to aid in work of organization and to help the regular organizations to achieve greater success.

The league is a union or federation of Democratic clubs and associations, in all parts of the country. It is now in its seventh year. At the bi-annual meeting held in Washington, D. C., December 3-4, 1912, thirty-three States of the Union were represented. Its management is intrusted to a board of directors composed of some of the foremost men in the party, who take an active interest in its success.

The National Democratic League of Clubs is not organized for the purpose of either advocating or opposing any Democrat before he shall have been chosen by the constituted bodies or of furthering the interests of any man or set of men, before being indorsed by the party, but for the attainment and preservation of unity, the upbuilding of the party, and the promotion of its principles and welfare. Nor is it intended that any club or the League of Clubs shall usurp the functions of the several State, county or district committees, but rather work in harmony and in co-operation with them.

The National Democratic League of Clubs aims:

To make loyal Democrats of young men who are about to cast their first votes.

To explain clearly to the foreign-born voters the practical helpfulness and patriotic purposes of the Democratic party, and to enlist the new-made citizen in its ranks, thus making them good Democrats and therefore better Americans.

To confirm in the wavering an inclination toward Democracy and to make a habit of party fealty.

To preach early and late, day in and day out, the politics of Jefferson and Jackson.

To enlist voters, regardless of previous party affiliations, in the cause of Democracy, by every honorable means.

State Leagues or Federations of Democratic clubs, co-operating with the National League, have been organized in forty of the States and have a membership in excess of 875,000. Affiliated clubs have been organized in every State.

The league has headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., and at Washington, D. C.

EXHIBITION OF MANUFACTURES IN URUGUAY.

(Statement of United States Vice-Consul at Montevideo.)

A PERMANENT exposition will be established in the Museum of Manufactures of the Uruguayan National School of Commerce, according to an announcement furnished by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (a translated copy of which may be had from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, D. C). The ministry requests that the contents of this announcement be made known in the United States in order that manufacturers may have an opportunity to contribute to the exposition.

The exposition will be free to exhibitors and will be an important factor in developing direct business by informing local merchants of the origin of the different articles, with data that will facilitate their purchase. It is hoped that many American manufacturers will take advantage of this opportunity to display samples. Correspondence should be addressed to the Ministerio de Instrucción Pública, Montevideo, and the samples marked "Para el Museo Merciológico de la Escuela Nacional de Comercio." It is requested that manufacturers who send samples, etc., inform this consulate of that fact for its own information.

THE DICKENS FELLOWSHIP.

The Dickens Fellowship is a world-wide league of English-speaking men and women whose purpose is to exemplify the teachings of Charles Dickens and to cultivate and diffuse the spirit which pervades his writings—the spirit of innocent festivity and mirth, of religion without bigotry, of charity without coldness, of universal philanthropy and human kinship. The society began its existence in London in October, 1902. The object and aims of the Fellowship are:

"To knit together in a common bond of friendship lovers of that great master of humor and pathos, Charles Dickens. To spread the love of humanity, which is the keynote of all his work. To take such measures as may be expedient to remedy or ameliorate those existing social evils which would have appealed so strongly to the heart of Charles Dickens, and to help in every possible direction the cause of the poor and the oppressed. To assist in the preservation and purchase of buildings and objects associated with his name and mentioned in his works. To do all such things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects or any of them."

The fellowship is open to all, without restriction as to class, creed or nationality. Headquarters, Whitehall House, 30 Charing Cross, London. Secretary, T. W. Hill. Branches of the fellowship have been formed not only throughout Great Britain but in the United States and Canada, India, Australia, and New Zealand. There are probably 24,000,000 copies of Dickens's works extant. The Life Presidents are the two surviving children of Charles Dickens, namely, Henry F. Dickens, K. C., and Mrs. Kate Perugini.

A branch in New York City at National Arts Club, 119 East 19th Street.

The total number of teachers and scholars in the world, according to this report, was 30,015,037. The table does not include the schools of the Catholic and Non-Evangelical Protestant churches. The next World's Convention will be held in Tokio, Japan. According to Joseph H. Meier, editor of Kenedy's Official Catholic Directory, there are 10,555 Catholic Sunday-Schools attended by 2,817,500 Catholic children in the United States. No official Sunday-School figures are gathered by the Church authorities.

ACADEMIC DRESS.

(From a statement prepared by G. C. Leonard, Albany, N. Y.)

Academic dress, the acknowledged badge of the scholar, is now worn by the majority of universities and colleges in this country.

There are three distinct types of gowns and hoods—the bachelor's, the master s, and the doctor's. The bachelor's gown is most commonly worn and has long pointed sleeves; the master's gown has long closed sleeves with a slit through which the forearm protrudes; the doctor's gown has velvet bars on round open sleeves and velvet facings down the front. Caps worn with such gowns are the regulation mortar boards with black silk tassels. Doctors may wear gold tassels on caps.

The hoods are separate from the gowns, hanging down the back from colored velvet bands across the throat. They indicate the degrees by the size of the hoods and their velvet trimmings and show the institutions granting the degrees by the college colors in distinctive arrangements in the exposed linings of the hoods. The velvet trimmings are two inches wide on the bachelor hoods, three inches wide on masters' hoods, four and a half inches on doctors' hoods. The doctors' hoods are also widened by panels edged with cording of the college colors. The colored velvet trimmings indicate degrees as follows:

White, Arts and Letters; scarlet, Theology; purple, Laws; gold-yellow, Science; brown, Fine Arts; pink, Music; orange, Engineering; olive, Pharmacy; maize, Agriculture; lilac, Dentistry; gray, Veterinary Science; russet, Forestry; lemon, Library Science; light blue, Pedagogy; silver-gray, Oratory; drab, Commerce and Accountancy; sage-green, Physical Education; crimson, Humanics; copper, Economics.

MISSISSIPPI CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION

The State of Mississippi will celebrate her one hundredth anniversary of statehood with an exposition that already has received national and international indorsement. The event will be known as "The Mississippi Centennial Exposition," and it will open on December 10, 1917, and close June 10, 1918. The exposition will be held at Gulfport, Miss., a site comprising 146 acres of land, fronting 2,000 feet on the shores of the Mississippi Sound, having been purchased at a cost of more than $80,000.

The exposition will retain most of the features of like events held in different parts of the United States in years gone by and at the same time include many others which will prove of peculiar interest in the light of more recent agricultural and industrial development. Among the buildings, most of which will be permanent, are the Administration Building, Coliseum, to cost about $60,000 and seat 5,000 people; Manufactures Building, Girls', Boys' and Women's Building, Efficiency Building, Education Building, Automobile Building, Nursery Building, Negro Building, Government Building, Mississippi Building, Arts and Crafts Building, Hospital, Horticultural Building, Natatorium and Music Pavilion. Other features will include a monster lake, lily pond and wading pool for children, palm court, Italian gardens, pergola, dancing pavilion and a giant pier for salt water bathing. The features also will include an athletic field and stadium, where sports of various kinds will be staged, it will be provided with a drill ground, baseball diamond, football gridiron and a quarter mile race track.

The United States Government has arranged to transfer its big exhibit at the San Diego Exposition to Gulfport, where it will be stored until the opening of the exposition here, when additions now contemplated will make it the largest and most comprehensive Government exhibit that has ever been installed at an exposition in this country. The sum of $75,000 was appropriated by Congress to defray the expenses of transfer, installation and maintenance. The exhibit is valued at more than $750,000.

Many foreign countries have applied for exhibit spaces in the exhibit buildings, while different States will either erect their own buildings or have large exhibits. There will also be exhibits by the various counties in Mississippi. The educators of Mississippi have arranged a unique educational exhibit and physicians a medical and surgical exhibit.

The amusement street has been named "Dixie Reef," and it will be similar to "The Midway" and "The Pike" of other expositions.

The exposition site is but a short distance from Beauvoir, the home of Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy, and where he wrote his celebrated book, "The Rise and Fall of the Confederacy."

The Mississippi Centennial Exposition, in addition to being a celebration staged by the State, will be an event to exploit the undeveloped resources of the State of Mississippi and show in concise form the progress made by Mississippi and other Southern States since the war between the States.

There are 18,000 regularly established libraries in the United States, according to statistics compiled by the United States Bureau of Education. Number of volumes is an increase of 20,000,000 since 1908.

Of the 2,849 libraries containing 5,000 volumes or over, 1,844 are classified as "public and society libraries," and 1,005 are school and college libraries. Public and society libraries have an aggregate of over 50,000,000 volumes, with 7,000,000 borrowers' cards in force; 1,446 of these libraries were entirely free to the public.

Libraries reporting from 1,000 to 5,000 volumes numbered 5,453, of which 2,188 were public and society libraries and 3,265 school libraries. These libraries contained 11,689,942 volumes. Another group of still smaller libraries, comprising those that reported from 300 to 1,000 volumes, increased the total by 2,961,007 volumes.

The distribution of library facilities is still uneven; of the 1,844 public and society libraries reported for the entire United States, more than half were in the North Atlantic States, and they contained 24,627,921 volumes out of the total of 50,000,000; and of the 3,000,000 volumes added to library collections for the year 1913 almost one-half were for the same section.

New York State had 7,842,621 volumes in her 214 libraries; Massachusetts, 7,380,024 in 288 libraries; Pennsylvania, 3,728,070, and Illinois, 3,168,765 volumes. Four-fifths of the borrowers' cards in use were in the North Atlantic and Northern Central States.

There are at least five libraries in the world which hold over a million books: The Bibliotheque Nationale of Paris (which claims over 3,000,000), the British Museum, the Imperial Library at Petrograd, the Congressional Library at Washington, and the New York Public Library.

HONORARY AND MISCELLANEOUS FRATERNITIES.

United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa—The Phi Beta Kappa Society was founded at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va., December 5, 1776, and now consists of 86 chapters located in as many of the leading colleges and universities in the land. The total living membership is about 30,500—22,500 men and 8,000 women. Until 1883 the growth of the society was comparatively slow, but since the organization of the United Chapters the development has been rapid, many chapters having been organized. Women were first admitted in 1875, and the first charter to a woman's college, Vassar, was granted in 1898. Smith, Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke and Goucher College of Baltimore, and Radcliffe, have since received charters. The first woman to be honored by election to the Senate was President Mary E. Woolley of Mt. Holyoke College. The present officers are: President—Prof. Edwin A. Grosvenor, LL. D., Amherst, Mass. Vice President—Dean Edward A. Birge, Madison, Wis. Secretary—Rev. Oscar M. Voorhees, D. D., 350 East 146th Street, New York City. Treasurer—David Layton, M. S., New York, N. Y. "The Phi Beta Kappa Key" is the official publication of the United Chapters, which was authorized by the tenth National Council. The society is growing rapidly, many new members being received each year. The twelfth National Council of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa was held at Philadelphia, September 12 and 13, 1916, at which time three new charters were granted. The new members of the Senate are: Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve of Barnard, President Hollis Godfrey of Drexel Institute, and Prof. Felix E. Schelling of the University of Pennsylvania. The three new chapters are in connection with Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., Bates College, Lewiston, Me., and Knox College, Galesburg Ill. Woodrow Wilson, William H. Taft, Theodore Roosevelt and Charles E. Hughes are Phi Beta Kappa men, as are also Presidents Lowell of Harvard, Hadley of Yale, Hibben of Princeton, Judson of Chicago, Thwing of Western Reserve, Butler of Columbia, Brown of Utah, Schurman of Cornell.

Sigma Xi—An honorary scientific society founded at Cornell University in 1886, and having thirty chapters in the principal colleges and universities of the country. It is not secret. The performance of creditable scientific research in the natural and applied sciences, together with a high standard of scholarship, constitutes the basis of membership. Women are admitted as well as men.

Sigma Tau—An honorary engineering fraternity for juniors and seniors with three requirements, viz., scholarship, practicality and sociability. It was founded February 22, 1904, at University of Nebraska and now has 790 members and 11 chapters. Prof. F. A. Wirt of Manhattan, Kan., is National Secretary.

Tau Beta Pi—An engineering honorary society founded at Lehigh University in 1885. It now has 31 active chapters and over 7,000 members. R. C. Matthews, University of Tennessee, at Knoxville, is the National Secretary and Treasurer.

Alpha Omega Alpha—An honorary medical society in which scholarship is the membership qualification, and which admits women on the same basis as men. It was founded by Dr. William W. Root at the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago, in 1902. It now has 22 chapters and 2,000 members. Dr. William W. Root, Slaterville Springs, N. Y., is the National Secretary.

Acacia Fraternity—An intercollegiate organization and fraternity for Master Masons founded at the University of Michigan in 1904, now has a membership of 3,436 and 25 active chapters. The Grand Secretary is A. Arthur Jenkins, 85 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

Phi Mu Sigma National Sunday-School Fraternity—This society has 1,240 members and 49 active chapters. It was founded in Washington, D. C., in 1908. Supreme Master—Clifton P. Clark, M. D., National Secretary—Willis W. Warren, Washington, D. C.

Theta Nu Epsilon—Is the only national Greek letter inter-fraternal society. It was founded at Wesleyan University in 1870, and was reorganized in 1907. The society is incorporated under New York laws and is represented in fifty-three colleges and universities of the United States, the membership being 18,397. J. W. S. Mass, 2 Rector Street, New York City, is President and the National Secretary is Walter Erlenkotter, New York City.

Mu Phi Epsilon—An honorary musical sorority founded at the Metropolitan College of Music, Cincinnati, November 13, 1903. It has a membership of 1,378 and 21 active chapters. Mrs. William E. Wright, Meadville, Pa., is Supreme Secretary.

The professional fraternities now number over 50, with a membership exceeding 40,000. They are located in both technical and professional schools. With the exception of Theta Xi (Engineering-Scientific), members of professional fraternities may also belong to the general college fraternities.

Local or "one-college" fraternities exist in nearly all colleges, and some date back as early as 1825. There are over 75, with a membership exceeding 10,000. The women's local fraternities number about 50, with a total membership of about 5,000.

UNIQUE EVENTS IN 1916.

(Compiled from newspaper reports.)

W. R. Bagley, Muncie, Ind., claimed the piano-endurance record, having played continuously for 50 hours and 5 minutes.

Quadruplets, two boys and two girls, were born to a woman in Cleveland, Ohio. Total weight of babies, 8½ pounds.

A priest who had died at 11 o'clock in the morning registered the same temperature by every test at 6 o'clock in the afternoon at Flower Hospital, New York.

In an operation in the Ohio Valley General Hospital, Wheeling, W. Va., a lower lip was made for a patient from his cheek. The first lip had been removed because of cancer.

George Lucas, appointed February 1, 1889, a letter-carrier in Passaic, N. J., having worked almost every day except Sunday, estimated that he had walked 81,000 miles over his route.

Remains of six species of the three-toed prehistoric horses from the Miocene and Pliocene periods were discovered by Prof. J. C. Merrian of the University of California.

By breathing for 20 minutes into the mouth of a baby girl, apparently born dead, and then using a pulmotor for 29 minutes more, a doctor in Haverhill, Mass., saved the infant's life.

Mrs. Margaret Bischoff, York, Pa., possessed an apple that was 29 years old. It was studded with cloves.

In a suit in Scott County, Iowa, for the recovery of an automobile by a man from a woman, the woman averred that the car had been given to her in exchange for a kiss, and she was upheld by the jury.

A successful post-mortem Caesarean operation was performed in a Jersey City, N. J., hospital.

L. E. Cole, Bangor, Cal., in 1916 received a letter written to him by his brother on December 2, 1864.

A four-legged chicken was exhibited at a poultry show in Escanaba, Mich.

A baby girl born in Tiltonsville, Ohio, weighed only 24 ounces.

A calf with two noses was born at Ernest Burleson's place, Kensal, N. Dak. There was a nose on each side of the mouth. The calf lived only two days.

Tiemen Schepel of Holland was older than his grandmother. His grandfather, aged 72, married a girl 19 years old.

According to the American Museum of Natural History, New York, an elephant-eared sunfish, harpooned in the Gulf Stream March 10 by Ambrose Monnell, Jr., of New York, was one of the rarest specimens ever taken.

Deaf for 19 years, a man put a telephone receiver to his ear as a joke and found he could hear.

A bride for the sixth time at 29 years of age was the record of a woman at Conway, Ark.

In the appendix of a girl operated upon in a hospital at Memphis, Tenn., were found 14 small gunshot, two pieces of glass, a piece of an oyster shell and a chip of iron.

Riding a fish and killing it with a stone was not "catching" it, according to a decision of the State Game Warden of Wisconsin. Hiram Beveridge saw a six-foot sturgeon in a shallow pool. He jumped on its back, rode it, and finally killed it with a stone.

Godfrey E. Lundberg, Spokane, Wash., engraved the Lord's prayer on the head of a gold pin less than half an inch in diameter. When placed under a powerful microscope the letters stood out boldly.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell found, upon investigation of many histories of people who claimed great age, the oldest authentic case to be that of a woman 109 years old.

When stunned by a stroke of lightning, hearing was restored to a woman in Perry, Iowa. She had been deaf for many years.

A meteor, the unburied part of which was as large as a five-room house, fell on a farm near Hot Springs, Ark.

On May 23 Patrick Harmon reached City Hall, New York City, having walked backward every step of the way from Seattle. He made the trip in 239 days and won a wager of $5,000. He was allowed 260 days. Watchers verified the assertion.

A woman in Greenwich, Ct., gave five separate births within a period of five months.

A rubber tube was removed from the right lung of a patient in a hospital at Hot Springs, N. Dak. It had been in the lung ten years. It was placed there for drainage purposes and forgotten.

NEW YORK STATE PARKS AND RESERVATIONS.

The State of New York possesses several reservations, two forest preserves, and several parks. One, the Niagara Reservation, comprises the land about the great cataract, purchased at a cost of $1,000,000. Then there is the Watkins Glen Reservation, 1½ miles in length, and containing 103.5 acres. The State Reservation at Saratoga Springs now comprises approximately 600 acres of land, and includes 110 springs and borings. In addition, the State has acquired mineral rights in other lands approximating 72 acres, adding 45 springs to those upon the State-owned land. In accordance with the policy of the State to acquire every spring of value, the reservation now includes every naturally mineralized and naturally carbonated spring in the Saratoga region, with the exception of one on private property that is not open to the public. The Saratoga Reservation is divided into High Rock Park, of 3 acres; Congress Park, 3 acres; Lincoln Park, 65 acres, and Geyser Park of 321 acres. The other mineral rights cover 72 acres.

The State also owns Letchworth Park, about the Falls of the Genesee River; islands in the St. Lawrence River, and John Boyd Thacher Park, near the City of Albany.

The great forest preserve of the State is divided into two preserves; one in the Adirondack region and the other in the Catskill region. The State now owns in the counties composing the Adirondack and Catskill preserves 1,814,550 acres of forests and lakes. The voters of the State in 1916 adopted a proposition to bond the State to the amount of $10,000,000, of which $7,500,000 is to be expended in the purchase of additional land for State park purposes within the forest preserve counties; which land, if now owned by the State under existing law, would be part of the forest preserve. The Legislature has by law defined the central portions of the Adirondack and Catskill mountain and lake regions as the vital areas over which the people of the State of New York should maintain a continuous forest cover. Nevertheless, the State of New York now owns only 48 per cent. of the land within the park lines of the Adirondack and Catskill parks. The State holdings occur in parcels of larger or smaller area, intermixed everywhere with tracts of privately owned forest which is fully subject to uncontrolled exploitation. The $7,500,000 just voted by the people will be used in acquiring as much as possible of the 52 per cent. of privately owned land within the forest preserve parks, the object being to guard water supply, to increase rainfall and give a place for recreation.

Another portion of the $10,000,000 bond issue adopted in 1916, amounting to $2,500,000, is to be used in the acquisition of lands for the extension of the Palisades Interstate Park. Already the Palisades Interstate Park Commission has obtained private subscriptions of $2,500,000, which are to be added to the State's bond issue for the further development of the property. The total amount to be further expended on the Palisades Park is thus $5,000,000.

The Palisades Interstate Park is situated in the Counties of Orange and Rockland, and comprises at present about 27,000 acres. The jurisdiction of the Interstate Park Commission extends northward from the New Jersey State line along the Hudson River to the City of Newburgh and westward so as to include the entire Ramapo Mountains. South of the New Jersey line 1,000 acres along the Hudson, owned by the State of New Jersey, are under the control of a legally distinct commission, which, however, acts in close cooperation with the Commissioners of the State of New York. In the creation of the Palisades Interstate Park the State of New York has thus far appropriated in money and lands $3,150,000, and the State of New Jersey appropriated $500,000 for the building of the Henry Hudson Drive along the Palisades. In addition, the Palisades Interstate Park Commission has received private contributions in moneys and lands amounting to a grand total of $4,480,000, or more than the total investment, thus far of both the States of New York and New Jersey.

The Englewood approach to the Henry Hudson Drive, up the sheer face of the Palisades cliffs at Englewood, N. J., was completed and opened for traffic in the month of August, 1915. A portion of this approach constitutes part of the Henry Hudson Drive. From the northerly loop of the approach the drive is now under construction for a distance of five miles to Alpine, N. J. At Alpine the Alpine approach is now under construction up the face of the cliffs at that point. At the foot of the Englewood approach a motor boat basin, 1,100 feet long by 150 feet wide, has been constructed.

From the southerly end of the Palisades properties, in the neighborhood of Fort Lee, N. J., the commission is constructing a footpath which will, within a short time, run along the full length of the Palisades at the water's edge. Eight and one-half miles of this path are now completed.

Camping under the Palisades was, this year, for the first time, confined to the district north of Excelsior Landing, which is one mile north of Alpine, N. J. The charge for the camping permit is fixed at $1 per week for the space occupied by the tent.

It is estimated that 1,000,000 people went to the Palisades section of the Interstate Park during the season of 1916.

The camp which has for four years been established at Blauvelt, N. Y., for the use of working girls was used during the season of 1916 by 1,857 individuals. This camp is under the charge of the Young Women's Christian Association of New York.

During 1916 approximately 650,000 people came to the Bear Mountain section of the Interstate Park. This section is located on the west shore of the Hudson River, about 45 miles from New York City. A daily boat service was continued to Bear Mountain Park during the season of 1916. Two hundred thousand people came to Bear Mountain on these excursion boats during 1916. Practically every Saturday, Sunday and holiday throughout the season the park was patronized by organizations holding their annual outings. On one day 900 people from three different organizations partook of the table d'hote dinner at the Bear Mountain Inn. At times during the Summer as many as three sets of athletic events were being conducted at the same time on the Bear Mountain playground. A feature of the playground is baseball, there being three fully equipped diamonds. On Highland Lake, at Bear Mountain, the commission has installed 120 rowboats, free for one-half hour to the public. In the groves on the shores of Hessian Lake many rustic shelters have been constructed, and also a large, covered dancing pavilion.

At Bear Mountain Park, the Bear Mountain Inn was established by the commission with the idea of supplying visitors to the park and camping parties with the best food at reasonable prices. The inn is operated by the commission, and is managed and conducted by its salaried employees. Everything is to be had there, from a quick lunch to table d'hote and finest a la carte service. The restaurant building is 200 feet long by 90 feet wide. The lower floor is devoted entirely to lunch-counter service. Tables are provided in the inn and in the surrounding groves to which this food may be carried. By the Spring of 1917 there will have been completed a well-equipped garage and automobile repair shop at Bear Mountain Park.

The New Park Drive, through the Bear-Mountain-Harriman sections of the park, was finished and opened for traffic in August, 1915. This drive is 11 miles long, and carefully located and graded. It is the main artery of traffic through the park, with which all other drives and trails connect. In conjunction with County Highway No. 416 this drive passes 7 lakes between the Hudson River and the Ramapo Valley. Six of these lakes have been artifically constructed by the commission.

The New Park Drive has been the Mecca for thousands of motorists all over the country. During the 1916 season 50,000 automobiles were parked within a short distance of the Bear Mountain Inn. As many as 2,200 cars occupied the parking space on one Sunday in October. It is estimated that over 200,000 people came to Bear Mountain Park by automobile during the season of 1916.

Upon the shores of two lakes in the Harriman section 6,000 Boy Scouts encamped during the season of 1916. On another lake 428 boys suffering from the effects of malnutrition were camped under the direction of the Bureau of Welfare for School Children. This camp was in the nature of an experiment, and the results were highly satisfactory. The boys were kept in the woods as long as they could possibly stay. The plan is to increase the capacity of the present camp and to establish more camps of a like nature, and possibly in time to keep one of the camps open throughout the year.

General camping was permitted at Bear Mountain Park upon grounds set aside for this purpose at the northerly end of Hessian Lake, under permits issued by the commission at a charge of $1 for the space occupied by the tent.

In all the commission's lakes fishing is allowed without formal permit. During the past season many millions of pike-perch fry have been planted in the commission's lakes and trout fry have been put in the brooks.

The Palisades Interstate Park is a game refuge in which firearms of any description are not allowed.

In the Fall of 1916 the park comprised about 27,000 acres, of which 721 acres constitute the park in New Jersey; 536 acres, the park at Blauvelt; 458 acres, the park at Hook Mountain; the balance in the Harriman and Bear Mountain sections.

During the past year the commission, working in conjunction with the State Highway Department of New York, has completed the Popolopen Bridge, spanning the 600-foot gorge between Forts Clinton and Montgomery, at an elevation which is 5 feet higher than the Brooklyn Bridge.

A careful survey of the Revolutionary Forts Clinton and Montgomery has been made by members of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society and of the Society of the American Museum of Natural History, and the restoration of these forts is now in progress.

The Palisades and the State roads will be connected. Route 3 is one of the great routes provided for in the Highway Law of 1909, under which provision was made for a road through the westerly portion of Rockland, Orange and Ulster Counties to Kingston and thence to Albany. By co-operation with the county, State and national authorities, the Palisades Commissioners have succeeded in having this route so planned that, in conjunction with the Henry Hudson Drive, it will ultimately constitute a great interstate highway from Fort Lee to Albany. From the State line to Congers the route has not yet been constructed. From Congers, through Haverstraw, Stony Point and Bear Mountain, the road is completed to Highland Falls. The Federal authorities have agreed that from Highland Falls the road may be constructed through the Military Reservation by following for two miles the road to Central Valley. When this road reaches Crows Nest the new highway will be constructed along the southerly slope of Crows Nest until it approaches the Hudson River. Then it will follow the river side of Crows Nest to Storm King.

The State Highway Department is now engaged in constructing sections of the road in the vicinity of Crows Nest and Storm King Mountain. Around the face of Storm King Mountain the road is at an elevation of 380 feet directly above the Hudson River.

When the entire road from Albany to Fort Lee is completed it will run almost its entire length in full view of the Hudson River and will afford a scenic highway unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

FEDERAL IMPEACHMENTS IN HISTORY.

THE Constitution of the United States, Article II., Section IV., provides that civil officers of the United States may be removed from office on impeachment and conviction of treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors; that the House of Representatives has the sole power of impeachment, and the Senate the sole power to try impeachments; that the Vice-President shall preside at impeachments except when the President is tried, when the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall preside; and that two-thirds of the members present must vote for conviction before a person impeached shall be deemed guilty. Only nine persons have been impeached and tried before the Senate, and only three of them have been convicted. The record is as follows:

William Blount, Senator from Tennessee; impeached July 7, 1797, for conspiring to wage war with Spain in favor of Great Britain, to excite the Cherokee Indians against Spain, and to create disaffection among the Indians toward the United States; trial, December 17, 1798, to January 14, 1799; vote, 11 guilty, 14 not guilty; verdict, acquittal.

John Pickering, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of New Hampshire; impeached 1803 for drunkenness and disregard of the terms of the statutes; trial, March 3 to March 12, 1803; vote, 19 guilty, 7 not guilty; verdict, guilty; punishment, removal from office.

On June 12, 1914, District Judge Alston G. Dayton was impeached. Proceedings dropped March 3, 1915.

THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY.

The Lincoln Highway is the longest road in the world. It connects twelve States, and is laid out between New York and San Francisco, as directly as possible, consistent with the topography of the country. Its length is about 3,284 miles, and it is constantly being shortened by improvements and the elimination of curves.

The idea of an ocean-to-ocean highway was presented to the public in the early Fall of 1913, by a National proclamation issued by the Lincoln Highway Association, an organization incorporated with headquarters in Detroit, Mich. The originator of the idea was Carl G. Fisher of Indianapolis, now Vice-President of the Lincoln Highway Association. The object of the association was:

"The establishment of a continuous improved highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, open to lawful traffic of all descriptions, without toll charges, and to be of concrete wherever practicable—this highway to be known, in memory of Abraham Lincoln, as the "Lincoln Highway."

National interest has attached to the development of this great thoroughfare, and the effort of the public in the States through which it passes has been devoted to its rapid improvement and marking. In the three years since the establishment and dedication of the route, the road has been marked for practically its entire distance, and construction has progressed as rapidly as possible in every State.

The Lincoln Highway Association was not organized to construct the road, but to promote and aid in its construction by the local communities, counties and States through which it passes. In round figures $10,000,000 have been spent in the improvement of the Lincoln Highway. The eastern section of the great road is almost completely hard-surfaced. The Middle Western States have devoted every effort to the grading and maintenance of the route, and are progressing to hard-surfacing as fast as means will allow. Much work on the road has been done in the West, but it is there, particularly in the States of Utah and Nevada, that outside aid solicited by the association is particularly needed, due to the long mileages and sparse population, which makes the raising of sufficient funds from the regular road improvement sources impossible.

The following table indicates the amount spent on the Lincoln Highway during the last year in each of the States crossed by the highway:

	State Aid.		State Aid.
New Jersey	$183,678	Nebraska	$367,300
Pennsylvania	193,034	Wyoming	60,650
Ohio	925,000	Utah	275,500
Indiana	706,108	Nevada	69,140
Illinois	256,800	California	256,000
Iowa	904,955	Total	$4,198,165

The officers and directors of the Lincoln Highway Association are given below:

President—Henry B. Joy, Detroit, Mich. Vice-President—Carl G. Fisher, Indianapolis, Ind. Treasurer—Emory W. Clark, Detroit, Mich. Vice-Presidents—Roy D. Chapin, Detroit, Mich. F. A. Seiberling, Akron, Ohio. Russell A. Alger, Detroit, Mich. Albert J. Beveridge, Indianapolis, Ind. A. Y. Gowen, Chicago, Ill. Paul H. Deming, Detroit, Mich. John N. Willys, Toledo, Ohio. Secretary—A. F. Bement, Detroit, Mich.

THIRTEEN HIGHWAYS CLASSED AS TRANSCONTINENTAL ROADS.

The transcontinental highways are yet in the first stages of permanent improvement, but the system as already planned has assumed the broadest scope. A recent classification of through routes gave the number as thirteen, seven extending from east to west and six from north to south, as follows:

EAST AND WEST.

Lincoln Highway—New York to San Francisco, via Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Omaha, Denver, Cheyenne, Ogden, Salt Lake City, and Reno.

Pike's Peak Ocean-to-Ocean Highway—New York to San Francisco, via New York, Washington, Wheeling, Indianapolis, St. Joseph, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, and Reno.

National Old Trails—Washington to Los Angeles, via Wheeling, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Trinidad, and Albuquerque.

Yellowstone Trail—Puget Sound to Plymouth Rock; Plymouth and Boston to Seattle and Tacoma, via Poughkeepsie, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Livingston (with side route to Yellowstone National Park), Missoula (with side route to Glacier National Park), and Spokane.

Trail to the Sunset and Santa Fé Trail—New York to San Diego, via Chicago, Kansas City, Trinidad, Phoenix, and Yuma.

Southern National Highway—Washington to San Diego, via Richmond, Durham, Nashville, Memphis, Little Rock, Dallas, Fort Worth, Roswell, El Paso, Phoenix, and Yuma.

Old Spanish Trail—Florida to San Diego, via Mobile, New Orleans, Houston, El Paso, and Yuma.

NORTH AND SOUTH.

Atlantic Highway—Calais to Miami, via Boston, New York, Washington, Savannah, and Jacksonville.

Meridian Road—Pembina to Galveston, via Fargo, Columbus, Wichita, Fort Worth, and Houston.

Pacific Highway—Vancouver to San Diego, via Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, and Los Angeles.

Dixie Highway—Chicago to Miami, via Indianapolis, Nashville, and Atlanta.

Jefferson Highway—New Orleans to St. Paul and Minneapolis, via Shreveport, Denison, Muskogee, Joplin or Fort Scott, Kansas City, Des Moines, and Albert Lea.

Jackson Highway—Chicago to New Orleans, via Louisville and Nashville.

17 BUSIEST CORNERS IN LONDON AND NEW YORK.

London has seventeen corners where more than 10,000 vehicles pass between 8 A. M. and 8 P. M. The total movement at these points is 255,832. Seventeen similar corners in New York show a total movement greater by 18,473, with this important distinction to be borne in mind—the count in New York was made in the hours between 8.30 A. M. and 6.30 P. M., ten hours, as compared with twelve in London.

The corners compare as follows:

LONDON.		NEW YORK.
Piccadilly, Ritz Hotel	28,735	Columbus Circle	39,210
Gray's Inn, Holborn	18,858	Broadway and 42d St	19,650

ROSAECRUCIAN ORDER IN AMERICA.

The American Jurisdiction of the Ancient and Mystical Order Rosae Crucis was established in 1915 and operates under a properly sealed and signed charter or patent signed by the officials of the order in France by direction of the Supreme Council of the World, in Memphis, Egypt. The order was originally established in Egypt in 1500 B. C., and divided into jurisdictions in 1350 B. C. It is the oldest secret and fraternal organization in the world to-day, with several million members in every civilized country. Its teachings embrace all that is occult, mystical, scientific, philosophical and helpful to one's health, happiness and success. The order conducts its work with initiations, convocations and lectures which constitute a schooling in practical laws and work without speculation or abstract theory. It has nothing whatever to sell, but operates as did the old schools and temples of philosophy in the past. Membership is limited to men and women of 21 years or older who are of good moral habits, well recommended and professing a firm belief in God. The order is non-sectarian and members are invited to join after having felt a desire to do so. Grand and local lodges are established in every State. The national officers for America are: Imperator and Most Worshipful Grand Master, H. Spencer Lewis, Commandant of the American Commandery Knights of the Rosae Crucis; Financial Secretary, A. B. Brassard, 306 West 48th Street, New York; Supreme Secretary-General and Archivist, Thor Kilmalehto, K. R. C., Supreme Grand Lodge Temple, 306 West 48th Street, New York City. Meetings in practically all Temples are held Thursday evenings. Visitors always welcome at 7.30 P. M.

CITIES UNDER COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

(From a Report of the Census Bureau of June 12, 1914.)

Washington, D. C., was the first city in the United States to be governed for any number of years by a commission, coming under that form of government by the terms of an act of Congress that became effective June 11, 1878. The application of this form of government to the Capital of the United States grew out of the relation of the National Government to this particular city, and the City of Washington was not considered as an example to other municipalities with reference to its form of government.

The great need of improvement in sanitary conditions of Memphis, Tenn., following a severe visitation of yellow fever in 1878, combined with the fact that at the time the city had incurred an indebtedness equal to its authority for borrowing money, led the Legislature of Tennessee in 1879 to put an end to the existence of the city as a municipal corporation and to create in its stead a taxing district whose affairs were conducted by a small body of officers having practically the authority of the Commissioners in the cities under the new or commission form of government. After the recovery of the city from the difficulties which made this form of government necessary, Memphis was reincorporated as a city, with its earlier form of government, and its experience was not deemed such as to encourage the substitution of this form of government for that of Mayor and council.

A destructive storm having overwhelmed Galveston, Tex., on September 1, 1900, and left the city prostrate financially, as Memphis had been in 1878, Galveston was placed under a government by a commission in 1901. The experience of Galveston under this form of government was such that in 1905 it was adopted by Houston, Tex. Two other cities, having 30,000 inhabitants, adopted it in 1907, two in 1908, eight in 1909, six in 1910, fifteen in 1911, nine in 1912, twenty-one in 1913, and three in 1914.

THE CITY MANAGER PLAN.

An act of the Ohio Legislature, approved May 6, 1913, provided for a form of municipal government to be known as the "City Manager plan," the council to consist of five members in cities of less than 10,000 inhabitants, of seven members in cities of from 10,000 to 25,000 inhabitants, and of nine members in cities having over 25,000 inhabitants, the council being elected in all cases for a term of four years. This council is to constitute a governing body with power to pass ordinances, adopt regulations, appoint a chief administrative officer to be known as the "City Manager," fix his salary, approve all appointments made by him (except as otherwise provided), and appoint a Civil Service Commission and all boards or commissions created by ordinances.

In addition there are officers called managers in the following towns, which do not have commission-manager charters or lack some of the fundamental features of the plan: Staunton and Fredericksburg, Va.; Norwood, Mass.; Inglewood and San Diego, Cal.; Glencoe and River Forest, Ill.; Grove City and Titusville, Pa.; Morris, Minn.; Clarinda and Iowa Falls, Iowa; Clark, S. Dak.; Tucson, Ariz., and Roswell, N. M.; Terrell, Tex.; Grand Haven, Mich. In Canada: Port Arthur, Ontario, and Maissonneuve, P. Q.

There are State-wide laws permitting cities to adopt this plan in Massachussetts, New York, Virginia, Ohio, and Iowa.

THE DIXIE HIGHWAY.

The Dixie Highway, the most pretentious of the national road movements developed during the year 1915, was officially launched at the conference of Governors of the States interested called to meet at Chattanooga, Tenn., April 3, 1915, by Governor Samuel Ralston, of Indiana. The system of highways, as designated by two commissioners, each appointed by the Governors of the States of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida, consists of two divisions and one loop each in the States of Michigan and Florida, with connecting links. The western division starts at Chicago, and is routed through the cities of Danville, Ill.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Louisville, Ky.; Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn.; Rome, Atlanta and Macon, Ga.; Tallahassee, Kissimee, Bartow and Jupiter, Fla., where it connects with the eastern division. Indianapolis, Ind., is connected with a loop around the State of Michigan at South Bend, Ind. Joining the eastern end of the Michigan loop, which follows Lake Huron to Detroit, the eastern division of the highway is routed through the cities of Monroe, Mich.; Toledo, Dayton and Cincinnati, Ohio; Lexington, Ky.; Cumberland Gap and Knoxville, Tenn., to Chattanooga; thence to Atlanta, Ga., via Dalton; thence to Macon, via McDonough; thence to Jacksonville, Fla., via Fitzgerald and Waycross, Ga., and along the east coast of Florida to Miami. A connecting link from Indianaplis on the western division to Dayton, Ohio, on the eastern division, and from Tallahassee, Fla., on the western division to Jacksonville, Fla., on the eastern division has also been designated.

The Dixie Highway has a total mileage of 4,206. In the eight States it traverses 163 counties. It will serve a territory with a population of almost forty million. There are over eight hundred thousand automobile owners in this territory, from which the Dixie Highway can reasonably expect to attract tourists.

That remarkable progress has been made in the short history of the movement may be gleaned from the reports received from fifty counties, from which a conservative estimate was compiled which shows that approximately five million dollars has been expended in the past six months and that preparations have been made to expend during 1916 almost twenty million dollars. Starting with a highway, a large part of which consisted of bad country roads, the progress has been so rapid that there are only two serious barriers to through travel at the beginning of 1916. These barriers consist of about seventy miles of road yet to be constructed on the eastern division between Cincinnati, Ohio and Knoxville, Tenn., in the mountain counties of Kentucky, and about eighty miles of mountain road in Tennessee on the western division between Nashville and Chattanooga. Ample financial preparations have been made to have these sections of the highway completed by Fall of 1916.

Entire sections of the Dixie Highway are planning paved roads for their entire stretch. Notable among these are the sections of the highway between Chicago and Danville, Ill.; Toledo and Cincinnati, Ohio; Jacksonville and Miami, Fla., and from Tallahassee to Bartow, Fla.

The headquarters of the Dixie Highway Association are located at Chattanooga, Tenn. The officers are Judge M. M. Allison, President; C. H. Huston, First Vice-President; W. R. Long, Secretary and Treasurer; W. S. Gilbreath, Field Secretary, and V. D. L. Robinson, Assistant Secretary. The Executive Committee is composed of President Allison, Secretary Long, Richard Hardy, Chattanooga; Clark Howell, editor Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., and Carl G. Fisher, Indianapolis, founder of both the Lincoln and Dixie Highway movements.

MAYORS OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

BEFORE the Revolution the Mayor was appointed by the Governor of the Province; and from 1784 to 1820 by the Appointing Board of the State of New York, of which the Governor was the chief member. From 1820 to the amendment of the Charter, in 1830, the Mayor was appointed by the Common Council. In 1898 the term of the first Mayor of Greater New York (Van Wyck) began.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

The Government of the District of Columbia is a municipality whose principal administrative agency is a board of three Commissioners, two of whom are appointed from civil life by the President of the United States and must be citizens of the District of Columbia and have resided there for three years immediately preceding their appointment as such, and during that period have claimed residence nowhere else. Their appointments must be confirmed by the Senate. The other Commissioner is an officer of the Corps of Engineers of the United States Army, whose lineal rank is senior to that of Captain, or who is a Captain who has served at least fifteen years in the Corps of Engineers of the army. He is detailed for duty as such for an indefinite term by the President of the United States, subject to assignment to other duty at the President's pleasure. The term of the other Commissioners is three years.

The personnel of the Board of Commissioners and the dates of expiration of their appointments and the personnel of the principal offices of the Government of the District and of the Judiciary is as follows:

Commissioners Oliver P. Newman and Louis Brownlow, whose terms expire July 19, 1919, and January 22, 1918, respectively, and Major Charles W. Kutz, Corps of Engineers, United States Army; Secretary, Daniel J. Donovan, $2,400 per annum. Offices of Commissioners' District Building, Washington, D. C.

The Judiciary—Court of Appeals: Chief Justice, Seth Shepard; Associate Justices, Charles H. Robb, J. A. van Orsdel. Supreme Court: Chief Justice, J. Harry Covington; Associate Justices, Ashley M. Gould, Wendell P. Stafford, Walter I. McCoy. Frederick L. Siddons.

FIRE DEPARTMENT, NEW YORK CITY.

Fire Commissioner Adamson in his annual report of 1915 gives some interesting figures on the size of New York City, the location of fires, and the causes of them. The total value of property protected by the department is stated as $20,000,000,000 and the number of buildings in the city as 386,093, divided as follows:

Tenements	103,968	Office buildings	1,135	Theatres	287
One-family houses	153,358	Factory buildings	5,365	Number of fires last year	13,416
Two-family houses	78,712	Stables and garages	15,166	Number in dwelling places	8,611
Hotels and elevator aparts.	2,765	Special structures, moving pictures, taxpayers, etc.	15,474	Number in other buildings	1,764
Warehouses	9,833			Number outside of buildings	3,041

Some causes of fires given by Fire Marshals:

Carelessness with cigars, cigarettes, and smoking pipes	1,306 fires	Children playing with matches or fire	785 fires	Defective insulation	426 fires
Careless use of candles and tapers	572 fires	Careless use of matches	1,314 fires	Hot ashes igniting woodwork	80 fires
		Overheated stoves, boilers, ranges, etc.	798 fires	Bonfires, brush fires, and rubbish fires	1,168 fires

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION OF 1920.

THE next Presidential election will take place on Tuesday, November 2, 1920.

The President and Vice-President of the United States are chosen by officials termed "Electors" in each State, who are, under existing State laws, chosen by the qualified voters thereof by ballot, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November in every fourth year preceding the year in which the Presidential term expires.

The Constitution of the United States prescribes that each State shall "appoint," in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress; but no Senator or Representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be an elector. The Constitution requires that the day when electors are chosen shall be the same throughout the United States. At the beginning of our Government most of the electors were chosen by the Legislatures of their respective States, the people having no direct participation in their choice; and one State, South Carolina, continued that practice down to the breaking out of the Civil War. But in all the States now the electors are, under the direction of State laws, chosen by the people on a general State ticket.

The manner in which the chosen electors meet and ballot for a President and Vice-President of the United States is provided for in Article XII. of the Constitution, and is as follows:

The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate.

The same article then prescribes the mode in which the Congress shall count the ballots of the electors, and announce the result thereof, which is as follows:

The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

The procedure of the two houses, in case the returns of the election of electors from any State are disputed, is provided in the "Electoral Count" act, passed by the Forty-ninth Congress. The act directs that the Presidential electors shall meet and give their votes on the second Monday in January next following their election. It fixes the time when Congress shall be in session to count the ballots as the second Wednesday in February succeeding the meeting of the electors.

The Constitution also defines who is eligible for President of the United States, as follows:

No person except a natural-born citizen or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years.

The qualifications for Vice-President are the same.

SALARY OF THE PRESIDENT.

The salary of the President of the United States was the cause of discussion in the First Congress, in view of the fact that the Constitution declared that the President should receive compensation for his services. Washington had notified his fellow citizens that he desired no salary. The limits suggested in Congress ranged from $15,000 to $70,000. The salary was finally placed at $25,000 and this remained the compensation until President Grant's second term (March 3, 1873), when it was increased to $50,000. Chapter 2918 of the Laws of the Second Session of the Fifty-ninth Congress, approved March 4, 1907, appropriated "for travelling expenses of the President of the United States, to be expended at his discretion and accounted for by his certificate solely, $25,000." In the Second Session of the Sixtieth Congress the matter of increasing the President's salary was again considered, and it was decided that the President's salary be fixed at $75,000 a year.

REFERENCE NOTES TO THE TWO FOLLOWING PAGES.

* The candidates starred were elected. (a) The first Republican Party is claimed by the present Democratic Party as its progenitor. (b) No candidate having a majority of the electoral vote, the House of Representatives elected Adams. (d) There being no choice, the Senate elected Johnson. (e) Eleven Southern States, being within the belligerent territory, did not vote. (f) Three Southern States disfranchised. (g) Horace Greeley died after the election, and Democratic electors scattered their votes. (h) There being a dispute over the electoral vote of Florida, Louisiana, Oregon, and South Carolina, they were referred by Congress to an electoral commission composed of eight Republicans and seven Democrats, which, by a strict party vote, awarded 185 electoral votes to Hayes and 184 to Tilden. (i) Free Democrat (j) Free Silver Prohibition Party. (k) In Massachusetts. There was also a Native American ticket in that State, which received 184 votes. (m) Middle of the Road or Anti-Fusion People's Party. (n) United Christian Party. (o) Union Reform Party.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS.

NOTE.—There is, properly speaking, no popular vote for President and Vice-President; the people vote for electors, and those chosen in each State meet therein and vote for the candidates for President and Vice-President. The record of any popular vote for electors prior to 1828 is so meagre and imperfect that a compilation would be useless. In most of the States, for more than a quarter century following the establishment of the Government, the State Legislatures "appointed" the Presidential electors, and the people therefore voted only indirectly for them, their choice being expressed by their votes for members of the Legislature. In this tabulation only the aggregate electoral votes for candidates for President and Vice-President in the first fourteen quadrennial elections appear.

ELECTORAL VOTES.

1789. Previous to 1804, each elector voted for two candidates for President. The one who received the largest number of votes was declared President, and the one who received the next largest number of votes was declared Vice-President. The electoral votes for the first President of the United States were: George Washington, 69; John Adams, of Massachusetts, 34; John Jay, of New York, 9; R. H. Harrison, of Maryland, 6; John Rutledge, of South Carolina, 6; John Hancock, of Massachusetts, 4; George Clinton, of New York, 3; Samuel Huntingdon, of Connecticut, 2; John Milton, of Georgia, 2; James Armstrong, of Georgia; Benjamin Lincoln, of Massachusetts, and Edward Telfair, of Georgia, 1 vote each. Vacancies (votes not cast), 4. George Washington was chosen President and John Adams Vice-President.

1792. George Washington, Federalist, received 132 votes; John Adams, Federalist, 77; George Clinton, of New York, Republican (a), 50; Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia, Republican, 4; Aaron Burr, of New York, Republican, 1 vote. Vacancies, 3. George Washington was chosen President and John Adams Vice-President.

1796. John Adams, Federalist, 71; Thomas Jefferson, Republican, 68; Thomas Pinckney, of South Carolina, Federalist, 59; Aaron Burr, of New York, Republican, 30; Samuel Adams, of Massachusetts, Republican, 15; Oliver Ellsworth, of Connecticut, Independent, 11; George Clinton, of New York, Republican, 7; John Jay, of New York, Federalist, 5; James Iredell, of North Carolina, Federalist, 3; George Washington, of Virginia; John Henry, of Maryland and S. Johnson, of North Carolina, all Federalists, 2 votes each; Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, of South Carolina, Federalist, 1 vote. John Adams was chosen President and Thomas Jefferson Vice-President.

1800. Thomas Jefferson, Republican, 73; Aaron Burr, Republican, 73; John Adams, Federalist, 65; Charles C. Pinckney, Federalist, 64; John Jay, Federalist, 1 vote. There being a tie vote for Jefferson and Burr, the choice devolved upon the House of Representatives. Jefferson received the votes of ten States, which, being the largest vote cast for a candidate, elected him President. Burr received the votes of four States, which, being the next largest vote, elected him Vice-President. There were 2 blank votes.

1804. The Constitution of the United States having been amended, the electors at this election voted for a President and a Vice-President, instead of for two candidates for President. The result was as follows: For President, Thomas Jefferson, Republican, 162; Charles C. Pinckney, Federalist, 14. For Vice-President, George Clinton, Republican, 162; Rufus King, of New York, Federalist, 14. Jefferson was chosen President and Clinton Vice-President.

1808. For President, James Madison, of Virginia, Republican, 122; Charles C. Pinckney, of South Carolina, Federalist, 47; George Clinton, of New York, Republican, 6. For Vice-President, George Clinton, Republican, 113; Rufus King, of New York, Federalist, 47; John Langdon, of New Hampshire, 9; James Madison, 3; James Monroe, 3. Vacancy, 1. Madison was chosen President and Clinton Vice-President.

1816. For President, James Monroe, of Virginia, Republican, 183; Rufus King, of New York, Federalist, 34. For Vice-President, Daniel D. Tompkins, of New York, Republican, 183; John Eager Howard, of Maryland, Federalist, 22; James Ross, of Pennsylvania, 5; John Marshall, of Virginia, 4; Robert G. Harper, of Maryland, 3. Vacancies, 4. Monroe was chosen President and Tompkins Vice-President.

1820. For President, James Monroe, of Virginia, Republican, 231; John Q. Adams, of Massachusetts, Republican, 1. For Vice-President, Daniel D. Tompkins, Republican, 218; Richard Stockton, of New Jersey, 8; Daniel Rodney, of Delaware, 4; Robert G. Harper, of Maryland, and Richard Rush, of Pennsylvania, 1 vote each. Vacancies, 3. James Monroe was chosen President and Daniel D. Tompkins Vice-President.

NOTES TO THE TABLES OF THE PRESIDENTS, ON THE TWO PRECEDING PAGES.

* Monroe abandoned the profession of law when a young man, and was afterward, and until his election, always holding public office. † Jackson called himself a South Carolinian, and his biographer, Kendall, recorded his birthplace in Lancaster Co., S. C.; but Parton has published documentary evidence to show that Jackson was born in Union Co., N. C., less than a quarter mile from the South Carolina line. ‡ Or of departure from college.

§ Widows. Their maiden names are in parentheses. ‖ She was the divorced wife of Captain Robards. (a) The Democratic party of to-day claims lineal descent from the first Republican party, and President Jefferson as its founder. (b) Political parties were disorganized at the time of the election of John Quin Adams. He claimed to be a Republican, but his doctrines were decidedly Federalistic. The opposition to his Administration took the name of Democrats, and elected Jackson President.

(c) Randall, the biographer of Jefferson, declares that he was a believer in Christianity, although not a sectarian. (d) While President Johnson was not a church-member, he was a Christian believer. His wife was a Methodist.

Washington's first inauguration was in New York, and his second in Philadelphia. Adams was inaugurated in Philadelphia, and Jefferson and the Presidents following elected by the people, in the city of Washington. Arthur took the Presidential oath of office first in New York City. John Adams and Jefferson died on the same day, the Fourth of July, 1826, and Monroe died on the Fourth of July five years later. John Quincy Adams was a Representative and Andrew Johnson a Senator in Congress after the expiration of their Presidential terms, and both died while holding those offices. Tyler was a Representative in the Confederate Congress from Virginia, and died in office.

Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley were assassinated while in office. Lincoln at Ford's Theatre, Washington, D. C., April 14, 1865, from a pistol shot fired by John Wilkes Booth, who was killed near Fredericksburg, Va., April 26, 1865, by Sergeant Boston Corbett. Garfield was shot in the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot, Washington, D. C., July 2, 1881, and died at Elberon, Long Branch, N. J., September 19, 1881. The assassin was Charles Jules Guiteau, who was hanged at Washington, D. C., June 30, 1882. McKinley was shot twice September 6, 1901, while in the Temple of Music of the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, N. Y., and died from his wounds at the home of John G. Milburn, Buffalo, September 14, 1901. The assassin was Louis Czolgosz, who was electrocuted at Auburn State Prison, New York, October 29, 1901.

Jackson was shot at in the Capitol at Washington, D. C., January 29, 1835, by a house painter named Richard Lawrence, escaping because the pistol of the assassin missed fire. Ex-President Roosevelt was shot and wounded by John Schrank, an insane man, at Milwaukee, Wis., October 14, 1912.

Cleveland after taking the oath as President, kissed the open bible, his lips touching Psalm CXII., verses 5-10, inclusive. Garfield's first act after taking the oath was to kiss his mother.

The sixth President was the son of the second President, and the twenty-third President was the grandson of the ninth President. William Henry Harrison was the eighth and Benjamin Harrison the tenth in descent from Pocahontas and John Rolfe. Lincoln was the first President wearing a full beard. Grant the first wearing a mustache. Buchanan and Cleveland were bachelors when they entered the White House as Presidents, but Cleveland surrendered during his first term. Washington, Monroe, Pierce and Hayes were born on Friday. J. Q. Adams, Pierce and Garfield were inaugurated on Friday. Tyler, Polk and Pierce died on Friday. Lincoln was assassinated on Friday.

There were remarkable coincidences in the lives of Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis. Both were born in Kentucky; Lincoln in 1809, Davis in 1808. Both removed from their native State in childhood, Lincoln to the Northwest, Davis to the Southwest. Lincoln was a Captain of Volunteers and Davis a Second Lieutenant of Regulars in the Black Hawk War of 1832. They began their political careers the same year, 1844, Lincoln being a Presidential Elector for Clay, and Davis for Polk. They were elected to Congress about the same time, 1845 and 1846. They were called to preside over their respective governments the same year and within a few days; Davis, February 8, 1861, Lincoln, March 4, 1861.

Washington, Monroe, and Jackson were soldiers in the Revolutionary war; Jackson, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, and Buchanan in the war of 1812-15; Lincoln in the Black Hawk war; Taylor, Pierce, and Grant in the Mexican war; Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, B. Harrison, and McKinley in the Civil War and Roosevelt was in the war with Spain. Adams and Jefferson were signers of the Declaration of Independence, and Washington and Madison of the Constitution.

Grant was christened Hiram Ulysses and Cleveland, Stephen Grover. W. H. Harrison was the oldest man elected to the Presidency, and Roosevelt the youngest, Grant being the next youngest by six months. Cleveland was the only President married in the White House, and his second daughter the only President's child born therein. Monroe's daughter (Mrs. Gouverneur), Tyler's daughter (Mrs. Waller), Grant's daughter (Mrs. Sartoris), Roosevelt's daughter (Mrs. Longworth) and Wilson's daughters, Jessie (Mrs. Sayre) and Eleanor (Mrs. McAdoo) were the only children of Presidents married therein. Wives of Tyler and Benjamin Harrison died in the White House. W. H. Harrison was father of the largest family, six sons and four daughters. Eight Presidents: Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Taylor and Wilson were Virginians by birth. Six Presidents: Grant, Hayes, Garfield, B. Harrison, McKinley and Taft were Ohioans by birth.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN THE BEGINNING OF THE PRESIDENTIAL TERM.

On November 26, 1913, a sub-committee of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate reported to the Committee the following joint resolution changing the time of the beginning of the terms of the President and Vice-President of the United States, from March 4 to the second Monday in January.

"The terms of the President and Vice-President of the United States shall commence on the second Monday in January following the election of Presidential and Vice-Presidential electors, and such electors shall assemble at the Capitols of their respective States and cast their votes for President and Vice-President on the first Monday in December following their election.

"The terms of Senators and Representatives shall commence on the first Monday in January following their election.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE.

This committee is composed of one representative from each State, and its business is to conduct the campaign for the election of Republican Senators and Representatives in Congress. Chairman—Frank P. Woods, Estherville, Iowa. Treasurer—Nathan B. Scott, Washington, D. C. Secretary Finance Committee—Thomas W. Miller. Headquarters, Riggs Building, Washington, D. C.

TITLE AND TERM OF THE PRESIDENT.

The address of the President is simply "The President of the United States." In the First Congress there was debate over a title and it was proposed by some members that he be addressed as "His Excellency" and by others as "His Highness," but a committee reported that "it is not proper to annex any style or title other than that expressed in the Constitution." In the Constitutional Convention the first report fixed the term of office at seven years without eligibility to re-election. In debate various periods from "during good behavior" to twenty years were favored. The limit to four years was finally adopted in grand committee and ratified by the convention.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

The Presidential succession is fixed by chapter 4 of the acts of the Forty-ninth Congress, first session. In case of the removal, death, resignation, or inability of both the President and Vice-President, then the Secretary of State shall act as President until the disability of the President or Vice-President is removed or a President is elected. If there be no Secretary of State, then the Secretary of the Treasury will act; and the remainder of the order of succession is as follows: The Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of the Navy, and Secretary of the Interior. The acting President must, upon taking office, convene Congress, if not at the time in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice. This act applies only to such Cabinet officers as shall have been confirmed by the Senate and are eligible under the Constitution to the Presidency.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

In the United States women possess suffrage upon equal terms with men at all elections in Wyoming, established in 1869; in Colorado, in 1893; in Utah, in 1896; in Idaho, in 1896; in Washington, in 1910; in California, in 1911; in Arizona, Kansas and Oregon, in 1912; and in Nevada and Montana, in 1914. During 1913 the Territorial Legislature of Alaska granted full suffrage to women. Under the State law of 1913 in Illinois it was construed that women could vote for Presidential Electors, members of the State Board of Equalization, Clerk of the Appellate Court, County Collector, County Surveyor, members of Board of Assessors, members of Board of Review, Sanitary District Trustees and for all the officers of cities, villages and towns (except Police Magistrates), Municipal Judges and upon all questions or propositions submitted for approval at elections. The Supreme Court of Illinois ruled, February, 1916, that women cannot vote for National delegates and alternates. The court also held that women cannot vote for State central committeemen and precinct committeemen.

Women have school suffrage in Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Vermont, Wisconsin and Alaska. In Iowa women may vote at all school or municipal elections upon any proposition to vote bonds or increase the tax levies.

Abroad, women have full Parliamentary suffrage in Australia, New Zealand, the Isle of Man, Finland, Norway, Denmark, Iceland, Yucatan and the four Canadian provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. They have municipal suffrage on the same terms as men throughout the British Isles and in Sweden, and a certain measure of municipal franchise rights in five of the provinces of Canada, and in the cities of Belize in British Honduras, Rangoon in Burmah, and Baroda and Bombay in British India. In certain districts of Austria, Germany, Hungary and Russia women who own property are allowed to cast their votes on various communal matters either in their own persons or through proxies. In Belgium, Bulgaria, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Roumania and Switzerland women have no political rights whatever, but are permitted to vote for certain administrative boards—educational, philanthropic, correctional or industrial.

The Cook County, Ill., 1916 Presidential vote by men and women was: Wilson, 233,814 men and 145,622 women. Hughes, 269,962 men and 165,733 women. Benson, 23,327 men and 9,144 women. Hanly, 985 men and 1,324 women. Reimer, 690 men and 360 women. In the City of Chicago, for the election Nov. 7, 1916, there were 504,674 men and 303,801 women registered. Voted: Men, 487,210, or 96.5%; women, 289,444, or 95.2%.

DURING 1916 WOMAN SUFFRAGE WAS ACTED UPON AS FOLLOWS:

GEORGIA. Amendment to State Constitution—House: Nays 91, yeas 21. Senate hearing set "for August 17"—the day after statutory adjournment of the Legislature.

KENTUCKY. Amendment—House: Yeas 46, nays 45 (lacked two-third vote). Senate: Yeas 26, nays 8.

LOUISIANA. Amendment—House: Yeas 60, nays 49 (lacked two-third vote).

MARYLAND. Amendment—House: Yeas 26, nays 64. Senate: Yeas 17, nays 7.

NEW JERSEY. Presidential Suffrage Bill—Senate referred to Committee on Judiciary and unfavorably reported.

NEW YORK. Amendment—House: Yeas 109, nays 30. Senate: Yeas 38, nays 10. Presidential and Municipal Suffrage: House referred to Committee on Judiciary. Senate referred to Committee on Judiciary.

OKLAHOMA. Amendment—Senate adverse report: House: Yeas 62, nays 15.

RHODE ISLAND. Presidential Suffrage: Died in committee.

SOUTH CAROLINA. Amendment—House: Yeas 51, nays 61.

VIRGINIA. Amendment—House: Yeas 40, nays 52.

To these may be added the bill (Poindexter bill) introduced into Congress to restore the franchise to citizens of the District of Columbia, which includes women in its terms. This bill was reported favorably by the District Committee.

The proposed U. S. Constitutional Amendment early in December, 1916, was on the Senate calendar awaiting action and in the Judiciary Committee of the House.

In the last half of 1916 the women of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba were given the suffrage by the Provincial Legislatures and in British Columbia by referendum vote. In February a Woman Suffrage resolution was defeated in the House of Commons, Canada. The measure was introduced by William Pugsley and was opposed by the Government, the Prime Minister taking the ground that it would open up the question of a new system of Federal franchise.

On June 5 Woman Suffrage was defeated at a special election in Iowa and on November 7 at the general election in South Dakota and in West Virginia.

The International Woman Suffrage Alliance is composed of National Woman Suffrage Associations comprising twenty-six nations. Its officers are: President, Carrie Chapman Catt, 2 West Eighty-sixth Street, New York City; Vice-President, Millicent Garrett Fawcett, London; Second Vice-President, Annie Furuhjelm, Finland; Treasurer, Mrs. Stanton Coit, London; Corresponding Secretaries—First, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Boston, Mass.; Second, Jane Brigode, Brussels, Belgium. DURATION OF SUNSHINE ON UNITED STATES TERRITORY.

THE acquisition of Porto Rico, the Sandwich and Philippine Islands, and a portion of the Navigator or Samoan Group has very considerably affected the duration of continuous sunshine on our territory. The mathematical discussion of this subject would be out of place here, but any one who desires to inform himself on this matter can easily and satisfactorily do so by using a terrestrial globe having an artificial horizon attached to it, and carefully complying with the following instructions: Place the globe so that the North Pole shall be directed toward the north, and elevate it 23° above the horizon as indicated by the brass meridian. Assuming of course, that the sun is in the zenith, this will be the position of the earth in reference to the sun at the Summer solstice, June 22. As we turn the globe on its axis from west to east, the sun will be rising at all places on the western and setting at all places on the eastern horizon, and we shall find on turning the globe through an entire revolution that some portion or other of our territory—including the islands named above—will always be above the horizon or will have continuous sunshine during the twenty-four hours. If we now depress the North Pole 23° below the horizon we shall have the relative position of things at the Winter solstice, December 22, and we shall find the opposite conditions to prevail; that is to say, the sun will not now shine continuously on our territory, but some portion of it will always be involved in darkness or below the horizon.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR VOTING IN EACH STATE OR TERRITORY.

(Communicated to THE WORLD ALMANAC and corrected to date by the Attorneys-General of the respective States.)

In all the States except Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming and the Territory of Alaska the right to vote at general elections is restricted to males of 21 years of age and upward. Women in Illinois, Iowa, and Michigan have a restricted vote and in several States are entitled to vote at school elections. (See article entitled "Woman Suffrage.")

INTERNATIONAL PEACE FORUM.

To promote peace among the nations of the world, by encouraging a systematic study of the causes of war and the best methods to effect its abolition:

1. By the maintenance of a literary bureau for the moulding of public opinion regarding the various phases of the peace movement and the appalling nature and consequences of war;

2. By conducting a speakers' bureau to secure representative men for mass meetings, religious and patriotic services, conferences, conventions, chautauquas and congresses;

3. By organizing in every State in the Union and throughout the world, auxiliaries of the forum, to be controlled and directed from the international headquarters;

4. By creating public sentiment favorable to the establishment of a World Court for the judicial settlement of international disputes;

5. Also to work for the establishment of peace in the industrial world, by diffusing information relating to economic questions, and thus safeguard the rights of life, liberty and property—securing such conditions of industrial and economic competition as are fundamental to the peace of the world.

The forum in endeavoring to bring about industrial peace is striving for the enactment of a measure which will make illegal the calling of a strike until the lapse of a fixed period of time for the purpose of investigation by an impartial tribunal, which shall render a report on the merits of the controversy. Official organ The World Court, published monthly.

PAWNBROKERS' REGULATIONS IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Pawnbrokers in New York City are regulated by statute. The rate of interest fixed by law is 3 per cent. a month or any fraction of a month for the first six months, and 2 per cent. per month for each succeeding month upon any loan not exceeding $100, and 2 per cent. a month for the first six months and 1 per cent. a month for each succeeding month on any loan exceeding $100. Pledges cannot be sold until after they have been kept one year, and then at public auction by a licensed auctioneer, after publication of at least six days in two daily newspapers designated by the Mayor. Pawnbrokers pay a yearly license fee of $500 to the city and are under the control of the Mayor. The license is issued through the Department of Licenses, and their books must be kept open to the Mayor, Criminal Courts, Magistrates, Police and Department of Licenses.

IMPORTANT PEACE MOVEMENTS.

In the first century a temple was dedicated to peace by Vespasian. From that time on there were peace conferences held at various times, including the Peace of Religion signed at Augsburg on September 15, 1555; the unsuccessful conference between Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, and Edward Rutledge, appointed by the United States Congress, and Admiral Howe, September 11, 1776, and the United States Treaty of 1814. It was not, however, until 1815 that the first peace society in the world was organized. It was called the New York Peace Society. In 1828 a national organization was formed and into this the State societies merged. On February 4, 1861, a peace conference was held in Washington, D. C., to prevent the Civil War in the United States.

International Peace Congresses were held in the following cities: London, 1843, 1851, 1890, 1908; Brussels, 1848, 1882; Paris, 1849, 1878, 1889, 1900; Frankfort, 1850; Edinburgh, 1853; Geneva, 1867, 1912; Berne, 1884, 1892; Rome, 1891; Chicago, 1893; Antwerp, 1894; Budapest, 1896; Hamburg, 1897; Glasgow, 1901; Monaco, 1902; Rouen, 1903; Boston, 1904; Lucerne, 1905; Milan, 1906; Munich, 1907; Stockholm, 1910; The Hague, 1913.

National Peace Congresses were held in the United States in New York City, 1907; Chicago, 1909; Baltimore, 1911; St. Louis, 1913.

The first Hague conference was held May 18, 1899, with twenty-six nations represented; the second was held June 15, 1907, with forty-four nations.

The neutrality of Belgium was guaranteed by treaty between Prussia, Austria, Great Britain, France, Russia, and the Netherlands and was signed in London April 19, 1839, and ratified between the contracting powers in 1870.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE PLAN—PRESIDENT WILSON'S PEACE PROPOSAL.

The parties hereto agree that all questions of whatever character and nature in dispute between them shall, when diplomatic efforts fail, be submitted for investigation and report to an international commission (the composition to be agreed upon); and the contracting parties agree not to declare war or begin hostilities until such investigation is made and report submitted.

The investigation shall be conducted, as a matter of course, upon the initiative of the commission, without the formality of a request from either party; the report shall be submitted within (time to be agreed upon) from the date of the submission of the dispute, but the parties hereto reserve the right to act independently on the subject matter in dispute after the report is submitted. (For Supplementary Memorandum by the Secretary of State, see World Almanac of 1915, p. 734.)

Treaties embracing this peace plan have been signed up to December 15, 1916, by thirty countries, as follows:

Salvador.	Bolivia.	Costa Rica.	Norway.	Chile.	China.

THE TEUTONIC PEACE PROPOSAL.

TO THE NEUTRAL POWERS.

BERLIN, Dec. 12, 1916—Following is the text of the note addressed by Germany and her allies to the neutral powers for transmission to the Entente allies:

"The most terrific war experienced in history has been raging for the last two years and a half over a large part of the world—a catastrophe which thousands of years of common civilization was unable to prevent and which injures the most precious achievements of humanity.

"Our aims are not to shatter nor annihilate our adversaries. In spite of our consciousness of our military and economic strength and our readiness to continue the war (which has been forced upon us) to the bitter end, if necessary; at the same time, prompted by the desire to avoid further bloodshed and make an end to the atrocities of war, the four allied powers propose to enter forthwith into peace negotiations.

"The propositions which they bring forward for such negotiations, and which have for their object a guarantee of the existence, of the honor and liberty of evolution for their nations, are, according to their firm belief, an appropriate basis for the establishment of a lasting peace.

"The four allied powers have been obliged to take up arms to defend justice and the liberty of national evolution. The glorious deeds of our armies have in no way altered their purpose. We always maintained the firm belief that our own rights and justified claims in no way control the rights of these nations.

"The spiritual and material progress which were the pride of Europe at he beginning of the twentieth century are threatened with ruin. Germany and her allies, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, gave proof of their unconquerable strength in this struggle. They gained gigantic advantages over adversaries superior in number and war material. Our lines stand unshaken against ever-repeated attempts made by armies.

"The last attack in the Balkans has been rapidly and victoriously overcome. The most recent events have demonstrated that further continuance of the war will not result in breaking the resistance of our forces, and the whole situation with regard to our troops justifies our expectation of further successes.

"If, in spite of this offer of peace and reconciliation, the struggle should go on, the four allied powers are resolved to continue to a victorious end, but they disclaim responsibility for this before humanity and history. The Imperial Government, through the good offices of Your Excellency, asks the Government of [here is inserted the name of the neutral power addressed in each instance] to bring this communication to the knowledge of the Government of [here are inserted the names of the belligerents.]"

TO THE VATICAN.

BERLIN, Dec. 12, 1916—The note of the German Government, as presented by Dr. von Muhlberg, German Minister to the Vatican, to Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, reads as follows:

"According to instructions received, I have the honor to send to Your Eminence a copy of the declaration of the Imperial Government to-day, which by the good offices of the powers intrusted with the protection of German interests in the countries with which the German Empire is in a state of war, transmits to these states, and in which the Imperial Government declares itself ready to enter into peace negotiations. The Austro-Hungarian, Turkish and Bulgarian Governments also have sent similar notes.

"The reasons which prompted Germany and her allies to take this step are manifest. For two years and a half a terrible war has been devastating the European Continent. Unlimited treasures of civilization have been destroyed. Extensive areas have been soaked with blood. Millions of brave soldiers have fallen in battle and millions have returned home as invalids. Grief and sorrow fill almost every house.

"Not only upon the belligerent nations but also upon neutrals, the destructive consequences of the gigantic struggle weigh heavily. Trade and commerce, carefully built up in years of peace, have been depressed. The best forces of the nation have been withdrawn from the production of useful objects. Europe, which formerly was devoted to the propagation of religion and civilization, which was trying to find solutions for social problems, and was the home of science and art and all peaceful labor, now resembles an immense war camp, in which the achievements and works of many decades are doomed to annihilation.

"Germany is carrying on a war of defence against her enemies, which aim at her destruction. She fights to assure the integrity of her frontiers and the liberty of the German nation, for the right which she claims to develop freely her intellectual and economic energies in peaceful competition and on an equal footing with other nations. All the efforts of their enemies are unable to shatter the heroic armies of the (Teutonic) allies, which protect the frontiers of their countries, strengthened by the certainty that the enemy shall never pierce the iron wall.

"Those fighting on the front know that they are supported by the whole nation, which is inspired by love for its country and is ready for the greatest sacrifices and determined to defend to the last extremity the inherited treasure of intellectual and economic work and the social organization and sacred soil of the country.

"Certain of our own strength, but realizing Europe's sad future if the war continues; seized with pity in the face of the unspeakable misery of humanity, the German Empire, in accord with her allies, solemnly repeats what the Chancellor already has declared, a year ago, that Germany is ready to give peace to the world by setting before the whole world the question whether or not it is possible to find a basis for an understanding.

"Since the first day of the Pontifical reign His Holiness the Pope has unswervingly demonstrated, in the most generous fashion, his solicitude for the innumerable victims of this war. He has alleviated the sufferings and ameliorated the fate of thousands of men injured by this catastrophe. Inspired by the exalted ideas of his ministry, His Holiness has seized every opportunity in the interests of humanity to end so sanguinary a war.

"The Imperial Government is firmly confident that the initiative of the four powers will find friendly welcome on the part of His Holiness, and that the work of peace can count upon the precious support of the Holy See."

AUSTRIA'S SEPARATE STATEMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 12, 1916—An official Austrian statement, referring to the peace offer, says:

"When in the Summer of 1914 the patience of Austria-Hungary was exhausted by a series of systematically continued and ever increasing provocations and menaces, and the monarchy, after almost fifty years of unbroken peace, found itself compelled to draw the sword, this weighty decision was animated neither by aggressive purposes nor by designs of conquest, but solely by the bitter necessity of self-defence, to defend its existence and safeguard itself for the future against similar treacherous plots of hostile neighbors.

"That was the task and aim of the monarchy in the present war. In combination with its allies, well tried in loyal comradeship in arms, the Austro-Hungarian army and fleet, fighting, bleeding, but also assailing and conquering, gained such successes that they frustrated the intentions of the enemy. The quadruple alliance not only has won an immense series of victories, but also holds in its power extensive hostile territories. Unbroken is its strength, as our latest treacherous enemy has just experienced.

"Can our enemies hope to conquer or shatter this alliance of powers? They will never succeed in breaking it by blockade and starvation measures. Their war aims, to the attainment of which they have come no nearer in the third year of the war, will in the future be proved to have been completely unattainable. Useless and unavailing, therefore, is the prosecution of the fighting on the part of the enemy.

"The powers of the quadruple alliance, on the other hand, have effectively pursued their aims, namely, defence against attacks on their existence and integrity, which were planned in concert long since, and the achievement of real guarantees, and they will never allow themselves to be deprived of the basis of their existence, which they have secured by advantages won.

"The continuation of the murderous war, in which the enemy can destroy much, but cannot—as the quadruple alliance is firmly confident—alter fate, is ever more seen to be an aimless destruction of human lives and property, an act of inhumanity justified by no necessity and a crime against civilization.

"This conviction, and the hope that similar views may also be begun to be entertained in the enemy camp, has caused the idea to ripen in the Vienna Cabinet—in full agreement with the Governments of the allied (Teutonic) powers—of making a candid and loyal endeavor to come to a discussion with their enemies for the purpose of paving a way for peace.

"The Governments of Austria-Hungary, Germany, Turkey and Bulgaria have addressed to-day identical notes to the diplomatic representatives in the capitals concerned who are intrusted with the promotion of enemy nationals, expressing an inclination to enter into peace negotiations and requesting them to transmit this overture to enemy states. This step was simultaneously brought to the knowledge of the representatives of the Holy See in a special note, and the active interest of the Pope for this offer of peace was solicited. Likewise the accredited representatives of the remaining neutral states in the four capitals were acquainted with this proceeding for the purpose of informing their Governments.

"Austria and her allies by this step have given new and decisive proof of their love of peace. It is now for their enemies to make known their views before the world.

"Whatever the result of its proposal may be, no responsibility can fall on the quadruple alliance, even before the judgment seat of its own peoples, if it is eventually obliged to continue the war."

WOMEN'S PEACE PARTY.

The section for the United States of the International Committee of Women for Permanent Peace.

On January 9, 10, 1915, a conference was held in Washington, D. C., at which representatives from all the leading women's organizations and movements assembled to consider measures for promoting and formulating peace sentiment in the United States, and perhaps throughout the world. The Woman's Peace Party was thus formally launched. The purpose of this organization is to enlist all American women in arousing the nations to respect the sacredness of human life and to abolish war. The following was adopted as their platform:

1. The immediate calling of a convention of neutral nations in the interest of early peace. 2. Limitation of armaments and the nationalization of their manufacture. 3. Organized opposition to militarism in our own country. 4. Education of youth in the ideals of peace. 5. Democratic control of foreign policies. 6. The further humanizing of governments by the extension of the franchise to women. 7. "Concert of Nations" to supersede "Balance of Power." 8. Action toward the gradual organization of the world to substitute law for war. 9. The substitution of an international police for rival armies and navies. 10. Removal of the economic causes of war. 11. The appointment by our Government of a commission of men and women, with an adequate appropriation, to promote international peace.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S NOTE TO THE BELLIGERENT NATIONS.

The Secretary of State to the American Ambassadors at the Capitals of the Belligerent Powers:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 18, 1916.

The President directs me to send you the following communication to be presented immediately to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Government to which you are accredited:

The President of the United States has instructed me to suggest to the [here is inserted a designation of the Government addressed] a course of action with regard to the present war, which he hopes that the Government will take under consideration as suggested in the most friendly spirit, and as coming not only from a friend but also as coming from the representative of a neutral nation whose interests have been most seriously affected by the war and whose concern for its early conclusion arises out of a manifest necessity to determine how best to safeguard those interests if the war is to continue.

[The third paragraph of the note as sent to the four central powers—Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria—is as follows:]

The suggestion which I am instructed to make the President has long had it in mind to offer. He is somewhat embarrassed to offer it at this particular time, because it may now seem to have been prompted by a desire to play a part in connection with the recent overtures of the central powers. It has, in fact, been in no way suggested by them in its origin, and the President would have delayed offering it until those overtures had been independently answered but for the fact that it also concerns the question of peace and may best be considered in connection with other proposals which have the same end in view. The President can only beg that his suggestion be considered entirely on its own merits and as if it had been made in other circumstances.

[The third paragraph of the note as sent to the ten Entente allies—Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Russia, Belgium, Montenegro, Portugal, Roumania and Serbia—is as follows:]

The suggestion which I am instructed to make the President has long had it in mind to offer. He is somewhat embarrassed to offer it at this particular time, because it may now seem to have been prompted by the recent overtures of the central powers. It is, in fact, in no way associated with them in its origin, and the President would have delayed offering it until those overtures had been answered but for the fact that it also concerns the question of peace and may best be considered in connection with other proposals which have the same end in view. The President can only beg that his suggestion be considered entirely on its own merits and as if it had been made in other circumstances.

The President suggests that an early occasion be sought to call out from all the nations now at war such an avowal of their respective views as to the terms upon which the war might be concluded and the arrangements which would be deemed satisfactory as a guaranty against its renewal or the kindling of any similar conflict in the future as would make it possible frankly to compare them. He is indifferent as to the means taken to accomplish this. He would be happy himself to serve, or even to take the initiative in its accomplishment, in any way that might prove acceptable, but he has no desire to determine the method or the instrumentality. One way will be as acceptable to him as another, if only the great object he has in mind be attained.

He takes the liberty of calling attention to the fact that the objects, which the statesmen of the belligerents on both sides have in mind in this war, are virtually the same, as stated in general terms to their own people and to the world. Each side desires to make the rights and privileges of weak peoples and small states as secure against aggression or denial in the future as the rights and privileges of the great and powerful states now at war. Each wishes itself to be made secure in the future, along with all other nations and peoples, against the recurrence of wars like this and against aggression or selfish interference of any kind. Each would be jealous of the formation of any more rival leagues to preserve an uncertain balance of power amid multiplying suspicions; but each is ready to consider the formation of a league of nations to insure peace and justice throughout the world. Before that final step can be taken, however, each deems it necessary first to settle the issues of the present war upon terms which will certainly safeguard the independence, the territorial integrity and the political and commercial freedom of the nations involved.

In the measures to be taken to secure the future peace of the world the people and Government of the United States are as vitally and as directly interested as the Governments now at war. Their interest, moreover, in the means to be adopted to relieve the smaller and weaker peoples of the world of the peril of wrong and violence is as quick and ardent as that of any other people or Government. They stand ready, and even eager, to co-operate in the accomplishment of these ends, when the war is over, with every influence and resource at their command. But the war must first be concluded. The terms upon which it is to be concluded they are not at liberty to suggest; but the President does feel that it is his right and his duty to point out their intimate interest in its conclusion, lest it should presently be too late to accomplish the greater things which lie beyond its conclusion, lest the situation of neutral nations, now exceedingly hard to endure, be rendered altogether intolerable, and lest, more than all, an injury be done civilization itself which can never be atoned for or repaired.

The President therefore feels altogether justified in suggesting an immediate opportunity for a comparison of views as to the terms which must precede those ultimate arrangements for the peace of the world, which all desire and in which the neutral nations as well as those at war are ready to play their full responsible part. If the contest must continue to proceed toward undefined ends by slow attrition until the one group of belligerents or the other is exhausted; if million after million of human lives must continue to be offered up until on the one side or the other there are no more to offer; if resentments must be kindled that can never cool and despairs engendered from which there can be no recovery, hopes of peace and of the willing concert of free peoples will be rendered vain and idle.

The life of the entire world has been profoundly affected. Every part of the great family of mankind has felt the burden and terror of this unprecedented contest of arms. No nation in the civilized world can be said in truth to stand outside its influence or to be safe against its disturbing effects. And yet the concrete objects for which it is being waged have never been definitively stated.

The leaders of the several belligerents have, as has been said, stated those objects in general terms. But, stated in general terms, they seem the same on both sides. Never yet have the authoritative spokesmen of either side avowed the precise objects which would, if attained, satisfy them and their people that the war had been fought out. The world has been left to conjecture what definitive results, what actual exchange of guaranties, what political or territorial changes or readjustments, what stage of military success, even, would bring the war to an end.

It may be that peace is nearer than we know; that the terms which the belligerents on the one side and on the other would deem it necessary to insist upon are not so irreconcilable as some have feared; that an interchange of views would clear the way at least for conference and make the permanent concord of the nations a hope of the immediate future, a concert of nations immediately practicable.

The President is not proposing peace: he is not even offering mediation. He is merely proposing that soundings be taken in order that we may learn, the neutral nations with the belligerent, how near the haven of peace may be for which all mankind longs with an intense and increasing longing. He believes that the spirit in which he speaks and the objects which he seeks will be understood by all concerned and he confidently hopes for a response which will bring a new light into the affairs of the world.

LANSING.

THE AMERICAN LEGION.

CO-OPERATING WITH CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PREPAREDNESS.

The American Legion, Inc., was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York on March 6, 1915. Object: The United States Government has no record of the present addresses and qualifications of its honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines, nor has it information of available men trained in the various occupations essential to the conduct of modern war The American Legion is formed to enroll the names of all such citizens qualified either by previous military or technical experience and who will now express their willingness to respond in case the Government should at any time need their services. The information obtained by the legion, carefully classified as to qualifications and localities by a thorough system of cross-indexing, is intended for the use of the Government.

Ineligible. Men serving in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States, or in the National Guard of any of the several States, being in the first line of defence are not eligible for enrolment in the legion. Upon their resignation or honorable discharge they, however, become eligible.

A handicap record from scratch is recognized as competition record if the time made is better than has been made in any scratch race of the same distance. One hour, 28 miles 19 yards, W. Hedspeth, Dayton, Ohio, July 31, 1902.

NOTE—The fastest time ever made in competition in a half-mile contest was done by Frank L. Kramer, from scratch in a handicap, at the Newark Velodrome (Vailsburg), Sept. 16, 1914. He was officially clocked at 0.53 flat, but as he did not finish in first position his time does not count as a competition record.

At the Newark Velodrome, September 12, 1915, Arthur Spencer, of Toronto, Canada, rode a half-mile from scratch in 55s., equalling McDougall's record. The latter's mark, however, having been made first, receives credit as the record mark.

The fastest time made for the mile in amateur competition was by Hans Ohrt, the 1915 National and World's Champion, who at the Newark Velodrome, September 15, 1915, rode from scratch in a one-mile handicap in 1m. 53 2-5s. He finished third in the race, his time being officially taken. It does not count as a record, as he did not win the race.

IMPORTANT CYCLING EVENTS.

Owing to the continuation of the European war, the functions of the Union Cycliste Internationale have been temporarily suspended, each national controlling organization composing the U. C. I. acting independently within its own jurisdiction, under U. C. I. general rules. In consequence there were no World's Championship races run in 1916.

Paul Guignard holds the 100-kilometre paced record, made at Munich, September 15, 1909, in the time of 59m. 1s. Guignard also holds the 1-hour professional paced record, made the same time and place, of 63 miles 189.8 yards. At Munich Guignard, on July 23, 1909, rode 31 miles 1,198 yards in the half-hour (a record). The amateur 1-hour motor-paced record is 56 miles 1,128 yards, and was made by Francois Cuzin at Munich, September 30, 1909. Cuzin completed 100 kilometres in 1h. 5m. 45 2-5s. Oscar Egg, at the Velodrome Buffalo, Paris, in June, 1914, rode 27.50 miles unpaced in the hour. Arthur Van der Stuyft made a two-hour paced record at Leipsic, Germany, October 11, 1908, of 106 miles 1,498 yards.

Boston Six-Day Race, November 6-11, 1916, ten hours per day. Final score, Goullet-Granda, 1,350 miles, 42 points; Magin-Corry, 1,350 miles, 73 points; Thomas-Lawrence, 1,350 miles, 82 points; Hanley-Madden, 1,350 miles, 120 points; Dupuy-Kaiser, 1,350 miles, 137 points; Sullivan-Eaton, 1,350 miles, 158 points; Spencer-Spencer, 1,350 miles, 158 points; Root-Lawson, 1,350 miles, 164 points; Carman-Wiley, 1,350 miles, 203 points.

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING BOARD.

The object of this board is to promote the gradual and progressive simplification of English spelling by omitting silent letters, and following the simpler rather than the more complex of the present analogies. President—Charles H. Grandgent. Secretary—Henry Gallup Paine. Treasurer—Gano Dunn. Number of members: Board, 48; Advisory Council, 252. Headquarters, 18 Old Slip, New York City.

THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

THE Referendum has been defined as "the referring of legislation to the people for final rejection or acceptance;" the Initiative as "the giving to the people the right of proposing legislation to be acted upon." It has been further said that the Referendum as it is now generally advocated requires that no law save a strictly defined class of urgent measures for the public peace, health, and safety, which usually must have a two-thirds or three-fourths majority to pass, shall go into effect without waiting a fixed time, say ninety days. If, during this time, a part of the voters, say 10 per cent., sign a petition for the Referendum on that law, it would not go into effect till the next regular election, when the people would vote on it, and if a majority voted "no" it would not be a law. The Initiative gives the people the power to originate laws. If a certain percentage of the voters, say 10 per cent., sign a petition for a law and file it with the proper official it must come before the Legislature and perhaps be referred to the people. Sometimes the law requires that legislation be referred to the people, whether they petition it or not. This is called the "Compulsory Referendum." Where the Referendum is taken only when a certain number petition for it, it is called the "Optional Referendum." The Referendum and the Initiative provide for direct legislation, that is, legislation directly by the people.

On November 7 the voters of New York rejected a proposition to hold a constitutional convention.

Equity gives the following statement as to the progress of the Initiative, the Referendum, and the Recall in the United States.

In order to make the progress and status of the movement for the direct popular control of government available for quick and convenient reference, the following tabulation of the data up to January, 1916, is presented. Percentages in this table refer to the proportion of voters required on petitions.

UTAH AND IDAHO: Initiative and Referendum amendments were adopted by the voters of Utah in 1900 and of Idaho in 1912, but in both cases without a self-enacting clause. In both of these States the amendments have remained a dead letter for lack of action by the Legislature: hence omitted from above table.

* 'Indirect. as applied to the Initiative and Referendum, means that opportunity must be given for action by the Legislature on initiated measures before their submission at the polls. If not passed by the Legislature the measure must then go to the polls.

† KANSAS AND LOUISIANA: Amendments for the Recall were adopted in 1914 by the voters of Kansas (10 per cent. petition for State, 15 per cent. for a county, and 25 per cent. for a municipality) and by the voters of Louisiana (25 per cent petition).

MUNICIPAL: The Initiative and Referendum and the Recall are now in operation, more or less completely, in over 300 municipalities, some under general State laws and others by special charter acts. Many such municipalities are in States not having the State-wide Initiative and Referendum or Recall.

BANKS IN MANHATTAN AND BRONX.

THE Clearing-House is at 77 Cedar Street, Manhattan Borough. Wm. Sherer is Manager, Wm. J. Gilpin, Assistant Manager. Forty-five banks and fifteen trust companies are associated for the purpose of exchanging the checks and bills they hold against one another. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New York also clear. Other banks, not members of the association, clear through members. The representatives of the members appear at the Clearing-House at 10 o'clock every business day, with the checks and drafts to be exchanged. The resulting balances are ascertained in about an hour, and before 1.30 o'clock those indebted pay their balances, and after that hour the other banks receive the amounts due them. The Clearing-House has been in operation since 1853.

Following are extracts from the Manager's annual report for year ended September 30, 1916: The Clearing-House transactions for the year have been as follows: Exchanges, $147 180,709,461; balances, $8,561,624,447; total transactions, $155,742,333,908. The average daily transactions: Exchanges, $484,147,071; balances, $28,163,238; total, $512,310,309. Total transactions since organization of Clearing-House (63 years): Exchanges, $2,747,057,458,238; balances, $131,699,611,445; total, $2,878,757,069,683.

Banks are open from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M., and on Saturdays from 10 A. M. to 12 noon. Commercial paper, except sight or demand bills, falling due on Saturday is payable on the following business day.

JURY DUTY IN MANHATTAN AND BRONX.

To be qualified to serve a person must be not less than 21 nor more than 70 years of age, and he must be a male citizen of the United States, and a resident of the county of New York; and he is a resident within the meaning of the jury law if he dwells or lodges here the greater part of the time between the first day of October and the last day of June. He must be the owner, in his own right, of real or personal property of the value of $250; or the husband of a woman who is the owner, in her own right, of real or personal property of that value. He must also be in the possession of his natural faculties, and not be infirm or decrepit; intelligent, of good character, and able to read and write the English language understandingly.

THE FOLLOWING PERSONS ARE ENTITLED TO EXEMPTION.

A clergyman, minister of any religion officiating as such, and not following any other calling. A practising physician, surgeon, surgeon-dentist, or veterinary surgeon not following any other calling, and a licensed pharmaceutist or pharmacist, or a duly licensed embalmer, while actually engaged in his profession as a means of livelihood. An attorney or counsellor-at-law regularly engaged in the practice of law as a means of livelihood. A professor or teacher in a college, academy, or public school, not following any other calling. Editor, editorial writer, or reporter of a daily newspaper or press association regularly employed as such, and not following any other vocation. The holder of an office under the United States, or the State, or city or county of New York, whose official duties, at the time, prevent his attendance as a juror. A consul of a foreign nation. A captain, engineer, or other officer actually employed upon a vessel making regular trips; a licensed pilot, actually following that calling. A superintendent, conductor, or engineer employed by a railroad company other than a street railroad company, or a telegraph operator employed by a press association or telegraph company who is actually doing duty in an office, or along the railroad or telegraph line of the company or association by which he is employed. Honorably discharged firemen. Active and honorably discharged militiamen and active members of the Old Guard. A duly licensed engineer of steam boilers actually employed as such. Inspectors, poll clerks, and ballot clerks, or a person who is physically incapable. Grand, Sheriff's, Special, and Municipal Court Jurors.

NEW YORK WATER SUPPLY.

NEW YORK CITY has grown so rapidly in the past ten years that the water system, which, when first planned, was considered ample for many years, has been taxed to its limit, and there is at present an urgent need for the new system, which is now nearly completed, for bringing water from the Catskill Mountains. The city consumes every day for domestic, sanitary, and manufacturing purposes about 550,000,000 gallons of water, or nearly 100 gallons a day per inhabitant. The new Catskill Aqueduct will have a capacity of 500,000,000 gallons a day, and the largest reservoir (the Ashokan) in the system, once filled, could supply the city for seven months at the present rate of consumption without any water flowing into it.

THE PRESENT SYSTEM.

The water supply of the City of New York is divided by boroughs, those of Manhattan and Bronx being taken together, as they are practically supplied from the same sources. In the Boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx the supply is by means of gravity, the water being pumped to the higher parts of the boroughs. In the lower part of Manhattan and certain business districts of Brooklyn an independent system known as the high pressure fire service is used exclusively for fire protection purposes. The high pressure fire service system usually draws its supply from the distributing mains; in case of emergency provision has been made so that salt water can be used.

The Boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx are supplied from both the Croton and the Bronx and Byram watersheds. The Croton covers an area of 375 square miles, and from various reservoirs water is brought through more than 30 miles of masonry conduit to distributing reservoirs in the boroughs. The Bronx and Byram watershed covers an area of about 22 square miles.

In Manhattan Croton water is used entirely, but in the Bronx about one-half of the population is supplied with Croton water, the other half being supplied from the new Kensico Reservoir, which is fed from the Catskill shed, supplemented by the Bronx and Byram Rivers. Approximately 350,000,000 gallons are used every day in Manhattan and the Bronx.

In Brooklyn about 80 per cent. of the water comes from wells, and the remainder from small streams, the watersheds having an area of nearly 170 square miles. All the water is pumped, and about 150,000,000 gallons are consumed daily from municipal and private sources. Flatbush and Borough Park are supplied by private companies from wells.

The city supplies only the First and Third Wards in the Borough of Queens, while the other wards are supplied by private companies. The water is taken chiefly from wells, and the consumption averages about 36,000,000 gallons daily.

In Richmond the city owns the wells, which furnish about 11,500,000 gallons daily.

High Pressure Fire Service System—The high pressure fire service system in Manhattan is bounded by Thirty-fourth Street, Madison Avenue, Twenty-fourth Street, Lexington Avenue, Fourteenth Street, Third Avenue, Bowery, Houston Street, East River, Battery, North River, and covers an area of 5.8 square miles.

There are two pumping stations—one located at Gansevoort and West Streets, and the other at Oliver and South Streets. Each station has six electrically driven centrifugal pumps that are connected to the Croton supply (see above), the Gansevoort and West Street station being also connected to the North River, and the Oliver and South Street station to the East River. Thus either fresh or salt water may be used, the latter, however, only being used in emergencies. Each pump can deliver 3,000 gallons a minute under a pressure of 300 pounds per square inch at the station. The combined capacity of the two stations is equal to about 50 fire engines delivering two good-sized streams. The pumping stations respond to every alarm with a pressure of 125 pounds per square inch.

The distributing system consists of 128 miles of mains, 8 to 24 inches in diameter, and about 2,750 four-nozzle hydrants and the necessary valves.

The pressure at any point can be increased or decreased by telephoning to the pumping stations. For this purpose there are approximately 696 telephone boxes, besides telephones communicating with the Fire Department headquarters and with the main and subsidiary stations of the New York Edison Company, from which the necessary electric power is obtained.

The present system cost about $6,762,000 for stations, land, mains, and appurtenances.

In Brooklyn there are two high pressure fire service systems—one protecting the business and manufacturing districts, and the other the amusement section of Coney Island.

The one for the business and manufacturing districts is bounded by the Navy Yard, St. Edward's Street, St. Felix Street, Fort Greene Place, Fifth Avenue, Twenty-fourth Street, Fourth Avenue, Thirty-ninth Street and the water front, covering an area of 4.8 square miles. The supply is furnished by two stations, the main one being located at the foot of Joralemon Street, and the reserve one at Willoughby and St. Edward's Streets. Both draw their supply from the Ridgewood mains, the main station being also connected to the East River. The pumps are electrically operated in both stations, and have a combined rated capacity of 24,000 gallons per minute against a pressure of 300 pounds per square inch. The distributing system consists of about 34 miles of mains, 8 to 20 inches in diameter, with the usual hydrants.

The Coney Island high-pressure system protects an area of 470 acres. The pumping station is located at West Twelfth Street and Coney Island Creek. Gas engine driving pumps are installed, the total capacity being 4,500 gallons per minute pumping to a pressure of 150 pounds per square inch. The water is distributed through six miles of mains, 8 to 16 inches in diameter, having hydrants where necessary.

THE CATSKILL SYSTEM.

The Catskill water supply system, the partial development of which is nearing completion, at present comprises the following reservoirs: Ashokan for impounding the water, Kensico for storage, Hill View for equalizing and distributing, and Silver Lake for distributing and serving as a terminal reservoir, and besides these reservoirs the Catskill Aqueduct for conveying the water. In New York City the system is inter-connected with existing pipe lines. However, the city pumping plants in Manhattan and the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond, which pumped during the year 1915 about 400,000,000 gallons daily, and the various private plants, which during 1915 supplied about 34,000,000 gallons daily, may in part be dispensed with, as the water brought by the new Catskill system will have in general sufficient pressure to reach the twentieth floor of a building situated at tide level.

Ashokan Reservoir—The main supply will be impounded or collected in the Ashokan Reservoir, which is 13 miles west of Kingston, N. Y., from its tributary watersheds—the Esopus, now almost fully developed, 255 square miles in extent, and the Schoharie, 314 square miles, for which construction studies are now being made.

The Ashokan Reservoir, formed by the Olive Bridge Dam and a number of dikes, is approximately 12 miles long by one mile wide, with a maximum depth of 190 feet. When full, the surface of the water is 590 feet above sea level. Over a series of dry years the Esopus watershed cannot be depended upon to supply more than 250,000,000 gallons daily, but the Catskill Aqueduct has for economic reasons been constructed for 500,000,000 gallons' daily capacity.

Surveys and investigations by borings have fixed upon Gilboa as the site of the proposed dam across Schoharie Creek, the watershed of which is counted upon to furnish the additional 250 000,000 gallons of water daily to utilize the Catskill Aqueduct to its full capacity. This involves the connection of the Schoharie Reservoir formed by the dam at Gilboa with the tributaries of the Ashokan Reservoir through a 17-mile tunnel.

Catskill Aqueduct—Leading from the Ashokan Reservoir is the Catskill Aqueduct conveying the water to Storm King, four miles above West Point, then under the Hudson River in a tunnel to Breakneck Mountain, from Breakneck Mountain to Kensico Reservoir (east of Tarrytown, N. Y.), and from the latter to Hill View Reservoir in Yonkers, just north of the city line.

The type of construction depends entirely on the nature of the country the aqueduct crosses. Wherever possible it is built in the open—that is, cut-and-cover, but in many cases tunnels and siphons are required. The cut-and-cover portion is of concrete, having a horseshoe-shaped cross section 17 feet high and 17 feet 6 inches wide, with the flat part resting on the ground. The dimensions of the tunnels range from approximately those just given to a circular section 14 feet 6 inches in diameter. The entire waterway is concrete lined.

The most difficult tunnel to bore was the one under the Hudson River, between Storm King and Breakneck Mountains. Here it was necessary to cut through solid rock at a distance of 1,100 feet below the surface of the river. From Breakneck Mountain to Kensico Reservoir cut-and-cover construction, with an occasional tunnel or siphons followed; similarly Kensico Reservoir is connected to Hill View Reservoir, and from the latter is the tunnel for supplying New York. The Catskill Aqueduct, from Ashokan Reservoir to the city line at Yonkers, is about 92 miles long, 55 miles being cut-and-cover, 31 miles tunnels, and 6 miles of steel pipes.

City Tunnel of Catskill Aqueduct—The city tunnel from Hill View Reservoir passes under the Borough of the Bronx, the Harlem River, the Borough of Manhattan, and the East River, terminating in Brooklyn, a distance of 18 miles. At the Brooklyn terminal pipes extend to the Boroughs of Queens and Richmond, the pipes to the latter being of cast iron, crossing the Narrows and discharging into an equalizing reservoir at Silver Lake, 225 feet above sea level.

The tunnel is circular in section, reducing from 15 feet to 11 feet in diameter, lined with concrete, and varying from 250 to 750 feet deep in solid rock. It thus passes far below all subway and building foundations. About every 4,000 feet there are connections to the present distributing system through controlling valves set to furnish the water at any lower pressure than that in the tunnel which existing conditions may require.

The tunnel is capable of delivering 500,000,000 gallons daily, the water rising at the Brooklyn end to nearly 240 feet above tide water, a height sufficient to supply without pumping the highest sections of the borough. The estimated cost of the tunnel and pipes within the city and the reservoir on Staten Island is $25,000,000.

The total cost of the entire system as projected, including the development of the Schoharie watershed, the necessary reservoirs, Catskill Aqueduct, and all appurtenances will be about $177,000,000. It is anticipated that the work now under way for the delivery of the yield of Esopus watershed, 250,000,000 gallons daily, will be completed in 1917.

Construction operations have been in progress about nine years, and $100,000,000 worth of contracts have been awarded. The development of the Esopus watershed is completed, from which a daily yield of 250,000,000 gallons is obtainable. The aqueduct to deliver this water to the five boroughs of the city is finished with the exception of contract tests of the city tunnel, a few minor items of construction and equipment, operating tests of the entire work, and final preparations for service. The Ashokan impounding reservoir was in August, 1916, storing 118,400,000,000 gallons of water, over 90 per cent. of its capacity. Kensico Storage Reservoir, through record-breaking progress in the construction of Kensico Dam, is so nearly completed as to permit the storage of water. Hill View Equalizing Reservoir is finished, while Silver Lake Terminal Reservoir, commenced in August, 1913, is over three-quarters done. None of the last three mentioned reservoirs is immediately essential to the temporary operation of the aqueduct.

THE KNIGHTS OF KING ARTHUR.

The Knights of King Arthur is the largest church-boys' organization in the world, having 3,200 chapters and enrolling 150,000 boys in this country and Canada. Undenominational, it has found continual success in all churches, Y. M. C. A's and schools in all parts of the country. It is a fraternity, private but not secret, self-governing and under the control of the local church. Based upon the oldest English Christian legend that of the Round Table, it is a revival of the nobler side of mediaeval chivalry. While religious, the plan allows ample opportunity for athletic, out-door activities, parliamentary, social, educational and religious interests. Founded in 1893 by Rev. William Byron Forbush it has had a continual and steady growth. There is likewise incorporated with this order a large and similar organization for girls, The Queens of Avalon; a junior order for boys, The Yeomen of King Arthur; also a junior club based on the Bible, The Brotherhood of David. The Councillors of the national order are: G. Stanley Hall, Hon. Ben. Lindsey and Rev. Frank Graham Taylor. Headquarters—600 West 122d St., New York, N. Y. Dascomb Forbush, National Seneschal.

LEAGUE OF FOREIGN-BORN CITIZENS.

To interest immigrants in the ideals of American citizenship; to cause those who are not yet citizens to become citizens and to help bring about active public interest in the Americanization of immigrants. Classes in citizenship and English; public meetings; co-operates with public officials. Present membership about 2,400. Headquarters—138 2d Ave., New York City.

Officers: President—Nathaniel Phillips. Secretary—Samuel W. Levine. Treasurer—Raphael Perlman. Vice-Presidents—Arnold Binger, Royal Dixon, Timothy Healy, G. Carl Lotz, M. D., Demosthenes Liakos, Jacob Weiss. Honorary Vice-Presidents—George Gordon Battle, Charles L. Bernheimer, George E. Blackwell, Louis W. Fehr, George McAneny, Marcus M. Marks, John Purroy Mitchel, William Fellowes Morgan, George W. Wickersham.

BUREAU OF MUNICIPAL RESEARCH.

Bureau of Municipal Research, 261 Broadway. Director—Dr. F. A. Cleveland. Chairman—R. Fulton Cutting. Object: Impartial analysis of problems of governmental administration in city and State; constructive publicity regarding same. Training School for Public Service, Supervisor—Dr. C. A. Beard. Field work in other cities and State governments; scientific research in preparation of administrative handbooks, service manuals and monographs to aid administrators.

CIVIC ASSOCIATIONS NATIONAL.

Institute for Government Research—1916, Washington, D. C. Director—W. F. Willoughby. Chairman—Dr. Frank J. Goodnow. A national association of citizens for co-operating with public officers in the scientific study of business methods with a view to promoting efficiency and economy in the National Government.

SUBWAY SYSTEMS IN NEW YORK CITY.

For Tunnels in and about New York City, see Index.

THE FIRST SUBWAY.

The subway operated by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company comprises:

A four-track trunk line from City Hall Park through Lafayette Street, Fourth Avenue, Forty-second Street and Broadway to Ninety-sixth Street.

A two-track southern extension from City Hall, down Broadway to the Battery, there connected by the Rapid Transit Tunnel under the East River to the Brooklyn subway, which extends along Joralemon and Fulton Streets to Atlantic Avenue.

Two northern branches from Ninety-sixth Street, viz. (a) the Broadway and (b) the Lenox Avenue.

(a) The Broadway or West Side branch extends along Broadway, St. Nicholas and Amsterdam Avenues and Broadway to 242d Street (Van Cortlandt Park). It has three tracks from Ninety-sixth Street to 137th Street and two beyond. Part of it is an elevated structure.

(b) The Lenox Avenue branch has two tracks (portions of which are carried on an elevated structure) with a terminal at Bronx Park. The Lenox Avenue branch leaves the trunk line at about 103d Street; runs eastwardly to and under the northwest corner of Central Park, thence north through Lenox Avenue to about 141st Street, where it branches off to the eastward and runs through various streets to Westchester Avenue, through Westchester Avenue to Southern Boulevard, and through Southern Boulevard to the terminus of the line at Bronx Park, or 180th Street.

Total length of all the above routes, 26.3 miles, having 85.2 miles of track. Standard four-track cross section (two for express trains and two for local) 54 feet 8½ inches wide over all and 16 feet 7 inches high, with roof supported by steel columns. 97,500 tons of structural steel and 725,000 cubic yards of concrete used. The contract for the subway in New York north of City Hall was awarded January 15, 1900, to John B. McDonald and completed by him October 27, 1904, as far as 145th Street. The Bronx extensions were not completed until some time later. The contracts for subways south of City Hall and in Brooklyn were awarded after the one in New York, to the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company, and were completed in 1908. Total cost about $75,000,000, of which $50,000,000 was expended on the construction of the subway, and $25,000,000 on the equipment: viz., power house, rolling stock, signals, etc.

NEW RAPID TRANSIT LINES

Under the dual system of rapid transit for New York City all the rapid transit lines operated by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, including the first subway and the elevated lines of the two systems, are combined in two great systems covering four of the five boroughs of the city. Each will operate through the so-called community centre of the city, namely the section of Manhattan Island below Fifty-ninth Street.

The dual system was effectuated when the City of New York through the Public Service Commission on March 19, 1913, entered into agreements (the dual contracts) with the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Municipal Railway Corporation (an associated company of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company) for the construction and operation of new subway lines and extensions, elevated line extensions and third tracking of elevated roads. Both the city and the two companies contributed large sums for general construction, while equipment was to be provided by the companies. All subways and elevated extensions of subways are owned by the city while elevated lines, elevated extensions and third tracking on elevated roads are the property of the companies. The dual contracts included leases to the companies of the lines to be operated by them and their subsidiaries under terms regarded as favorable to the city. The contracts called for the construction of 44.55 miles of new subway, 53.19 miles of new elevated road, and 19.8 miles of third track and other additional tracks on the existing elevated railroads.

The major portion of the lines authorized under the dual contracts will be either in operation or ready for operation during the year 1917. Some of the lines are already in use and all, save a few of the principal general construction contracts have been awarded. Some construction was authorized subsequent to the completion of the first subway and prior to the signing of the dual contracts in 1913. Practically all such work is now completed and in operation. The Centre Street loop subway in Manhattan, together with the trunk line of the Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, system and two of its South Brooklyn feeder lines; the Liberty Avenue extension of the Fulton Street elevated line in Brooklyn, and portions of the third tracks on the Brooklyn elevated lines are now in operation by the Brooklyn company.

The Queensboro subway, a portion of the Interborough's lines, is in operation for part of its length; the new elevated third tracks in Manhattan are also being operated. The great rapid transit system of northern Queens, connected into New York by way of the Queensboro subway, will be the next of the dual lines to be placed in operation, to be followed shortly by the Jerome Avenue extension and the White Plains Road extension in the Bronx.

The first subway forms the nucleus of the Interborough's underground lines. It is being extended up Lexington Avenue from Forty-third Street, with branches in the Bronx leading to Woodlawn and Pelham Bay Park. It is also being extended down Seventh Avenue from Forty-second Street, with one branch leading to the Battery and another leading into Brooklyn through Park Place, Beekman and William Streets, and under river tunnel. Extensions of the Interborough system in Brooklyn include a subway along Eastern Parkway and Nostrand Avenue and an elevated extension of the Eastern Parkway line on Livonia Avenue. Another important Interborough extension is that on White Plains Road, the Bronx, starting from a connection with the West Farms branch of the first subway near 178th Street and extending north to 241st Street near the city line.

The Fourth Avenue subway in Brooklyn is the great trunk line of the New York Municipal Railway Corporation's system. The New Utrecht Avenue line, formerly known as the West End line, the Sea Beach line—both of which are practically completed—and the Gravesend Avenue line, now under construction, constitute three of the South Brooklyn extensions of this system. They formerly served as extensions of the Fifth Avenue elevated line. Later, the Brighton Beach elevated line is also to be connected with the Fourth Avenue system. The extension of the Brooklyn Fourth Avenue line in Manhattan is being built under Broadway and Seventh Avenue north to Fifty-ninth Street, from which point a line is being built to the east under Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets and by tunnel to Queens, where connection is made with the Queens lines, which will be jointly operated by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. The Fourth Avenue subway reaches into Manhattan by way of the Manhattan Bridge, and later by way of tunnels under the East River near the Battery. Another subway line now under contract will begin at Sixth Avenue and Fourteenth Street, Manhattan, extend under the East River to the Eastern District and Bushwick sections of Brooklyn, and connect eventually with the Broadway, Brooklyn, elevated line. This line is for operation by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

Other extensions and improvements are the connection of the Third Avenue elevated railroad in the Bronx along Webster Avenue to a junction with the White Plains Road line, a connection between the Ninth Avenue elevated line across the Harlem River with the Jerome Avenue extension of the Lexington Avenue subway, a connection of the Lenox Avenue branch of the first subway and the Jerome Avenue line, and a connection between the Third Avenue elevated and the West Farms branch of the first subway.

Another extension of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company will be that of the Queensboro subway from its present western terminus at Park Avenue, Manhattan, west to Times Square, for which two of the tracks of the present subway under Forty-second Street will be utilized.

A Brooklyn extension not heretofore mentioned is that of the Lexington Avenue elevated line from Cypress Hills along Jamaica Avenue to Cliffside Avenue, Jamaica, and the elevated extension of the Lutheran Cemetery line from Ridgewood to Metropolitan Avenue.

Under the dual system there will be built four new tunnels under the East River of two tubes each, all of which are under construction. One of these tunnels extends from Whitehall Street, Manhattan, to Montague Street in Brooklyn for operation by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company; another between Old Slip, Manhattan, and Clark Street, Brooklyn, for operation by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company; a third from East Fourteenth Street, Manhattan, to North Seventh Street, Brooklyn, for operation by the Brooklyn company; and the fourth from East Sixtieth Street, Manhattan, to North Jane Street, Queens, to be operated by the Brooklyn company.

The Whitehall-Montague Street line will form a connection between the lower end of Broadway, Manhattan, division of the Brooklyn Fourth Avenue system. The Old Slip-Clark Street tunnel will carry the Park Place, Beekman and William Streets extension of the Interborough's new Seventh Avenue line into Brooklyn. The tunnel at Fourteenth Street will carry the Fourteenth Street-Eastern line beneath the East River, while the tunnel at Sixtieth Street, Manhattan, carries the tracks of the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets subway in Manhattan to a connection with the new Queens lines at the Queensboro Bridge Plaza station.

Of the remaining few dual system construction contracts yet to be let, the most important is that of the line under Nassau Street, Manhattan, which will connect the Centre Street Loop line with the Whitehall-Montague Street tunnel.

When the dual system is in full operation the Brooklyn Rapid Transit trains will be able to enter Manhattan by means of four bridges across and two tunnels under the East River, and can be operated northward through Broadway and Seventh Avenue to Fifty-ninth Street, and eastward through Fifty-ninth Street and over the Queensboro Bridge to Astoria and Corona in Queens. On the Brooklyn side the system will include the lines to Coney Island and other remote parts of the borough. Over the whole Brooklyn part of the system the fare will be five cents and transfers will be freely given, so that it will be possible for a passenger to take a train at Corona, near Flushing, ride through to Manhattan at Fifty-ninth Street, south to Canal Street, and then across the Manhattan Bridge and through the Fourth Avenue subway and its connections to Coney Island for a single fare. As soon as the South Brooklyn elevated railroads are rebuilt and it is possible for the Brooklyn company to operate continuous trains from Manhattan to Coney Island, the five-cent fare to Coney Island will be an assured fact.

On that part of the system to be operated by the Interborough company, the length of the five-cent fare will be greatly extended. A passenger will be able to ride from Pelham Bay Park, through the Bronx into Manhattan, down the whole length of Manhattan, under the East River to Brooklyn and out Eastern Parkway and Livonia Avenue to New Lots Road for a single five-cent fare. Transfers will be given upon all parts of the Interborough system, except that there will be no further transfers than are at present allowed between the elevated railroads and the subway.

In the dual system the rapid transit lines now operated by both the Interborough and Brooklyn companies will be linked with the new lines built and to be built by the city and by the companies, so that old and new in each company's territory may be operated as one system. Toward the new system allotted to the Interborough Company the city contributes the existing subway, and the company the existing elevated lines in Manhattan and the Bronx. Toward the new system for the Brooklyn lines the city contributes the Broadway, the Fourth Avenue, Fourteenth Street and Centre Street Loop subways, with 110 miles of track, and the company contributes the existing elevated railroads in Brooklyn, with 105 miles of single track. The elevated railroads in each case are owned by private companies, but the existing subway is owned by the City of New York, although under lease to the Interborough Rapid Transit Company.

The city is to furnish most of the money for the building of the new lines under the operating contracts, but each company is to contribute toward the cost of construction and is to bear the entire cost of equipment. The equipment is to become the property of the City of New York when placed in operation, and the cost of it is to be amortized out of earnings. The cost of construction and equipment of the entire system will be about $352,000,000, if the companies do not exceed their original estimates for equipment. The City of New York will pay about $186,000,000, the Interborough Rapid Transit Company $105,000,000, and the New York Municipal Railway Corporation $61,000,000. Of the amounts to be paid by the companies, $58,000,000 of the Interborough's total and $13,500,000 of the New York Municipal Railway's total will be expended upon the construction of lines to be owned by the City of New York. The balance of the money will be spent for equipment, which, at the end of the lease, will also become the property of the city.

HUDSON AND MANHATTAN RAILROAD SUBWAY.

Apart from the above systems the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad operates a system of tunnels and subways sometimes called the McAdoo system. The tunnels connect the business section of New York with the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Lehigh Valley Railroad, the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad, the Erie Railroad, and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad on the New Jersey side, and in addition operate to a station at Summit Avenue, Jersey City, and thence over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad to Manhattan Transfer and over its own tracks to Park Place, Newark. There are two sets of tunnels under the Hudson River. On the New York side the downtown tunnel terminates in the Hudson Terminal Building at Church, Cortlandt and Fulton Streets. The uptown tunnel terminates at Christopher Street where it becomes a part of a subway running up Sixth Avenue to Thirty-third Street.

Houston and Essex Sts., 736 Seventh Ave., 124th St. and Lexington Ave., 409 Grand St.; Bronx, Courtlandt Ave. at 148th St.; Brooklyn, 24 Graham Ave., Pitkin and Rockaway Aves., Smith and Livingston Sts

Office hours: 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.; Saturday to 6 P. M. Ticket good for one year only. Loans may be paid by instalments, in sums not less than $1. Rates of interest. One per cent. per month, or any fraction thereof. Only one-half month interest charged on all loans redeemed within two weeks after date of pledge. Condition of loan agreed to by the holder of the ticket in consideration of interest being charged at less than the rate allowed by law. The Provident Loan Society of New York shall not be liable for loss or damage by fire, breakage, dampness, theft, or moths; nor shall it be liable in any event for more than 25 per cent. in addition to the amount loaned. James Speyer, President; Frank Tucker, Vice-President; Otto T. Bannard, Treasurer, Mortimer L. Schiff, Secretary.

When making payment by instalment, the full amount of interest due on the sum loaned must be included, and the ticket must be returned. The interest due on the loan cannot be paid by instalment. The society has thus far limited the classes of personal property on which it has made loans to clothing and so-called "jewelry," including under that designation all articles of gold or silver, precious stones, opera-glasses, eye-glasses, also men's clothing in good condition, and ladies' and men's furs.

BRIDGES IN AND ABOUT THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

THE bridge connecting Manhattan and Brooklyn over the East River from Park Row, Manhattan, to Sands and Washington Streets, Brooklyn, was begun January 3, 1870, and opened to traffic May 24, 1883. Total cost of the bridge to date about $25,090,000.

The tolls are: For foot passengers, free; railway fare, 3 cents, or 2 tickets for 5 cents. Roadway tolls for vehicles abolished July 18, 1911. On August 23, 1897, the bridge railway was leased to the elevated railroad companies (now operated by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit), paying therefor 10 cents per car; trolley cars, 5 cents per round trip. About 250,000 people cross the bridge in a day.

The following are the statistics of the structure: Width of bridge, 86 feet. Length of river span, 1,595 feet 6 inches. Length of each land span, 930 feet. Length of Brooklyn approach, 998 feet. Length of New York approach, 1,562 feet 6 inches. Total length of carriageway, 6,016 feet. Total length of the bridge, with extensions, 7,580 feet.

Size of Manhattan caisson, 172 x 102 feet. Size of Brooklyn caisson, 168 x 102 feet. Timber and iron in caisson, 5,253 cubic yards. Concrete in well holes, chambers, etc., 5,669 cubic feet. Weight of Manhattan caisson, about 7,000 tons. Weight of concrete filling, about 8,000 tons.

Manhattan tower contains 46,945 cubic yards masonry. Brooklyn tower contains 38,214 cubic yards masonry. Depth of tower foundation below high water, Brooklyn, 45 feet. Depth of tower foundation below high water, Manhattan, 78 feet. Size of Manhattan tower at high water line, 140 x 59 feet. Size of Manhattan tower at roof course, 136 x 53 feet. Total height of towers above high water, 272 feet.

Grade of roadway, 3¼ feet in 100 feet. Height of towers above roadway, 153 feet. Size of anchorages at base, 129 x 119 feet. Size of anchorages at top, 117 x 104 feet. Size of anchorages, 89 feet front, 85 feet rear. Weight of each anchor plate, 23 tons.

Number of cables, 4. Diameter of each cable, 15¾ inches. Length of each single wire in cables, 3,578 feet 6 inches. Ultimate strength of each cable, 12,000 tons. Weight of wire, 11 feet per pound. Each cable contains 5,296 parallel (not twisted) galvanized steel, oil-coated wires, closely wrapped to a solid cylinder, 15¾ inches in diameter. Permanent weight suspended from cables, 13,820 tons.

MANHATTAN BRIDGE.

Manhattan terminal, Bowery and Canal St.; Brooklyn terminal, Nassau, near Bridge St. Total cost to date, $31,080,000; of which $16,700,000 is for structure and $14,380,000 for land.

Width of bridge, 122 ft. 6 in. Length of river span, 1,470 ft. Length of each land span, 725 ft. Length of Manhattan approach 2,067 ft. Length of Brooklyn approach, 1,868 ft. Total length of roadway, 6,855 ft. Bridge is of double-deck design, first deck to have one 35-foot roadway in centre and two subway tracks on each side and one 11-foot footwalk on each side, top deck to have four trolley tracks. Approximately 40,000 cubic yards excavation for each anchor pier; approximately 115,000 cubic yards masonry and concrete in each anchor pier.

Height of cables at top of tower above mean high water mark, 322 ft. 6 in. Height of roadway at centre of bridge above mean high water mark, 149 ft. Grade of roadway 3⅛ ft. in 100 ft. Number of cables four, 37 strands in each cable; 256 wires in each strand; 9,472 wires in each cable; 37,888 wires in four cables. Size of wire 0.192 inches in diameter. Size of cable completed 21¼ inches in diameter. Length of each wire 3,223 ft. 6 in. (anchor to anchor). Ultimate strength of each cable, 26,600 tons.

Weight of steel in cables and suspenders, 7,800 tons. Weight of steel in other parts main bridge 33,900 tons. Weight of steel in approaches 18,300 tons.

Work of construction of tower foundation in Brooklyn commenced October 1, 1901. Roadway opened for traffic December 31, 1909. East footwalk opened to pedestrians July 18, 1910. West footwalk opened May 11, 1911.

WILLIAMSBURG BRIDGE.

The tower foundations for the bridge in Manhattan are at the foot of Delancey Street, and in Brooklyn at a point between South Fifth and South Sixth Streets. The bridge ends at Clinton Street in Manhattan, and at Havemeyer Street in Brooklyn. Construction commenced November 7, 1896. Size of Manhattan caissons (2), 76 x 60 feet; Brooklyn caissons (2), 79 x 63 feet. Depth of tower foundations in Manhattan, north caisson 55 feet, south caisson 66 feet below mean high water; in Brooklyn, north caisson 107 feet 5 inches, south caisson 91 feet 9 inches below mean high water. Height of masonry in Manhattan and Brooklyn towers, 23 feet above mean high water. Total height of towers above mean high water, 332 feet 9 inches. Size of both anchorages at top, 149 feet x 127 feet 5 inches. Length of main span, 1,600 feet; each side span, 596 feet 6 inches; Manhattan approach, 2,650 feet; Brooklyn approach, 1,865 feet. Total length from Clinton Street, Manhattan, to New Street, Brooklyn, 7,308 feet. Width over all, 118 feet. Two roadways, each 20 feet wide, two footwalks, each 17 feet 8 inches wide. Height of roadways at towers, 125 feet 8 inches above mean high water. Height of roadways at centre of bridge, 145 feet 6 inches above mean high water. Clear height of bridge for channel width of 400 feet, 135 feet above mean high water. Number of supporting cables, 4. Diameter of each cable, 18⅝ inches. Length of each single wire in cables, 2,985 feet. Total length of wire in four cables, 17,404 miles. Weight of four cables, including suspenders, 4,900 tons. Weight of structural steel and iron in main bridge, 26,300 tons; in approaches, 16,600 tons; total, 47,800 tons. Bridge opened for pedestrians and vehicles December 19, 1903. Surface railway for Brooklyn lines began operation November 3, 1904. Surface railway for Manhattan lines began operation February 9, 1905. Elevated railway began operation September 16, 1908. Cost of construction, including station in Manhattan, $15,090,000. Cost of land, $9,100,000.

QUEENSBORO BRIDGE.

Plans approved by the War Department, February 23, 1901. Main bridge is a continuous cantilever. Bridge, with approaches, extends from Second Avenue, between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets, Manhattan, to Crescent Street, Queens. Construction commenced June, 1901. Height of highest masonry piers, 124 feet above mean high water. Length of Manhattan approach, 1,052 feet; west channel span, 1,182 feet; island span, 630 feet; east channel span, 984 feet; length of Queens approach, 2,672 feet 6 inches. Total length from Second Avenue to Crescent Street, 7,449 feet. In addition, the Queens plaza has a length of 1,152 feet, extending from Crescent Street to Jackson Avenue. Width over all, 89 feet 6 inches. Width of roadway, 52 feet 3 inches. Two sidewalks, each 16 feet wide. Height of roadway in central portion of bridge, 143 feet above mean high water. Height of footwalks in central portion of bridge, 165 feet above mean high water. Height of lower balconies on towers on Blackwell's Island, 202 feet 6 inches above mean high water. Height of upper balconies on towers on Blackwell's Island, 333 feet above mean high water. Clear height of bridge for channel width of 400 feet for both east and west channels, 135 feet above mean high water. Weight of steel and iron in main bridge 52,600 tons; in approaches 20,066 tons. Total 72,666 tons. Bridge opened for pedestrians and vehicles, March 30, 1909. Surface railway began operation, September 19, 1909. Cost of bridge construction, $12,870,000; cost of land, $4,720,000; total $17,590,000.

HELL GATE ARCH BRIDGE.

The bridge spans the East River at Hell Gate, between Ward's Island and Astoria, Long Island. Designed and built by Gustav Lindenthal for the New York Connecting Railroad to connect the Pennsylvania and New York, New Haven systems, at a cost, including approaches, of $25,000,000. It is the longest arch in the world. The span is 1,016 feet 10 inches between tower faces. The upper chord of the arch is 300 feet above mean high water at the centre and 180 feet at the ends of the span; the lower chord is 260 feet above mean high water at the centre and 40 feet at the ends; the roadway is 140 feet above mean high water.

The arch carries four railway tracks (two passenger and two freight) on a solid concrete deck. It is the heaviest bridge in the world, weighing 52,000 pounds per lineal foot and carrying a loading of 24,000 pounds per lineal foot, making a total carrying capacity of 76,000 pounds per lineal foot. The steel work weighs 19,000 tons and the flooring and track weigh 7,000 tons. The heaviest single member weighs 185 tons and has a cross section of 1,384 square inches. The width of the bridge is 93 feet between railings and 60 feet between centres of trusses.

The Long Island tower is 104 by 140 feet at the base and is founded on rock in open cut at 20 feet depth. The Ward's Island tower is 119 by 140 feet at the base and rests on 21 pneumatic concrete caissons, founded on rock varying from 58 to 120 feet below the ground surface. Height of towers, 240 feet. Total concrete in towers, 110,000 cubic yards. Total concrete in bridge towers and approaches, 500,000 cubic yards.

Construction of arch commenced November, 1914. Arch was erected by cantilevering out from the towers, each half being held by connection to temporary backstays built behind the towers. The two halves were joined October 1, 1915. Entire steel work completed January, 1916. Will be opened to traffic about January, 1917.

HACK AND CAB FARES IN MANHATTAN BOROUGH.

The legal rate of fare, of which an official copy shall be furnished by the Bureau of Licenses, and carried by every licensed hackman, shall be as follows:

Mileage rates charged for general driving.

Maximum rates of fare shall be as follows:

Motor Vehicles (Except Sight-Seeing Cars)—For not more than two passengers: For the first half-mile, or any fraction thereof, 30 cents; for each succeeding one-quarter mile, or any fraction thereof, 10 cents. For three or more passengers: For the first half-mile, or any fraction thereof, 40 cents; for each succeeding one-sixth mile, or any fraction thereof, 10 cents.

Sight-Seeing Cars—No rates are hereby established for sight-seeing cars, but a schedule of the rates charged for each trip shall, before the trip, be prominently displayed upon the car, and a charge greater, or attempt to charge any passenger a sum greater than that set forth in said schedule shall be deemed a violation of this ordinance.

Horse-Drawn Vehicles—For cabs: For the first mile, or any fraction thereof, 50 cents; for each succeeding one-half mile, or any fraction thereof, 20 cents. For coaches: For the first mile, or any fraction thereof, 70 cents; for each succeeding one-half mile, or any fraction thereof, 30 cents. Hourly rates (applying only to horse-drawn vehicles when shopping or calling, and not including park or road driving, nor driving more than five miles from starting point): For the first hour, or any part thereof, $1.50; for each additional one-half hour, 50 cents. In case of public hacks on which taximeters are not affixed, when driving on the numbered streets or numbered and lettered avenues in the Borough of Manhattan, twenty blocks north and south, and seven blocks between the numbered and lettered avenues constitute a mile for the purpose of this ordinance. The rate card, as provided for hereafter, shall state the number of blocks constituting a mile in the Borough of Manhattan.

Applying Both to Motor-Driven and Horse-Drawn Vehicles: For waiting time at the rate of $1.50 per hour. For each piece of luggage carried outside, 20 cents. No charge shall, however, be made for hand bags and suit cases. Ferriage and tolls in all cases to be paid by the party using the vehicle.

Any violation of the provisions of this article, or any charge or any attempt to charge any passenger a greater rate of fare than that to which the public hack is entitled under the provisions of this article, shall render the offender liable, upon conviction thereof before any City Magistrate, to a fine of not exceeding $10, or in default of payment thereof to imprisonment in the City Prison for a period not exceeding ten days.

Every driver of a public hack, immediately after the termination of any hiring or employment, must carefully search such hack for any property lost or left therein, and any such property, unless sooner claimed or delivered to the owner, must be taken to the nearest police station and deposited with the officer in charge within twenty-four hours after the finding thereof, and the Captain of the precinct to which such report shall be made shall forward a written notice to the Bureau of Licenses with brief particulars and description of the property.

Every driver of a public hack shall have the right to demand payment of the legal fare in advance, and may refuse employment unless so prepaid, but no driver of a public hack shall otherwise refuse or neglect to convey any orderly person or persons upon request anywhere in the city, unless previously engaged or unable to do so. No driver of a licensed hack shall carry any other person than the passenger first employing a hack without the consent of said passenger.

All disputes as to the lawful rate of fare shall be determined by the police officer in charge or the police station nearest to the place where such dispute is had; failure to comply with such determination shall subject the offending party to a charge of disorderly conduct, punishable by a fine of not exceeding $10, or in default thereof, imprisonment for not more than ten days.

N B.—The total appropriations in 1915 for interest on and redemption of the city debt; for education, health and sanitation, protection of life and property and for charitable purposes was $161,087,332.04, or 83.52 per cent. of the city budget appropriations for said year. For 1916 the appropriations for these purposes aggregate $164,256,981.21, or 84.24 per cent. of the budget for city and county purposes. In other words, of every $1,000 provided in the budget of 1916, $842.40 is for these five functions or purposes.

The notable increases in the budget of 1916 as compared with 1915 are for debt service, $3,380,829.07; correctional purposes, $180,503.57; charitable purposes, $423,423.34; Board of Elections, $142,164, and direct State tax, $13,975,021.73.

The notable decreases in the budget of 1916 as compared with 1915 include a reduction of $464,027.98 in the total for health and sanitation, $444,966.18 in docks and municipal ferries, and $316,391.27 in administration.

There were no direct State taxes included in the budget of 1915.

The Federal Bureau of Census estimated the city's population for 1915 as 5,585,772, and the Health Department gave as its estimate of the population at the mid-period of 1916, 5,602,841. This estimate by the department is based on the estimate of the Federal Census Bureau.

NATIONAL PLATFORMS OF POLITICAL PARTIES IN 1916.

NATIONAL PLATFORM OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY ADOPTED AT ST. LOUIS, MO., JUNE 16, 1916.

PREAMBLE.

The Democratic Party, in National Convention assembled, adopts the following declaration to the end that the people of the United States may both realize the achievements wrought by four years of Democratic administration and be apprised of the policies to which the party is committed for the further conduct of national affairs.

RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT.

We indorse the administration of Woodrow Wilson. It speaks for itself. It is the best exposition of sound Democratic policy at home and abroad.

We challenge comparison of our record, our keeping of pledges and our constructive legislation with those of any party of any time.

We found our country hampered by special privilege, a vicious tariff, obsolete banking laws and an inelastic currency. Our foreign affairs were dominated by commercial interests for their selfish ends. The Republican Party, despite repeated pledges, was impotent to correct abuses which it had fostered. Under our administration, under a leadership which has never faltered, these abuses have been corrected, and our people have been freed therefrom.

Our archaic banking and currency system, prolific of panic and disaster under Republican Administrations—long the refuge of the Money Trust—has been supplanted by the Federal Reserve Act, a true democracy of credit under Government control, already proved a financial bulwark in a world crisis, mobilizing our resources, placing abundant credit at the disposal of legitimate industry, and making a currency panic impossible. We have created a Federal Trade Commission to accommodate the perplexing questions arising under the Anti-Trust Laws, so that monopoly may be strangled at its birth and legitimate industry encouraged. Fair competition in business is now assured.

We have effected an adjustment of the tariff, adequate for revenue under peace conditions, and fair to the consumer and to the producer. We have adjusted the burdens of taxation so that swollen incomes bear their equitable shares. Our revenues have been sufficient in times of world stress, and will largely exceed the expenditures for the current fiscal year.

We have lifted human labor from the category of commodities, and have secured to the working man the right of voluntary association for his protection and welfare; we have protected the rights of the laborer against the unwarranted issuance of writs of injunction, and have guaranteed to him the right of trial by jury in case of alleged contempt committed outside the presence of the court.

We have advanced the parcel post to genuine efficiency, enlarged the postal savings system, added 10,000 rural delivery routes and extensions, thus reaching 2,500,000 additional people, improved the postal service in every branch, and for the first time in our history placed the post-office system on a self-supporting basis, with actual surplus in 1913, 1914 and 1916.

ECONOMIC FREEDOM.

The reforms which were most obviously needed to clear away privilege, prevent unfair discrimination, and release the energies of men of all ranks and advantages, have been effected by recent legislation. We must now remove, so far as possible, every remaining element of unrest and uncertainty from the path of the business men of America and secure for them a continued period of quiet, assured and confident prosperity.

TARIFF.

We reaffirm our belief in the doctrine of a tariff for the purpose of providing sufficient revenue for the operation of the Government economically administered, and unreservedly indorse the Underwood tariff law as truly exemplifying that doctrine. We recognize that tariff rates are necessarily subject to change to meet changing conditions in the world's production and trade. The events of the last two years have brought about many momentous changes. In some respects their effects are yet conjectural and wait to be disclosed, particularly in regard to our foreign trade.

Two years of a war which has directly involved most of the chief industrial nations of the world, and which has indirectly affected the life and industry of all nations, are bringing about economic changes more varied and far reaching than the world has ever before experienced. In order to ascertain just what those changes may be, the Democratic Congress is providing for a non-partisan tariff commission to make impartial and thorough study of every economic fact that may throw light either upon our past or upon our future fiscal policy with regard to the imposition of taxes on imports or with regard to the changed and changing conditions under which our trade is carried on. We cordially indorse this timely proposal and declare ourselves in sympathy with the principle and purpose of shaping legislation within that field in accordance with clearly established facts rather than in accordance with the demands of selfish interests or upon information provided largely, if not exclusively, by them.

AMERICANISM.

The part the United States will play in the new day of international relationships which is now upon us will depend upon our preparation and our character. The Democratic Party therefore recognizes the assertion and triumphant demonstration of the indivisability and coherent strength of the Nation as the supreme issue of this day, in which the whole world faces the crisis of manifold change. It summons all men, of whatever origin or creed, who would count themselves Americans, to join in making clear to all the world the unity and consequent power of America.

This is an issue of patriotism. To taint it with partisanship would be to defile it. In this day of test America must show itself not a Nation of partisans, but a Nation of patriots. There is gathered here in America the best of the blood, the industry and the genius of the whole world, the elements of a great race, and a magnificent society to be melted into a mighty and splendid nation.

Whoever, actuated by the purpose to promote the interest of a foreign power in disregard of our own country's welfare or to injure this Government in its foreign relations or cripple or destroy its industries at home, and whoever, by arousing prejudices of a racial, religious or other nature, creates discord and strife among our people so as to obstruct the wholesome process of unification, is faithless to the trust which the privileges of citizenship repose in him and disloyal to his country.

We, therefore, condemn as subversive of this Nation's unity and integrity, and as destructive of its welfare, the activities and designs of every group or organization, political or otherwise, that has for its object the advancement of the interest of a foreign power, whether such object is promoted by intimidating the Government, a political party, or representatives of the people, or which is calculated and tends to divide our people into antagonistic groups, and thus to destroy that complete agreement and solidarity of the people, and that unity of sentiment and national purpose so essential to the perpetuity of the Nation and its free institutions.

We condemn all alliances and combinations of individuals in this country, of whatever nationality or descent, who agree and conspire together for the purpose of embarrassing or weakening our Government or of improperly influencing or coercing our public representatives, in dealing or negotiating with any foreign power.

We charge that such conspiracies among a limited number exist, and have been instigated for the purpose of advancing the interests of foreign countries to the prejudice and detriment of our own country. We condemn any political party which, in view of the activity of such conspirators, surrenders its integrity or modifies its policy.

PREPAREDNESS.

Along with the proof of our character as a Nation must go the proof of our power to play the part that legitimately belongs to us. The people of the United States love peace. They respect the rights and covet the friendship of all other nations. They desire neither any additional territory nor any advantage which cannot be peacefully gained by their skill, their industry or their enterprise; but they insist upon having absolute freedom of national life and policy, and feel that they owe it to themselves, and to the role of spirited independence which it is their sole ambition to play, that they should render themselves secure against the hazard of interference from any quarter, and should be able to protect their rights upon the seas or in any part of the world.

We therefore favor the maintenance of an army fully adequate to the requirements of order, of safety and of the protection of the Nation's rights, the fullest development of modern methods of seacoast defence, and the maintenance of an adequate reserve of citizens trained to arms and prepared to safeguard the people and territory of the United States against any danger of hostile action which may unexpectedly arise, and a fixed policy for the continuous development of a navy worthy to support the great naval traditions of the United States, and fully equal to the international tasks which the United States hopes and expects to take a part in performing. The plans and enactments of the present Congress afford substantial proof of our purpose in this exigent matter.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

The Democratic Administration has throughout the present war scrupulously and successfully held to the old paths of neutrality and of the peaceful pursuit of the legitimate objects of our national life, which statesmen of all parties and creeds have prescribed for themselves in America since the beginning of our history. But the circumstances of the last two years have revealed necessities of international action which no former generation can have foreseen.

We hold that it is the duty of the United States to use its power not only to make itself safe at home but also to make secure its just interests throughout the world, and both for this end and in the interest of humanity to assist the world in securing settled peace and justice.

We believe that every people has the right to choose the sovereignty under which it shall live; that the small states of the world have a right to enjoy from other nations the same respect for their sovereignty and for their territorial integrity that great and powerful nations expect and insist upon, and that the world has a right to be free from every disturbance of its peace that has its origin in aggression or disregard of the rights of peoples and nations, and we believe that the time has come when it is the duty of the United States to join with the other nations of the world in any feasible association that will effectively serve these principles, to maintain inviolate the complete security of the highway of the seas for the common and unhindered use of all nations.

The present administration has consistently sought to act upon and realize in its conduct of the foreign affairs of the Nation the principle that should be the object of any association of the nations formed to secure the peace of the world and the maintenance of national and individual right. It has followed the highest American traditions.

It has preferred respect for the fundamental rights of smaller states, even to property interests, and has secured the friendship of the people of these states for the United States by refusing to make a more material interest an excuse for the assertion of our superior power against the dignity of their sovereign independence.

It has regarded the lives of its citizens and the claims of humanity as of greater moment than material rights, and peace as the best basis for the just settlement of commercial claims. It has made the honor and ideals of the United States its standard alike in negotiation and action.

PAN-AMERICAN CONCORD.

We recognize now, as we have always recognized, a definite and common interest between the United States with the other peoples and republics of the Western Hemisphere in all matters of national independence and free political development. We favor the establishment and maintenance of the closest relations of amity and mutual helpfulness between the United States and the other republics of the American continents for the support of peace and the promotion of a common prosperity. To that end we favor all measures which may be necessary to facilitate intimate intercourse and promote commerce between the United States and her neighbors to the south of us, and such international understandings as may be practicable and suitable to accomplish these ends.

We commend the action of the Democratic Administration in holding the Pan-American Financial Conference at Washington in May, 1915, and organizing the International High Commission, which represented the United States in the recent meeting of representatives of the Latin-American republics at Buenos Ayres, April, 1916, which have so greatly promoted the friendly relations between the people of the Western Hemisphere.

MEXICO.

The Monroe Doctrine is reasserted as a principle of Democratic faith. That doctrine guarantees the independent republics of the two Americas against aggression from another continent. It implies as well the most scrupulous regard upon our part for the sovereignty of each of them.

The want of a stable, responsible Government in Mexico, capable of repressing and punishing marauders and bandit bands, who have not only taken the lives and seized and destroyed the property of American citizens in that country, but have insolently invaded our soil, made war upon and murdered our people thereon, has rendered it necessary temporarily to occupy, by our armed forces, a portion of the territory of that friendly state, where until by the restoration of law and order therein, a repetition of such incursions is improbable, the necessity for their remaining will continue.

Intervention, implying as it does military subjugation, is revolting to the people of the United States, nowithstanding the provocation to that course has been great, and should be resorted to, if at all, only as a last resort. The stubborn resistance of the President and his advisers to every demand and suggestion to enter upon it, is creditable alike to them and to the people in whose name he speaks.

MERCHANT MARINE.

Immediate provision should be made for the development of the carrying trade of the United States. Our foreign commerce has in the past been subject to many unnecessary and vexatious obstacles in the way of legislation of Republican Congresses. Until the recent Democratic tariff legislation it was hampered by unreasonable burdens of taxation. Until the recent banking legislation it had at its disposal few of the necessary instrumentalities of international credit and exchange. Until the formulation of the pending act to promote the construction of a merchant marine it lacked even the prospect of adequate carriage by sea.

We heartily indorse the purposes and policy of the pending Shipping Bill and favor all such additional measures of constructive or remedial legislation as may be necessary to restore our flag to the seas and to provide further facilities for our foreign commerce, particularly such laws as may be made to remove unfair conditions of competition in the dealings of American merchants and producers with competitors in foreign markets.

CONSERVATION.

For the safeguarding and quickening of the life of our own people, we favor the conservation and development of the natural resources of the country by means of a policy which shall be positive rather than negative, a policy which shall not withhold such resources from development, but which, while permitting and encouraging their use, shall prevent both waste and monopoly in their exploitation, and we earnestly favor the passage of acts which will accomplish these objects, and we reaffirm the declaration of the platform of 1912 on this subject. The policy of reclaiming our arid lands should be steadily adhered to.

THE ADMINISTRATION AND THE FARMER.

We favor the vigorous prosecution of investigation and plans to render agriculture more profitable and country life more healthful, comfortable and attractive, and we believe that this should be a dominant aim of the Nation as well as of the States. With all its recent improvement, farming still lags behind other occupations in development as a business, and the advantages of an advancing civilization have not accrued to rural communities in a fair proportion.

Much has been accomplished in this field under the present Administration—far more than under any previous Administration. In the Federal Reserve Act of the last Congress and the Rural Credits Act of the present Congress, the machinery has been created which will make credit available to the farmer constantly and readily, and he has at last been put upon a footing of equality with the merchant and the manufacturer in securing the capital necessary to carry on his enterprises. Grades and standards necessary to the intelligent and successful conduct of the business of agriculture have also been established, or are in the course of establishment by law.

The long needed Cotton Futures Act, passed by the Sixty-third Congress, has now been in successful operation for nearly two years. A Grain Grades Bill, long needed, and a Permissive Warehouse Bill, intended to provide better storage facilities and to enable the farmer to obtain certificates upon which he may secure advances of money, have been passed by the House of Representatives, have been favorably reported to the Senate and will probably become law during the present session of Congress. Both Houses have passed a good roads measure, which will be of far reaching benefit to all agricultural communities.

Above all, the most extraordinary and significant progress has been made, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, in extending and perfecting practical farm demonstration work, which is so rapidly substituting scientific for empirical farming. But it is also necessary that rural activities should be better directed through co-operation and organization, that unfair methods of competition should be eliminated, and the conditions requisite for the just, orderly and economical marketing of farm products created. We approve the Democratic Administration for having emphatically directed attention for the first time to the essential interests of agriculture involved in farm marketing and finance, for creating the office of markets and rural organization in connection with the Department of Agriculture, and for extending the co-operative machinery necessary for conveying information to farmers by means of demonstrations. We favor continued liberal provision not only for the benefit of production, but also for the study and solutions of problems of farm marketing and finance, and for the extension of existing agencies for improving country life.

GOOD ROADS.

The happiness, comfort and prosperity of rural life and the development of the city are alike conserved by the construction of public highways. We therefore favor national aid in the construction of post roads and roads for military purposes.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT.

We hold that the life, health and strength of the men, women and children of the Nation are its greatest asset and that in the conservation of these the Federal Government, wherever it acts as the employer of labor, should both on its own account and as an example, put into effect the following principles of just employment:

(1) A living wage for all employees.

(2) A working day not to exceed eight hours, with one day of rest in seven.

(3) The adoption of safety appliances and the establishment of thoroughly sanitary conditions of labor.

(4) Adequate compensation for industrial accidents.

(5) The standards of the Uniform Child Labor Law wherever minors are employed.

(6) Such provisions for decency, comfort and health in the employment of women as should be accorded the mothers of the race.

(7) An equitable retirement law providing for the retirement of superannuated and disabled employees of the civil service, to the end that a higher standard of efficiency may be maintained.

We believe also that the adoption of similar principles should be urged and applied in the legislation of the States with regard to labor within their borders, and that through every possible agency the life and health of the people of the Nation should be conserved.

LABOR.

We declare our faith in the Seamen's Act, passed by the Democratic Congress, and we promise our earnest continuance of its enforcement.

We favor the speedy enactment of an effective Federal Child Labor Law and the regulation of the shipment of prison made goods in interstate commerce.

We favor the creation of a Federal Bureau of Safety in the Department of Labor, to gather facts concerning industrial hazards and to commend legislation concerning the maiming and killing of human beings.

We favor the extension of the powers and functions of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

We favor the development upon a systematic scale of the means already begun under the present Administration, to assist laborers throughout the Nation to seek and obtain employment, and the extension by the Federal Government of the same assistance and encouragement as is now given to agricultural training.

We heartily recommend our newly established Department of Labor for its excellent record in settling industrial strikes by personal advices and through conciliating agents.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

We favor a thorough consideration of the means and methods by which the Federal Government handles questions of public health, to the end that human life may be conserved by the elimination of loathsome disease, the improvement of sanitation and the diffusion of a knowledge of disease prevention.

We favor the establishment by the Federal Government of tuberculosis sanitariums for needy tubercular patients.

SENATE RULES.

We favor such an alteration of the rules of procedure of the Senate of the United States as will permit the prompt transaction of the Nation's legislative business.

ECONOMY AND THE BUDGET.

We demand careful economy in all expenditures for the support of the Government, and to that end favor a return by the House of Representatives to its former practice of initiating and preparing all appropriation bills through a single committee chosen from its membership, in order that responsibility may be centred, expenditure standardized and made uniform, and waste and duplication in the public service as much as possible avoided. We favor this as a practicable first step toward a budget system.

CIVIL SERVICE.

We reaffirm our declaration for the rigid enforcement of the civil service laws.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

We heartily indorse the provisions of the bill recently passed by the House of Representatives further promoting self-government in the Philippine Islands, as being in fulfilment of the policy declared by the Democratic Party in its last national platform, and we reiterate our endorsement of the purpose of ultimate independence for the Philippine Islands expressed in the preamble of that measure.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

We recommend the extension of the franchise to the women of the country by the States upon the same terms as to men.

PROTECTION OF CITIZENS.

We again declare the policy that the sacred right of American citizenship must be preserved at home and abroad, and that no treaty with any other Government shall receive the sanction of our Government which does not expressly recognize the absolute equality of all our citizens, irrespective of race, creed or previous nationality, and which does not recognize the right of expatriation. The American Government should protect American citizens in their right not only at home but abroad, and any country having a Government should be held to strict accountability for any wrongs done them, either to person or property.

At the earliest practical opportunity, our country should strive earnestly for peace among the warring nations of Europe and seek to bring about the adoption of the fundamental principle of justice and humanity, that all men shall enjoy equality of right and freedom from discrimination in the lands wherein they dwell.

PRISON REFORM.

We demand that the modern principles of prison reform be applied in our Federal penal system. We favor such work for prisoners as shall give them training in remunerative occupations, so that they may make an honest living when released from prison; the setting apart of the net wages of the prisoner to be paid to his dependent family or to be reserved for his own use upon his release; the liberal extension of the principles of the Federal Parole Law, with due regard both to the welfare of the prisoner and the interests of society; the adoption of the probation system, especially in the case of first offenders not convicted of serious crimes.

PENSIONS.

We renew the declarations of recent Democratic platforms relating to generous pensions for soldiers and their widows, and call attention to our record of performance in this particular.

WATERWAY AND FLOOD CONTROL.

We renew the declaration in our last two platforms relating to the development of our waterways. The recent devastation of the Lower Mississippi Valley and several other sections by floods accentuates the movement for the regulation of river flow by additional bank and levee protection below, and diversion storage and control of the flood waters above, and their utilization for beneficial purposes in the reclamation of arid and swamp lands, and development of water power, instead of permitting the floods to continue, as heretofore, agents of destruction.

We hold that the control of the Mississippi River is a national problem. The preservation of the depth of its waters for purposes of navigation, the building of levees and works of bank protection to maintain the integrity of its channel and prevent the overflow of its valley, resulting in the interruption of interstate commerce, the disorganization of the mail service and the enormous loss of life and property, impose an obligation which alone can be discharged by the National Government.

We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our harbors and inland waterways with economy and efficiency, so as to permit their navigation by vessels of standard draught.

ALASKA.

It has been and will be the policy of the Democratic Party to enact all laws necessary for the speedy development of Alaska and its great natural resources.

TERRITORIES.

We favor granting to the people of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico the traditional Territorial Government accorded to all Territories of the United States since the beginning of our Government and we believe the officials appointed to administer the Government of those several Territories should be qualified by previous bona-fide residence.

CANDIDATES.

We unreservedly indorse our President and Vice President, Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, and Thomas Riley Marshall of Indiana, who have performed the functions of their great offices faithfully and impartially and with distinguished ability.

In particular we commend to the American people the splendid diplomatic victories of our great President, who has preserved the vital interests of our Government and its citizens and kept us out of war.

Woodrow Wilson stands to-day the greatest American of his generation.

CONCLUSION.

This is a critical hour in the history of America, a critical hour in the history of the world. Upon the record above set forth, which shows great constructive achievement in following out a consistent policy for our domestic and internal development; upon the record of the Democratic Administration, which maintained the honor, the dignity, and the interests of the United States and at the same time retained the respect and friendship of all the nations of the world, and upon the great policies for the future strengthening of the life of our country, the enlargement of our national vision : nd the ennobling of our international relations, as set forth above, we appeal with confidence to the voters of the country.

NATIONAL PLATFORM OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY ADOPTED AT CHICAGO, ILL. JUNE 8, 1916.

Following is the platform adopted by the Republican National Convention:

In 1861 the Republican party stood for the Union. As it stood for the union of the States, it now stands for a united people, true to American ideals, loyal to American traditions, knowing no allegiance except to the Constitution, to the Government, and to the flag of the United States. We believe in American policies at home and abroad.

PROTECTION OF AMERICAN RIGHTS.

We declare that we believe in and will enforce the protection of every American citizen in all the rights secured to him by the Constitution, treaties, and the law of nations, at home and abroad, by land and sea. These rights, which, in violation of the specific promise of their party, made at Baltimore in 1912, the Democratic President and the Democratic Congress have failed to defend, we will unflinchingly maintain.

FOREIGN RELATIONS.

We desire peace, the peace of justice and right, and believe in maintaining a straight and honest neutrality between the belligerents in the great war in Europe. We must perform all our duties and insist upon all our rights as neutrals, without fear and without favor. We believe that peace and neutrality, as well as the dignity and influence of the United States, cannot be preserved by shifty expedients, by phrasemaking, by performances in language, or by attitudes ever changing in an effort to secure groups of voters.

The present Administration has destroyed our influence abroad and humiliated us in our own eyes. The Republican Party believes that a firm, consistent, and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by Republican Presidents in accordance with American traditions, is the best as it is the only true way to preserve our peace and restore us to our rightful place among the nations. We believe in the pacific settlement of international disputes and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose.

MEXICO.

We deeply sympathize with the fifteen million people of Mexico, who, for three years, have seen their country devastated, their homes destroyed, their fellow-citizens murdered and their women outraged by armed bands of desperadoes led by self-seeking, conscienceless agitators, who, when temporarily successful in any locality, have neither sought nor been able to restore order or establish and maintain peace.

We express our horror and indignation at the outrages which have been and are being perpetrated by these bandits upon American men and women, who were or are in Mexico by invitation of the laws and of the Government of that country, and whose rights to security of person and property are guaranteed by solemn treaty obligations. We denounce the indefensible methods of interference employed by this Administration in the internal affairs of Mexico, and refer with shame to its failure to discharge the duty of this country as next friend to Mexico, its duty to other Powers who have relied upon us as such friend, and its duty to our citizens in Mexico, in permitting the continuance of such conditions, first, by failure to act promptly and firmly, and, secondly, by lending its influence to the continuation of such conditions through recognition of one of the factions responsible for these outrages.

We pledge our aid in restoring order and maintaining peace in Mexico. We promise to our citizens on and near our border, and to those in Mexico, wherever they may be found, adequate and absolute protection in their lives, liberty, and property.

MONROE DOCTRINE.

We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe Doctrine, and declare its maintenance to be a policy of this country essential to its present and future peace and safety, and to the achievement of its manifest destiny.

LATIN AMERICA.

We favor the continuation of Republican policies, which will result in drawing more and more closely the commercial, financial and social relations between this country and the countries of Latin America.

PHILIPPINES.

We renew our allegiance to the Philippine policy inaugurated by McKinley, approved by Congress, and consistently carried out by Roosevelt and Taft. Even in this short time it has enormously improved the material and social conditions of the islands, given the Philippine people a constantly increasing participation in their Government, and, if persisted in, will bring still greater benefits in the future.

We accepted the responsibility of the islands as a duty to civilization and the Filipino people. To leave with our task half done would break our pledges, injure our prestige among nations, and imperil what already has been accomplished.

We condemn the Democratic Administration for its attempt to abandon the Philippines, which was prevented only by the vigorous opposition of Republican members of Congress, aided by a few patriotic Democrats.

RIGHT OF EXPATRIATION.

We reiterate the unqualified approval of the action taken in December, 1911, by the President and Congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens, whether native-born or alien, and regardless of race, religion, or previous political allegiance. We renew the pledge to observe this principle and to maintain the right of asylum, which is neither to be surrendered nor restricted, and we unite in the cherished hope that the war which is now desolating the world may speedily end, with a complete and lasting restoration of brotherhood among the nations of the earth and the assurance of full equal rights, civil and religious, to all men in every land.

PROTECTION OF THE COUNTRY.

In order to maintain our peace and make certain the security of our people within our own borders, the country must have not only adequate, but thorough and complete national defence, ready for any emergency. We must have a sufficient and effective regular army and a provision for ample reserves, already drilled and disciplined, who can be called at once to the colors when the hour of danger comes.

We must have a navy so strong and so well proportioned and equipped, so thoroughly ready and prepared, that no enemy can gain command of the sea and effect a landing in force on either our Western or our Eastern coast. To secure these results we must have a coherent and continuous policy of national defence, which even in these perilous days the Democratic party has utterly failed to develop, but which we promise to give to the country.

TARIFF.

The Republican party stands now, as always, in the fullest sense for the policy of tariff protection to American industries and American labor, and does not regard an anti-dumping provision as an adequate substitute. Such protection should be reasonable in amount, but sufficient to protect adequately American industry and American labor, and be so adjusted as to prevent undue exactions by monopolies or trusts. It should, moreover, give special attention to securing the industrial independence of the United States, as in the case of dyestuffs.

Through wise tariff and industrial legislation our industries can be so organized that they will become not only a commercial bulwark but a powerful aid to national defence.

The Underwood Tariff act is a complete failure in every respect. Under its administration, imports have enormously increased, in spite of the fact that the intercourse with foreign countries has been largely cut off by reason of the war, while the revenues, of which we stand in such dire need, have been greatly reduced. Under the normal conditions which prevailed prior to the war, it was clearly demonstrated that this act deprived the American producer and the American wage-earner of that protection which entitled them to meet their foreign competitors, and, but for the adventitious conditions created by the war, would long since have paralyzed all forms of American industry and deprived American labor of its just reward.

It has not in the least reduced the cost of living, which has constantly advanced from the date of its enactment. The welfare of our people demands its repeal and the substitution of a measure which, in peace, as well as in war, will produce ample revenue and give reasonable protection to all forms of American production in mine, forest, field and factory.

We favor the creation of a Tariff Commission, with complete power to gather and compile information for the use of Congress in all matters relating to the tariff.

BUSINESS.

The Republican party has long believed in the rigid supervision and strict regulation of the transportation and great corporations of the country. It has put its creed into its deeds, and all really effective laws regulating the railroads and the great industrial corporations are the work of Republican Congresses and Presidents. For this policy of regulation and supervision the Democrats, in a stumbling and piecemeal way, are undertaking to involve the Government in business which should be left within the sphere of private enterprise and indirect competition with its own citizens, a policy which is sure to result in waste, great expense to the taxpayer, and in an inferior product.

The Republican party firmly believes that all who violate the laws in regulation of business should be individually punished. But prosecution is very different from persecution, and business success, no matter how honestly attained, is apparently regarded by the Democratic party as in itself a crime. Such doctrines and beliefs choke enterprise and stifle prosperity. The Republican party believes in encouraging American business, as it believes in and will seek to advance all American interests.

RURAL CREDITS.

We favor an effective system of rural credits as opposed to the ineffective law proposed by the present Democratic Administration.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

We favor the extension of the rural free delivery system and condemn the Democratic Administration for curtailing and crippling it.

MERCHANT MARINE.

In view of the policies adopted by all the maritime nations to encourage their shipping interests, and in order to enable us to compete with them for the ocean-carrying trade, we favor the payment to ships engaged in the foreign trade of liberal compensation for services actually rendered in carrying the mails, and such further legislation as will build up an adequate American merchant marine and give us ships which may be requisitioned by the Government in time of national emergency.

NATIONAL PLATFORM OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY—Continued.

We are utterly opposed to the Government ownership of vessels, as proposed by the Democratic Party, because Government owned ships, while effectively preventing the development of the American merchant marine by private capital, will be entirely unable to provide for the vast volume of American freights, and will leave us more helpless than ever in the hard grip of foreign syndicates.

RAILROADS.

Interstate and intrastate transportation has become so interwoven that the attempt to apply two, and often several, sets of laws to its regulation has produced conflicts of authority, embarrassment in operation, and inconvenience and expense to the public.

The entire transportation system of the country has become essentially national. We, therefore, favor such action by legislation, or, if necessary, through an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, as will result in placing it under exclusive Federal control.

ECONOMY AND A NATIONAL BUDGET.

The increasing cost of the National Government, and the need for the greatest economy of its resources, in order to meet the growing demands of the people for Government service, call for the severest condemnation of the wasteful appropriations of this Democratic Administration, of its shameless raids on the Treasury, and of its opposition to and rejection of President Taft's oft-repeated proposals and earnest efforts to secure economy and efficiency through the establishment of a simple, business-like budget system, to which we pledge our support, and which we hold to be necessary to effect a needed reform in the administration of national finances.

CONSERVATION.

We believe in a careful husbandry of all the natural resources of the Nation—a husbandry which means development without waste, use without abuse.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

The Civil Service Law has always been sustained by the Republican Party, and we renew our repeated declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The Democratic Party has created since March 4, 1913, 30,000 offices outside of the Civil Service law, at an annual cost of $44,000,000 to the taxpayers of the country.

We condemn the gross abuse and the misuse of the law by the present Democratic Administration and pledge ourselves to a reorganization along lines of efficiency and economy.

TERRITORIAL OFFICIALS.

Reaffirming the attitude long maintained by the Republican Party, we hold that officials appointed to administer the Government of any territory should be bona-fide residents of the territory in which their duties are to be performed.

LABOR LAWS.

We pledge the Republican Party to the faithful enforcement of all Federal laws passed for the protection of labor. We favor vocational education, the enactment and rigid enforcement of a Federal child labor law, the enactment of a generous and comprehensive workmen's compensation law, within the commerce power of Congress, and an accident compensation law covering all Government employés. We favor the collection and collation under the direction of the Department of Labor of complete data relating to industrial hazards for the information of Congress, to the end that such legislation may be adopted as may be calculated to secure the safety, conservation, and protection of labor from the dangers incident to industry and transportation.

SUFFRAGE.

The Republican Party, reaffirming its faith in Government of the people, by the people, for the people, as a measure of justice to one-half of the adult people of this country, favors the extension of the suffrage to women, but recognizing the right of each State to settle this question for itself.

Such are our principles, such are our purposes and policies. We close as we began. The times are dangerous, and the future is fraught with peril. The great issues of the day have been confused by words and phrases. The American spirit which made the country and saved the Union has been forgotten by those charged with the responsibility of power. We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native born, to prove to the world that we are Americans in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and, above all things, to keep the faith.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF NEW YORK CITY.

PUBLIC education in New York City began with the founding of the Free School Society (after 1826 the Public School Society) in 1805. The society started in a small way, depending upon private subscriptions, but soon received aid from the city. It gradually expanded, and until 1842 had control of the moneys supplied for educational purposes by the city and the common school fund of the State. This condition of affairs was unique. The society, being under the direction of high-minded citizens, enjoyed a large degree of public confidence. So anomalous a system could not last, however, and by an act of the Legislature, passed in 1842, the Board of Education was established. The Public School Society continued to conduct its schools until 1853, when, by mutual consent, they were all taken over by the board. The society at that time had more than a hundred schools; the value of the property it transferred to the city was estimated at $450,000, and during its existence it educated some 600,000 children. The Board of Education was an elective body from 1842 to 1871, the members being chosen first by wards, and from 1863 by school districts; since 1871 they have been appointed by the Mayor. In Brooklyn a Board of Education was created in 1843; the members were chosen by the Common Council until 1862, in which year the appointing power was vested in the Mayor. When consolidation took effect, in 1898, separate school boards were provided for the several boroughs (Manhattan and the Bronx being united), with a central Board of Education (composed of delegates from the four school boards, 19 in all) having charge of the finances, the erection and repair of buildings, the acquiring of sites, the purchase and distribution of supplies, etc. This system was dropped on the revision of the Charter in 1901, and since 1902 there has been one Board of Education for the city. It consists of forty-six members—twenty-two for Manhattan, fourteen for Brooklyn, four each for the Bronx and Queens, and two for Richmond. Their term of office is five years.

The Board of Superintendents, consisting of the city superintendent of schools and eight associate superintendents, has large powers in the nomination, promotion, and transfer of teachers, the recommendation of text-books and scholastic supplies, the determination of courses of study, the fixing of qualifications for teachers' licenses, etc. Its important acts require the approval of the Board of Education. There are twenty-six district superintendents, whose duties are to visit schools and observe the work of teachers. The Board of Examiners (consisting of the city superintendent and four examiners) conducts all examinations for would-be teachers, and prepares eligible lists. The school superintendents and examiners, as well as the supervisor of free lectures, the superintendent of school buildings, the superintendent of school supplies, and the director of attendance (whose duties are indicated by their titles), have terms of six years each. The Board of Education appoints all these officials and also a secretary, an auditor, and a director of reference and research, having no fixed term. Principals and teachers are appointed by the Board of Education on the nomination of the Board of Superintendents. The merit system is in full operation, and teachers are appointed in order of standing on eligible lists. Beginners are on probation for three years, their licenses being renewable from year to year; when permanently licensed, their tenure is assured, and they cannot be removed except on charges. New teachers are appointed only after pursuing a training school course, or after five years' experience elsewhere.

The regular school day is five hours in length, but in September, 1913, it was decided that four hours should be considered full time for classes of the first-year grades; the kindergarten session is three hours in length.

Early in 1915 the duplicate school plan (practically the Gary system) was adopted in two schools, Public School 45, The Bronx, and Public School 89, Brooklyn. It has since been adopted in eleven other schools in the Bronx and one in Brooklyn, and six schools in Manhattan have been selected for reorganization on this plan. Funds to the amount of $6,637,674 have been authorized by the financial authorities of the city for alterations in buildings, etc., in order to introduce the duplicate school idea. The Board of Education has in the past two years organized a considerable number of part-time co-operative and continuation classes for the benefit of employés of various factories, stores, etc., who are thus enabled to pursue their studies for a part of each day while still holding their positions. The average weekly attendance at these classes has been as high as 650.

The budget appropriation of the Department of Education for 1916 was $39,865,981.53, of which $33,555,641.31 constituted the general school fund (for teachers' salaries). For 1917 the appropriation is $41,430,447.49, the general school fund being $35,067,922.97. Under the so-called Equal Pay law (Chapter 502, laws of 1911) teachers (men and women) in elementary schools serve three years at $720; they then advance, with yearly increments of $60, to $1,500. This applies to the great majority. In the upper grades the maximum salaries are $1,820 and $2,260. Assistants to principals (heads of departments) receive $2,400, and principals $3,500. In high schools salaries range from $900 to $3,150; in training schools, from $1,000 to $3,250. Principals of high schools and training schools are paid $5,000, and $5,000 is the salary of district superintendents. Examiners and the director of attendance receive $6,000. Associate superintendents and the director of reference and research receive $6,500. The salary of the city superintendent is $10,000. The number of elementary schools is 522—154 in Manhattan, 182 in Brooklyn, 57 in the Bronx, 95 in Queens, and 34 in Richmond. The number of high schools is 24. There are also three training schools for teachers, four vocational schools and three truant schools. In the elementary schools there are 1,385 men and 16,542 women teachers; in the high schools 1,188 men and 1,230 women. In the evening schools (high and elementary) there are 2,181 teachers. One hundred and fifty-five attendance officers enforce the Compulsory Education law. The latest available figures show the average attendance as follows:

	Elementary Schools. (Kindergarten, Primary, Grammar.)	High Schools.
Brooklyn	255,471	23,097
The Bronx	91,052	5,840
Queens	56,060	5,628
Richmond	13,887	1,301
Totals	666,690	56,460

Number on part time, elementary schools:

Manhattan	4,307
Brooklyn	20,424
The Bronx	12,194
Richmond
Total	41,253

Increase in the number of part-time pupils has been 2,093.

Teachers incapacitated after thirty years' service are retired on pensions (half pay); the number of retired teachers November 1, 1916, was 1,453.

School buildings and sites are paid for with the proceeds of city bonds (corporate stock); the amount issued since consolidation has been $116,264,592.26, computed to November 1, 1916.

CENTRAL PARK.

The great park of New York extends from 59th St. to 110th St., being over 2½ miles long, and from 5th Ave. to 8th Ave., being over half a mile wide. It covers 843 acres, of which 185 are in lakes and reservoirs and 400 in forest, wherein over half a million trees and shrubs have been planted. There are 10¼ miles of roads, 5½ of bridle paths, and 31 of walks. The landscape architects of the Park were Frederick Law Olmsted and Calvert Vaux. Work was begun on the Park in 1857. The following fanciful names have been officially applied to the several entrances to the Park: 5th Ave. and 59th St., Scholar's Gate; 6th Ave. and 59th St., Artist's Gate; 7th Ave. and 59th St., Artisan's Gate; 8th Ave. and 59th St., Merchant's Gate; 8th Ave. and 72d St., Woman's Gate; 8th Ave. and 81st St., Hunter's Gate; 8th Ave. and 85th St., Mariner's Gate; 8th Ave. and 96th St., Gate of All Saints; 8th Ave. and 100th St., Boy's Gate; 8th Ave. and 110th St., Stranger's Gate; 5th Ave. and 67th St., Student's Gate; 5th Ave. and 72d St., Children's Gate; 5th Ave. and 79th St., Miner's Gate; 5th Ave. and 90th St., Engineer's Gate; 5th Ave. and 96th St., Woodman's Gate; 5th Ave. and 102d St., Girl's Gate; 5th Ave. and 110th St., Pioneer's Gate; 6th Ave. and 110th St., Farmer's Gate; 7th Ave. and 110th St., Warrior's Gate.

USE YOUR HEAD DON'T LOSE IT!

YOU are wasting your own time—you are literally sacrificing your future opportunity for lack of present method—as long as you depend merely on your knowledge of the theory of shorthand to make good. Why be a mere machine? Why not let your head do the work that your hands are doing now? You are trained in the Gregg system—let me add to that training the Gurtler method.

GURTLER'S

EFFICIENCY COURSE FOR STENOGRAPHERS
Entirely Planned and Personally Directed by FRED H. GURTLER

FRED H. GURTLER
Permanent winner of the Miner Medal in 1910, Author of "Court Practice" and "Getting the Position."

Here is an efficiency course that in no way conflicts with the Gregg system—on the contrary, it helps the system and helps the stenographer. Here is the net result of my entire success in the shorthand writing field crystalized into brief, clear, concise, definite form for your advantage. Here is an efficiency course that is not mere guess work, but has for several years been actually tried out by Gregg writers in every section of the country, and under every kind of working condition. Here is an efficiency course that extends to you—no matter who you are or how proficient a Gregg shorthand writer you are to-day—an opportunity to do even bigger things and better work with more satisfactory results; a chance to jump out of your present employment into an even more important position with bigger pay.

Every shorthand writer has some writing faults. Uncorrected, these are likely to hinder future advancement. Your faults may be only trivial to-day—to-morrow may be too late to correct them —let me show you how to correct them now. Write Me NOW!

Do not let cost stand in the way of your improvement. Don't think that my efficiency course for stenographers is too expensive—find out first what it really does cost and what it really can do. Write now. That is the important thing.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

were first introduced to the public in the year 1850 and are known over the entire world as a preparation of unsurpassed effectiveness for the relief of throat ailments.

They remedy throat irritation caused by coughing spells, which always accompany Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles, and thereby immediately bring relief to the sufferer.

Of great worth to singers, speakers, preachers and teachers, as a means to clear the voice, remove hoarseness and all irritations which are caused by straining the voice.

As they contain no opiates, BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES may be used in all cases where ordinary coughing or throat lozenges are employed, without the least danger.

This Man

Has the Most Wonderful Memory Ever Known

HE can give the population of any place in America of over 5,000—

HE can give every important date in world history.

HE has 300,000 Facts and Figures stored away in his brain.

William Berol is this man's name, and a few years ago his memory was distressingly poor. His amazing efficiency was developed through his own simple, practical method.

His system is being taught with great success to large classes at educational institutions in New York City. Thousands of men and women are learning it easily, quickly by mail.

The Berol Method Will Strengthen YOUR Memory Amazingly

It will assist you in recalling Names, Faces, Dates, Telephone Numbers; his simple system will correct mind-wandering and teach concentration; you will remember the facts in what you read; you can recall episodes and experiences; you can become a clearer thinker, and in public speaking seldom be at a loss for a word. Give this method a few spare minutes daily, at home, and you will be astonished.

It Is Worth Many Times Its Cost.

"Your course has accomplished fully everything you claimed it would. I feel that it has benefited me exceedingly, not only by my increased powers of retention in memory of that which I read or study, but in an awakened energy and ambition which your course of supplementary and auxiliary reading have given me. I would not take many times what I spent for the course in return for the advantages I know it has brought me."—R. A. TOWNS, United States Navy Yard, N. Y.

The Course Will Accomplish Wonders

"I have been much benefited by the 'Berol Mail Course in Memory Training.' If one but carelessly perused the lessons he is bound to receive some help. By a little daily systematic application he can accomplish wonders."—R. F. PATTEN, Banker, Grand Rapids, Minn.

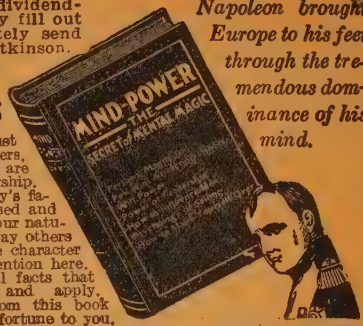
Yes, you may see and read this fascinating, dividend-paying book without paying a penny! Simply fill out and send coupon below. We will immediately send you MIND POWER, by William Walker Atkinson. Read, enjoy and absorb its contents for 10 full days without paying a penny.

MIND POWER—the Secret of Success

Power of mind is the ruling force of the world. Just as in great nations powerful minds are the real rulers, so in everyday business life strong, dominant minds are the successful leaders. Fit YOUR mind for leadership. Read MIND POWER, written by one of the country's famous authorities on mental subjects. It is a condensed and scientific course in mind training. Tells how to use your natural mental gifts, how to develop your will, how to sway others by the power of your mind, how to acquire a positive character—and a host of subjects that we haven't room to mention here. Everything is simply and interestingly told—practical facts that you can understand and apply. Just one suggestion from this book may mean fame and fortune to you.



Napoleon brought Europe to his feet through the tremendous dominance of his mind.

One Year's Trial—Four Years' Credit

This Is the Greatest Plan Ever Offered to a Piano Purchaser

Have a Cornish Piano sent to your home. Try it for a whole year if you wish. Absolutely convince yourself of its quality. Then buy it direct from the makers—the dealer's profit is yours. As to credit, all you need—four years if necessary. No cost to you for this trial. If you return the piano during the year, you get all your money back at once.

The Plan Chosen by 250,000 Families

Over 250,000 families have purchased instruments from us after accepting our liberal trial offer. They have put their O. K. on the sweet, rich tone, perfect action and pronounced quality of the Cornish piano—and have benefited by our money-saving prices. You will do the same.

For over 50 years we have sold high-grade instruments to music-loving families, and in over a quarter of a million homes "Cornish" means quality, square dealing and value for their money. We have their confidence. We want yours.

Send for "The Cornish Book" Today

Fully explains our great plan in detail. Illustrates our many beautiful instruments. Gives our money-saving prices. Tells you what to make sure of before buying any piano, and is said to be the most beautiful piano catalogue ever published. Write for it today.

THE GIANT STAPLE PULLING, WIRE STRETCHING, FENCE REPAIR TOOL

What It Will Do—Make staples; pull staples straight from bottom and center wires equally as well as from the top; drive staples straight; cut wire in four places. The wire cutter between the jaws will cut and jaws will hold the wire after cutting, without dropping the loose end. Straightens wire, splices wire, stretches wire (taking up thirty inches of slack wire). Opens boxes, and makes an ideal tool to carry on the farm machine or under the wagon seat. Don't be without it!

It Will Save wire, staples, buying a hammer, wrench, and a wire stretcher. It will also enable you to mend your fences, thus saving a new fence. Keeping your cattle and crops properly protected will save trouble and law suits. It will save many trips back to the house to fix your farm implements, and will save you time and labor in a thousand ways.

Our Guarantee—If this tool does not perform its work according to the statements made above, to your satisfaction, we will guarantee to refund the purchase price of this tool.

Crooked Spines Made Straight

If you are suffering from any form of spinal trouble you can be relieved in your own home without pain or discomfort. A wonderful anatomical appliance has been invented by a man who cured himself of Spinal Curvature. Its results are marvelous. It is nature's own method. Eminent physicians are endorsing it. The Sheldon Method relieves the pressure at the affected parts of the spine, the whole spine is invigorated and strengthened, all soreness is taken out of the back, the cartilage between the vertebrae is made to expand, the contracted muscles are relaxed and the spine is straightened. There is bright hope for you, no matter how long you have suffered. We have strong testimonials from every State in the Union. Each appliance is made to order from individual measurements and fits perfectly. There is positively no inconvenience in wearing. We guarantee satisfaction and let you use it 30 days. Write for our new book. It gives full information and testimonials.

ARE YOU AFFLICTED

With

Catarrh, Constipation, Impotency, Obesity or Other Ailments?

Do you know they are the direct results of a poor, miserable, rundown physical condition? You can fill yourself with drugs if you like, you can numb your nerve centres and lull yourself into a sense of fancied security, but the disease is still there, wearing away your vitality and your strength. Would you place yourself in the hands of a physical culture expert and follow his instructions if you thought his system would rebuild you—would annihilate your diseases? If you knew positively that this system was the one infallible method of restoring your health, renewing your bodily vigor, and making you a better man than you had ever been before? STRONGFORTISM IS UNIQUE in that every pupil is treated as an individual and not as the member of a class. Strongfort invites your confidence. Tell him your troubles and get from him the advice of a man whose life work has been to make other men better, physically and mentally.

SHORTHAND IN 30 DAYS

You can learn in spare time in your own home, no matter where you live. No need to spend months in study, as was formerly necessary. The Boyd Syllabic System is easy to learn—easy to write—easy to read. Simple, Practical, Speedy, Sure. No ruled lines—no positions—no shading, as in other systems. No long list of word signs to confuse. Only nine characters to learn and you have the entire English language at your absolute command. This system is now widely used by stenographers, private secretaries, newspaper reporters. Lawyers, ministers, teachers, physicians, literary folk and business men and women may now learn shorthand for their own use through home study. A perfect shorthand system for any purpose—and does not require continual daily practice. Our graduates hold high-grade positions in all sections of the country. TOBACCO HABIT

A very interesting book has been published on tobacco habit—how to conquer it quickly and easily. It tells the dangers of excessive smoking, chewing, snuff using, etc., and explains how nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness, weak eyes, stomach troubles and numerous other disorders may be eliminated through stopping self-poisoning by tobacco. The man who has written this book wants genuinely to help all who have become addicted to tobacco habit and says there's no need to suffer that awful craving or restlessness which comes when one tries to quit voluntarily. This is no mind-cure or temperance sermon tract, but plain common sense, clearly set forth. The author will send the book free, postpaid, in plain wrapper. Write, giving name and full address—a postcard will do. Address: Edward J. Woods, 657-P, Station E, New York City.

What 15c Will Bring You from the Nation's Capital

The little matter of 15c in stamps or coin will bring you the Pathfinder for 13 weeks on trial. The Pathfinder is an illustrated weekly published at the Nation's Center, for the Nation; a paper that prints all the news of the world and tells the truth and only the truth; now in its 23d year. This paper fills the bill without emptying the purse; it costs but $1 a year. If you want to keep posted on what is going on in the world, at the least expense of time or money, this is your means. If you want a paper in your home which is sincere, reliable, entertaining, wholesome, the Pathfinder is yours. If you would appreciate a paper which puts everything clearly, fairly, briefly—here it is. Send 15c to show that you might like such a paper, and we will send the Pathfinder on probation 13 weeks. The 15c does not repay us, but we are glad to invest in new Friends.

MAKE YOUR OWN LIQUOR

Just send your name and address. We are expert distillers, and we will show you how to make your own Whiskies, Liquors, and Cordials in the privacy of your own home and save over 50 per cent. of the Liquor Dealers' prices with "Zanol" Concentrated Extracts. It's very simple and easy. A few minutes does the work. No distilling, no boiling, no trouble. "Zanol" is a pure concentration of the same ingredients as is used by all liquor dealers.

LET US SHOW YOU HOW.

Save the Liquor Dealer's heavy expenses, high licenses and enormous profits, as thousands of others are doing. Any one can now have a pure, healthful, stimulating glass of any Whiskey, Liquor or Cordial, whenever and wherever they want it. Dry or wet, makes no difference.

STRICTLY LEGAL AND LEGITIMATE.

No license required. Investigated by the highest authorities. Complies with U. S. Government regulations and laws. Guaranteed by us under the U. S. Pure Food Laws. Thousands now making their own liquors at home by the "Zanol Method."

WHAT OTHERS SAY: "Never drank finer whiskies in my life," writes P. H. Hawley, Colorado. "Could not get better for three times the money," A. Kumm, Minnesota. "Certainly is a cheap way of making," E. C. Doobs, Georgia. "Has cured my stomach trouble," C. L. Tudor, California. "Best I ever tried," T. S. Turner, Alabama. "Best Whiskey in the world," L. W. Wooden, Massachusetts. "Has a splendid, soothing, exhilarating taste," G. L. Wicklim. Thousands of other satisfied customers.

RUPTURE

Can Be CURED!

No old-style Truss, Steel Springs, Elastic Bands or Leg Straps; No Knife, No Operation, No Discomfort, No Loss of Time. Enjoy Grand, Glorious Comfort while your Rupture heals.

This Book Tells How. I Will Send It to You FREE!

Here's a book that EVERY ruptured person ought to read. It contains valuable information about rupture. Describes and pictures various kinds of rupture and rupture supports. Tells how to hold and control rupture and how to avoid serious consequences, such as strangulation, etc. It has shown hundreds the way to better health and happiness. Send for it.

You Can Be Free from Truss Slavery and Rupture Misery

Are you going about harnessed like an over-burdened truck horse with an ill-fitting truss or makeshift contraption gouging into your flesh or slipping out of place, causing you endless misery?

I've proved to a multitude of rupture sufferers that PERFECT support and COMFORT are possible. Let me show YOU Free how YOUR rupture can be held and held with PERFECT, GLORIOUS comfort.

Here Is Proof!

Mr. John T. Custard, Lamar, Mo., says:—"It has really cured me." Mr. Broadus Willoughby, Crosby, Ala., says:—"The Schuiling Rupture Lock is the best I ever used. It has cured me." Mr. Louis Fitting, Kooskia, Idaho, says:—"I wore the Schuiling Lock five months and can say I am cured."

These are samples of scores of letters we have on file. I will send copies of dozens like them.

I offer STILL STRONGER PROOF. I will send you a SCHUILING RUPTURE LOCK if you wish and let you

Test It at Our Risk

Our Trial Offer plan enables you to put on a SCHUILING RUPTURE LOCK and run, jump, pull, tug, twist, squirm, strain, cough, sneeze and do anything else you like to prove to yourself that IT HOLDS and holds COMFORTABLY under ALL conditions. Once one of these Locks is adjusted to fit you, we are willing for you to give it the severest test that you or anybody else can think of. Write today for our book and particulars of trial offer Free.

The Schuiling Rupture Lock

Is a very different kind of support. It conforms perfectly with the shape of the body. It has no steel springs, no rubber or elastic bands, no plasters or leg straps. Yet, when once adjusted to your needs, you simply CANNOT displace it by any action of the body. You can put it on or take it off as easy as snapping your finger. This wonderful rupture support will really LOCK your rupture so it CAN'T come down.

It holds the rupture with wonderful firmness, yet with all the comfort that could be obtained by gentle pressure of the hand.

If you wear a properly fitted SCHUILING RUPTURE LOCK your rupture can't come down; bear that in mind—your rupture CAN'T come down no matter what position you get into. Think of it, a rupture support that holds your rupture so it CAN'T come down and at the same time holds with REAL COMFORT.

Isn't such a rupture support worth spending a penny or two to find out about? Isn't it worth INVESTIGATING? Doesn't your own good judgment tell you as you read these lines that there MUST be something remarkable about a rupture support that will do this?

Fill out the following coupon and send it to me right to-day—right off, right now, while you are thinking of it and have address before you. Or write a postcard or letter if you prefer, but write it and send it AT ONCE.

WONDERFUL MYSTERY BOOK

Divination, Omens, Forewarnings, Apparitions, Sorcery, Dreams, Daemonology, Predictions, Visions and Compacts with the Devil.

A book so strange and wonderful that the human mind can barely grasp its mysteries. The belief in Black Arts and its practice dates back thousands of years, and no day will ever break so bright as to drive away mankind's firm belief in the mysteries that this book strives to unravel. It gives the names, lives and doings of all the noted Witches of ancient and modern times, what they did, how they did it, and how many were hung in America and other countries. Lottery prizes, how won. Forewarnings and what they mean. The blood-curdling history of the "White Lady." Freaks of Nature. The Witches' herbs for curing all kinds of disease, and what herbs are. Also the famous Elixir of Life, that restores the aged to the buoyancy of youth. Seeing with the eyes closed. Visions of those we knew. The Divining Rod and how to make one. The Philosophers' secrets of changing lead into precious metals. To tincture silver into gold. To cure disease by magical, Celestial and sympathetic means. How Magicians call forth souls of the dead. Magic Crystals and Spirit Mirrors, in which are said to be seen forms, objects, visions and most beautiful scenes of worlds unknown to earth mortals, and the form of living friends distant from you are seen and their movements known at that very moment, although miles away. We are living now in an age of MYSTERY as difficult to satisfactorily explain as the mysteries 2,000 years ago. This book teaches how to summon and converse with Spirits. How the Demons can be made to do man's bidding. This book is a treasure, valuable all through your life. Price. 25 cents; sent postpaid. ROYAL PUB. CO., 528 Locust St., Phila., Pa.

This Happy Wife

Wishes to tell you FREE

HOW SHE STOPPED

Her Husband's Drinking

Write to Her and Learn How She Did It.

For over 20 years James Anderson of 30 Elm Ave., Hillburn, N. Y., was a very hard drinker. His case seemed a hopeless one, but 10 years ago his wife in their own little home gave him a simple remedy which much to her delight stopped his drinking entirely.

She also tried this remedy on her brother and several neighbors. It was successful in every case. None of them has touched liquor since.

She now wishes every one who has drunkenness in their homes to try this simple remedy, for she feels sure that it will do as much for others as it has for her. It can be given secretly if desired, and without cost she will gladly and willingly tell you what it is. All you have to do is write her a letter asking her how she cured her husband of drinking and she will reply by return mail in a sealed envelope. As she has nothing to sell do not send her money. Simply send a letter with all confidence to Mrs. Margaret Anderson at the address given above, taking care to write your name and full address plainly.

I Will Give 500 DEAFNESS TREATMENTS Absolutely FREE to sufferers from Deafness or those whose hearing is troubling them in any way. I will send these valuable treatments without a cent of charge of any sort, and I want every one who is deaf to feel entirely and gladly welcome to this gift.

For more than a quarter of a century I've been studying and curing Deafness and my treatment, famous throughout the country for its success, is the result of an immense amount of study and scientific investigation. I am giving away these Deafness treatments free, at great expense to myself, because I believe it is my duty to use my large means as well as my knowledge to aid my fellowmen.

If you suffer from Deafness in any degree—if there is anything at all the matter with your hearing—if there are buzzing, ringing sounds in your head or ears—SEND AT ONCE FOR A FREE DEAFNESS TREATMENT. Write to me to-day and tell me about your trouble and let me do everything I can to help you get rid of your deafness.

Don't neglect your Deafness any longer when such help is yours just for the asking! Don't be discouraged if other treatments and other specialists have been unable to cure you. My treatment has done wonders in just such cases, for it's different from the others and the results are different. It gets at the REAL cause of the trouble.

Accept my offer to-day. You will not regret it. Just send your full name and address on a postal or write a letter, and I will forward you the FREE TREATMENT without delay. Address

Oh, You Skinny!

Why stay thin as a rail? You don't have to! And you don't have to go through life with a chest that the tailor gives you; with arms of childish strength; with legs you can hardly stand on. And what about that stomach that flinches every time you try a square meal? Are you a pill-feeder?

Do you expect Health and Strength in tabloid form —through pills, potions and other exploited piffle?

You can't do it; it can't be done.

The only way to be well is to build up your body—all of it—through nature's methods—not by pampering the stomach. It is not fate that is making you a failure; it's that poor, emaciated body of yours; your half-sickness shows plain in your face and the world loves healthy people. So be healthy —strong—vital. That's living. Don't think too long; send four cents in stamps to cover mailing of my book,

LAME BACK AND KIDNEY TROUBLE

RHEUMATISM, STOMACH AND BOWEL TROUBLES, NERVOUSNESS AND WEAK CIRCULATION

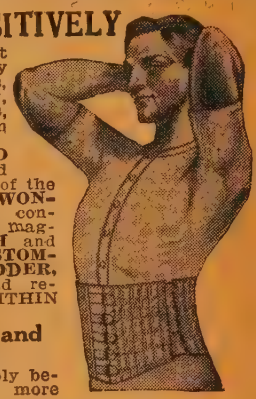
QUICKLY AND PERMANENTLY RELIEVED WITHOUT A DROP OF MEDICINE

According to the words of those who say they have been cured to stay cured by using MAGNETIC SHIELDS, which do what all the medicine on earth cannot do; they ACTUALLY INSTILL NEW LIFE AND ENERGY INTO THE SYSTEM, overcoming congestion, soreness and pain by rapid circulation.

WE PROVE IT TO YOU POSITIVELY

Not in one case or a dozen cases, but in multitudes of cases, where people say they have been cured of Paralysis, Rheumatism, Lung Troubles, Kidney, Liver, Stomach and Bowel Troubles, nervousness and most every other form of disease after medicine failed.

Our MAGNETIC ABDOMINAL AND KIDNEY VITALIZER for ladies and gentlemen here illustrated is only one of the many Shields we make. IT IS A WONDERFUL INVENTION, scientifically constructed, and floods the system with magnetism, supplying LIFE, STRENGTH and VIGOR to the BACK, KIDNEYS, STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and BLADDER, giving buoyancy, magnetic tone and renewed vitality to the system. WITHIN THE REACH OF EVERYBODY.



Magnetism Gives Quick Relief and Permanent, Lasting Benefit

after everything else has failed simply because it makes the blood circulate more vigorously.

Magnetism Is a Living Force. Positive in Its Action, and Will Supply

More Vital Energy for You

Magnetism supplies the elements of sunshine to the system in a form that actually instills new life into every nerve and fiber within the magnetic field, giving that buoyancy, youthful elasticity and vigor that comes only from a bounding, tingling circulation, full of radiant magnetic life.

READ THE FOLLOWING INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE from those who have worn Magnetic Shields and been cured. Send for more evidence, as we have hundreds of grateful letters showing the wonderful power of magnetism over disease.

"I put the belt on and in one night the pain left my back."—C. M. Murden, Wilmington, Del. "My once more being able to walk is an astonishment to my friends and neighbors."—C. D. Smith, Rome, N. Y. "I cannot describe the sensation I felt in less than three hours. From that time I began to improve. I have never had any trouble with a cough since."—Mrs. A. R. Kinne, Johnstown, N. Y. "I had catarrh of stomach fifteen years; to-day I am as well and sound as ever."—J. Y. Keck, Pottstown, Pa. "Two eminent physicians from Chicago, in consultation with my home doctor, all agreed it was a hopeless case of Bright's disease. Dr. Thacher, after an examination, fitted me with their Shields, and told me to go home to my work, which I did. I haven't lost a day since or been troubled with my kidneys."—J. G. Black, Thornton, Ill. "For ten years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and doctored with medical doctors all the time. They would tell me I was getting better, when in fact I was getting worse. I sent and got an Extra Wide Double Power Belt and a Pair of Double Power Footpads. I put them on and in 48 hours I was a different person. I never did get such relief in such a short time. Before this I could not get out. My doctor himself afterwards told me he was very uneasy about me and did not see how I could get such complete help in so short a time. I wore the Shields off and on for nine months. I weigh now 180 lbs., and have fine health. When sick I was but a shadow. I owe it to the Shields."—H. C. Hull, Ostrander, Minn.

LET US SEND YOU HUNDREDS OF TESTIMONIALS OF ALL KINDS

Write to-day for full information and free book, "A Plain Road to Health," by F. J. Thacher, M. D., illustrating and describing all the Magnetic Shields we make and giving full information. Describe your case fully. We advise you free how to apply magnetism for treating any form of weakness or disease. We send you the proof and the evidence, then you can be your own judge.

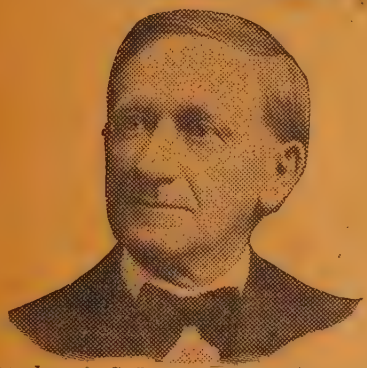
A Genuine Rupture Cure Sent on Trial to Prove It

Don't Wear a Truss Any Longer

After Thirty Years' Experience I Have Produced an Appliance for Men, Women and Children That Actually Cures Rupture



The above is C. E. Brooks, inventor of the Appliance, who cured himself and who has been curing others for over 30 years. If ruptured, write him to-day at Marshall, Mich.

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Send attached coupon to-day and I will send you free my illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing my Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember, I use no salves, no harness, no lies.

I send on trial to prove what I say is true. You are the judge, and once having seen my illustrated book and read it you will be as enthusiastic as my hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail to-day. It's well worth your time whether you try my Appliance or not.

Confederate Veteran Cured

Commerce, Ga., R. F. D. No. 11.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Dear Sir: I am glad to tell you that I am now sound and well, and can plough or do any heavy work. I can say your Appliance has effected a permanent cure. Before getting your Appliance I was in a terrible condition, and had given up all hope of ever being any better. If it hadn't been for your Appliance I would never have been cured. I am sixty-eight years old and served three years in Eckle's Artillery, Oglethorpe Co. I hope God will reward you for the good you are doing for suffering humanity. Yours sincerely. H. D. BANKS.

Others Failed, but the Appliance Cured

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir: Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you. Yours respectfully, WM. PATTERSON.
No. 717 So. Main St., Akron, Ohio.

Cured at the Age of 76

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir: I began using your Appliance for the cure of rupture (I had a pretty bad case), I think in May, 1905. On November 20, 1905, I quit using it. Since that time I have not needed or used it. I am well of rupture and rank myself among those cured by the Brooks Discovery, which, considering my age, 76 years, I regard as remarkable. Very sincerely yours,
Jamestown, N. C. SAM A. HOOVER.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Jansen St., Dubuque, Iowa.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir: The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your Appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your Appliance a little over four months, and has not worn it now for six weeks. Yours very truly,
ANDREW EGGENBERGER.

Remember

I send my Appliance on trial to prove what I say is true. You are to be the judge. Fill out free coupon below and mail to-day.

Stop Using a Truss

Yes, STOP IT, I say! You KNOW by your own experience that it is only a make-shift—a false prop against a collapsing wall and that it is undermining your health. Why, then, continue to wear it? Let me point out a better way.

FREE TO THE RUPTURED

I want to send to every RUPTURED SUFFERER, absolutely FREE TRIAL OF PLAPAO and my interesting, instructive 48-page book on Rupture—explains what rupture is and why trusses and similar MERE MECHANICAL supports cannot be relied upon. The PLAPAO-PADS are nature's way. This simple, inexpensive home treatment gives quick relief, strengthens weakened muscles. Does away with steel and rubber bands that chafe and pinch. Close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Hundreds have testified under oath that the PLAPAO-PADS positively and permanently cured their rupture —some of them most aggravated cases and of long standing. Awarded Gold Medal and Grand Prix.

Soft as Velvet—Easy to Apply—Inexpensive

There is no metal about the PLAPAO-PADS—no straps, buckles or springs attached—soft as velvet. Easy to wear. No delay from work. Easy to apply and require no readjusting. Process of recovery is natural, so afterward no use for trusses. Ask me to prove what I say by sending Trial PLAPAO and a most convincing mass of evidence FREE—no charge for it, now or ever—nothing to be returned. Don't wait. Write today—NOW.

I Guarantee to Cure

ECZEMA

TO STAY CURED!

It is also called SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, TETTER, ITCH, WEEPING SKIN, MILK CRUST, PRURITUS—these are different names, but all mean one thing—ECZEMA

DR. J. E. CANNADAY, THE DOCTOR WHO TREATS NOTHING BUT ECZEMA.

I prove every word that I have said—I give to every sufferer

A FREE TRIAL

Just to show you that you need my treatment. It is yours for the asking. If you have been to other doctors, if you have taken patent medicine and used lotions and salves till you are disgusted, write to me—I will send you ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, A TRIAL TREATMENT. There are no strings to this statement. There is not one cent to pay—not a penny accepted. I know what my trial treatment will do; I know that it will convince you more than anything else on earth that you need my treatment.

Don't Miss This Chance for a Cure

If you are SUFFERING FROM ECZEMA you can only be cured one way—REMOVE THE CAUSE. What is the cause? ACID IN THE BLOOD. How do you remove it? By cleansing the blood of the ACID.

My treatment is soothing—relieves the dreadful itching at once and cures the disease quickly. You don't have to take treatment for months and months. ONLY ONE CASE IN TEN needs the second treatment—ONE IN FIFTY needs the third—Think of that!

What Eczema Is

Eczema is a disease of the blood and affects all parts of the body—the face, lips, ears, hands, feet, genital organ, etc.

SYMPTOMS.—Yellowish red eruption; the pimples or patches may swell and the itching is so great the person will scratch the top off; then they bleed and dark scales form; there is an oozing of matter. In some the skin cracks and bleeds. Itching is terrible; a person suffering will scratch till they bleed. Scales form on parts of the body where the clothing comes in contact.

Ten Years' Guarantee

I positively Guarantee that every case cured by me will stay cured 10 YEARS! IT MUST BE GOOD or it could not be sold this way.

Strong as Rock of Gibraltar

I am a graduate from two leading medical schools. I am the holder of a GOLD MEDAL taken in Competitive Examination. Does this not show that I am fully qualified? I will send you my book, showing endorsements of business men of all classes. Also testimonials and pictures from cured patients everywhere. Some of them may be YOUR NEIGHBORS.

MY BOOK

Is the most complete book ever sent out. I explain every form of the disease plainly and fully. I show pictures of many severe cases, which are extremely interesting. I send you names of thousands who have been cured and are grateful.

SEDALIA MO Jan.-1-1910.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:-

Dr. Cannaday, of our city is a physician, making a specialty of ECZEMA.

We have handled his business esclusively for one year and eighty four days. His patients deposit their money with us, in their OWN NAME, to be paid to the doctor, if his treatment is satisfactory. If we remember correctly, we have been called upon by only FOUR of his patients for their money, and it seemed then, that the fault was more with the Express Companies than with the treatment failing.

Considering the number of cases he treats, we regard his success as remarkable. We consider him perfectly reliable, and assure those placing their money with us a fair, square, business deal.

Relief for Catarrh Sufferers Now FREE

You Can Now Treat This Trouble In Your Own Home and Get Relief at Once.

By the new method the nose and throat are treated by an effective local remedy applied directly to the afflicted membranes.

The Elixir, taken into the stomach, has a direct influence upon the mucous membranes of the body and cures the disease by removing the cause.

How the Remedy for Catarrh Was Discovered

THIS terrible disease has raged unchecked for years simply because symptoms have been treated while the cause of the trouble has been left to circulate in the blood and bring the disease back as fast as local treatments could relieve it.

C. E. Gauss, who experimented for years on a treatment for Catarrh, found that after perfecting a balm that relieved the nose and throat troubles quickly he could not prevent the trouble beginning all over again.

On test cases he could completely remove all signs of Catarrh from nose and throat, but in a few weeks they were back.

Careful experiments and investigations have shown that as the troubles were expelled from the nose and throat the real cause of the disease was overlooked, and in a short time the Catarrh would return stronger than ever. Mr. Gauss has gone way ahead of the ordinary methods of treatment and has provided a remedy that

Removes the Cause

and Immediately Gives Relief to the Nose and Throat

Reese Jones, of Scranton, Penn., says that after trying many other treatments, he used this new method and—"My nose is now entirely clear and free and I am not bothered by the disease any more. The New Combined Treatment is worth its weight in gold."

Temporary relief from catarrh may be obtained in other ways, but the New Combined Treatment must inevitably be accepted for permanent results.

Sarah J. Cape, Mount Pella, Tenn., says: "I suffered the pains and distress of catarrh for thirteen years and, needless to state, tried nearly every method. But by your new method I was completely cured, and you cannot imagine the joy that has come over me."

Goes to the Root of

- Stopped-up noses
- Constant "frog-in-the-throat"
- Nasal discharges
- Hawking and spitting
- Snoring at night
- Bad breath
- Frequent colds
- Difficult breathing
- Smothering sensation in dreams
- Sudden fits of sneezing
- Dry mucus in nose

and any of the other symptoms that indicate approaching or present catarrh.

Trial Treatment FREE

This new method is so important to the welfare of humanity, so vital to every person suffering from any form of catarrh, that the opportunity to actually test it and prove its results will be gladly extended without one cent of cost.

A large trial treatment, with complete, minute directions, will be sent free to any catarrh sufferer.

Send no money, take no risks, make no promises. Simply clip, sign and mail the coupon and the test package of the New Combined Treatment will be sent, fully prepaid, together with the valuable book on Catarrh.
